President J. W. By the agreement the railroad is permitted to retain the present piling and overhead crossing as a temporary structure for the purpose of hauling material over until the first Monday in September, the company agreeing at that date to reconstruct the crossing so that the span will be twenty-four fest in width in place of seventeen as it is at present.

Burglars are still keeping the police guessing. The residence of Alexander Tipon at 127 Glen avenue, was invaded Tuesday night, the thieves securing a small sum of money. As all the windows were found closed yesterday morning, it is believed that entrance was obtained by unlocking the front door with a skeleton key. The residences of W. W. Wallace and M. C. Van Derveer on Bluff street were also visited Tuesday night, but the thieves were scared away before securing any plunder. The Baldwin residence at the corner of Willow avenue and Sixth street was broken into Monday night and here the thieves secured in addition to $15 in money a valuable collection of Spanish coins.

Burlington Hawkeys: Some lawyers who have been watching the trend of affairs in the state for a number of years are of the opinion that the time is approaching when the term of office of the district judge will be lengthened. At present they hold office only four years and in a great many cases hardly get out of politics once before they are compelled to enter another contest. There are some exceptions and in rmany districts judges hold office for an indefinite period. This is not the general rule, how-ever. Should the state see fit to double the length of the terms of the district judges, it would be merely placing itself on a par with some of the eastern states, where district judges hold office for terms of ten years or even longer in some in-stances.
