LIVELY SESSION IN THE SIXTH WARD

Enthusiastic Meeting of the Ward Club Precedes the Nomination of Delegates by the Members Present.

One of the largest crowds ever brought out at a ward meeting was that which assembled at Peterson's hall Saturday night, the occasion being the meeting of the Republican club of the Sixth ward.

The first speaker of the evening was James H. Van Dusen, who opened his remarks in a rather despondent tone, saying that while he has been a candidate for the nomination for governor, he intimated that he has not received the support he expected, while at every time since 1887 he had been a supporter of the republican nominees, regardless of faction, and would make no exception in the campaign of 1903. Continuing, he said that he has asked for a delegation from Douglas county to the state convention and said that he believed that if Douglas county went to the state convention earnestly united for one candidate for governor it would receive it, but if the county should not see fit to nominate him he would remain a republican.

John P. Breen, who was present at a club meeting for the first time since the announcement of his candidacy for congress was made public, made a speech also. He opened by saying that at the present time there is no political issue between the parties and that it devolves upon the double-headed convention at Grand Island to make something like an issue, that if all rumors are true they will have as hard a time to get a platform under the aggregation as to get a straw hat upon a byra-

Nelson C. Pratt, in response to many and loud calls, made brief remarks upon existing conditions, referring to the absentee congressman in a way to draw out much applause. He closed by touching upon the Farnam street. history of the republican party from its foundation, showing how in crises it came surely and confidently to the relief of the country and the people, preserving the nation in the face of domestic foes, restoring peace and prosperity in the south, bringing business activity at the close of democratic administrations and solving all questions brought up by reason of the war

A resolution introduced by E. F. More arty was unanimously adopted, as follows: Resolved, That the Sixth Ward Republican club indorse the pure, able and honest record of Hon. Guy R. C. Read, the cutgoing judge of the district court of this judicial district and that the delegates from the Sixth ward be instructed to vote for his renomination at the next judicial convention.

The club then adjourned and the men then assembled in ward caucus for the purpose of nominating delegates to the state convention.

The caucus was a warm one from the There was a small interval when could hear themselves, and during that time nominations were made as follows: W. R. Homan, A. H. Willis, Grant Williams, Henry Ostrom, J. L. Jacobson, Dr. W. H. Christie, W. J. Hunter, W. S. Askwith, S. Baxter, W. L. Stevens, John McDonald, Ira Flanagan, Robert Houghton, W. Parker, C. H. Porter, W. E. Moxon, J. H. Haston and John Westberg. John McDonald withdrew and so did John Westberg, the latter taking occasion in with-drawing to insinuate that the city administration had interested itself in the caucus d had caused to be prepared printed tickets for certain candidates.

The inwardness of the Westberg motion was seen when it was found that his friends were circulating previously prepared tickets carefully written with a lead pencil.

There were 130 votes cast at the election and the following delegates were selected: W. R. Homan, W. J. Hunter, Henry Ostrom, J. L. Jacobson, Ira Flanagan, W. S. Askwith and A. H. Willis. The selection was made unanimous and the people began to leave the hall. When all but about twentyfive had gone Robert Houghton moved that the delegation be instructed for VanDusen. This was seconded by John Westberg and prevailed, the men voting being those who roted for the unsuccessful candidates for delegates.

Judge James H. Macomber, B. R. Ball and E. O. Wolcott were selected upon suggestion of Judge Read for delegates to the judicial Fifth Ward Selections.

The Fifth ward republicans selected deleates to the state and judicial conventions Saturday night and Young's hall, at which the caucus was held, was taxed to its cacity to hold the crowd. Two tickets were placed in nomination as delegates to the state convention and these delegates were selected: W. B. Christie, R. W. Richardon, Bruce Crawford, Charles Johnson, James P. Redman, DeWitt Ellingwood, Henry McCoy. Judge Read was allowed to select the delegates to the judiciary convention, and Hugh Myers, F. H. Woodland and W. I. Kierstead were chosen and voted for unanimously by the caucus.

Eighth Ward Harmonious.

Republicans of the Eighth ward met in en caucus at the undertaking rooms of Brailey & Dorrance at Twentieth and Cuming Saturday night, and without discord ninated the following men for delegates to the coming state convention: Edwin F. Brailey, James A. Davis, Harry

A. Foster, Clark R. Hutton, James E. Rait, Willard F. Singleton, Edwin F. Tracy. Alternate, Carl J. Westerdahl. As delegates to the judicial convention these were nominated: Edwin F. Brailey,

Auditorium Committee Meets with Success in Selling Book

Tickets.

The Omaha musical festival, with the Royal Italian band as the attraction, will open August 26.

The work of the Auditorium committee naving in charge the arrangements for the festival has begun in earnest. The ground on Capitol avenue between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets has been again secured from W. S. Poppleton. A tent will be pro vided for this year that will turn water so that last season's shower baths will not be repeated. The Young Women's Christian association will probably have the concessions again this year. Subscriptions for the book tickets are being received in a most gratifying man-These books contain twenty admission tickets each and are sold for $5 per book, or 25 cents per ticket. The advance saic will cease before the day of the first concert and thereafter the admission will be 35 cents. It is anticipated that the advance sales will exceed those of previous years, not only on account of the musical organization that is to be heard, but also to hurry the construction of the Auditorium, as any profits derived from the festival will be applied to the building fund. The next festival season will see the band housed in the most beautiful structure of the kind in the country and where 2,000 or 3,000 people will not fill the seats by half, thereby everyone may attend in comfort and without crowding.

People who intend purchasing tickets in advance are requested by the committee to make their wants known as soon as possible and books will be reserved for them. This will enable the management to provide the additional attractions, the extent of which must be governed by the advance sale. The books of tickets are ready to be delivered any time before the concerts begin, at the convenience of subscribers. Subscriptions for the books should be sent to F. E. Nettleton, superintendent, fifth floor Board of Trade building, or to any one of the committee, which is composed of H. S. Weller, chairman, Richardson Drug company; Floyd J. Campbell, Board of Trade building; Frank T. Hamilton, Merchants' National bank; D. J. O'Brien, 1202 Howard street, and J. A. Johnson, 1106

This week will conclude the nine months of school and closing exercises will be held along toward the end of the week. On Thursday evening class exercises will be held at the troop armory and rehearsals for the event are now being held. A stage with scenery, drop curtain and other accessories has been provided by the class and a large number of extra chairs will be forthcoming when the time comes. There will be an orchestra and arrangements are being made for an elaborate program. As far as arranged Clara Tombrink will deliver an address of welcome. This will be followed by a recitation by Stella Williams. Clara Freitag will render an instrumental solo and Leta M. Mead will deliver the class poem. These will be followed by an oration by Julia Willard. Then there will be a class farce entitled "A Case of Suspension." Those who will take part in the farce are: Eunice Ensor, Oliver C. Bert Coleman, Harvey Renwick, Ryan. Leo S. Legro, Lucille Dennis, Alla Gilchrist, Maud McDowell, John L. Roberts and Harriet Smith. The program has been arranged with considerable care. Friday evening commencement exercises will be held at the Methodist church. Today Rev. Andrew Renwick, pastor o the United Presbyterian church, will preach a baccalureate sermon to the class. The time for the delivery of the address has been set for $:30 o'clock.

Tuesday evening the juniors will tender a reception to the graduates at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Cressey, 1429 North Twenty-fourth street. Thursday comes the class exercises at the armory, Friday the commencement and Saturday evening the alumni reception at Masonic hall.

The High school graduating class this year will be made up as follows: Oliver C. Byam, Lucille W. Dennis, Clara C. Freitag, Leo S. Legro, Leta M. Mead, Harvey Renwick, Harriet M. Smith, Julia G. Willard, Herbert Coleman, Eunice Ensor, Alla M. Gilchrist, Maud V. McDowell, Mary T. Moore, John L. Roberts, Clara Tombrink and Stella M. Williams.

Repairing Storm Damage.

It will take the street foreman and his men several weeks to repair the damage to the streets caused by the storm Saturday morning. The sewers carried off a large portion of the storm water, but the capacity proved too small in certain districts. At the Swift plant the water poured down into the sheds and a couple of dozen hogs were drowned. Other damage to the plant will amount to about $600. On east Q and L streets the holes in the streets practically prevent traffic and the street cars on the Missouri avenue line did not attemp to run east of Sixteenth street yesterday.

At a rough estimate it will cost the city not less than $2,000 to repair the damage to the etreets and there is not a cent in the street repair fund with which to meet the expense. The work is going ahead, however, and will be paid for out of the emergency fund or from the general fund when a transfer can be made. One of the worst washouts is at Twenty-third and E streets. There is a hole at this intersection as hig as the city hall building.

The electric light company was discommoded for a time yesterday on account of lightning burning out its transformers at the local station on M street. At the stock yards the storm did considerable damage, but repairs were quickly made where most needed, so that the customers of the market were not inconvenienced to any extent. Any number of cellars were filled and there was a lively demand for pumps yesterday. Another bunch of sidewalk in front of the Hunt building at Twentyfifth and N etreets was washed out and extensive repairs will have to be made to Acting under the instructions from the mayor the police are daily making arrests of hucksters who have so far failed to provide themselves with licenses. Every patrolman in the city is looking after the matter and as soon as a hucketer is found who is not provided with a license he is arrested and brought before the police judge. Then he pays a fine and is forced to take out a license before being permitted to continue peddling.
