

HOUSE KILLS CORLISS BILL

Strikes Enacting Clause from Measure to Lay Government Cable.

VICTORY FOR THE COMMERCIAL COMPANY

MacKay Informs Members that Over Thousand Miles of Cable Are Ready and Guaranteed All-American Line.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—The house today dispatched the Corliss cable bill by the same method it adopted yesterday in the case of the forest reserve bill. It struck out the enacting clause by a vote of 115 to 77, thus giving the opportunity to test the strength of the Dalsell substitute which authorized the president to contract with a private company for the laying of a cable.

The speakers today were: Messrs. Shackford of Missouri, Mann of Illinois, Merrill of Pennsylvania and Tompkins of Ohio for the bill, and Messrs. Richardson of Alabama, Newlands of Nevada, Loud of California and Cannon of Illinois against it.

Mr. Corliss supplemented his speech of yesterday in favor of the bill with a few additional remarks. In the course of which he declared that he had learned within twenty-four hours that not a foot of the proposed commercial Pacific cable had yet been laid. Mr. Richardson of Alabama then took the floor in opposition. He called attention to the speech of Mr. Cannon yesterday, in which the latter showed that the appropriations for the new cable had already exceeded the estimated revenues by $31,000,000 and urged this as the first reason why the government should not enter upon the exhaustive work of building a cable to the Philippines.

Federal Cable Unjustifiable.

Mr. Corliss asked if the attorney general had not refused to consider the contract which the Commercial Cable company had offered to make.

Mr. Richardson replied that the attorney general and other government officials had declined to interfere in the matter and that the company was proceeding to lay the cable under the post road act. In explanation of the reasons for the cable being built in England he said that the Commercial cable was building a cable which it guaranteed for two years. No other company would guarantee a cable for thirty days, he said.

Mr. Richardson declared that as an economic measure proposed in Europe was not a cable was unjustifiable and he quoted from the commerce committee's report against a former bill of this kind to the effect that it would cost the government $15,000,000 and would chiefly benefit 300 foreigners and 100 American citizens. He read a letter from John W. Mackay of the Commercial cable company guaranteeing that the company would build an all-American cable and not touch upon foreign soil. The objection to the project of the Commercial cable because the cable was not built by American labor, he said, would not stand investigation. He produced figures to show that only 12 per cent of the cost of a cable was expended for wages.

Lead's Opposition.

Mr. Loud of California opposed the bill on the ground that government operation of telegraph systems in Europe was not a success. Since 1872 England had lost about $35,000,000 in the operation of its telegraph system. If a private company had had such a monopoly as England had it would have made large sums of money. He concluded by expressing the hope that the house would kill all the bills and leave the Pacific ocean open to any company which cared to undertake the laying of a cable. (Applause.)

Mr. Adamson of Georgia moved to strike out the enacting clause of the bill. To prove that the Commercial cable company was proceeding with the work of constructing the cable it proposed to lay, he read a cablegram from London, dated today and signed by G. E. Ward, vice president, certifying that 1,048 nautical miles of cable had been completed at San Francisco and would be laid by the end of the month. He stated that the house was proceeding at the rate of twenty-five miles a day. The cablegram said that a steamer would leave with the cable for San Francisco before August 1.

Mr. Tompkins of Ohio, a member of the commerce committee, then threw the weight of his influence against the bill. He had always favored the cable, but always had believed that a private company would come along and lay one without expense to the United States. Here was such a company offering to build a cable to the Philippines by way of Honolulu. Mr. Cannon said his principal objection to the Dalsell substitute was that it delayed the cable.

STORM TAKES LIVES

Tris company was instantly killed this morning while repairing the storm damage at Glen Oak Park. It was caught by a live wire and died instantly.

General Debility

Day is laid out there is that feeling of weakness that makes a burden of itself. Food does not strengthen. Sleep does not refresh. It is hard to do, hard to bear, what should be easy, vitality is on the wane, and the whole system suffers. For this condition take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

It vitalizes the blood, gives vigor and tone to all the organs and functions, and is positively unequalled for all run-down or debilitated conditions. Hood's Pills are cathartics.

seriously burned in attempting to extricate

Readman from the wire. The Peoria and Pekin Union roundhouse was blown down shortly after 10 o'clock. In it at the time were eight men. All escaped without serious injury but Samuel Spence, an Iowa Central engineer, who was caught by the falling walls and received serious injuries to his back. He is now at the Cottage hospital and is in a serious condition.

Rock Island Train Wrecked.

The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific train which left this city at 11:25 last night for Chicago ran into a washout just above the city. The engine is buried in sand and mud and the baggage car turned over. Robert Atkinson, the engineer, was the only person injured.

The roof of the new warehouse at the Corning & Co.'s distillery was blown off, as was also that of the Clark distillery.

The roof of the Harned & Von Maur dry goods store was blown off and damage to the stock of $25,000 was occasioned by water. There was no insurance. The store of Charles Cannon & Co., gent's furnishings, was wrecked by water. They carried no insurance on account of water.

Shortly after 11 o'clock a report reached the police that the people living in Dry Run, on this street, were in danger of drowning, as they had been caught by the flood. Rowboats were hauled to the scene at once and the police took twelve persons from their homes. They were standing on pianos, with the water almost to their necks. Within an hour all would have been lost.

All communication with the outside world was destroyed for over twelve hours and it was almost noon today when a wire was secured between Peoria and Chicago and St. Louis. Communication cut off.

All street car service was stopped and the cars were in danger of drowning. A tugboat and a steam launch which have been plying on the river at this point have disappeared since the first storm and it is believed they are now at the bottom of Peoria lake. Their pilots have not been seen.

Three large dry goods houses in Peoria were on fire at the same time after the storm and the entire fire department of the city was on duty all night.

The Peoria & Pekin Union tracks are washed away at Wesley City and no trains can get into Peoria over the Big Four, Illinois Central and Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis railroads.

The storm struck Morton, a small village fifteen miles below here, and Edward Beeman was killed by falling timbers.

A farmer named Ellison was killed while attempting to save his horses. He was found surrounded by the bodies of six dead horses. The damage to farmers is beyond estimation at this time.

In Peoria the loss cannot be estimated today. The damage to plate glass alone will amount to many thousands of dollars.

The steamer Peoria, out on the Illinois river with an excursion party of 50 women, was caught by the storm while in the channel several miles above Peoria. The steamer's orchestra played lively airs during the progress of the gale and prevented a panic. Captain Sibley succeeded in landing the steamer safely at 2:30 this morning.

Two Tornadoes in One Night. PEKIN, Ill., June 11.—A tornado passed over Tazewell county last night, killing three and fatally injuring two persons at Kingston Mines, south of here. The dead are: MRS. THOMAS MURRAY AND INFANT, WILLIE McELWEE, aged 3. Patrick McElwhee and wife were fatally injured.

The entire east end of that little village of 1,000 inhabitants was swept away. The storm struck Kingston Mines about 10:30 p. m. and lasted half an hour, causing $15,000 worth of damage. A second storm did considerable additional damage at 11:30 p. m. Physicians from Pekin, Glasford and Mapleton were called to care for the wounded.

Houses and barns were blown down in Groveand, Minier, Dillon, Hopedale and Delavan, but so far no loss of life in any of those places has been reported. The most destruction seems to have been at Kingston Mines.

Opposite Pekin the river overflowed its banks and covered 60,000 acres of corn, which is believed to have been ruined.

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., June 11.—There was a hard wind storm here last night, but no damage to this immediate section has been reported. Danvers, on the Alton road, north of this place, was reported wiped out just after the Kansas City limited train pulled out. At San Jose, this side of Danvers, a large elevator was blown on the track. Meager reports show widespread damage to the country north.

Other Smaller Losses. LATHAM, Ill., June 11.—The severe storm of last night washed out a bridge on the Peoria division of the Illinois Central, near here, and a freight train ran into the hole. The crew was injured, but not seriously. Comparatively small damage was done.

LINCOLN, Ill., June 11.—This city and immediate locality was visited at midnight by a severe and destructive hurricane. Hard rain and lightning did additional damage. Public buildings, factories and residences were unroofed and telephone and electric street railway systems were badly crippled. Most of the streets are blocked with fallen trees and wires. The villages of Atlanta, Lawdale, Elkhart and others in this county suffered heavy losses on elevators and other buildings. Small grain is damaged to a considerable extent. So far no loss of life is reported.

BURLINGTON, June 11.—Burlington has been practically cut off from telegraphic communication with the outside world since 9 o'clock last night, the wires being down in all directions. Last night's storm was the worst years and was attended by a most terrible electrical display. There were no lives lost in this city. Two hundred thousand feet of lumber, belonging to the Gilbert & Hedges Lumber company, broke from its moorings above the city, part floating down the river and part piling up on shore. Much damage to property resulted. Lightning struck in several places. The steamer Comet broke in half and sunk, but no lives were lost. Rob Roy, a pleasure craft, was badly damaged and washed ashore. Barges and boats were filled with water or blown high and dry on the bank. There are many reports of damage in the surrounding country, but details are lacking.

PENNYPACKER IS NOMINATED

Quay's Candidate Named by Pennsylvania Republicans as Governor Nominee.

ROOSEVELT IS STRONGLY INDORSED

President Receives Cordial and Unqualified Support of Convention as Its Choice for Nomination in Next National Campaign.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 11.—Judge Samuel W. Pennypacker of Philadelphia was nominated for governor over Attorney General John P. Elkin of Indiana by today's republican state convention, by a vote of 306 to 152.

Ex-State Senator William M. Brown of New Castle and Major Isaac Brown of Erie were nominated by acclamation for lieutenant governor and secretary of internal affairs respectively. Senator Quay was chosen chairman of the republican state committee by a suspension of the rules requiring the state chairman to be chosen by the nominees and the presiding officers of the convention, and he will conduct the campaign for the state ticket.

The platform indorses the administration of President Roosevelt, reaffirms loyalty to the principles of protective tariff; declares for pure and honest ballot reform; condemns trust, approves the action of the president and attorney general in proceeding against the Beef trust, and makes no mention of the state administration.

Personal Victory for Quay. Pennypacker's nomination is a personal victory for Senator Quay. Elkin was formerly one of Quay's chief lieutenants, and when he became a candidate it was thought he was the senator's choice. The delegates friendly to Elkin were elected in several counties. Quay advised against the attorney general's candidacy in the interest of party harmony. Elkin declined to withdraw. Quay then made a public declaration against his candidacy, and when Pennypacker was suggested the nomination the senator tacitly indorsed him.

The attorney general was backed by Governor Stone and other members of the state administration. Quay assumed direction of Pennypacker's campaign and from the outset predicted Elkin would not be nominated. The senator came here Sunday with Senator Penrose and others and opened headquarters. Elkin and his men were on the ground early, and until the strength of the rival candidates was revealed at last night's caucus it was conceded that the contest was very close.

Specializing on Strength. The Waters and Pennypacker delegates held a joint caucus, in which the latter claimed 204 of the 358 delegates in the convention.

The Elkinites declared that the count was incorrect and at midnight issued a statement predicting the attorney general's nomination. Quay, Penrose, Durham and Elkin were delegates to the convention today. Elkin made a speech against the report of the committee on contests unseating his delegates in two districts. The committee's action was sustained, however, the clerk announcing the vote to be 194 to 152. Elkin pledged his support to the ticket in his speech, but his adherents omitted to offer the customary motion that his opponent's nomination be made unanimous.

President at West Point

touch of elbow, he had better be out of the battle; and you officers, if you are going to do well, have got to learn how to do it. The task is a hard one and you want to be more than ever on your feet. The honor of the country depends upon the officers and enlisted men, and that high average of character and capacity in the regular army is the standard of the fighting efficiency of the men under you, not merely the efficiency of the officers. You can be called to account for failure to perform it, but doing it in a way that will make each man under you a better man.

Western Man Leads. Now I want you to weigh what I say, for if you take only half of it you will invert the best man you have in the regular army in actual service in the western campaign on the plains; that if he had been a good man in the regular army out on the plains, he was the best man you had in the regular army. If he had served in time of war, he would be practically a national guard regiment that one of two things was true—if he understood that he was a part of the regular army, he would be a big advancement, and if he had thought the regular army was only a 50 per cent he was worse than any one else. (Laughter.)

General Horace Porter made an address, following the president. The secretary of war was the last speaker.

Event of the evening was the banquet given by the officers of West Point to their distinguished guests, held in Grant hall and covers were laid for 500. The toastmaster was General G. B. Davis of the judge advocate general's department.

The toasts were: "Our Guests," responded to by the Italian ambassador, Mr. Des Planches; by the University of Chicago, by Dr. William R. Harper, president of the University of Chicago; "Congress and its Relations to the Military Academy," by David B. Henderson, speaker of the house of representatives; "The Army," by Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles; "The Navy," by Captain French E. Chadwick; "The Staff and the Army Schools," by Major General Henry A. Corbin; "The Volunteers," by Major General Daniel E. Sickles; "The National Guard," by Major General Dick, Ohio National guard.

favor Re-Election of Roosevelt.

To President Roosevelt we give our heartfelt approval and support. We recognize the fidelity with which he has carried out the policies of his administration, and we are proud to have him as our chief magistrate. He is strong in conviction, wise in judgment, and patriotic in feeling. His leadership and confidence, both in the success of republican principles and in the common prosperity of the country, we pledge ourselves to his renomination to the great office which he has filled with such ability and patriotism.

The Philippine islands under American rule, despite protracted warfare, were brought to an end, schools have been established, justice administered by courts and the first time become prompt and certain; the habeas corpus has been made a writ of rights; provincial and municipal governments chosen by vote have been established and the Filipino people have been taught to govern themselves.

While we are united to the natives that may have occurred, and approval proper punishment and condemnation wherever they are found, and demand justice for our men and due consideration of their wrongs and provocations they have undergone.

Endorse Cuban Reciprocity. To the end that our past contributions to the cause of Cuba may not be imperiled, and that the future of that island may be secured, we endorse the reciprocity of President Roosevelt that the United States and the republic of Cuba trade relations with the republic of Cuba be made more advantageous to both to that end of our representatives in both houses of congress and to the demand existing circumstances of a revision of the tariff on Cuban goods.

We heartily approve the action of the president of the United States, through his secretary of state, in checking the growth of unlawful competition intended to raise the price of commodities and to injure the consumer, and we recommend that similar laws be enacted in all cases where the people are oppressed by such a situation through the illegal manipulation of the market.

The roll was then called and Pennypacker was nominated on the first ballot, the vote being: Pennypacker, 206; Elkin, 152. The customary motion to make the nomination unanimous was omitted.

The name was withdrawn and William M. Brown of Lawrence county was nominated for lieutenant governor by acclamation. Major Brown of Erie was nominated for secretary of internal affairs by acclamation. The convention then adjourned.

THE TROUBLE THAT HAS BEEN BREWING FOR some time regarding the gospel work of the Women's Christian Temperance union at the Sunday noon services at 10 o'clock today afternoon at a meeting of that organization, when a letter was received from Sheriff Power addressed to the members of the union, advising them of the extent of their authority over the gospel services at the jail. He wished it understood that it rested with the sheriff alone to dictate who should conduct the services. The letter was accompanied by a petition to the union, advising them of the extent of their authority over the gospel services at the jail.
