Orders March Through the City and Exercises Conducted According to the Rituals of the Respective Orders.

The Pythian and Modern Woodmen of America ledges of Council Bluffs observed Bunday as memorial day with appropriate exercises at the cemeteries in the afternoon, the Pythians at Pairview and the Modern Woodmen at Walnut Hill.

In the morning a committee from the -Pythian lodges and Uniformed rank companies visited the cemeteries and decorated the graves of deceased knights with flowers, placing at each grave one of the metal markers in which was inserted a small Pythian fiag. The knights marched in parade from St. Alban's hall on Broadway to Fairview cemetery where the exercises were held. The column was headed by Smith's uniformed band, the members of Concordia and St. Alban's lodges being preceded by the members of U. S. Grant and Bluffs companies Uniformed rank. Reaching the cemetery the column formed a double triangle and the exercises according to the ritual of the order were carried Assistant County Attorney C. F. Independent Telephone Company Otherwise Satisfied with Franchise.

The Council Bluffs Independent Telephone company will make a determined effort at the meeting of the city council tonight to have stricken from its ordinance the clause requiring it to deposit form to the amendments suggested by the committee of the whole, and the understanding is that the measure is to come up for final action at tonight's session of the city council. With the exception of the clause providing for the $5,000 forfeit, the company is willing to accept the ordinance in the form it now is. He contends that the business standing of the men in the company is sufficient guarantee to the city rector, Rev. Alderman Lovett expects to present at tonight's meeting his ordinance increasing the pay of the men of the fire department from $60 to $65 a month, and that of the captains from $60 to $70 a month. The indications are that the ordinance will be favorably received by the council. The assessed valuation of property in the city this year proved somewhat larger than the council anticipated at the time the annual appropriation ordinance was passed, with the result that the revenue will be greater. Alderman Lovett, chairman of the committee on fire and light, takes the posttion that the proposed increase in the salaries of the firemen was contemplated at the time the appropriation was made and that to raise them now would be perfectly lenbeck. It has been decided to take up legal. Some of the aldermen are of the opinion that if the salaries of the firemen are increased those of the members of the police force ought to be also.

QUARREL ENDS IN ANOTHER MURDER

Girl-Statistics of the State Institutions-Nomination for Judge.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, June 15 .- (Special.)-Tomorrow the vacation schools of Des Moines will reopen. This is one of the semicharitable institutions of which Des Moines people are proud. The vacation school system was organized some years ago for the purpose of giving to the poor children living in the downtown district of the city something to do during the summer months and as a way to reach a large class of persons who might not be reached in any other way. Last year the enrollment at the vacation schools reached 125, and this year it is almost certain the enrollment will be double that amount. A term of six weeks is given and the school is open but half a day. Formerly the teachers volunteered for the work, but this year a systematic effort was made to secure funds, and as a result $600 was secured, which will be used in paying the teachers and five substitutes. The school will be in the Lincoln school building, one of the best in the city and located near the factory district and the railroads. He lives near Greenwood park in the western part of the city in a small house and his brother-inlaw, Samuel Wellington, lives with him. Wellington during the day and evening was with a young woman who lives in Valley Junction, and it appears that Morris was jealous of Wellington. The two had a quarrel in the park and Wellington afterward went home with the girl. He had not returned from Valley Junction at midnight, when Morris and Charles Hughes went to the Hofley home supposedly for the purpose of finding Wellington. Morris was seen in the yard by Hefley just as the latter was preparing to retire, and he went out to order Morris away. A quarrel followed, in which Morris struck Heffey several times with a large butcherknife and inflicted the fatal wounds. Hefley made a dying statement, declaring that Morris did the cutting. Hughes was found afterward and he declared that Morris was drunk at the time. Wellington returned later and told of his quarrel with Morris in the park. It was told of him that the day after the Cedar Rapids convention last year, when he was unmercifully defeated in the nomination of Mr. Cummins, Judge Hubbard was asked how he felt.

"Well," he repiled, "I feel a good deal like the gambler who walked into a saloon in the morning, after playing and drinking all night. He had a bad head and a frown taste, and stepping up to the bar sald: by his will.

couple of glasses of ice water and a few kind words."

Dubuque Times: The late Judge Hubbard of Cedar Rapids will live long in the memory of the lowa bar. He was original, resourceful, experienced, industrious, good-tempered and always interesting. He excelled most politicians and lawyers in his ability to keep his temper in the midst of attack or controversy. Some years ago he appeared in a proceeding in Dubuque that was calculated to stir his indignation. The Illinois Central, through the Dubuque & Sloux City, desired to get possession of the Cedar Falls & Minnesota on its own terms and adopted the expedient of bringing a large number of employes to a stockholders' meeting, each employe representing one or more shares of stock. By viva voce vote the Illinois Central crowd proceeded to organize the meeting and conduct the proceedings. Judge Hubbard, appearing as attorney for the Jesup syndicate, objected to the "town meeting" and offered to vote the stock he represented on every motion but was regularly declared out of order by the chairman. The other representatives of the Jesup syndicate could not conceal their rage, but Judge Hubbard managed his very gracefully.

Sioux City Tribune: Judge Hubbard did fully.

Sloux City Tribune: Judge Hubbard did not like Senator Dolliver. They had a falling out years ago, it is understood, because Dolliver couldn't see certain railroad legislation through the same glasses as Hubbard. Hubbard didn't want Dolliver appointed senator; he would have been willing to make trouble in the Tenth, if it had been possible, long before Dolliver was promoted from the house.

One time Congressman Dolliver was in Des Moines, en route to Washington. He sat in the hotel lobby waiting for the east-bound train on the Rock Island. Judge Hubbard spied him and walking over shook hands.

"Goin' east tonight, Dolliver?" he asked. "Yes; I'm waiting for this Rock Island train," was the reply.
"Say, Dolliver," went on the judge, "why don't you ever ride on our railroad? We'd like to have you do it occasionally."
"Much obliged, judge," replied the congressman, "but your railroad doesn't seem to run any place where it would accommodate anybody."
"Well, Dolliver," drawled the judge, "if our road don't suit you, we might build it over for your accommodation and put it farther up into your district."
"Thanks, judge," replied Dolliver with a laugh, "but I guess I've got all I need of your kind of railroads up there now."

Rt. Rev. P. J. Garrigan to Be Duly Installed Wednesday.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE CEREMONIES unction Will Be One of Most Im-

Be in Control. SIOUX CITY, Ia., June 15 .- (Special.)-Next Wednesday, June 18, Right Rev. P. J.

Garrigan, D. D., of Washington, D. C., will Wyo., lately deceased, Father Cleary, Minbe installed as bishop of the new Catholic diocese of Sioux City, in ceremonies participated in by all the priests of the see. Dr. Garrigan will arrive in Sioux City Wednesday morning from Springfield, Mass., where he was consecrated for the bishopric with elaborate exercises, May 25. A special train will run from Sioux City to LeMars, carrying prominent clergy of the diocese and many citizens of Sloux City, to meet the bishop and welcome him to his new home. He will be met at the depot here by pageant of clergy and citizens, which will escort him by a circuitous route to St. Mary's church. J. S. Lynch, St. Mary's; M. McDermott, St. Joseph's; A. Braunger, St. Boniface's; A. J. Granger, St. Jean Baptiste's, will be marshals of the day and, with M. Joeston, St. Jean Baptiste's, secretary and treasurer, and with the priests of the city, Fathers P. J. O'Connor, St. Joseph's; J. A. Gerlaman, St. Boniface's; L. P. Dagnault, St. Jean Baptiste's, and Edward Masteron, St. Mary's, will constitute the committee in charge of the installation Officers for the Ceremony.

Rev. John Smith, Emmetsburg, Ia., the pidest priests in the diocese in point of service, will be dignior ex clero, and the other officers will be: Rev. P. J. Farrelly, Sheldon, and J. Kuemper, Carroll, chaplains to the bishop; Very Rev. P. Burke, Fort Dodge, and Rev. J. Schulte, Remsen, chaplains to Archbishop Keane; Rev. E. Heelan, Fort Dodge, master of ceremonies; Rev. S. Butler, Gilmore City, cross bearer; Revs. M. Bradley, Fort Dodge, and A Schaeffer, LeMars, acolytes; Rev. Cooper, Charter Oak, thurifer; Rev. F. J.

Brune, Alton, notary; Very Rev. B. C. Lenihan, Boone, speaker. When Bishop Garrigan arrives at St Mary's church, the cathedral, he will be handed the keys of the church by Archbishop Keane of Dubuque, Ia. In the ceremonies of installation, which will follow in St. Mary's, Father B. C. Lenihan of Boone will deliver the address of welcome in behalf of the priests of the diocese, and Bishop Garrigan will respond.

A banquet will be served, after the ceremonies, in St. Mary's school hall by the Catholic churches, which will be attended by the bishop, priests and other distinguished guests. Within the week Dr. Garrigan will be given a banquet by the Sloux City Commercial club.

The Catholics of western Iowa have long been clamoring for a diocese of their own, and the dlocese of Dubuque had long been considered too large. When Archbishop Hennessy died and was succeeded by Archbishop Keane, the new diocese was recommended, and an order followed soon in a papal brief.

Extent of the Diocese.

The new diocese is 105 by 130 miles in size, and includes twenty-four countles, Lyon, Osceola, Dickinson, Emmet, Kossuth, Palo Alto, Clay, Sioux, O'Brien, Plymouth, Cherokee, Pocahontas, Buena Vista, Humboldt, Webster, Calhoun, Sac, Ida, Woodbury, Monona, Crawford, Carroll, Greene and Boone. In the diocese are ninetythree priests, seventy-seven churches with resident priests; eighteen missions; twenty-four stations; thirty-six schools; 165 teachers; 5,500 pupils, and 85,000 Catholics. When St. Mary's church was elevated to a cathedral, Dean T. Treacy, pastor thirteen years, was transferred to Carroll, and Dr. Garrigan will have charge of the parish. St. Mary's church and school were originally designed at a cost of about $100,000; the church has not been completed, having been used in an unfinished condition eight years. It will now be completed. About the New Bishop.

Dr. Garrigan is large in physique, impressive in manner, gracious and kindly. For fourteen years he has been associated with the Catholic university at Washwarmer in extreme portion; Tuesday fair ington as vice-rector, and, occupying a central position between the academic, fin ancial and executive departments of university activity, he has been peculiarly fitted for the manifold duties of a bishopric. Dr. Garrigan represents more than his university experience, however. When he was made vice rector in 1888, he had been thirteen years in the practical ministry as priest in Fitchburg, Mass. As curate and as pastor he lived through the constructive period of church history in that section. He saw and met and solved all the problems that presented themselves in the upbuilding and creating of great city parishes in cities where growth has revolutionized religion. As a young man, just ordained, he was one of the superiors of Troy seminary, where he studied for the ministry.
