Ordinance Laid on the Table at the Meeting of the City Council.

COMPANY REFUSES TO ACCEPT TERMS Amended So as to Provide Lower Rates and Require a Deposit from Company of Five Thousand Dollars.

The ordinance granting a franchise to the Council Bluffs Telephone Company was laid on the table at the meeting of the city council last night after Attorney Emmet Tinley on behalf of the state had declined to accept it in the state in which the aldermen decided that it ought to be submitted to the people of the city for their approval.

The ordinance was read by City Solicitor Snyder in the presence of the aldermen and the people of the city for their approval. In declining to accept the franchise, Tinley asserted that he would be operating an independent telephone system in Council Bluffs in a year and that he would go before the people with an ordinance which he was sure would meet with their approval.

In substance Mr. Tinley stated that he would draft an ordinance which he would submit to the people at a special election without referring it first to the city council. The law provides a means whereby the question of granting franchises can be submitted to a vote of the people first without the consent of the city council.

The ordinance as redrafted by City Solicitor Snyder was passed on suspension of the rules to its second reading when Alderman Huber moved to amend it by substituting the rates offered in the ordinance submitted by the Interstate company through Vice Stevens of Dubuque.

Huber's motion was promptly seconded by Alderman Olson and by a large vote of the council the ordinance was passed.

ONE LOOK AT BONHAM ENOUGH

Three Prisoners Plead Guilty as Soon as He is Called on the Jury.

Judge Wheeler in the district court yesterday took up the criminal calendar, but in each of the three cases assigned for trial the defendant pleaded guilty after the impelling of a jury had been begun.

Charles Coleman pleaded guilty to holding up and robbing the W. J. Colburn on the night of April 3 near the State School for the Deaf. John Plumb pleaded guilty to being implicated in assaulting and robbing Fred Goth in the railroad yards on May 24.

Plumb's two associates, Mike Sheehan and Mike Pahey, were among the prisoners who escaped from the county jail. H. S. Flaharan admitted to Colburn on the night of Charles Bailey's bicycle, valued at $35, which makes the offense one of grand larceny.

It was an amusing and strange coincidence that the three defendants each decided to enter a plea of guilty after the first juror had been called into the box.

The juror in question happened to be B. A. Bonham who was called first in each case. He had no sooner answered to his name and taken his seat when the attorney for the defendant notified the court that his client decided to plead guilty.

Judge Wheeler announced that he would pass sentence on the three defendants Saturday morning.

Harry Carey, charged with the larceny of gold-rimmed spectacles from the optical store of Captain Webb on Broadway, and William Mason charged with breaking into and robbing Thomas Maloney's cigar factory will be tried today.

Mason's case is being put to the vote by the jury. He was charged with the larceny of a diamond ring from the jewelry store of J. J. Jones on 14th street.

The trial of these two defendants will conclude the criminal business for this term as the case against James N. Casady, Jr., charged with embezzlement, has been continued, as has that against Attorney Henry G. Vermont.

In the latter case the defendant is charged with the murder of a man who has not yet been named.

Judge Wheeler yesterday set Wednesday for hearing the application of M. Woolson and Groneweg & Schoentgen that Wernimont be required to pay over the money which it is alleged Wernimont collected from the insurance company.

Neaf and Dumb Graduation

Seven in the Class Which This Year Finishes Prescribed Course of Study.

The graduating exercises of the Iowa School for the Deaf will be held Friday afternoon in the auditorium of the High School, which has been placed at the disposal of Superintendent Rothert by the Board of Education.

The class this year consists of only seven pupils: Wealthy Loretta Stedman, Lamoni, Decatur county; Louis John Posthumus, Mason City; Cerro Gordo county; John Stephen Blake, Churdan, Greene county; Early Ray Elder, Nichols, Muscatine county; Fred Davis Curtis, Deon, Lyon county; Chester Orlando Smith, Okaloosa, Mahaska county; Erich Thomas Hansen, Gladbrook, Tama county. The class motto is "Up and Doing," class color, red and black; class flower, carnation, and class tree, silver maple.

The program of the graduating exercises gives promise of being more than usually interesting. Music will be furnished by the orchestra of the institution for feeble-minded children at Glenwood, and Hon. John Kinne, member of the State Board of Control, will deliver an address and present the graduates with their diplomas.

Umpire Gets Broken Jaw.

Richard Rood, an employe of the Long Distance Telephone company, had a decidedly strenuous time of it Sunday afternoon umpiring a game of ball between the Suburban and Duck Hollow teams at the Thirty-fourth street and Broadway grounds. His decisions apparently did not meet with favor at times, and several attempts to assault him were made.

He managed to stay with the game until the finish, but is now nursing a fractured jaw as the result of a free-for-all fight which ensued afterwards. No report of the fight was made to the police and no arrests have been made.

A high dive from the flouring mill into the river and all kinds of races will be features of the amusement program.

Iowa State News Notes.

There are twenty-one breweries in Iowa at the present time, according to the census returns, as compared with eighteen ten years ago. The capital in the brewing time has increased from $1,037,232 to $2,430,517. The number of salaried employees employed has increased from 153 in 1900 to 210 in 1901. The number has more than doubled. Ten years ago it was $788,000; in 1900 it was $1,735,311.

A farmer, who became seriously tired of buying potatoes at the exorbitant price of 40 cents a bushel, made up his mind he would get his potatoes in the ground as soon as the frost went out of Mother Earth this spring. The result of his venture was that on May 30 he had potatoes in plenty for his family and of enormous size, some of which measured 5 1/2 inches and were ripe, hot, and he sold them on the market at 1 1/2 per bushel. He was getting his back at the merchants with a vengeance.

Sheriff McArthur of Davenport reports forty-two prisoners who are inmates of the county jail at the present time. The usual prison men, with the present high price of beef, are being fed on small cost country potatoes and meat have been plentiful in cost of late, and this is the reason of the high prices being charged by the sheriff. However, the prisoners do not complain to make as to the quality of the food furnished.

A recent addition to the treasury force in Washington is Fred Binney of Burlington, who was for so long private secretary to the late lamented Senator Gear. Binney is stenographer to Secretary Shaw. He is a very bright young man with an undoubted assured future of success and honor. Another Iowa man recently transferred to the treasury is M. L. Beal, who is well known in Lincoln county, Iowa, as a position in the office of the comptroller of the currency, a place where he will be able to learn banking and whatever possible, and is E. R. Mason, clerk of the United States district court at Des Moines, is quoted in the Des Moines Capital as saying that the records will show that Judge Hubbard settled 90 per cent of the cases against the northerners who were in the court. It was Mr. Hubbard's policy and practice to settle cases outside of court whenever and wherever possible, and Mr. Mason's belief that he saved the country many thousands of dollars by this action. When a case came up, he never to him a question of the amount of damages, but the liability of the individual responsibility of contributory negligence. He practiced in the federal court at Des Moines for more than twenty years and had many hard cases, but by far the great majority he settled outside of court.

Comments of the Iowa Press.

Davenport Republican: Thus far in Iowa nominations by republican conventions for congressmen have been made by acclamation. Democrats can take this as an omen of what will come in the future. Logan Observer: What the state convention should do is to declare against the revision of the tariff until there are some signs of distress in the industry of commercial and industrial stagnation. Sioux City Journal: The Fort Dodge man has been getting there again. It happened this time, however, the penitentiary was the goal. It was an army quartermaster who followed the Captain Carter route. Davenport Democrat: Ten years ago we were having just such weather as we have had for the last week, and that year was 1892. It was the year of the great part of July. And yet the country, and particularly the state of Iowa, came out a great deal to the relief.

Keokuk Gate City: The Iowa City Republican says up the democratic situation in this district just right, as follows: "The First district democrats will make a campaign against the republicans in general on the grounds of national extravagance, against Congressman Hedge in particular because he did not vote for appropriations for the district. And then they will wonder why they didn't get within 5,000 votes of electing their candidate."

Dubuque Telegraph-Herald: Dubuque people who are addicted to obligatory farewells in railway stations need not worry about the right of those not attending City station of the Pennsylvania railway. Such a rule will not do here, according to the opinion of a prominent lawyer in the city. "I'd like to see somebody stop me from kissing my wife at a railway station," said the officer yesterday, "which means, according to the court, that neither of you object—nobody can prevent you if somebody does, in a railway station or in any other place, he is guilty of assault. The order is without legal value."

Opens Mail Route and Avoids Suit.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., June 16.—(Special.)—A threatened damage suit in the United States court in this city against the government has been averted by the overruling of the postmaster's action in the inspection of a mail route between Viborg and Center Point, Turner county. The contract was awarded some time ago, the route to be placed in operation July 1 next. In anticipation of entering upon the work, the contractor was awarded the contract moved to Viborg where he purchased a home. Just after he had done so, an inspector rescinded the order for the proposed route. The contractor was preparing to institute a damage suit, but he has now been advised that the Washington authorities have overruled the action of the inspector. The new route will be placed in operation July 1, as provided by the contract.
