In each of these plants every emplove was armed today with a revolver The weapons were supplied by the men's employers with the approval of Mayor Hinchellffe. Before taking this step the mayor had been consulted by the manufacturers and he expressed the opinion that the employers were fully justified in arming their men and that it was a necessary precaution in view of yesterday's riots.

Employes Are Armed.

When the employes of the Pelgram and Meyer mills, on Matlock street, reported for work this morning every fourth man was provided by the management with a gun. During the night shotguns, Winchesters and revolvers, comprising a small but formidable arsenal, were carried into the mill. Accompanying the weapons were thirty rounds of ammunition for each piece. With the arrival of the men workers the firearms were distributed and the employes went armed to their looms. Not one dye shop started up this morning, although several were opened.

The dye house owners were willing to start operations, but the men refused to go to work, as they feared violence at the hands of the strikers.

The police had a slight encounter with a body of strikers and their sympathizers today. About 400 Italian strikers gathered in the quarter of the city where the larger part of the Italian colony lives, and forming in procession started to march to Turn hall. The hall is only about a block from the police headquarters. It is said that the proposed meeting there today was arranged for a meeting of anarchists last

These of the western states most vitally interested in baset sugar have now acted on the reciprocity question. These are Kanaas, Nebraska and South Dakota. The two former stood by the president out-right, while the latter did so in spirit, Senators Gamble and Kittredge preventing a more direct manner of expression Base.

Senators Gamble and Klittredge preventing a more direct manner of expression. Rep-resentative Murtin, who spoke in ...e South Dakota convention in praise of the pres-ident's course, was applauded vigorously in all he said. These three states have endorsed Cuban reciprocity and the five republican senators representing them are numbered with the opposition. The president feels that he would rather be in his position than in that of the five senators.

Senator Platt, chairman of the committee disturbed and have protested to the Pekin on Cuban relations, today was an early caller at the White House, where he had been made. It is feared that France will a conference with the president on the subfortify Katal, as the French have lost no ject of the probable fate of the Cuban reopportunity during the last three years of ciprocity measure in the senate.

Senators Good-Naturedly Quizzed

He declined to make any statement concerning the president's views, as expressed to him, but said that, speaking entirely for himself, he would force the senators who are holding out against reciprocity to cast their votes either with or against the party. "There is not a beet sugar state," said the senator, "where, if the question was put before a republican convention, reciprocity would not be endorsed Where a lot of men are setting themselves up in opposition to their party they should be forced to go on record by their votes." The republican senators who favor reciprocity with Cuba are not yet ready to acknowledge that nothing can be done. They say that with thirty five votes in the caucus they do not think they need surrender to the nineteen who declared them selves last night against the bill.

Two methods are suggested, one to negotiate a treaty with Cuba and the other to bring in and pass the house bill. The action of the Nebraska republican convention yesterday in endorsing the president's message and reciprocity with Cuba was commented upon quite freely about the senale today, and the reciprocity sonators quizzed Senators Millard and Dietrich in a good-natured way about the manuar in which the Nebraska platform differed from their statements made in caucus last evening, when Mr. Dietrich declared that four Nebraska congressional districts would go democratic if the reciprocity bill was passed.

As Senator Dictrich Sees It.

Senator Dietrich could not see wherein his course had met with disapproval by the state convention. He said the joint letter which Senator Millard and himself had sent to the state convention fully explained his position. At no time had there been any disposition on the part of the Nebraska olting delegates afterwards nominated senators to put themselves in opposition to the president; that both Senator Millard and himself stood ready at all times to extend that the high license men would devote aid to the people of Cubs without inflictsome time to a consideration of the pollil- ing tco great an injury upon any American cal outlook before placing an independent industrial institution and that in this they were but simply following the expressed idoctrine of McKinley. He said that he stood with the president, but was unalterably opposed to certain senators who stood INVESTIGATE PECOR DEATH against the producers of sugar in the United States. He said the president thoroughly understood the fight which was being made in behalf of American interests as against foreign production. He thought when the platform of the state convention was read as a whole, it would not be found that the course of the senators from Nebraska had been condemned.

Senator Allison, when asked tonight what he thought of the Cuban situation, said he believed the subject dead for this session. But I have no doubt as to the ultimate outcome," he remarked, with a meaning smile.

Little Hope for Rosebud Bill.

Senator Gamble said tonight that a tremendous effort would be made to secure
