One Hundred and Eleven Brawny Men Ready for Boat Races.

CORNELL AND WISCONSIN ARE FAVORITE

All of the Fourteen Crews, However, Are So Evenly Matched that the Result is Difficult hundred and eleven brawny young men, the finest specimens of physical development that can be produced under the system of athletic training in vogue in American universities, are today putting the finishing touches to their preparations for the intercollegiate races that are to be rowed on the Poughkeepsie course tomorrow afternoon. They comprise the fourteen crews of the six universities that have been entered in the three races that make up the day's program.

Reports received from all the crew head quarters today as to the condition of the various contestants and their readiness to race show an average so high and at the same time so equal as to force the conclusion that the university race tomorrow will show one of the closest finishes ever seen in these contests.

READY FOR AMERICAN DERBY

Thirteen Horses Are Entered to Start in Great Event and More Are to Come.

CHICAGO, June 28.—Thirteen horses are enterlyd to start in (omorrow's American Derby and it is likely that one or two others will be added to the list tomorrow morning, making one of the largest fields ever seen in the race. The practical assurance of a heavy track may be responsible for the starting of several horses whose owners think they will have a chance in this going which they would not have under other conditions. Owners do not have to make their final declarations until 18:18 o clock temorrow morning, and it is possible that some surprises may be sprung at the last moment. CHICAGO, June 20.-Thirteen horses are *Hidrett entry.

Although Owner Ealdwin and Trainer Spiers both announced positively yesterday that Cruzades would not start owing to the slight injury he received in the Derby trial at Harlem yesterday, they appeared today to change their minds and tonight they announce that there is a strong possibility that the son of the Emperor of Norfolk will go to the post. There has been a quiet rumor also that the famous Santa Anita stable is counting on Escalante to carry its colors and that Cruzades is not really as good a cold as Escalante. Such are the rumors that have kept the public guessing as to what really will take place in the big race.

There is much disappointment at the promise of a muddy track for the race. Contrary to the promise of the weather man it rained most of today, and it seems sure that the track will be more or less

What effect a slow track may have on the chances of the favorite horses is more or less problematical.

Charles Hill, the trainer of Heno, all along has maintained that the Mackay colt can negotiate muddy going, but he has admitted that he would prefer a fast track. Those in charge of Arsenal declare the Featherstone colt can go in the mud, but this fact cannot be gathered from races he has run. Much the same can be said of Pentecost, although the latter's supporters declare emphatically he is a good "mudder." Hermiss is pronounced a good mud horse, and it is believed Belle's Commoner can negotiate such going. As to the outcan negotiate such going. As to the out-siders in the race the chances of all are supposed to be enhanced by the promise of slow track.

Prowl, the winner of the Arkansas Derby Prowi, the winner of the Arkansas Derby, is a selling plater on a fast track, but will start tomorrow because of the condition of the track. S. C. Hildreth's Lucien Appleby has been conceded a royal chance in the big race in case of a slow track. Lord Quex, another Hildreth colt, is said to disible slow tracks, yet he won the Crescent Derby on a slow track. Wyeth, the Drake entry, libes this kind of going. Aladdin, the G. Ca Gennett starter, is not conceded a chance except in slow going, and a small chance in that. The announcement that Corrigan, the Burns & Waterhouse colt, would start comes in the nature of a surprise. It generally has been believed that this colt is lacking in class and has no chance of the Derby, but it is said he is a sure starter.

chance of the Betry, sure starter.
Otts, the St. Louis Derby winner, although he won that event on a fast track, is an excellent "mudder" and probably has a better chance to win in such going than a better chance to win in such going than on a good track.

McChesney, the pride and hope of the west until he met with an accident at Harlem last Wednesday, worked at the West Side track today and showed no traces of immeness, yet his name is not given out as a starter. However, there are many who hope McChesney's name will appear on the starting board tosnorrow afternoon, provided the track is not too heavy, for McChesney is known not to be at home in heavy going. Most trainers believe that the track will be only slightly slow tomorrow and some even look for it to be moderately fast. The weather man promises a fair day.

MEDICAL TERMS.

Rules as to Certain Plurals Applieable Also to Other Words.

How to form the plural of some medical words is a puzzle to many physicians, says. American Medicine. We have been asked that chondromas, earcinomas, fibromas, etc., addendums, ovums, erratums, mediums, focuses, funguses, formulas, genuses stamens, indexes, apparatuses, appendixes, cherubs, seraphs, bandits, criterious, etc. are the proper plural forms. In words ending in -is, the change to -es, in forming the plural, is so well established and so simple that it should not be interfered with.

In this way we have accepted and babitually use analyses, bases, crises, hypotheses, oases, parentheses, theses, etc. Why should we not also form the plurals of our words ending in -itis in the same way, instead of the Greek -itides? The forms neurites, nephrites, etc., seem preferable to neuritides, nephritides, etc. We would prefer irises to irides and irites to iritides. The objections to -itides are so evident that railr they need not be discussed, and -times is scarcely likely to be accepted, although it is perfectly proper and preferable to -tides.

DISTRIBUTION OF RAILROAD VALUE

Statute Plainly Requires State Board of Equalization to Pro Rate Valuations Among Various Counties,

This Works Apparent Hardships on Cities, but Compels Railroads to Pay Over 50 Per Cent of All Taxes in Many Nebraska Counties.

(Issued under Authority of the Railronds of Nebruska.)

Some complaint is made in cities regarding the manner in which State Boards of Equilization are obliged to distribute the values of railroad property throughout the various counties, not allowing cities with great terminal facilities and fine depet accommodations to assess that property locally within the cities, but compelling its value to be distributed along the lines of the road in accordance with a mileage basis.

The principal reason that this is done is the fact that it is the law; the Board of Equalization is directed in its action by that provision in the law relating to resoure. Sec. 40 of the Statute. After providing for a system of returns to be made by the railroads of Nebraska each year, the following provision is plain and explicit.

"As soon as practicable after the Auditor has received the said return, or procured the information required to be set forth in said return, a meeting of the State Board of Equalization, consisting of the Governor, State Treasurer and Auditor, shall be held at the office of said Auditor, and the said board shall then value and assess the property of said corporation at its actual value for each mile of said road or line. THE VALUE OF EACH MILE TO BE DETERMINED BY DIVIDING THE SUM OF THE WHOLE VALUATION BY THE NUMBER OF MILES OF SUCH ROAD OR LINE."

In the first place, the terminal facilities would be of no value to the railroads were they not taken in compunction with the balance of their properly. This distribution of property, in this manner is a general rule adopted by most of the states in the Union, and, in a great many instances, suits have been inaugurated attempting to separate this value, and assess the same within the localities where they are located, but courts have universally decided that this would not be the proper way of making such an assessment. Exactly such a case as this was made in the State of Colorado, taken to the supreme court and decided within the past few years. The assessor of Arapahoe County desired to assess the terminal facilities of the tailroads centered within that county, without giving credit for their valuation to the outside counties. The people of the State representing the outside counties took issue on the matter and it was decided that this value should be distributed throughout the State, and this was a rase in which the raurosas themselves would have been benefited by the change proposed, from the fact that the rate of taxation in the County of Arayahoe is less than what it is in the outlying counties.

rate of taxation in the County of Arabahoe is less than what it is in the outlying counties.

In every instance where the termindie of railroads are located in cities, the railroads are a senent to the cities in much greater proportion than the cities are a benefit to the railroads. The terminal cities and the railroads should work together in the development and assistance of the counties tributary to these places. The distribution of value in accordance with the law assists the power counties in carrying on their schools and making those necessary improvements which induce settlers to locate there, and in return for this assists in building up the terminal localities as well as the railroads. While at first glance this distribution of property would not look fair to Omaha, for instance, the citizens of Omaha certainly should know that almost any city in the State would gladly trade positions with that city, in case the railroads would do as much for their locality as they have done for the City of Omaha. The distribution of valuation of terminal facilities along the lines of the railroad, thus helping the whole state in the future, is a help for Omaha as well.

While it might be popular in Omaha to advocate a change in this system of distribution, it certainly would create an antagonism against the city through the whole State and would run counter to the general rule regarding railroad taxation. In case railroads were obliged to accede to such a proposition any thinking man would know at once that the great shops, the yard taxilities, the car repairs and all of the features that make up this value would naturally go to those construct at their respective places.

For the purpose of increasing the population of their construct at their respective places.

For the purpose of increasing the population of their localities, cities would gladly forego this tax as an inducement for the railroads to locate such institutions there.

In Wiscons in neither cities or counties receive tax from railroad corporations; it all goes to the state, but this would hardly be popular in Nebraska, where the railroads in many instances pay from 60 to 75 per cent of the taxes collected in the counties along their roads.

Railroads pay over 50 per cent of the taxes in many counties.

Business There is More Quiet While Western Reports Are Favorable.

American Medicine. We have been asked especially as to the proper form of the plural of neuritis, nephritis, etc., and of iris, formula, etc. It seems to us the general rule must be that if they are English words, i. e., written in Roman and not in italics, they should form their plurals just as other English plurals are formed. If they are still foreign words, of course, the plurals must be those commanded by the language whence they come. There is hardly a better proof of acclimatization than the adoption of the English form of plural.

If the Latin form is preserved, then we should print the words in italics and use it as little as possible. But in English we are compelled to use nephritis, etc., because there are no other English words descriptive of the facts. Such words are as thoroughly Anglicised as any can be. If not, we should use the Greek alphabet in printing them. Why, therefore, preserve the Latin or Greek forms of plurals? Who would say lexica instead of factotums and ultimatums? In the same way we think that chondromas, earcinomas, fibromas, etc., addeedums, ovems, erratums, medi
