A respectable appearing German purweman is out on her own recognizance.

A respectable appearing German purchased $20 worth of furniture Friday afternoon from the firm of Keller & Farnsworth, tendering a check for $30 in payment and receiving $10 in change. When the firm attempted to deliver the goods it found only a vacant lot at the number given. The check was drawn on the Union Avenue Bank of Commerce, Kansas City, in favor of August Borchet and purported to be signed by W. H. S. Schly. A telegram to Kansas City elicited the information that the check was a forgery.

The old saying goes, "There is an end to everything," but those who have seen our big supply of wallpaper think that in this there is an exception to the old saw quoted, We do not desire to stand in the position of being braggadocias, and there are others who have fine and extensive lines of wallpaper, but we do want to be understood as saying that there is no other house that excels us, either as to the latest patterns and modern prices. In fact, we believe you will concede that we are a great ways in the lead of all our competitors when you see our stock and get our low prices. We are willing to leave this to you. OMAHA NINE WINNER IN THE BALL GAME

Program of Sports Carried Out as Planned with Exception of Aquatic Events, but It Was Too Chilly for Swimmers,

Unfavorable weather was responsible for a smaller attendance than had been anicipated at the annual outing of the Omaha, South Omaha and Council Bluffs Royal Arcanum lodges yesterday at Lake Manawa. Those who participated, however, succeeded in having a good time, although the coolness of the atmosphere when the sun went down compelled many to return board on his former bill of $1,032, making home early.

The program of sports, with the exception of the swimming and rowing events, allowed the payment of Dr. Reller's bill of was carried out and created much amusement. The ball game between Omaha and Council Bluffs ended with a score of 9 to 8 in favor of the Omahans, although the Bluffites claimed the game was not fiftshed, as they had one man still to bat. The races resulted as follows:

PRISONERS UP FOR SENTENCE William Thompson, with a Five Year Term, is High Man in the Bunch.

Of the five men sentenced yesterday morning by Judge Wheeler in the district court to the penitentiary at Fort Madison William Mason, alias William Thompson, received the longest term, getting five years. He had entered a plea of guilty to breaking into and robbing Thomas Maloney's cigar factory. Mason was one of the seven prisoners who escaped from the county jail, but was recaptured a few days later in Harrison county. His accomplice in the burglary, E. G. Jones, who also escaped from the county jail, is still at large, Mason and Jones were caught with the plunder in their possession.

John Plumb, one of the three men indicted for robbing Fred Goth in the Milwaukee yards and who had entered a plea of guilty was sentenced to three years. Plumb's two partners were among the prisoners who escaped from the county jail and are still at large. Plumb did not take advantage of the opportunity to escape with his part-

Harry Caley, the young man who pleaded guilty to entering Captain Webb's optical store on West Broadway and stealing a number of valuable eyeglasses, was given two years.

H. S. Fishburn, who stole a bicycle and admitted his guilt, got off with a twentytwo months' sentence. Fishburn was one of the seven to get away from the county jail, but was recaptured early the next morning while waiting to jump a freight at the Rock Island yards.

Within half an hour after the men had received their sentences they were on their way to the penitentiary, in charge of Sheriff Cousins and Deputy Canning.

FARMER SHOT WHILE IN BED Demand More Pay and a Recognition of Tenant on One of His Farms Charges with the Crime and Lynching Narrowly Averted.

IOWA CITY, Ia., June 21 .- (Special.) --Revenge or robbery was the motive of one of the foulest murders in the history of Johnson county, which occurred at River Junction shortly past midnight. James Gallagher, a prominent farmer, was assassinated while sleeping by the side of his wife and two children. The murderer reached over the bodies of the children, placed the revolver to Gallagher's ear and fired, blowing out his victim's brains. Mrs. Gallagher was awakened, but could see no one. Revenge is believed to have constituted the motive. Later Charles Holliday, a tenant on Gallagher's farm, was arrested, charged with the crime, and it was with difficulty the officers prevented the crowd from lynching him. It is alleged that Holliday and Mrs. Gallagher desired to get Gallagher out of the way.

Iowa State Register: Colonel Hepburn has been a resident of Iowa for more than sixty-one years—naving become a resident of the state in April, 1841, when Iowa was still a territory. The congressional directory calls attention to the fact that he was educated in the schools of Iowa territory and in a printing office, and it is probable that he received the most, and certainly the best, part of his early education in a printing office. He was admitted to the bar in 1854, nearly a half-century ago, and he made a splendid record as a captain, major and lieutenant colonel of the Second Iowa cavalry during the civil war. Since the war he has been prominent in the public affairs of Iowa and the nation and is undoubtedly the ablest debater in the present congress. His magnificent contest and victory for the Nicaragua canal has given him a world-wide reputation.

The late Judge N. M. Hubbard left an estate valued at about $150,000. His will, which he wrote himself, is dated September 10, 1901. To his wife he bequeathed the homestead in Cedar Rapids, which on her death goes to N. M. Hubbard, ir., their only son. The homestead is valued at $50,000. As an evidence of what a good wife can do for a man in alding and advising him, Judge Hubbard said in his will. "To the rare good sense, advice and affection of my beloved wife, I owe everything." Judge Hubbard was a man of the world, an able lawyer and bright politician, but in his will he acknowledges to the world that back of all was the good sense and affection of his beloved wife, to whom he owed everything. He made life a grand success in many ways, but he gives his wife the credit. Thousands of other men have done the same thing. A young woman can fill no nobler mission in life than to marry a manly young man and ald him to prosperity and fame. The kindly advice of a good wife is more valuable than the flattery of friends. It comes from the heart. There are thousands of men who could have made their lives successes had they possessed the ri Iowa State Register: Colonel Hepburn washington Letter to the New York Heraid: If Secretary Shaw had not developed such a marked ability for the handling of financial affairs he would undoubtedly have made a success as a botanist or forestry expert. He loves trees and shrubs and knows almost as much about them as does Secretary Wilson. The keeper of the keys of Uncle Sam's strong box has an eye for the beautiful in nature. When he walks along the street he is generally skimming an eye over the box has an eye for the beautiful in nature. When he walks along the street he is generally skimming an eye over the handsome trees which line many of the capital's thoroughfares and noting the points of the shrubs with which the green floors of the park are decorated. The gardeners who keep these reservations in order have had excellent oppportunity to experiment with numerous varieties of shrubs, and frequently Secretary Shaw comes across a species which he has never seen before. It is no strange thing for him to stop and closely examine the leaves or bark of the bush in an effort to determine its kind. When he walks to cabinet meetings Mr. Shaw has only to cross Executive avenue and he is within the White House grounds. The path of the pillar flanked porte-cochere is lined with beautiful shrubbery, the growth of which is at least twice a week carefully noted by the Lecretary. He appears to totally forget affairs of state when he plucks at the leaves or smells the sweet odored blossoms.

New York Herald: The day's work done. Secretary Shaw and Postmaster General Payne wandered leisurely and listlessly back to the Arlington recently, much a-foot. No official carriage and pair for them—no footman fripperies that smack of royality. They sauntered slowly by the White House, Mr. Payne with a big bundle under his arm—he had stopped at the store on the way—and Mr. Shaw twirling a jacknife between his fingers. Now and then they would stop and dig into the bark of a tree, as they discussed the various phases of the topic of the moment, and then straggle on toward the hotel. It was all simple and delightfully provincial. They night have been two country merchants in Crescent, Vt., going home to supper and talking about the good and bad qualities of the new minister. They reached the hotel with their subject unexhausted, and stood for a long time on the sidewalk, entirely unconscious of their surroundings and oblivious of the fact that they were great cabinet ministers of a great country, "I'm not so sure," Mr. Payne was heard to remark, as he dug his too into the curbstone. "Well, now, then, think it over; think it over," said Secretary Shaw, and rebacked up against the big iron stanchion which supported the awning. Just then Senator O. II. Platt came up, "H—ii. Shaw," said he, "What you trying to do with that iron post?" "Grafting in a backbone," was the quiet reply. "This treasury business is a good deal tougher than lowa politics." And then the Arlington supper bell rang.

Game Warden Has an Exciting Time Trying to Destroy Some Fish Nets in the Vicinity of Bonaparte.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, June 21 .- (Special.)-The elephone girls operating the two comcanies in Des Moines went on strike this morning at 9 o'clock. There are about sixty of the girls. Some days ago they organized union and affiliated with the Trades and Labor assembly and made a demand upon the managers of the telephone companies that their pay be raised so as to make them $1 a day and also that the union be given recognition, and that none but union telephone operators would be employed.

The companies offered to make the raise in wages, but refused to recognize the union. At 9 o'clock this morning, by preconcerted agreement, the girls then at work cial.)-All arrangements have been com- all quit. There are two companies-the pleted for holding a big celebration in lowa and the Mutual. Managers of both companies had knowledge that the strike was coming and had done what they could to prepare for it by securing operators not in the union. Several operators who forduced to come back and work temporarily and a number of others were taken in The managers immediately sent to other parts of the state to have operators sent here for work and a number were secured in this manner, but during the entire day the service was so crippled as to be almost useless. The manager of the Mutual company resisted the proposed increase in wages and declared it would mean a cost of $4,000 to the company annually. The chairman of a committee of the operators made this statement to the public:

made this statement to the public:

We sent the schedule or scale of wages to both managements two weeks ago. It calls for slight increase in wages, but not for shorter hours. We work nine hours perday. Sunday the lowa telephone operators work eleven hours for 75 cents, which is 5 cents under the week day's pay. They also work steady, having no time off for dinner. The Mutual operators are treated better on Sunday, putting in eleven hours, but they get time and a half, and fifteen minutes for dinner.

We want the people to understand that regular operators get from $18 to $23 per month. Beginners get $12 per month. We think these wages are too small for such nerve-killing, continuous work. We want the night board operators advanced from $23.50 to $30 per month. There are other items which do not concern the public, but would be good for us and not injure the company. We hated to go out, as we feel the patrons will suffer by it, but if the management of these two companies had done the square thing there would have been no strike. They don't need to tell us that they can't afford to grant us the raise. Take, for instance, the toils, which run from $1,000 to $1.800 a month. We don't expect to dictate terms. We told them what we needed to live respectably, and they practically ignored us, especially the Towa. We made no demand; it was a request.

Cut Up Fish Nets. Trouble is reported to the fish and game warden from the vicinity of the Bonaparte dam, where a deputy warden, Stillwell of Farmington, seized several fish nets and proceeded to cut them up. An angry crowd gathered and threatened the deputy warden and he became frightened and beat a hasty retreat. He was pelted with stones the as he crossed a bridge and in retaliation he shot several times at the disturbers. Someone returned the fire and Stillwell was wounded in the arm. The mayor of Keosauqua caused a warrant to be served on Stillwell for disturbance of the peace, but after he was arrested he was unable August 2 to August 15. Among the spe to go to Keesauqua and is guarded. The incident caused a great deal of ill feeling.

Deadlock on Water Loan. The waterworks company have not yet secured the loan of $50,000 from the city and the indemnifying bond of $75,000 asked by the city auditor and city treasurer to insure them against any loss on account of the loan has been refused by the company. Secretary Denman of the water works company has said that the only security which the city will receive from the company on the loan is the lien upon the hydrant rentals. He said he had been unable to get from Auditor Lucas and Treasurer Gross any statement of conditions upon which they would make the loan. However, these gentlemen have repeatedly stated to representatives of the press and others that they wanted an infemnifying bond from the company if the loan of $50,000 was to be made. Mr. Denman further stated that the city was now secured by the lien upon hydrant rentals representing about $36,000 per annum and his company would be unwilling to furnish a guaranty bond for $75,000 additional. If the auditor and treasurer persist in their demands for the guarantee he said the company would refuse to accept the
