THE OMAHA DAILY BEE: SUNDAY, JUNE 22, 1902. 9 Pat Daly of England met for the 14-pound championship. Daly was much the heavier of the two and had great difficulty in get-ting inside the limit. Compily was the favorite, the Americans, who made up a large part of the spectators, backing him heavily. The fight was the fastest and most interesting of the night and much surprise was expressed that the men were able to go to the limit at such a pace. Controlly started in a cyclonic fashion that promised a speedy termination of the bout. Early in the fight Daly was char-tioned several times for holding. Con-nolly did most of the leading, but Daly seemed to thrive on punishment and at the end of the fourth round was stronger than at the beginning. INSTRUCTORS MEET AGAIN

Bartach and Sherwood to Seek Honors at Field Club

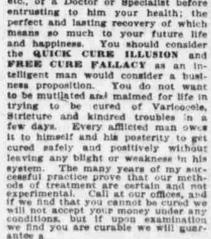

Links Today.

Links Today. Fred Bartsch and W. C. Sherwood, the professional golf instructors of the Country club and Field club, respectively, will again lock horns this afternoon in one of their series of matches. The experts will play at the Field club links, eighteen holes, match play. The Keenest interest in these contests is taken by the members of the two clubs, as they each back their own man. The golf players attend the matches in great num-bers and feel more pride or chagrin in the result of the conflicts than they do in their own. The fact that Sherwood went out to the Country club a week ago and cleaned up Bartsch on his own links 2 up and 2 to play has made interest in the coming match especially strong.
