Hundred Men.

Work Formerly Done at Cheyenne to Be Transferred to Omaha and Other Points-Short Force Temporarily.

The Union Pacific has closed its shops at Cheyenne and as a result 650 men are idle. A special telegram to this effect was pubished in The Bas yesterday morning and confirmed in detail by the Union Pacific officials in Omaha during the day.

The order closing down the shope was lesued from the headquarters in this city inte Tuesday. It stated that the shope are Cuban reciprocity. Every republican in to be closed permanently and the machinery dismantled within a few days. The clerical force at Chevenne, which is included in the order discharging the men. worked far into the night Tuesday making Mr. Mickey for twenty-five years and a out time checks for the employes. The better man doesn't live in the state. He company's pay roll at Cheyenne, by this should carry the state by $5,000 majority action, is reduced $75,000 a month. The number of men let out-$50-includes those do it. There are no causes for general disbottermakers and belpers who struck a few days ago. The company retains its roundhouse and car shops at Cheyenne, and in the former affords employment to twentyfive men. A minimum force will be kept at work in the car shops.

Reasons for the Shut-Down.

More than one reason led the Union Paturbed conditions in one or two other departments figured prominently, while the cost of living in Cheyenne is also partly rethe first tangible evidence of this policy which 525 men in the shops over the system were discharged. The company has maintained from the first of these labor Discards Peg Top Trousers and Seycomplications that as the bollermakers had gone out its affairs were in such a shapas to invite a general reduction of its mechanical force and did not warrant the retention of the entire army of employes in

It therefore embraced the occasion for keeping operating expenses down while the labor disputes were in process. The officompany is fully prepared for a prolonged stagnation in its shops if necessary.

Living Expenses Figure.

Regarding the claim that living expenses in Cheyenne had a part to closing down the shops, it is said that for some time great dissatisfaction along this line has existed reduction in the cost of living in that city. The strike of the bollermakers, it is be-Heved, was in a measure prompted by this same reason. The position of the company for an advance in wager, so that they could the better maintain their families, was that if a raise was made it would be offset by a corresponding increase in the cost of living in Cheyenne and that then the problem would be as far from a solution as ever.

Where will the work that has been done by the Cheyenne shops be performed? Does the closing of these shops mean a corresponding curtailment in the company's facilities that is to be permanent?

These are vital questions suggested by qualified to speak upon the subject answer at the waist line. the first question by saying that the work will be divided among the various shops over the system, the bulk to be given to Omaha, Rawlins to get a liberal share,

As to the second question, the same authorities assert that the company's facilities and the number of its shop employes are not to be permanently reduced, although for a period of perhaps two years they will be kept down.

Will Re-Engage Old Men.

Those mer who were unfortunate enough as to lose their positions at Cheyenne by the suspension of operations there are to be given preference in the filling in of other places and when the company assumes the task of re-establishing normal conditions, that is excepting Cheyenne of course, these men will be put to work wherever possible. Some of them may be idle but a few days or weeks at most while others may have to wait months before they are again in the service of the company. But it is the purpose of the company to inevitably re-employ as many more than probable that no material reinforcement of the working capacity of the shops will be made until the approach of When the new arrangements are adopted Omaha will have its shop forces enlarged to a much greater number, it is understood, than prior to the strike,

The machinists now have the center of scutive committee is again in Omaha and met yesterday afternoon. A brief council was held in the morning, but the men potitively refused to divulge anything pertaining to that conference. Some vital change from their standpoint is looked for within a few hours or possibly a day. A rumor gained currency yesterday that the machinists and the company were nearer an understanding than they have been since the trouble began and that a settlement might grow out of the present secret conference of the machinists' executive council. The company officials manifest considerable interest in these meetings.

Another conference between par builders and Union Pacific officials took place yesterday with satisfactory results to both sides, and by today a final equalization is expected in this matter. The car builders' claims for an advance commend themselves as reasonable to the company. As to the boilermakers the officials will not bereafter recognize them. They are strikers now and according to the officials entirely separated from the company. The officials declare their ability to get along without them as long as necessary. No bellermakers have been imported to appointments to Library Board Confirmed-Contract for Repairing Asphalt Approved-Gasoline Lamps to Be Cut Out.

The councilmen who were backing the mayor in his efforts to have a new fire engine house built at Eleventh and Jackson streets and those who were holding out for the Capitol avenue market house got together at Tuesday night's council meeting and effected a compromise, and optimistic members now maintain that both buildings will be under way before the end of the year. The friends of the fire engine project were given a sop in the form of $4,000 to make a payment on the proposed site, in return for which, it is understood, they will make concessions to the exponents of the market house.

Aside from this only a small amount of routine business was transacted. Whitehorn, Lobeck and Zimman were absent. The appointments of Charles W. Haller, Samuel Reichenberg and Louis N. Gonden as appraisers to assess the damages incidental to opening an alley between Thirtythird and Thirty-sixth and from Harney to Farnam streets were received from the mayor and upon vote were confirmed.

Leeder testified that Hartman started to cross out the name of the beneficiary, Marie Blesendorf, and insert Leeder's name in the policy, and that Captain Sullivan prevented him. Later he said Hartman had left the policy to Sullivan. Sullivan was not with Cole and Hartman when the order was made out. He was very indignant at Leeder's testimony and said that it was due to personal matice.

ratirouds of Nebraska have paid as much or more than other roads in the transmississippi status.

No matter how taxes akainst railroads are collected whether by tailes or direct mantion, the general average shows practically the same. With the railroads, it is included to them what the assessed valuation of their property should be, so long as they are not required to pay an about amount per mile to meet the required not pay an about amount per mile to meet the required not in taxation, and not in unfair propertion to other property less than the inter-State Commerce commission report for line, we find that there were $1.75 miles of railroad bring west of the Mississippi river. These railroads paid 114. Dollido for lines, which makes an average of $171.05 per mile. If we did, it would make the foregoing amount per mile, a few definitions.

In this territory, the average net earnings of ell the raircease amounted to $1,784 per mile.

In determining the value of the raircead property, there are several essentials that must be considered.

First: The volume of business that can be given a rail-

Frond:

Becond: The difficulties of operation.
Third: The tariffs allowed to be charged.
These three features must be taken in conjunction in any estimate that should be made regarding the value of the railroad property as an investment.

A comparison of the railroads of Nebrasks with three of New York, Pennsylvania and Maryland would be misleading unless these elements were taken into consideration. In these states the railroads were furnished formation in these states the railroads were furnished from this transmiss supply country, the railroads were furnished but 20.000 tons per mile and but 40.014 passengers as reported in 1900.

A comparison of Nebraska railroads with these of Massachmetts would be senseless, because in Nebraska there are $2.21 miles of railroad to serve each 10.00 jeur ple, while in Massachmetts there are but $2.5 for the same number, or with New Jersey, which has had wide affected to each 100 square miles of territory, while Nebraska has but $7.4. However in the comparis or would select sections of railroad in Nebraska which have a large luminess and we will pick out some Eastern tomas that had a approximately the fike character and volume of business and make the comparison with those roads, showing the larges that they pay and the tax that is padd here, it will be found that in those instances the roads of Nebraska pay relatively higher taxes than they should be called upon to do.

The critics who make a comparison of the tax per should be called upon to do.

The critics who make a comparison of the tax per mile charged in the District of Columbia, with that charged on western railroads, evidently intend to deceive, from the last the city of Washington has outgrown the District of Columbia, and the 22 rules of railroad which are reported in that district are practically all city insperty. A comparison of a Nebraska railroad with the New York Central, a four track railroad with $57,00,00 could depend of Nebraska the details of Sagail a in these other states, for the purpose of letting them make their own conclusions and judge whether the railroads in Nebraska are paying their just share of tax, when compared with other railroads.

There are but a few states in the Union in which the railreade pay 154 per cent of the taxes paid while in the territ ry west of the Mississippl the railreads in Nebrushas pay more per mile than sixteen of the other states. Three mining states oblige the railreads to pay more than they do Nebrusha, but it is a well known fact that tax levies in mining counties are much higher than in any other localities in the United States.

Our sixtement will show what the railroade pay to each county the average rate per mile, and from those you will be able to judge whether the people are being treated fairly in this matter.

Preparing for Improvements. Since the big burn at the Jetter brewery burned down on the night of May 20 plans have been made for the construction of a big brick barn to be located at a point just north of the bottling works. At first Mr. Jetter proposed to rebuild on the site of the destroyed stable, but later on he came to the conclusion that the ground at the
