Machinists and Botlermakers. The machinists and boilermakers are plodding along quietly, looking after the routine of their strike. A diligent effort is being made to keep their organization intact over the system and the men affirm that they are successful. However, the machinists have thus far failed to obtain the co-operation of their men at Evansten, where, up to last reports, all were still at work. Employes of Baltimore & Ohio Rail- ability road Are Opposed to Piece Work.

BALTIMORE, July 4 .- Oriole ledge of Machinists, whose members are employed exclusively by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, has appointed a committee to confer with committees representing machinists along the line to formulate the grievances of the men and to demand a rectification of the same. This action was taken under instructions of the national association at Chicago. As far as can be learned the only present grievance here is an apparent discrimination against some of the machinists whose wages were not advanced when the recent increase went into effect. The grievance of the men at other points along the road is the avowed purpose of the company to introduce piece work; which it is eaid will be restated. Business Manager Voltmer of the two Baltimore lodges asserts that the men are being organized on the western division of the road with a view of making general demands on the Philadelphia Celebrates as Usual. PHILADELPHIA, July 4.—As has been the custom for years, the city of Philadelphia celebrated the one hundred and twen-Declaration of Independence by holding patriotic openair exercises in Independence square. The celebration today was of interest because of the presence of General Miles. General Miles was enthusiastically received by 5,000 persons when he was introduced. After his address he held a reception, which lasted about half an hour. Later in the day the general was enter-State Treasurer-J. C. The problem of the Philippine islands is one of serious moment, involving the expenditure of valuable life and vast treasure. Although the subject is attracting marked attention and exciting bitter discussion, there can be but one final solution. That must be one in which the honor, the integrity and high character of our government are preserved and maintained beyond any peradventure. Full and impartial justice must be accorded to the 10,000,000 people who are now at our mercy and whose present welfare and future destiny depend upon a nation that is strong and good.

Tammany Hall Celebrates. NEW YORK, July 4 .- Tammany Hall tolay celebrated the one hundred and twenty-sixth anniversary of American inde-pendence. The program differed little from that of the Fourth of July celebrations held at the Wigwam in former years. W. Bourke Cockran, who recently returned to the Tammany fold, delivered the principal address, and the other "long talk" was made by Sureme Court Justice O'Gorman. United States Senator George G. Vest of Missouri sent a letter of regret, in which There has never been a time in the history of our country when the free institutions established by our fathers were in more peril than at present. The announcement is definitely mide that we have outgrown the swaddling clothes of 1776 and must join the world powers in trampling upon human rights and the teachings of Washington and Jefferson.

William Jennings Bryan, in sending regrets, said:

It is more important that we should so discharge the duties of citizenship as to strengthen our nation's character and perpetuate our government than we should observe each recurring anniversary of the nation's birth. There is never-ending contest between human rights and man's unbridled greed. Sometimes that greed creates one issue, sometimes another, but whether it manifests itself in the tariff question, the money question, the trust question or imperialism it is the same, for everywhere it tramples upon the rights of the citizen.

Reception to Ambassador.

PARIS, July 4.—The Fourth of July was cglebrated in this city by a reception at the Inited States embassy held by Mrs. Horace Porter, wife of the United States ambassador, General Porter, who is now in the United States. It was exceptionally well attended, practically the whole American olony being present. Celebration in London. LONDON, July 4.- The Fourth of July celebration of the American society in London was given at the Hotel Cecil today.

There was a marked manifestation of sympathy for King Edward in his illness, and incidentally there were some open expressions of displeasure with Joseph H. Choate, 400 and 500 Americans were present at the banquet, and the specially invited guests included General Sir Francis Grenfell, governor of Malta; Hon. John Gordon Sprigg, governor of Capa Colony; General Joe Wheeler, and the United States consul general in London, H. Clay Evans. The dinner was expedited in order to allow Mr. Choate, Henry' White and the colonial officials to attend the reception at the Indian office.

(Copyright, 1902, by Press Publishing Co.) LONDON, July 4 .- (New York World Cablegram.)-(Special Telegram.)-The independence Day banquet of the American soclety in London, presided over by Mr. Haldemann, at the Hotel Cecil, tonight, was exceptional in size, enthusiasm and the array of distinguished Americans present. The latter included Lieutenant Governor Woodruff of New York, ex-Governor Hastings of Pennsylvania, General Joe Wheeler, Admiral O'Nelll and Admiral Watson.

Out of deference to the king's illness only two toasts were proposed, "The King," by Ambassador Choate, and "The President." by General Sir Francis Grenfell governor and commander-in-chief of Malta. The brief tonst list also incidentally enabled Ambassador Choate, Secretary White and the embassy party to get away early to appear at the grand India office reception by the prince and princess of Wales for the India princes. After their departure the company insisted on hearing Lieutenant Governor Woodruff, who expanded eloquently on the unity of the Anglo-Saxon people, and General Hastings, who delivered a highly effective oration on Anglo-American power as a guarantee of peace. The allusions to King Edward were marked by exuberant good feeling and evoked ringorganizing ability of F. C. VanDusen, honprary secretary to the society.

Shooting at Colored Picnic.

At about midnight, as the negro picnic at Hibbler's park was drawing to a close, Arthur Buckner shot Hugh Trent through the left arm, the bullet entering at the elbow and was located under the skin of the triceps. Buckner is still at large. The wounded man is a porter at the Union club and lives at 1313 Davenport street, and Buckner is a bootblack in Robinson's and lives at 211 North Twelfth street. Buckner has before drawn a gun on Trent and the bad blood came to the surface as the men drank. As Buckner was about to leave the grounds he made a remark to Trent, which the latter resented by striking the former. Buckner then drew his weapon and fired. The wound was dressed by Assistant Police Burgeon Mick.

Mr. C. C. Wright, superintendent of public schools in North Carolina, says: mother, since her early childhood, was an inveterate coffee drinker and had been troubled with her heart for a number of years and complained of that 'weak all over' feeling and sick stomach.

"Some time ago, I was making an official visit to a distant part of the country and took dinner with one of the merchants of the place. I noticed a somewhat peculiar flavor of the coffee and asked him concerning it. He replied that it was Postum Food Coffee. I was so pleased with it, that after the meal was over, I bought a package to carry home with me, and had wife prepare some for the next meal; the whole family were so well pleased with it, that we discontinued coffee and used Postum entirely "I had really been at times very anxious concerning my mother's condition, but we noticed that after using Postum for a short time, she felt so much better than she did prior to its use, and had little trouble with her heart and no sick stomach; that the headaches were not so frequent, and her general condition much improved. This continued until she was as well and hearty as the rest of us.

In preparing your personal outfit use your every day knowledge as far as it will go; then fall back on your common sense. Take Thousands of Sombreros for two complete suits of warm, comfortable, durable clothing. You must have a rain oat and heavy waterproof shoes. Don't forget your toothbrush, soap, towels, and ville had his back broken and is in a very little things necessary to your comfort at home. Make your personal outfit complete, but keep it within the limits of easy transportation, and pack it so that it will stand rough handling. Almost any tent sold by a reputable dealer will do. You need two blankets and a rubber sheet for your bed. Have your cooking and table utensils of stout ware. Patent stoves and bake ovens are a luxury, but not a necessity, but there should be one large alcohol lamp or small terosene stove in the party.

In selecting provisions keep close to the staples and pack everything as if you expected to be shipwrecked every twenty-four hours. Avoid all canned goods except concentrated soup. Use bacon instead of lard for frying. In camp bacon is civilization's best gift to man; therefore have plenty of Pitch your tent on high ground in an open space where the sun shines freely. Face it to the east. If possible have the ground slope from back to front. Dig a trench at the back and sides. Pull the of the stations; cenves taut and see that it reaches to the ground. Thus shall the floods descend and you keep dry within.

Nature has provided your bed close at hand. The springs are slender hemlock made of coarsely woven straw, about sixboughs laid with the curve up. The mattress is a thick layer of fragrant cedar. With rubber sheet and blankets here is a couch for the gods; the feather bed of our the appearance of an ordinary hat. grandmothers or the hair mattress of the furniture dealer is a joke beside it. Air your bedding every day in the sun and add to your springs as they flatten out from use.

On the campfire hangs the fate of the camp, but the campfire is not one, but two-the big roaring one at evening that you sit around, singing and telling stories, and the little cooking fire. Anyone can build the big fire. Here is the secret of the little one: Set stones or green logs the fashion, it is said, by putting his own so that the frying pan will just reach across over the bed of coals between them. So shall you get no smoke in your eyes, nor burn the bass to a cinder, nor melt the handle from the coffee pot. And the camp shall rise up and call the cook blessed. Go to camp determined to have a time. Do your share of the work with a cheerful heart. Go to bed and get up with the wild things of the woods. So shall you fill your lungs with fresh air, and make your blood red again, and harden your flabby muscles, and eat like a prize fighter, and sleep like a little child. For there are nature's rewards to those who seek her with understanding.

He lay on the beach until morning, when he was found by a policeman and removed to the Emergency hospital. There yesterday the faculty of speech was in part restored, but except for the related the following: tongue and eyes his body is numb and helpless. Dr. Downs, the house surgeon of the Kings County hospital, determined from the beginning that the man, desperate as was his condition, might be saved, and he decided on the operation.

HATS FOR NEW YORK HORSES.

Hot

Weather Use Given Away. With the coming of hot weather, says the New York Times, the local Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is preparing to protect the horses of New York from the heat. According to Superintendent Hankinson at the general offices, at Madison square and Twenty-fifth street. the society will accomplish this by preparing free shower baths and by giving away several thousand straw hats arranged to fit horses.

There will be two places for the distribution of the hats and for the bath service -at the general office and at the ambulance station in East Twenty-second street, near Lexington avenue. Mr. Hankinson says that both the baths and hats will be absolutely at the disposal of all comers and if any horse suffers it will be the fault of its driver. Next year the society hopes to have stations all over the city.

The spray bath will be formed by attaching a reducer to the nearest fire hydrant with a short piece of hose and a nourle to throw the water . Thus exhausted horses may in a few minutes be refreshed, if the driver is passing in the neighborhood

The bats will be specially prepared by horse outfitter in Union Square, following a pattern designed by Mr. Hankinson. The hat, known as the horse sombrero, will be teen inches in diameter. The hat an ordinary flat brim, and, with the exception of the large holes for the horse's ears, has Mr. Hankinson, whose business it is to find anything that will improve the condition of the horse, says that he has long been looking for a means of relieving it during the heated term, and finally hit upon the shower bath and the straw hat. He says he got the idea of the hat from Paris, France, where nearly all horses, especially those for dray purposes, are fitted out with straw shades. This fashion came into vogue in Paris about four years ago, some witty driver having originated enormous hat on his horse's head. Each year since then has seen an increase of the number of hats, until in summer it is the exception to see a horse without his "yoko." The chartier of Paris, however, has not remained content with the simple straw hat but has it woven into unusual shapes and proportions, and often decorates it with flowers and bits of colored ribbons.

STORY OF A MAN WHO HELPED MAKE HISTORY.

He Fought in the Famous Seventeenth

Indiana Volunteers-Some of His Experiences. From the beginning to the end of the Civil war none fought more valiantly than the famous Seventeenth Indiana volunteers. The story of their battles, their privations and their victories is a

In company B, or this regiment, was Eli Fisher, now a resident of Jet, Woods Co., Okla., who has a fund of entertaining reminiscenses of his experiences in bivouac and battle. To a reporter the other day he long but interesting one.

"In 1864," he said, "white serving with my company, I began to suffer with various complaints brought on by hardship and exposure. I had hemorrhages of the kidneys, palparation of the heart and at times I would bloat from stomach trouble. lungs were also affected. From my suffering and misery I became nervous and my nerves finally went all to pieces. "I became forgetful and distracted in mind and it seemed that there could be nothing which would bring me relief. I was treated in Atlanta, Ga., by the regimental dector but did not get any better. In 1865 I was mustered out and then I tried other doctors. At various times five different physicians treated me and I took many kinds of medicine but nothing did me any good. From 1887 until 1890 I was confined to my bed most of the time and my case seemed, hopcless.

"But in 1890 I read in a newspaper of how an lowa man, suffering from the same illness in general as I had, was cured by Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I decided to see what they would do for me and began taking them. I used three boxes of the pills before experiencing relief, but after that my recovery was rapid. In two months I felt like a new man both in body and mind. I took them for four months and was perfectly cured. 'I have recommended Dr. Williams'

Pink Pills for Pale People many times. I do so because I know from personal experience that they have wonderful power to relieve and cure the sick." The pills which cured Mr. Fisher have accomplished hundreds of equally remarkable cures. They are on sale at all drug stores or will be sent postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents a box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.
