

COMPERS ARRIVES IN OMAHA

American Federation President Speaks Enthusiastically of Organized Labor.

WORDS OF ENCOURAGEMENT TO STRIKERS

Mr. Compers Says Central Organization is in Hearty Accord with Striking Workmen of the Union Pacific.

"Organized labor has come to stay, and those great corporations which are now dealing with strikes, the mining and railroad interests, will, if they have not already, realize this fact. We have passed that stage of anger or depression and are now proceeding along the most intelligent lines for the preservation and protection of our interests."

Samuel Compers, president of the American Federation of Labor, spoke in these terms yesterday morning of the industrial situation of the country. Mr. Compers, with President W. D. Mahon of the Street Railway Employees' association, arrived in Omaha yesterday morning and with President James O'Connell of the International association of Machinists, who arrived in the afternoon, addressed a mass meeting last night in Washington hall in the interests of organized labor.

"The laboring man wants nothing beyond his own rights," continued Mr. Compers, "but he wants that with all his heart and soul, and will have it. We are not an antagonistic body, seeking to undermine or destroy the interests of capital; we want peaceful relations with capital at all times and under all circumstances, but we want fair treatment at the hands of the capitalists and will insist upon having it."

In Accord with Strikers. Mr. Compers was asked about the attitude of the American Federation of Labor toward the present strike on the Union Pacific. He said:

"It is one of the heartiest accord. The machinists, boiler-makers, carmen and all other shopmen, who are members of the federation, have the fullest sympathy and co-operation of the central organization, and it will stand by them throughout the struggle."

"We look upon the action of the strikers here as just and right. They are fighting for what they should have and are carrying on a reasonable, intelligent contest that indicates a profitable settlement for them. The situation looks good from our standpoint. We have no reason whatever to feel discouraged. In fact, we never feel discouraged over anything. Defeat only gives us new impetus and inspiration. We know our cause is a great and just one and must eventually succeed. As I said before, organized labor is not a transitory thing, but a tangible, living movement that has come to stay and not to be swept aside by the powerful opposition which its enemies may heap upon it."

Asked if he would intercede with the officials in behalf of the Union Pacific strikers while here, Mr. Compers replied: "Certainly not unless asked to do so, and thus far no one has approached me on that subject. I do not know that there is any occasion for me to take such a step now. Things are running along very well indeed."

Able for Long Fight. President Compers said that the strikers here and at other places on the Union Pacific were able and determined to wage a long fight if necessary. They will not skulk and run to get other jobs elsewhere nor will their places here be filled by other union men from abroad," he declared, "for as a matter of fact every shopman in this country has a direct interest in this very strike and not one would undermine his fellow workmen by coming here to work in this place. That is not organized labor and no one should allow himself to be deceived into thinking it is. Another thing that wants to be borne in mind is that shopmen are not plentiful over this country. There are none of them competent who are out of work except those who are on a strike."

Speaking of the situation in the coal-mining regions of Pennsylvania, Mr. Compers said the miners were waging a good fight and had hopes of winning. The situation, he said, is not as desperate as it is strong and determined effort would be necessary to bring about victory. He declared that every day every possible effort is being made by the labor interests to induce a settlement. "No stone is left unturned that might afford a solution of this vexing problem. But anxious as those miners are for a settlement, they are not going to quit without some very substantial considerations. There must be concessions made to them or they will not give in."

He said the strain of present strikes, while heavy, was not testing the strength or vitality of the American Federation of Labor, which organization is increasing in potency every day.

Mr. Mahon said the interests of the street car men are improving every day. During the last year over $1,000,000 increase in wages have been secured over the United States. In Detroit alone the men have realized $60,000 more in their pay and in New Orleans $185,000. The conditions in Omaha, he said, were satisfactory and he had no mission here of especial concern to the railway employees.

FINDS DAUGHTER IN HOSPITAL

Kansas Woman, After Year's Search, Finds Girl Sick from Overwork.

An affecting scene occurred at St. Joseph's hospital Sunday when Mrs. Cook of Smith Center, Kan., and her 14-year-old daughter, Goldie, were united after a year's separation. About a year ago Mr. Cook deserted his wife and family in Smith Center, and returning to that place several days later, persuaded his daughter to leave her mother and go with him. As soon as Mrs. Cook learned of her husband's visit and that he had secured possession of their child, she sent descriptions of the two to the various cities of the country. For almost a year her search was in vain. Recently she wrote to the Omaha police. Detectives Heifelt and Donohoe found the girl with a family named Brown in the eastern part of the city.

The father had deserted the girl several days before and had left the city. Goldie was sick in bed at the time the police found her. The police sent her to St. Joseph's hospital, where she remained until Sunday. She had been in the hospital for several days.

To the officers, Goldie said that after she left home with her father, they went to Iowa. There her father secured for her a position in a restaurant and compelled her to work every day. Recently they came to Omaha and though she was sick at the time, her father again compelled her to find work. She secured employment in a restaurant on North Sixteenth street and the money she made went for the support of her father and herself. During all this time the father did no work, living on what she made.

HIRST'S CONDITION HOPELESS

Official Board of First Methodist Church Advised of Pastor's Condition.

Dr. A. C. Hirst will not return to Omaha to resume his work as pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Word comes from his son-in-law, Dr. F. B. Moorehead, of Chicago, that there is no hope for the recovery of the pastor, who has been ill for some months. It is said that Dr. Hirst is now in a critical condition and his death is looked for at any time.

Dr. J. W. Jennings, the presiding elder of the Methodist Episcopal church in this district, called a special meeting of the official board of the First church Sunday, at which he read a communication from Dr. Moorehead saying that the return of Dr. Hirst to his labors in Omaha could not be hoped for. Dr. Jennings appointed Rev. J. W. Swan, formerly of Wymore, Neb., as temporary supply at the First church until September.

The North Nebraska conference will convene at Grand Island September 24, at which time Bishop Fowler will appoint a permanent pastor for the First church in Omaha.

Normally, Dr. Hirst continues as pastor of the church, having been granted a vacation until September 1.

HEARING OF WEDGE BEGINS

County Court Ascertain if There is Anything in Embellishment Charge.

The preliminary hearing in the case of the state against William S. Wedge, charged with embellishment of funds belonging to the Builders' and Traders' exchange while acting as its secretary, is on before Judge Vinson in county court.

J. Fred Smith, president of the exchange, was on the stand yesterday and testified that Wedge, during the latter part of his term of office, had discharged the duties of the treasurer in the receipt of receiving and paying out some money, giving the treasurer the receipts. He (Smith) and two others had superintended the auditing of the books when Wedge quit, but had made no report to the exchange and later had employed James Ryan, an accountant, to check them up.

Mr. Ryan, when placed on the stand, testified that he had checked the cash book with the ledger entries and had found some discrepancies amounting to small sums in the receipt entries in the cash book and the ledger entries.

The hearing was continued when court adjourned until today.

Bagtime Concert by Hester's Band at Krug Park Wednesday.

Bagtime will be the special harmonious feature of the high-class program at the decorous and popular home of summer amusements, Krug park, on Wednesday night. This is the third of the series of these favorite musical events to be given by Hester and his ideal American concert band.

As drawing cards they have proven equal to those given by Bellstedt last summer and the reasons to court comparison with such organizations as Bellstedt's may be looked at with favor and plausibility.

In anticipation of a big rush the superintendent will hold extra cars in readiness. The "Passion Play," acrobatic features and other pastimes will hold forth for attention as usual.

On Sunday next the first moving picture of the Mont Pelee volcanic disaster will be one of the many features on a lengthy and pleasing program.

Finest Picnic Grounds Available. Your attention is called to the splendid picnic grounds near Arlington, Neb.

DIETRICH TALKS IRRIGATION

Says New Law Will Be of Incalculable Benefit to Nebraska.

WILL BRING MANY SETTLERS WESTWARD

Announces that Between Five and Six Million Dollars Already Await Disbursement on Reservoirs and Canals.

Senator Charles H. Dietrich arrived in the city from Washington yesterday and was a guest at the home of Dr. W. H. Hanchett. He left last evening for Lincoln, where he will stop briefly before going to his home at Hastings. His daughter, Gertrude, who has been with him in Washington, will spend the summer months at a watering place in the Adirondacks in the hope of benefiting her health, which has not been robust.

Senator Dietrich, speaking of the irrigation bill, which recently became a law, said: "Having lived in the west for so many years I knew the importance and practicability of irrigation and at once after my election began working to bring about a compromise between the two factions into which the friends of this great enterprise were divided. One of these factions wanted the general government to defray the expense of building the reservoirs and canals and to have general management of all the details of the undertaking; the other wanted the money to be disbursed by the states, each state to have control of the work within its boundaries."

"In May a year ago I arranged for a meeting of western senators and congressmen and submitted to them a plan which was afterward accepted. It was, in brief, that the general government construct the reservoirs and retain ownership of them, but that the water be distributed under the state laws. The irrigation bill, which has just become a law, is drawn up along this line and embodies virtually all the ideas I advanced at the meeting. It is said by old members of congress who have examined it that a more complete bill never came up for their consideration."

Probable Effect of Law. The effect of this irrigation legislation is already being seen in the greatly increased number of people who are looking to the west for homes instead of going to Canada, as the tendency was a year ago. It is too early yet to say just when and where the first reservoirs and canals will be built, but there is no reason why something tangible in this line should not be done within the next twelve months, since there is, or will be, plenty of money available for the purpose. The revenue for the enterprise will be derived from the sale of public lands and between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 already awaits disbursement.

"It is an interesting fact that all eastern senators and congressmen, without an exception, opposed this irrigation bill at the start, and some fought it to the end. It is an evidence that the east is jealous of the west. Congressman Grosvener said it was a railroad scheme, to enhance the value of railroad land, forgetting, evidently, that every alternate section in these great public domains belongs to the government, and that the railroad land could not be improved without improving the government land."

Another Excursion to Okoboji. Saturday, July 12, Via the Milwaukee Railway.

Leaving the Union depot, Omaha, at 8:30 p. m., Saturday, July 12, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway will run a special excursion to Okoboji, Iowa, and return. The train will arrive at Okoboji at 6:40 a. m., Sunday, all day Sunday at the lake. Boating, fishing and a pleasant day's outing at the prettiest resort in the midwest.

Returning, the special train will leave the lake at 7:15 p. m., Sunday, and arrive at Omaha about 6 o'clock Monday morning. The round-trip rate is $3.00. For those who desire them sleeping cars will be attached, for which a round-trip rate of $3.00 in charge of coach and City Ticket Office, 1504 Farnam St. Telephone 254.

Health Resorts and Attractions. There is no region in America richer in mineral springs than Colorado, while throughout the state there are pleasure resorts and splendid places of recreation of various kinds in great numbers.

It has been truly said that all of Colorado is a health resort, and this statement is sustained by the most eminent physicians of the country. What with its beautiful cities on the plains, its gorgeous mountain peaks and lovely valleys, its awful canons and their rushing torrents, its forests and streams, its broad green parks and charming crystal lakes amid the mountains, what more could nature provide or man desire for his welfare or his delights. Not only the health giving minerals, and thermal springs which gush spontaneously from the mountain sides invite the invalid and the weary, but in all the rest of these charms of nature is found a panacea for the ills and cares of body and mind.

For the purpose of reaching these favored localities without unnecessary expenditure of time or money, the UNION PACIFIC has put in effect very low rates and splendid train service, three trains leaving Missouri River daily for Denver.

SCHOOL FUNDS COMING FAST Collections for June Much Heavier Than for Corresponding Month Last Year.

Notwithstanding the fact that the school levy is less by a half mill this year than last, and that the general levy produces $108,000 less than that of a year ago, the city schools have realized $15,822.37 more in June this year than in June 1901.

The schools last year realized $138,916.96 for the current June collections and $2,022.22 from back taxes, making a total of $140,939.18. This year they received $15,822.37 from current June collections and $2,000.00 from back taxes, making a total of $157,939.55.

City Treasurer Hennings interprets this to mean that the city is better off this year than last, and that people are paying their taxes more promptly.

TWO WEEKS—MORE OF COURT District Bench Awaits the Disposal of Judge Keyser's Unfinished Business.

The May term of the district court probably will not adjourn for two weeks. Judge Baxter is in New York for the summer; Judge Fawcett is in Oregon; Judge Dickinson is holding court in Burlington, and Judges Estelle and Reed are plodding along with the remnants of the term's business, leaving the matter of adjournment in Judge Keyser's hands.

The latter has fully decided to accept the St. Louis law school chair and, therefore, his term before adjournment. He said yesterday that this will probably require about two weeks. Another Gordon hearing has been loaded onto him and this will occupy two or three days of next week.

UNION PACIFIC TRACKS SINK Collapse of Roadbed at West End of Missouri River Bridge.

Surface Goes Down About Thirty Feet All Trains To and From Bridge Must Run Over Burlington Tracks—Two Hundred Men Repairing Damage.

A cave-in of the Union Pacific roadbed at the west end of the company's Missouri river bridge yesterday displaced about 16,000 cubic feet of embankment, and temporarily destroyed three tracks, making it necessary for trains entering the depot yards to pass over the freight tracks or those of the Burlington to the south and back into the Union Station from the west end.

The displacement covers an area of probably 420 feet in length and thirty feet wide and the surface of the embankment about thirty feet. Fortunately no trains were on the tracks at the time and consequently no damage outside of that done to the tracks was felt.

The roadbed, which was built on a filling, was composed of sand, topped with gravel, and it seems to have simply sunk into the earth. It is over the old artesian well and the scene of a similar accident four years ago. The beginning of the depression is about 100 feet west of the west end of the bridge. It takes off the north side of the embankment and extends south within a few feet of the Burlington tracks, which are thought, however, not to be endangered.

The three sets of tracks were curved and twisted by the collapse, but in most places the rails stayed with the ties, both going down to the depth of thirty feet together.

Collapsed Early in Morning. The depression was first noticeable during Sunday afternoon, but the real collapse occurred until some time in the early morning. It is thought that there is some seepage in the composition of the roadbed and that this, together with the fact that the bed was laid exactly over the old artesian well, started the cave-in, which was helped along by the heavy rains. There is no great mass of earth such as might be looked for on the side of the trackway, but the filling seems to have dropped into the earth, fitting into a big depression.

Within a few hours after the accident was known a crew of about 200 men was put to work making repairs and it is estimated that three or four days will be consumed in replacing the embankment and laying the tracks. A steam shovel is already at work, bringing dirt from Summit. Of course it will require some time for the new roadbed to settle before the trains can safely run over it. In the meantime a cut-off track which is being thrown in will be used by incoming trains.

One peculiar feature of the affair is that the little cabin used by the switchmen sunk to a depth of thirty feet without being injured in the least. It was left perfectly intact except being lowered from its former location. No one was in the cabin when the collapse came.

A Special Sleeping Car. On account of the unprecedented tourist travel to Dakota Hot Springs, a special sleeping car will leave Omaha, Webster street depot, 3 p. m. July 8, arriving at the Springs next morning. Reserved rates at 1401 Farnam street. Round trip tickets only $14.50.

FRED PEYTON AGAIN STRICKEN Well Known Pool Player Suffers a Return of His Mental Affliction.

The insanity commissioners are still considering the case of Fred Peyton, who was taken to the county hospital last Saturday after being confined in the jail a few days, during the last hours of which he was very violent. Mr. Peyton was released from the county hospital some months ago in a very promising condition, after Dr. Van Camp had operated on his skull, removing a pressure on the brain that seemed to be the cause of the derangement which he then showed. He returned to his home in South Omaha and was taken with his old trouble, epilepsy, a little more than a week ago. He is best known by his marvelous skill as a pool player.
