

TEDDIE MAKES HOME PLATE

Lingers on Third Base Some Time Waiting for Winning Hit. SCORES ON LONG DRIVE BY DAILY BEE

Fanatics in the Grand Stand Shower Him with Gifts and Congratulations After He Passes the Rubber.

That human life which was to be had for the asking has been asked for and received. Teddie, the founding, has a home. At 4 o'clock Friday afternoon he was still the undesired property of Mrs. F. M. Benedict, housekeeper of the double flat at 1224 Webster street, on the third floor of which he had been found by Mrs. Hartman, a roomer, Wednesday night.

In the central section of the very building in which the baby was found, and in which it led its precarious existence yesterday, live Mr. and Mrs. George Clark, who have been married some years, but are without children. Mrs. Clark was especially busy Friday morning and by the mere chance the story of the waif did not reach her ears. That is, it didn't reach her ears until her husband came tracing home an hour earlier than usual and with a copy of The Bee fluttering in his hand. He read the story aloud, and there was a hurried consultation—and the Clarks went down to see the parentless infant, had incidentally to see Mrs. Benedict.

Infant a Promising Strategist. Teddie seemed to realize the significance of the visit and proved himself a very promising strategist. When Mrs. Clark held him he gave pathetic little wails that went straight to her motherly heart. When Mr. Clark held him he gurgled, which was the best he could do by way of a laugh, and grabbed firm hold of an unlighted cigar that happened to come within his reach. That settled it with Clark. And as his wife had already made up her mind, Teddie, the founding, then and there became Teddie Clark and was carried up to his new home in his new papa's arms, with his new mamma trailing along at his side with his new milk bottle and a new line of "goo-goo" conversation.

Friday night the other roomers in the flat heard the story and Teddie had his first birthday party. It was twenty days late, but none the less successful. The men all came and laughed over him, and the women all came and cried over him, and when they went away they left $5 for Teddie's future uses.

Public Interest in Babies. Mrs. Benedict has been forced to change her opinion of the public interest in babies. At 4 o'clock Friday, after being repeatedly turned down by the police, county commissioners and charitable institutions, she concluded that infants had come to be a drug on the market. But within an hour, or very soon after the Clarks had secured Teddie, she began receiving notes, telephone calls and messages from people who had read of the child and were willing to take it; some because they wanted it, and some because they couldn't bear to think of it in the cheerless light of a shifting public burden. There were numerous calls at the police station, also, and two women came from South Omaha expressly to get that baby whom they told that it was not to be had. One infant, it appears, can move more women's hearts than all the philosophy in the books.

The Child Saving institute superintendent has promised to secure the Clarks with a written bill of adoption.

PLANS FOR TWO NEW VIADUCTS. City Engineer Rosewater and J. B. Berry of the Union Pacific Division discuss details.

City Engineer Rosewater and Chief Engineer J. B. Berry of the Union Pacific system have been in consultation over the proposed building of two viaducts, one over Martha street at the intersection of the Union Pacific and Burlington tracks, and the other crossing the Union Pacific tracks at Capitol avenue and Eighth street. The former will probably cost $50,000 and the latter $30,000.

"The one over Martha street," said Mr. Rosewater, "will be built by the Union Pacific and Burlington roads jointly and the one at Eighth and Capitol avenue, by the Union Pacific. We just talked over the project in an informal way and the matter will have to receive the endorsement of both President Burt and the city council before any definite preparations can be made. It will probably come before the city council for action some time within the next three weeks."

SURVEYING FOR IRRIGATION. Secretary of Interior Sets Aside Large Amount for Contemplated Work.

Senator Millard has received word that under the new irrigation law the secretary of the interior had set apart $165,000 to cover the cost of surveys, the object of which is to ascertain the feasibility from an engineer's point of view for projected sites of irrigation work.

Considerable of this work is to be done in the western part of Nebraska and it is understood that capitalists from New York and Boston have their eyes on considerable of the land in that section.

Senator Millard has received a number of applications for work with the surveying parties, but it is understood that the director of the geological survey, with his present force, would take up the work in view of the fact he has in the past made surveys of nearly every locality where irrigation work was to be done.

BUMPED INTO LOCOMOTIVE. Why Swan Peterson Wants Five Thousand Dollars from Missouri Pacific.

Swan A. Peterson is in district court with a suit against the Missouri Pacific Railroad company for $5,000 damages, alleged to have been sustained in a collision. The collision was between Swan and the engine of a freight train. The plaintiff is a section hand and on June 14 last was stopping over, pulling weeds in the company's Omaha yards. While in his bent posture he backed too near the track and was struck when a man is naturally struck when he backs into a thing while stopping over. Literally speaking, he went right into the air over it and has felt hurt and put out ever since.

OFFICERS TRACE HIM DOWN

Federal Police Finally Arrest E. B. Guernsey and Five Others.

It was some months ago that Eugene B. Guernsey of Emerson, Neb., utilized Uncle Sam's mail service for the transportation of a letter which had in it things unmentionable in the way of language. For this act Guernsey was indicted by the federal grand jury, but he could not be found. Wednesday Deputy United States Marshal Jim Allan discovered Guernsey at Emerson, to which place he had just returned after remaining away in hiding for what he deemed a sufficiently long time. He is now in the Douglas county jail, awaiting trial in November.

Allan brought in with Guernsey Thursday five men from the Wmnesso Indian country, bound over by Commissioner Sloan of Pender for bootlegging. They are said to have had the whole reservation "to the bad" on the Fourth of July. All will await in jail the action of the next grand jury.

On July 25th the Erie Railroad will run a special thirty-day excursion to Chautauque lake. The fare from Chicago will be only $14.00 for the round trip. Tickets will be good on all limited trains.

Woman's Work in Club and Charity

Legs work at the State university. During her three years' work in the Omaha association Miss Woodsmall has won the esteem of all connected with the organization, while her efficiency as an instructor and physical culture attendant by the increase in numbers in her classes and the skill and enthusiasm of the members. Miss Woodsmall will be greatly missed in association circles, but the members of the board of directors feel that they are glad to see an able successor to her in Miss Flora Tichner of Muncie, Ind., who will take up the directorship of that department in September.

Mrs. Emma F. Byers, general secretary of the association, will leave tomorrow for a vacation of several weeks, during which she will visit a number of associations of the east and gather ideas with the intention of applying them to the new building in prospect for the local association.

For the benefit of their new building fund the members of the Young Women's Christian association held an indoor fete last evening in the association parlors. A profusion of sweet peas and greens gave to the gymnasium a garden-like effect which was completed by the shaded lights on the tables from which ice and cake were served. The attendance was large and the enthusiasm and interest in the new building most encouraging. The $2,000 to be raised by the association members has nearly all been pledged and the board intends soon to ask subscriptions toward the $50,000 necessary for the building.

The transfer of the lot and building occupied by the Tenth Street City mission on Tenth street, between Dodge and Capitol streets, was purchased yesterday from the Monell estate to the Omaha City Mission association, Alfred C. Kennedy acting as trustee for ninety days until the $500 pledged by the various young people's societies of the city can be collected. The property was purchased for $2,500, but it will be necessary for the association to raise at least $500 in addition to this sum to put the present building and grounds in condition to continue the work until funds can be secured for a new building. Among the most urgent of the present necessities is the fencing in of the lot, that it may be equipped for a playground for the summer. The industrial work, with the exception of three cooking classes each week, is practically closed until fall, and the association feels that the playground will be the most effective means of reaching the children of that district and keeping them together until the work can be opened again in the fall.
