

NEW FOUNDRY IS ASSURED

International Organization of Molders Approves Featherstone's Proposition.

OMAHA MEN ARE ENTIRELY SATISFIED

Featherstones Probably Will Begin Construction of Foundry Here Within Short Time—Will Do Union Pacific Work.

The Union Pacific molders had at last found a solution of their industrial problem. The proposition known as the "Featherstone proposition," made to them soon after they left the employ of the railroad company and the latter shut down and dismantled the foundry, has been settled upon and now the molders are looking forward to the day when they will be working in another Omaha foundry, not being compelled to leave the city, their homes and in many cases the savings of a lifetime, to begin life anew elsewhere.

At the meeting of the international organization of the molders, held at Toronto, Canada, to which Omaha sent a delegate, the proposition of the Featherstone people and the situation here was thoroughly studied and the Chicago firm's proposition finally declared fair and approved by the international convention. The Omaha delegate gave his assent to the proposition to begin with.

Local Molders Satisfied. Saturday the local molders received a communication from President Fox of the International body, formally announcing the approval of the Featherstone proposition, and during the afternoon the executive committee of the local union held a meeting, at which the agreement tentatively entered into with the Featherstone people and approved in Toronto was confirmed and pronounced entirely satisfactory. A representative of the Featherstone company was at this meeting.

It will be remembered that the original proposition made by the Featherstone people specified that the firm would erect a foundry in Omaha, with a view of making the castings for the Union Pacific among its other work, and would put up a bonus of good faith until the construction work had been completed. In the meantime the molders here who were out of work would go to Chicago at the Featherstone company's expense and secure work there until the foundry here was completed. One objection found to this proposition by the men here was that it specified no definite time within which the company would erect its foundry. The men wanted to fix the time at eight months, but this was not agreed to.

Wages Satisfactorily Settled. The new proposition, or rather the old one newly approved, does not make this provision as to time either, but it is believed the foundry will be erected within a reasonable period. The question of wages has been satisfactorily settled, and the provision for giving those men who want it work in Chicago under the former conditions is to be made good.

MEMORIAL TO DR. A. C. HIRST

First Methodist Church Expresses its Sentiments Through Official Board.

The special committee of the official board of the First Methodist Episcopal church has drafted the following memorial to the late Dr. Hirst:

Dr. Augustus C. Hirst, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Omaha, Neb., having died yesterday in Chicago, this brief and incomplete but heartfelt tribute to him is offered by the official board of the church. We were startled a few days ago by the news that the case of our pastor was hopeless and we were profoundly shocked this morning to learn that he had passed away so soon. We know with Mrs. Hirst, who has been a great and active help among us with his children. He had, less than two years ago, come to us so strong and vigorous and had at once fitted us perfectly into our lives that we felt as if he had been a part of us and would remain long years to do a great work among us. He was a man of love and work and it was the oft expressed ambition of his life that he might round out his long career in the service of our church. He came to us abounding in spirit, enthusiasm, energy and good will toward men, and was soon beloved by all and took the highest rank as a pastor and pulpiteer. His death is a great loss to a speaker and his public utterances were more numerous than he could fill. It is to the regret of the church that he has never had a pastor who united, for successful work, all its departments and forces so well as he. His death is a great loss to the church and to those to whom he preached and loved him. None who knew him will ever forget his cheerful, buoyant greetings and his hearty handclasp, his eloquent and polished preaching of the gospel and the radiant inner life shining forth from his clear-cut face. His death is a great loss to this church and community—greater than we can find words to express. To an unnumbered number of people and out of our church, death is a personal loss, the loss of a cheering, helpful, inspiring friend. He was a powerful, uplifting force.

UNITED IRISH LEAGUE CALL

Movement in Omaha to Give Practical Assistance to the Nationalists in Ireland.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the public meeting to assist the cause of home rule in Ireland has definitely selected St. Philomena's hall, Ninth and Howard streets, as the place of meeting, and the time is Sunday, July 20. Several speakers of note outside of Omaha have been invited to deliver addresses, and these, with local talent, insure an oratorical treat. The object of the meeting is to give practical effect to the sentiment manifested at the meeting in Boyd's opera house, addressed by Messrs. Redmond and Finerty, last April. On that occasion a strong desire was shown to give substantial support to the United Irish league, which represents the organized national spirit of Ireland. Other cities are assisting the movement systematically and liberally, and it is thought the time is ripe for Omaha Irishmen to bestir themselves. The meeting next Sunday will give practical direction to local sentiment, and it is expected there will be a large attendance at the initial meeting.

JURORS HAVE WAGES RAISED

United States Courts Hereafter Will Allow Three Dollars Per Day.

The job of juror for Uncle Sam is no longer a thing to be dodged. In fact, most wage earners will hereafter be glad to get on the jury. United States Marshal Matthews has received from Attorney General Philander C. Knox notice to allow all jurors $3 a day from now on. This is a substantial advance over the sum formerly paid. Statistics show that not one-tenth of the working male population of the United States makes as much. The raise, of course, goes into effect in all United States courts. Clerks Thummel and Hoyt of United States circuit and district courts here expect that great interest will hinge on their drawings for the November term approaching.

The Rouses at Courtland Beach.

Young Woman Falls in the Street.

A young woman was found lying across the sidewalk at Twenty-fifth and Farnam streets in an unconscious condition by J. J. Derright, who was passing that corner at 10 o'clock last night. Derright telephoned the police and the woman was taken to the station, where the doctors diagnosed her case as epilepsy. After regaining consciousness the young woman said that her name was Martha Dettow and that until last night she had been in the service of the family of Volvar A. Fischer, a carpenter, living at Thirty-first and Farnam streets. She has no memory of the night she made comfortable for the night in the matron's department at the jail. Martha Dettow was one of a family of eight which was stricken with trichinosis about two years ago, and she alone survived. Since that time she has been afflicted with epilepsy.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Mayor Puts Sealing Wax on All Saloon Doors for Today.

EVEN PORTERS AND PROPRIETORS BARRED

Chief and Captain Are to Do Special Patrol Duty to See that the Order is Rigorously Enforced.

Late yesterday afternoon Mayor Koutsky stated to reporters that every saloon keeper in the city had been notified to keep closed all day today. All saloon doors are to be sealed with wax as well as all screens in front of bars in order to give the police an opportunity to keep close tabs on places where liquor is sold. For the purpose of seeing that his order is carried out the mayor has directed that police shall do double duty. Every saloon in the city will be watched and the chief and captain will visit the patrolmen on their beats every hour or two in order to see that they are performing their duties. The mayor will not permit even porters to enter saloons for the purpose of cleaning up and proprietors are barred from entering.

There was considerable complaint about the order yesterday by liquor dealers as some of them asserted that the saloons paid more taxes than the members of the Anti-Saloon element do. Surveyors Busy in the Hollow. For a week or more several parties of railroad surveyors have been working in and around South Omaha. Yesterday a party of Union Pacific men were setting stakes in the hollow south of H street. In this connection it is understood that there is another deal on foot to have the city council pass an ordinance vacating certain streets and alleys in the northern portion of the city. This plan has been on foot for two or three years, but the council has refused to pass the required ordinance. If the old plans are carried out the Union Pacific men are to erect a new line of street and locate the coal and lumber yards, which are now on track north of the L street viaduct, in the hollow.

Another line has been surveyed through the Lehigh property in the western part of the city and another through Albright. In fact for the last week or two surveyors have been working all around the city. No definite information can be obtained from any of the engineers in charge of the work. It is interesting to note that the city council has authorized enlarging the yards here, providing it can secure the streets and alleys in the northern part of the city. Rumor has it that a new proposition for the vacation of these streets and alleys will be made to the council at the meeting Monday night.

Looking Over Vouchers.

Employees of the city treasurer's department were engaged yesterday in looking over vouchers in the city auditor's office. The city auditor is enforcing the recent order of the council in connection with the payment of warrants to those who are drawing salaries from the city or have claims against the municipality. In all cases where personal taxes are owed by city employees, or those having claims against the city, the amount will be deducted before a warrant is cashed by the treasurer. The plan may work with the city employees, but as for those who have claims against the city it may be another proposition. It is asserted that the city will be unable to fully in other cities, but there is liable to be a fight on it here.

Postpone Cornerstone Laying.

A week ago the building committee of the Ancient Order of United Workmen Temple association announced that the cornerstone of the building would be laid on Labor day. Preparations for a big celebration were being made, but all this has been stopped. At the request of the Central Labor union the laying of the cornerstone will be deferred until a couple of weeks, or possibly a month. C. W. Miller, chairman of the building committee of the Workmen, stated to a Bee reporter yesterday that as soon as the request from the Central Labor union was received all of the members decided to wait until the weather was better. There will be a meeting of the directors of the organization in about a week and then it is expected that another date for the laying of the stone and the celebration to follow will be decided upon.

DE LA MARS MUCH IN EVIDENCE

One of Them Marries a Curate and Another One is Suing for Divorce.

(Copyright, 1902, by Press Publishing Co.) LONDON, July 12.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—The De La Marr family is becoming very large in a matrimonial way just now. The Dowager Countess De La Marr, aged 60, was married today to Curate Wyatt of the Savoy Chapel Royal, who is only 30.

Next week the young countess De La Marr, the daughter of Lady Brassey of "Sunbeam" fame, will enter a petition for divorce from her husband, the present earl, who is said to have attached himself recently to a pretty chorus girl named Turner and to have openly deserted his countess. His mother, who married the curate, has gone with her newly married husband to visit the earl, and it is inferred, to give him moral support over the divorce suit, which it is alleged he will permit to go undefended.

De La Marr was the chief of Hooley's peer directors, and since then has been a war correspondent in South Africa for the Globe. (Copyright, 1902, by Press Publishing Co.) PARIS, July 12.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—It is an old custom in the French army to render military honors when passing statues erected to great soldiers and others, and each town has its tradition. In some garrisons the statue of Joan of Arc is always honored in this way; at Versailles, Roche's memory is kept green, and in other places famous generals are not forgotten. It is reported that that fine soldierly figure, the late Duc d'Angame, when commanding a regiment, gave orders that the famous Cloe Vougeot should be given military honors, as it was one of the glories of France.

When troops met at a funeral procession honors were always rendered and no more touching sight can be imagined during important maneuvers than that regiment after regiment—sometimes several thousand men—paying a tribute of respect when passing the coffin of some humble peasant, a tribute to which only the highest military dignities can lay claim. (Copyright, 1902, by Press Publishing Co.) LONDON, July 12.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—The most extraordinary appointment on record is that suggested by Colonel MacCallum to be governor general of the Australian commonwealth. MacCallum has never given the slightest indication of aptitude for public affairs and is known as the owner of the famous race horse, Ingleton, a circumstance to which he owes his being sent to Parliament, declined as the member for Newmarket. He inherited nearly $200,000 from a miser uncle some years ago and married a sister of Mrs. Langtry's present husband, Delah. Lord Hopetoun resigned the governor generalship because the commonwealth Parliament declined to increase his salary. MacCallum's appointment is believed to be imminent and it is said that he will be created a peer before sailing. Everyone agrees that Lord Ingleton would be his most appropriate title.

PELEE IS AGAIN ACTIVE

Stones and Cinders Thrown Out in Showers, but There is No Loss of Life.

PARIS, July 12.—The colonial ministry has issued the following: The eruption of Mont Pelee, Martinique, occurred during the morning of July 11. It was quite as violent as the one of the amount was estimated at 100,000 tons of stones and cinders, which fell on the communes of Pointe-a-Pitre and St. Dennis. The population remained calm. The scientific mission which left Guadeloupe on receipt of the news of the fresh eruption, arrived at Pointe-a-Pitre on KINGSTON, St. Vincent, Thursday, July 10.—The English scientific commission, headed by Drs. Anderson and Flett, who, after investigating the various phenomena connected with the eruption of the Soufriere volcano here, left on the 4th for England by way of other West Indian ports, noticed that the crater was seemingly quiet. Last night, however, three distinct detonations were heard here and at Barbadoes, and an immense cloud of steam issued from the Soufriere. This phenomena was preceded by earthquakes during the last three days, which were felt all over the colony. The commissioners had a narrow escape during one of their visits to the crater. They passed over a lava bed on the morning of June 16, in fair weather, and descended the mountain. On their return journey, made during a gale of wind and a downfall of rain, jets of steam and mud issued all around them from fissures in the mountains. Walking on a ridge, they saw on either side a depth of 1,000 feet, composed of boiling mud throwing up jets to a height of 300 and 400 feet. On reaching the base of the mountain the scientists found themselves in an awful predicament. What was three hours previously a dry ravine over which they walked, was then a river of hot mud and steam, and a tremendous force. In order to cross this stream, they constructed a bridge only a few inches wide, laid from bank to bank across the narrowest parts of the stream and eventually got over in safety. Since the eruption, after every shower of lava, the beds to the windward of the district emit smoke and steam, sometimes hundreds of feet high, and dust sometimes falls heavily in and near this district.

DIRECTORS ACT UNDER SPELL

Leipzig Bank Executives Lay Failure to Fascinating Personality of Adolph Schmidt.

BERLIN, July 12.—The ruin of the Leipzig bank that failed about a year ago for nearly 200,000,000 marks, was wrought by the fascinating personality of Adolph Schmidt, according to testimony given by three trustees of the bank's directors, now nearing the Trebetzsch (grain drying) company of Cassel, a concern exploiting on an enormous scale. A process for drying beer dregs and cattle feed, persuaded the bank to advance during a panic period sums of money aggregating 20,000,000 marks. The accused directors who were successively examined before the jury, were unable to give a lucid explanation of their reasons for consenting to make these extraordinary loans. Several members of the extraordinary well-meaning board admitted that this colossal business mistake was indefensible upon sound commercial principles. Nevertheless they consented because Schmidt made them believe in the amazing possibilities and profits of the process. Schmidt also had an invention for distilling wood alcohol by which he represented that he would have the monopoly of the world. His eyes were upon the American field as well as the European and opened negotiations with Americans, and established sub-companies in every continental country. The alcohol invention contributed to the dashing of the Leipzig directors, who, however, made it clear that they did not know how much the bank had really loaned to Schmidt. Although they were backing Schmidt's schemes, they were received by the bank's manager, Exner, who kept secret accounts. Why Exner acted in the manner in which he did is equally a mystery, for neither he nor other directors appear to have made any money personally out of the scheme. Schmidt is described as having a quiet manner and simple way of expressing himself in unornate language. He talks with a calm air of confidence and seems to have believed completely in himself. He is now in jail awaiting examination. Exner's testimony showed that he was led on step by step hoping to save the bank's millions, as the cutting off of Schmidt's credit would wreck the Trebetzsch company and result in a total loss to the bank of sums loaned.

A Well Known Insurance Man Indorses NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

If you are troubled with dandruff and falling hair or if you are threatened with premature baldness, why not listen to the advice of others who have used our preparation with success. Newbro's Herpicide should not be classed with the cure-all, colored water variety of hair preparations. It is strictly pharmaceutical. It is prescribed and endorsed by prominent physicians everywhere. It is used by intelligent and discriminating people who demand a safe and pleasant germicide for the scalp because the hair should have as much care and attention as the teeth. Have you not been impressed with the prominence of the people who use and indorse Newbro's Herpicide? Read what Mr. Bachelor says about it.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. Dr. Thomas has used Newbro's Herpicide and we publish his letter herewith. "I have been troubled for some years with dandruff and premature falling out of the hair. I have found that the application of your preparation to the scalp has a decidedly healthy action; healing up the dandruff patches and removing that dry and harsh feeling of the hair, and in every way tending to produce a new growth of hair where the scalp has been denuded by dandruff." Yours truly, ARTHUR J. THOMAS, M. D., Graduate Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, Edinburgh, Scotland. Late Government Medical Officer, Jamaica, B. W. I., Detroit, Michigan.
