BRUSH IS TO LOSE CONTROL Negotiations Which Have Long Been Pending for Transfer of Cincinnati Team About Concluded. CINCINNATI, July 12.—The Commercial Tritune will say tomorrow: There is the best authority for stating that negotiations which have been pending for some time have about reached a conclusion by which the Cincinnati team of the National league will soon pass from the hands of John T. Brush of Indianapolis to a local syndicate, headed by August Herman, the chief lieu-tenant of George B. Cox. It is understood that the street railway company and other interests are largely represented in the new syndicate. Ashley Lloyd is next to Brush as the largest stockholder and the change will mean his retirement, while there is talk of Brush becoming a much larger holder of stock in the New York club and possibly the National league. The principal attraction of the meeting is the Merchants' and Man-ufacturers' stake, a $10,000 stake for trot-ters eligible to the 2:24 class, and the vinner gets over $1,000. This event is the classic derby in the harness horse line, and its result is closely watched, because the winner and next best horses invariably are prominent later in the big races throughout the year. The veteran driver, and deers, who has won many heats and monles in this event, and has even won wice, once with a horse outside of his in the sulky, has entered Dormeath, and had been in training at Memphis. His first starts in Omaha this year was at Omaha in the 2:18 trot. He was very un-steady and twice, when a hopeless dis-tance behind the bunch, he overhauide the leader. In these brushes he showed 2:05 speed, and local horsemen are jubliant over the signs of a reviving of the harness horse interests. The same purchaser re-cently paid $1,000 for Alcarmo, a promis-ing green trotting stallion, owned by John Bishop of Omaha.
