Speculative Tactics to Boost Prices is but Partially Successful.

NEW TORK, July 14.—The speculative operators in favor of higher prices for stocks took hold of the market with renewed vigor today, centering their campaign in St. Paul. That stock has always been peculiarly effective as a leader owing to its representative character amongst the western trunk lines and to the large floating supply in the market. Its notable rise today, therefore, had some sympathetic effect on stocks of its own class.

The mass of securities, however, remained singularly unresponsive to the aggressive strength of St. Paul and even sagged in spots from torpid demand. From early market the effect of the St. Paul movement was interfered with by the obvious profit-taking going on in Missouri Pacific and the suspicion thus aroused that the St. Paul manipulation was expressly designed to facilitate this profit-taking.

There were also weak spots amongst the industrials. The declines from Saturday's level reached a point in Missouri Pacific, Sugar and Amaigamated. Atchison responded early to the St. Paul rise and followed it closely throughout the day, but it was not until late that Union Pacific, and still later when Southern Pacific came into the movement. The St. Louis Southwestern stocks and Illinois Central were also conspicuous.

A reference to the day's sales list will stocks and Illinois Central were also conspicuous.

A reference to the day's sales list will show that the stock above specified made up the principal portion of the day's market. As each stock was successively brought forward into the movement the huying took on large proportions. Blocks of from 1,000 to 6,000 shares were dealt in freely in all of the issues. The weak stocks generally recovered and closed unchanged or at alight losses.

An effort was made to advance the Readings, but it was not pursued. Much was made in connection with the advance of talk of prospects and no account was taken of the signs of strength in the grain markets, based on reports of more unwelcome rains in the southwest. The grain markets are not considered a reliable barometer of actual crop conditions, owing to the disturbance of abnormal conditions by speculation.

actual crop conditions, owing to the disturbance of abnormal conditions by speculation.

It must be considered also that the speculative mind is much confused in following the statistical rectification in the government's crop acreage figures in the attempt to conform the Agricultural department's figures to the census returns.

The favorable bank statement on Saturday was urged as evidence of easing conditions of the money market, but money rates were not appreciably easier here today and foreign exchange advanced a fraction again. There was a deposit of $100,000 at the subtreasury for telegraphic transfer to New Orleans and New York exchange at Chicago remained at 25 percent discount. The market closed easier, with the grangers at the top level.

The bond market was more irregular even than stocks and was without conspicuous feature. Total sales, par value, $4,247,000. United States refunding 2s declined \(\frac{1}{2} \) and the $5$ and old and new 4s \(\frac{1}{2} \) per cent on call today.

NEW YORK, July 14.—COFFEE—Spot. Rio. firm; No. 7 invoice, 5%c mild, firm; Cordova, 8911%c. The market opened steady, with prices unchanged to 15 points higher, the advance occurring in the summer and fall months on a scarcity of shorts and brisk demand from bulls. Almost immediately following the call the market turned strong and prices rapidly advanced on general buying, led by badly frightened shorts. Before midday bids netted an advance of 39 to 50 points. Late in the afterneon realizing set in on a heavy scale and values fell away, the closing being irregular, with prices net 5 to 10 points higher. The trading was heaviest in near months, amounting to 125,750 bags, including July at 4.996,55c; August, 5.006, 5.35c; September, 5.056,30c; October, 5.156,50c; November, 5.156,30c; December, 5.10,60.35c; January, 5.30c; February, 5.30c; March, 5.2025.35c; May, 5.306,50c; June, 6.45c.

NEW YORK, July 14.—DRY GOODS—
There has been more business doing today than of late in a general way, but the market is still quiet in all cotton divisions. Prices are without change. Wide print cloths have a steadler appearance, but narrow goods continue dull. New lines of spring underwear opened at about last season's prices.

MUST KEEP HIS CONTRACT Court Decides Against George Woolsey in Distilling

Litigation. NEW YORK, July 14 .- In the suit of the Standard Distilling and Distributing company against George L. Woolsey, the Hammend Distilling company and the Manhattan Trust company Judge Lacombe in the United States district court today signed an order restraining Woolsey from engaging in the distilling business within 1,200 miles of Chicago and directing him to sell all his stock in the Hammond Distilling company. Woolsey was the principal owner of the Interstate Distilling company in Indiana at the time the Standard Distilling and Distributing company was founded. He sold his stock therein to the so-called trust, entering into an agreement at the same time not to engage in the distilling business within 1,200 miles of Chicago for a stipulated period of years.

The plaintiff claimed that the recently formed Hammond Distilling company is owned and controlled by Woolsey, in violation of his agreement, and they asked that he be restrained from further connection with it and be compelled to dispose of his interest in it.
