

SNAP SHOT AT THE WORLD

Two Little Girls Run Away from Orphanage to See Home Life.

TELL PITIFUL STORY OF LONG TRAMP

Matron of Council Bluffs Institution Overtakes Girls at Omaha Police Station and Returns Them to the Orphanage.

Evaline Miller and Nellie Smith, the little girls whose pitiful story of suffering elicited the sympathy of all who heard it, who accented aims from the watchman at the East Omaha bridge, who were the especial charge of Police Matron Stillwell at the city jail, who said that they had walked from Charter Oak, Ia., to Omaha in search of employment, for whom the police took the responsibility of securing homes, did not walk from Charter Oak to Omaha, were never in Charter Oak and were not in need of assistance.

The little girls escaped from the Christian orphanage at Council Bluffs and were yesterday returned to that place by its matron, who had been in search of them since their escape Wednesday afternoon.

The girls substantiated their story of the long walk to Omaha by showing to the police matron four little feet badly blistered and four shoes badly worn. Their innocence and the straightforward story, as they told it to the police, carried conviction and none doubted that it was true.

Matron Comes for Girls.

The matron of the orphanage saw the published statement of the girls, and as they had given the names they were known by in the home, she came for them yesterday. The older of the girls, she said, had been in the home for ten years and the younger for several years. Both, she said, had always been quiet, tractable girls, and she could give no reason why they should desire to escape. The only excuse offered by the girls was that they desired to see the world.

The story of the girls published Thursday was not without effect. Over twenty-five applications were made by people here and from out in the state for the girls, all offering them good homes as long as they would remain. Many called at the station after the girls had been taken away and others who could not get down early and feared that the officers would secure homes for them before they could get to the station, kept the telephone busy all morning.

The girls did not appear to be disturbed when the Council Bluffs matron came for them and expressed no regret at the commotion they had caused at the home, and took the sympathy and good treatment lavished upon them as something due them. Both returned to Council Bluffs without creating any trouble.

Balloon Race Sunday at Krug Park.

Prof. J. Waldorf Hall, who claims the world's record for high ascension, and Prof. E. M. Heller, the noted southern aeronaut, will pull off their big balloon race at Krug park Sunday at 6 p. m. The two men have been trying to meet each other since last year and are both anxious to win the wager and show his superiority. Another thrilling feature of the program will be the moving pictures of the Mount Pelee volcanic disaster, showing the volcanic action and the burning of Martinique. Others on the bill are the famous Loretta family, horizontal bar acrobats; Venetta King, cornet virtuoso; Huster's peerless band and the "Passton Play."

All over our store marvelous values are cropping up. Read about them in our ad on page 7. HAYDEN BROS.

Constipation Cured.

It is a great mistake for any troubled with constipation to fill themselves full of drugs, the effects of which are often more injurious than otherwise. A method which not only gives immediate relief, but which strengthens the abdominal muscles and puts the organs in a condition where they will do their own work naturally is the Renstrom method employed at The Renstrom Hygienic Bathery. Massage and abdominal manipulation will give immediate relief and permanently cure the greatest sufferer. Call at Suite 220, Bee Building, or telephone 1718 for an appointment. Women massage operators and conducted by and for women only. Consultation free.

DEAD CHILDREN TIED TO LOG

New Theory in Regard to Floaters Seen in River by Bridge Watchman.

No further trace of the two children seen floating down the Missouri river Thursday morning, clinging to a log, has been found. The police and searching parties have failed to discover any one who saw them except the bridge watchman, and it is now almost certain that they were not rescued or washed ashore between the East Omaha bridge and the Douglas street bridge. Since the bridge watchman is of the opinion that the children were dead and tied to the log, the police believe that the children were washed beneath the log and doubtless floated past the watchers at the Douglas street bridge unobserved.

TOO MUCH FOR FIRE HORSE

Familiar Sounds Send Him Jumping, to the Injury of His Driver.

Sam Stamp is laid up at the Presbyterian hospital with his left leg and side badly bruised and one of the bones below the knee broken, as a result of a runaway which occurred at 12 o'clock at Twenty-fifth and Cumins streets. Stamp is a driver for the Armour Packing company. The drawing power of his wagon was formerly attached to the fire department and his ears are still attached to catch the slightest tinkle of a fire gong or the roar of an engine.

As Stamp was going west on Cumins street, an automobile came up behind him to the right and a traction engine going in the same direction came up on the left. It had always been his duty to keep ahead of the engine and he did it this time, but in doing so the wagon was overturned and Stamp fell out. As the wagon went over it fell on the horse and held him a prisoner until released by those who came to the assistance of Stamp.

Stamp was removed to the Presbyterian hospital in the city ambulance. The horse was not injured and the wagon was damaged only slightly.
