MISSISSIPPI STILL RISING

Flooded Conditions Between Keokuk and Hannibal Grow Worse.

RIVER IS TEN MILES WIDE AT POINTS

Hundreds of Farmers in Lowlands Driven from Home and Only Highest Points Are Free from Danger.

KEOKUK, Ia., July 19.—The flood conditions of yesterday were much worse today and the Mississippi river is from two to ten miles wide for seventy-five miles below Keokuk and rising rapidly.

Damage is also caused on the Illinois side between here and Quincy, where there are many thousands of acres beyond river-side levees which are not entirely efficient, the water working through at the side of the floodgates.

The greatest damage is on the Missouri side of the Mississippi river between Keokuk and Hannibal, territory covering 300 square miles and of which the corn was estimated at eighty bushels to the acre a few days ago, being inundated.

Reports today are that in the territory indicated the loss will be over $4,000,000, chiefly to corn land and in splendid condition previously.

The levee just north of Burlington broke, inundating three square miles that had been considered safe.

The Burlington and Rock Island systems are closely patrolled by watchmen at all bridges and culverts.

Thousands of acres are submerged in Appanoose county, Iowa, and there is much small grain caught in the fields.

The crop in other places is chiefly corn. A new element that has appeared all over the flooded section of Iowa is disease among stock from the condition of pasturing overflooded lands.

Later reports tonight picture widespread destruction down the Mississippi, the scouring of farmers to get off inundated lands and save the millies and steamboats taking of many, including all residents of the islands in the Mississippi.

A number of manufacturing plants along the river front at Quincy are threatened with inundation.

Observer Goswisch of the Weather bureau station here, said last tonight that the rise here will be eight inches more, although the river is now widespread and the height is lessened by the great area of flooded lowlands.

LA SALLE, Ill., July 19.—A heavy down-pour of rain has fallen in this region incessantly for thirty-six hours and the Illinois and Vermillion rivers and tributaries have sent a flood down the valley that has ruined many of the bottom land farms and caused losses to the country between here and Ottawa aggregating more than $100,000.

The roadways entering La Salle and Peru from the south are all submerged. Many bridges have been wrecked, preventing all approach to the cities from the south.

Strausberg, a hamlet on the Vermillion river, just east of here, has been almost entirely washed away.

ALTERATIONS

At Hospe's Art and Music Emporium, Gradually Shaping Itself into the Handsomest Store in the West.

With the carpenters out of the way, the decorators will now show their skill.

Four residences were swept down to the river to the Rock bridge, where they were dashed to pieces.

Chicago mail has not reached these cities since Thursday. The conditions are alarming in that the river is still rising rapidly.

St. Joseph Murderer Most Hanged. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 19.—Charles May, who killed Robert Martin at a country dance near St. Joseph two years ago, has been found guilty of murder in the first degree.
