

NO NEW SHOPS FOR CHEYENNE

Story Revived, but Union Pacific Officials Say Nothing is Doing.

MAY BUILD NEW POWER PLANT ONLY

Some Economy May Be Expected by a Change in Equipment, but No General Alteration is Likely.

A report came from Cheyenne Sunday that the Union Pacific is planning to enlarge and improve its shops at that place. The plan, as reported, contemplated the erection of several new buildings, including a wheel foundry, blast furnace and car works.

Superintendent McKean of the motive power and machinery department of the Union Pacific, was shown the report and asked concerning it. He said: "I do not know of any new plan to enlarge the Cheyenne shops. If the company has any such plan it is news to me. However, as a matter of fact, there was a plan some years ago to increase the facilities out there and it is likely that this may be done in the future, but there is no definite plan to be put into execution that I know anything about."

From the office of President Burt a similar statement was obtained. Mr. McKean's statement that such a move had been contemplated some years ago was confirmed, but that it would be put into operation any time soon was doubted. "It is certain that the company is doing nothing with that now," was said.

According to Mr. McKean the old plan, which may yet be carried out, contemplated an extension of 150 feet to the Cheyenne machine shops, a new power house and a coach shop. It was the idea to install all these without the erection of any entirely new buildings, since the company is well equipped with buildings there and it seems that necessary additions to the facilities could be made without putting up any more structures.

It has been estimated that the company could realize a saving in expense of $12,000 a year by the installation of a new power plant alone at Cheyenne, and it is more than probable in view of this fact, which seems to have commended itself to the officials of the Union Pacific, such an improvement will be made in the near future. The need of a coach shop there is also said to be keenly felt.

Asked if the present labor troubles had any part in deterring the company from the execution of any such plans as these an official said: "None whatever. If there was any immediate likelihood of starting on this work the Union Pacific certainly would not stand back because of a temporary strike in its shops."

Back on Train Schedule. While all the railroads report that their tracks which have been damaged and abandoned by the recent rains, some of which are not yet out of danger, are materially improved and the water in most places subsiding, a new obstruction to the thorough reparation of roads has presented itself. It is the scarcity of laborers.

A local railroad man, whose road has been one of the greatest sufferers from high water and whose tracks will require much work before they are in anything like normal condition, has a very severe task to get men enough to do the work on our roads that ought to be done at once. Laborers are scarce and despite the fact that our road is paying $1.75 a day for such work, it has been able to secure but a very small and inadequate force of workmen. Harvest being in progress, it is fancy other roads will find it similarly difficult to get men to repair their tracks. If we could get hold of large forces and the weather continued as it is for a few days all the tracks could be put into excellent shape."

The tenth annual tournament of the Nebraska State Volunteer Firemen's association will be held at Grand Island August 5, 6 and 7. The citizens of that city have contributed liberally to a fund for prizes and the secretary assures the public, and particularly the volunteer firemen of the state, that the best of order and in medals has never in the history of the association been more liberal. The leading events will be various horse races, hook and ladder races, foot races, parades, ladder climbing contests, coupling contests, etc., etc. Good music will be in attendance and Grand Island is going to do everything possible to entertain the firemen of the state and their friends.

Mount Pelee Volcanic Disaster at Krug Park. The Mount Pelee volcanic disaster is proving the most interesting and strongest drawing card Krug park has presented to date. The production shows the crater belching forth its sheets of flame and rivers of molten lava, which pour down on doomed Martinique and into the sea, from which the steam arising darkens the appalling scene. The horrors of the terrible catastrophe are presented vividly enough to stir the spectator and leave no desire to witness an original. At 9 o'clock sharp the exhibition starts.

The next ragtime concert is announced for Wednesday evening.

AFRAID OF FOE WITH RAZOR. Walter Todd Asks Police to Restrain Ladell Wiseman from Doing Harm.

Walter Todd, 414 South Eighteenth street, is scared of Ladell Wiseman and wants the police to gather the said Wiseman in before the said Wiseman gathers Todd to his father. Todd said that Wiseman came to his room early Monday morning and after waking him informed Todd that he had come for the purpose of cutting his throat, at the same time drawing a fierce looking razor, ready for action. The two men grappled and Todd finally managed to escape through a window, leaving Wiseman in charge of the house. Todd doesn't know the cause of the trouble, unless it is that Wiseman is just bloodthirsty.

BUSY MORNING FOR BERKA

Police Court Full of People Charged with Various Sorts of Offenses.

The police are making an effort to rid the town of a number of women of the underworld and inmates of immoral houses, and as a consequence a number of women and several men were fined in police court yesterday. Some of these women, it is said by the police, have committed several robberies lately, and as it is very seldom the victim will appear against them they cannot be convicted. It is the intention of the police to force them out of the city. Judge Berka followed up the work of the police by fining everyone who was brought before him, with the exception of two—M. Robnault, charged with being a suspicious character, and J. W. Carroll—who were discharged.

Carroll was arrested for fighting. He and Sam Hoff and a number of others became involved in a fight at a saloon at Second and Hickory streets Sunday afternoon. Hoff and Carroll were both badly beaten. Hoff and those who had beat him escaped and the judge concluded that two black eyes and many bruises on Carroll was sufficient punishment.

These were fined $5 and costs: Anna Ridgeway, Ella Gordon, Nora Smith, Lucy Jackson, Carrie Mack, May Smith, James Woodson, A. Lindsay, Estee Bynum, Will Smith.

Nellie Burdett, James Burns, Gus Lindall, William Valentine, C. Buckley, S. J. McClusky, Charles Johnson drank too much and were assessed $1 and costs each. Ed Blanton had no visible means of support and will work at the city jail for the next six days. Harry Gordon was fined $4, Frank Hansen $6, Carl Bunman $5 and May Rose $6 for disturbing the peace, and each will have to pay costs. Valentine, in addition to being drunk, wrote a check which is supposed to be not as good as the paper on which it was written, and attempted to cash it at several saloons.

The Great Parks of Colorado. Bear an important relation to the state in all her diversified interests. They constitute one of her chief glories. They are not, as many suppose, small areas of level ground closely hemmed in by neighboring hills, and beautiful with evergreens and flowers, but they are vast territories of country almost as large as some states.

They contain fields, forests and plains, and the herds of the cattlemen have succeeded the herds of buffalo; they are watered by creeks and rivers and contain villages and farm houses; they have springs and lakes, where hotels and other places of resort have been built for settlers, for tourists, hunters, campers and others seeking remote places of resort in the heart of the Rocky mountains.

To enable persons to reach these favored localities without unnecessary expenditure of time or money the Union Pacific has put in effect very low rates and splendid train service, three trains leaving Missouri river daily for Denver. City ticket office, 1324 Farnam street. Phone 318.

DIES FROM HEART FAILURE. Mrs. Anna Green Found Lifeless by Her Husband on His Return.

Mrs. Anna Green was found dead on the floor of her room at 311 North Twelfth street at 12 o'clock Sunday night by her husband, John Green, a colored musician. It is thought the woman died of heart disease and it is likely no inquest will be held. The body is in charge of the coroner.

Mrs. Green returned to the rooming house shortly after 11 o'clock Sunday night and after conversing for some minutes with other roomers went to her room. Her husband returned home later and found her in her street dress, lying upon the floor. She was then unconscious and breathing heavily. Physicians were hastily called, but life was extinct before they arrived. She was about 30 years of age and leaves no children.

OUR DAVE ARRIVES AT LAST

Distinguished Stranger Comes Back to Omaha to Repair Fences.

Blissful Ignorance About Politics. Will Open an Office to Entertain the Faithful and Facilitate the Distribution of His Campaign Fund.

Congressman David H. Mercer, the Long Delayed, has arrived in Omaha. With Mrs. Mercer and their daughter, the distinguished stranger came yesterday morning.

T. W. Blackburn, local manager for the congressman, returned Saturday from the Black Hills and has his office draped for the coming of his lord. The daily average of callers has been twenty-five—the same twenty-five each day—and yesterday afternoon Mr. Mercer held a levee for the faithful and incidentally for the hopeful. Mr. Mercer says he will open an office for their accommodation and will really remain until congress reconvenes.

Monday morning shortly after his arrival a reporter for The Bee interviewed him at the home of his parents, 2811 Hickory street. Interviewing Mr. Mercer at this particular time on any matter of real importance is done with a gimlet and a suction bulb. He deferred everything to "the committee," and when reminded that the committee deferred everything to him he only answers that he has been so busy that he "hasn't even thought of politics."

"I left Washington Friday, coming by way of Atlantic City to get my wife and daughter," he explained. "How long are you to be here?" was asked. "All summer. I'm here for the finish. I've got blood in my eye and am feeling healthy. I shall not return to the capital until congress reconvenes."

"When is the committee to meet?" "I don't know. You see, I haven't seen any of the committee men yet."

"But the committee seems to be leaving it all to you," was suggested. Mr. Mercer smiled dreamily and answered: "Well, it's cool, pleasant weather now and the people are all pretty busy, so I guess there is no hurry."

About the Crawford System. "What is your preference as to the manner of nominating? The Crawford system?" "Well, I don't know that I have any preference. I notice that LaFollette of Wisconsin won quite a victory for the Crawford system the other day and your paper has sometimes seemed to favor it. But then The Bee skips around onto so many sides of a question that there is nothing assured by that."

"If the Crawford system at all, would it be plurality or majority for selection?" "The Minnesota law makes it plurality and the Wisconsin recommendation makes it plurality, but while I confess that there are some things about the system that strike me favorably, I am not prepared to speak advisedly on any of it yet. Indeed, I've been too busy to pay any attention to politics. I am through now and home to look after them, but this has been the busiest session I have ever had. I made a record in getting through my omnibus bill, caring for nearly 200 cities, but I've had hard, tedious work through the session."

"In the event of another man being nominated what will you do?" the interrogator ventured to ask. Mr. Mercer appeared stumped.

Will Do as He Sees Fit. "Well, now that's a contingency that I had not even thought of," he said, with a feeble smile. "I expect to be renominated and re-elected with absolute certainty. They can't possibly beat me except by skulduggery and chicanery. And in that event—well, I reserve the right to do as I see fit."

But it won't happen. I've got too many friends for that. You may have noticed a few at the Gurley-Rosewater debate. That was an eye-opener for some people, I guess. Why, Rosey's silly! He's silly to get mad about that senatorial fight! I didn't get in his way nearly as much as he did in mine. If I had had that Douglas delegation I would be United States senator now. But I don't get mad because I lost. Even-tempered is the only way to be. And we are all to live some time yet."

Now that's all I can say today. I am going to open an office downtown and will be glad to have you call any time. Just yet there is nothing to give out."
