

BURT TALKS ON STRIKE

President of Union Pacific Unburdens Himself Concerning Situation.

ROASTS TWO NEWSPAPER REPORTERS

Refuses to Give Information Asked For and Complains that His Statements Are Not Given Fairly.

President Horace G. Burt of the Union Pacific Railroad company volunteered to make a statement yesterday in connection with the strike in the shops of his road. Shortly after the strike began Mr. Burt was called on by two reporters for a statement of the position of the company and yielded to a very generous interview, but his utterances upon that occasion and today, while similar in some respects, bear no very striking resemblance.

"Get right out of this office as quick as you can and don't you come in here for any news, as you call it; we don't have anything to give you fellows, for you are not seeking facts."

This was the manner in which the president of the Union Pacific greeted the reporters who had called upon his secretary and with whom they were in conversation when Mr. Burt chanced to pass through the room and catch a glimpse of them.

"We have called to ask, President Burt, if you have granted a conference to Mr. Bloom," interposed one of the newspaper men.

"Stoom, Stoom, I never heard of him. Who is this fellow, Stoom?" angrily retorted the president.

"He is the president of the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, whose name has appeared in the papers so frequently of late in connection with this strike," was the reply of a reporter.

"Never heard of him, never heard of him. Don't want to, either," and that exhausted that subject.

Stalls Into Newspapers.

"If you men represented reputable and truthful newspapers, newspapers that would even try to get the facts and print them, I wouldn't mind talking to you. But you don't. We haven't got any such papers in this city. You go and get one side of this question and play that up in glaring style, and if the railroad men give you anything in the shape of a statement or news you surround it with insinuations and innuendoes, so that its force and effect is destroyed and the other side gets the benefit of it, after all—just what you want. No, sir, I'll not talk to you," continued the president, as the reporters were seeking an opportunity to get out between blasts.

It was suggested that some weeks ago the same reporters had called on the president and received a lengthy statement from him upon the strike situation and that precisely what he said upon that occasion had been printed.

"But, President Burt, we have not been permitted since then, with one slight exception, to interview you, so that it has not been possible for the newspapers to print your personal views or statements."

It was also suggested that a little over a week ago an official of the road escorted some newspaper men through the Union Pacific shops in this city and that they were given the numbers of men employed in the shops from lists kept by the official who took them through, and that these exact numbers were published as giving the entire shop force then at work, instead of making any estimate as the reporters found conditions in the shops.

"These publications were pronounced accurate and fair in every detail, President Burt, by your own men. Was that treating the railroad fairly?" was asked. But he refused to think of any such thing and reiterated his command for the reporters to leave his office.

"And when you get up to your office you

tel your boss," he said to The Bee reporter, "that there will be a real, genuine newspaper in this city some day, a paper that will tell the truth and give all sides of every controversy, and it will be a better newspaper, too, than anything he can get up."

President Burt warned his unwilling guests that the "better element of the community" is not in sympathy with this strike movement, and frowned with the utmost disapproval upon the attitude of the press in printing what he termed the "sensational side of the strike question."

"You ask what the news is. Why, you fellows don't want news—facts—you know you don't. All you are after is just enough sensation to fill up your space and earn your salaries. You've got to make a showing every day on this thing so that your employers will not think you have been idle, and in order to do this you go ahead and print a lot of stuff that those union fellows tell you which you know yourself is not true."

"But go ahead and keep on printing what you yourselves know to be false; we don't care; we don't need your newspapers; we can get along in this thing and everything else for that matter without your old papers. But you mind, there is a time coming when we'll have a paper of our own."

"I hope so," interjected one of the reporters.

"Do you, do you mean that? Well, all right, you'll get your wish and don't you fear," was the retort.

Declines to Give Information.

"Before we go, President Burt, will you kindly tell us what we have misstated in connection with this strike, for we are anxious to print nothing but facts," said one of the newspaper men. But his interjection elicited nothing but a contemptuous sneer.

"The strikers tell us this morning that on last Sunday there were 104 non-union men in the shops and that today there are sixty-five. We have no reason for doubting the strikers' statement, but I don't get a statement from the railroad side of the proposition, as it is being persistently urged by the strikers every day that the shop forces are diminishing. Can you give us a statement on that subject, Mr. Burt?"

"Give nothing. When good would it do to tell you fellows anything? Now, you go along out of here. I have said all I am going to. I wouldn't tell you fellows anything."

Stoom Confers with McKee.

President John Stoom of the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths and a committee representing the Union Pacific blacksmiths conferred with Superintendent McKee of the motive power department of the company yesterday afternoon upon issues of the present strike, but nothing in the shape of terms of settlement or concession from either side resulted from the meeting. The strike leaders urged that piecework be not adopted and the company's representative insisted that this had been irrevocably decided upon by the Union Pacific.

After the conference President Stoom said: "We were most courteously received and treated by Mr. McKee, but our meeting was not at all fruitful. We noted that the company is determined upon introducing piecework and we are determined on fighting it, so you might say we have just arrived at the starting point of our fight."

"We argued against piecework and endeavored by reasoning to show its fallacy and Mr. McKee argued for it and tried to demonstrate wherein it would benefit us, but neither of us succeeded in convincing the other and there the matter ended. I want to emphasize this fact, that we did not seek any compromise in any shape, manner or form. We asked for nothing except that the company revoke the order issued by which it declared its intention to introduce piecework into its shops. This Mr. McKee refused to do. We deferred our demand for an increase in the wage scale."

Blacksmiths Are Confident.

President Stoom left last night for his home in Moline, Ill., but will be in Omaha again within a week or so. Before leaving he expressed his satisfaction with the chances of the blacksmiths and other strikers of winning and said he had no fears of the future.

"We are determined to make a persistent, orderly fight for what seems to us to be our rights and we believe we are sure to win," he said.

The blacksmiths held a local meeting last night. At the meeting a letter was read from the international secretary saying that the blacksmiths over the United States had won 25 per cent of the strikes in which they have been engaged this summer and spring. The men are confident of success here in view of this fact and also that, as they held, the company is unable to get settled blacksmiths owing to the decided dearth of that class of workmen at this time.

Machinists and Boiler-makers.

Secretary Grace of the machinists is in receipt of a letter from Chicago telling of disturbed conditions at the Allis-Chalmers establishment, which has but recently recovered from a strike of a year's duration. The letter states that there has been a strike there and the strikers have asserted that such would materially militate to their advantage in that it would open another field of labor to nonunion men.

President Kennedy of the local and district boiler-makers' lodges and Secretary Grace of the machinists have received letters from Cheyenne stating that between that city and North Platte seven freight trains have been tied up because of disabled engines and that one freight train was abandoned at Lexington for the same reason. It is stated that the men have revealed that twenty "dead" engines are lying in the roundhouse at Cheyenne.

Strikers claimed last night that four more defections occurred at the shops here during the early evening. It was also claimed that 10 nonunion men had been sent into Evanston.

One New Striker.

Harry Brown, a boiler-maker who came out from New York to work for the Union Pacific, came to Omaha yesterday from North Platte, where he has been at work under the supposition that there was no general strike in progress. He says he was offered 45 cents an hour to stay with the company and go to work here if he preferred Omaha to North Platte, but he refused and has joined the strikers. He is said to be a very skilled mechanic.

The strikers have obtained the services of the Musicians' union for their parade Tuesday and have been assured by that organization that it will furnish a band of 100 pieces. The parade will start from Labor temple at 9 o'clock in the morning and continue in procession for about an hour and a half.

Blacksmiths will have a public benefit Tuesday night for their helpers.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

George Sully of Boston is at the Millard. Charles H. Moore of Montpelier, Vt., is a Millard guest.

H. L. J. Tomber of Chicago was at the Millard yesterday.

J. N. Hardy of St. Louis registered at the Millard yesterday.

Blacksmiths here received a telegram announcing the sad news of his mother's death in Baltimore. His brother, Joe Mandelberg, left at once to attend the funeral.

Health at Small Coast.

A few doses of Dr. King's New Life Pills will cleanse, tone and invigorate the whole system. Try them. Only 25c.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Union Pacific Activity Excites Hopes of Extensive Improvements.

LONG DORMANT PLANS TAKE ON NEW LIFE

Surveyors Run Lines and Set Stakes Which May Lead to New Tracks, a Viaduct and a New Depot.

For several days past a party of railroad surveyors has been working from the summit southward, Wednesday the party worked on Commercial street between H and J streets, and yesterday the work of running lines was carried on almost to the Union Pacific depot. As stakes are being set and lines of iron wire are being strung, it is inferred that the Union Pacific is preparing to submit a proposition to the city council in the near future.

While nothing definite is known officially regarding the proposed proposition, it is understood that a request will be made for the vacating of the stub ends of streets in the northern part of the city. These stub ends are located between Commercial and the railroad right-of-way and have never been opened to travel, so that by vacating them there would be no inconvenience to the people. Another request, so it is rumored, will be the vacating of a portion of Commercial street in order that additional tracks may be laid from the yards here to Omaha. As Commercial avenue north of J street is very little used, some of the men have been advised their consent to vacating at least a portion of the street. Another request which the council expects will be made is the vacating of Railroad avenue from N street south to Q street.

The men here expect that when the proposition is submitted by the Union Pacific it will, in lieu of the concessions granted, agree to at once proceed to erect a viaduct across the tracks and to construct a new depot to be located on Railroad avenue between N street and the proposed viaduct. With the construction of a new depot, a building of a new depot the tracks would be fenced and the grade crossing at Q street would be closed.

Members of the city government assert that they are perfectly willing to make any reasonable concession in order to bring about the erection of a viaduct and a new depot. The contemplated changes in trackage, if made, will greatly increase the railroad facilities at this point and permit the transportation lines to handle the rapidly increasing business much more expeditiously than can now be done under existing circumstances.

Paving Washouts.

The dirt purchased by the council from the Ancient Order of United Workmen Temple association for 8 cents a yard will be used in filling the big hole at Twenty-first and L streets. This work will commence just as soon as the excavating for the temple is begun, which will be in about a week.

One of the hardest propositions is the repairing of the roadway at the intersection of Twenty-third and E streets. The hole in the street at this point is as big as an ordinary house and the city engineer says that it will do no good to fill it unless steps are taken to carry off the surface water.

A plan has been suggested by the engineer which is meeting with favor in the council. The engineer suggests that two lots east of Twenty-third street and just north of E street be purchased by the city and that a sum be built to carry off storm water and allow it to waste on these two lots. As these lots are in a draw or gully no harm can come of such an arrangement and the purchase will doubtless be made especially as the two lots can be bought for $100. It is asserted that by doing this E street from Twenty-third to Twenty-fourth street and the intersection of Twenty-third and E streets can be kept in good condition, no matter how much weather there is.

In the filling of E street hole the council will ask for bids and let a contract for the work, as it is asserted that the filling can be done much cheaper in this way than by the regular street force.

McCleary Still Held.

W. B. McCleary, recorder for camp No. 27, Ancient Order of United Workmen, is still detained at police headquarters on the charge of embezzling a certain sum of money from the order. He has been set by Judge King for next Tuesday afternoon. In a conversation with a Bee reporter McCleary admitted having appropriated a portion of the funds entrusted to his care. He said that there had been a death in the family and that it was necessary that he have some money at once and he used the lodge money, intending to pay it back as rapidly as possible.

McCleary has sent to relatives in Chicago for money and made the statement yesterday that he would have the matter settled up before the date of his hearing arrived.

The Library Site.

The deeds for the transfer of the property at Twenty-third and M streets from the Glasgow estate to the South Omaha Library board are ready, but there is some delay on account of lack of funds. The council will have the matter settled up before the date of his hearing arrived.

The deeds for the transfer of the property at Twenty-third and M streets from the Glasgow estate to the South Omaha Library board are ready, but there is some delay on account of lack of funds. The council will have the matter settled up before the date of his hearing arrived.

Weather Causes Delay.

Zack Cuddington has the contract for the grading of Twenty-seventh street from B to F streets, but he cannot commence work for some time yet. He said last evening that, owing to the long wet spell, he would be unable to complete his contract in Iowa and get to work on Twenty-seventh street before September 1. This will, it is stated, be in plenty of time to get the work done and let the ground harden before cold weather sets in. The ground is so soft and full of water now that very little, if any, grading is being done in this vicinity at the present time.

Poundmaster Keeps Busy.

Since May 10, when the dog-catching season opened here, Poundmaster McGill has rounded up and impounded 350 dogs. About half of this number were redeemed by owners, while the balance were killed. Under the present ordinance McGill is paid $1 per head for destroying unredeemed canines. He must, however, keep all dogs to 7 o'clock up and impounded 350 dogs. A notice on the bulletin board at the city hall, detailing a description of all animals in the pound. So far this year 600 dogs have been sold, bringing into the treasury the sum of $500. This is more money than has been taken in for tags for a number of summers past.

Magic City Gossip.

Mr. I. Korig of Costa Rica is here visiting Judge Jacob Levy.

Colony I. C. Gallup left yesterday for an extended western trip.

Miss Myrtle Keefer has gone to Denver for a two weeks' vacation.

O. M. Ritter of Cambridge, Ill. is here visiting his parents, Captain and Mrs. F. J. Ritter.

Miss Esther Blank of New York City is here. Mr. and Mrs. Nels A. Nelson, Eighteenth and Washington streets announce the birth of a son.

Colonel J. B. Watkins and wife will return from a trip to the Pacific coast this evening.

The street force was engaged yesterday in constructing a foot bridge across the gully at Eighteenth and N streets.

Harry Herman was fined $50 and costs by Police Judge King yesterday for being drunk and insulting women on the streets.

Mayor Koutsky was kept busy yesterday afternoon signing warrants. All warrants voted the approval of the street force.

Day night will be ready for delivery today.

NEW BOOKS AND MAGAZINES

Twelfth in the Series of State Articles in Pearson's Devoted to Nebraska.

CENTURY TO BRING OUT A NEW WRITER

Foreign Correspondent of a Chicago Paper Writes a Book of Poems—Several New Novels Also for Popular Favor.

Pearson's Magazine for August presents an interesting table of contents. The opening article is the twelfth in the series of the "Story of the States" and is devoted to Nebraska. It is written by William R. Lighton and is profusely illustrated. The discovery of a new resource in the development of this state is well described. Mr. Lighton says: "On those high plains, despite their harshness of aspect toward the grain-grower, Nature has established conditions quite ideal for the pursuit of another industry which has been in fashion among men since the beginning of time, and which will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will never lose its luster. Only within the last five years have our people realized that by every natural right these lands belong to grazing herds and flocks and that through them alone were the arid wastes to be made glad. Nothing is wanting to complete the guarantee of success. This realization will