constricted as to cause the Cornishman great difficulty in breathing. Clarke Ball, Fitzsimmons' manager, expressed his opinion that Bob was too confident.

Crowd Gathers Early. It was late in the afternoon when the great canopy covering the octagonal ring in which the battle took place was finally stretched. The grounds were then cleared by the police and stragglers ejected.

There was no disorder until 5 o'clock, when the crush became heavy, but 240 burly policemen marshaled under Chief Wismard handled the crowd well. The arc lights over the ring were turned on at 7:45 o'clock, by which time the bleachers, holding fully 5,000 people, were filled.

The gates were opened at 8 o'clock and the ticket holders began to flock in. The "gallery," consisted of a series of tiers, at the last one resting against the improvised back wall or high board fence sloping down to the ground level.

In one of the boxes to the west of the ring sat Mayor Eugene Schmitz, in company with other city officials. Louis Ezell, the racing man, sat near Jack Ringling, the circus man, while Ed Rogers, Ed Kelly and Sid Herms occupied choice seats.

At 8:20 p. m. Fitz arrived in a carriage at the entrance on Valencia street. He was cheered by the crowd that stood at the entrance. Fitzsimmons went immediately to his dressing tent at the right of the main entrance and proceeded to dress.

At 8:25 o'clock the ring was filled with a number of well known faces were among the early arrivals. George Siler occupied a seat in the press row at the ringside, close to Lou Houseman, the Chicago sporting writer.

smooth one-inch cotton rope. Two of these the first three feet from the floor and the second eighteen inches above it, were guyed from the four uprights which held the lights and tent. There were no sharp corners. Across the canvas there were placed short padded ropes, that cut out the sharp angles, but still left the ring a full-sized affair.

The wind came sweeping through a big fifteen-foot rent in the canvas that covered the ring. Clark Ball, who looks after Fitzsimmons' interests, came in, looked at the big rent and the resulting draught and asked Alex Greigass to make a "kick."

Sharkey Ready with Challenge. Tom Sharkey was early on hand with a challenge to the winner. From New York came a telegram addressed to Tim McGrath, announcing his safe arrival from London and asking that McGrath shy his castor into the ring.

At 8:15 the crowd became dense. The aisles were congested and much confusion in seating ticket-holders ensued. These things were soon straightened out, however, and when the principals of the preliminary fight came on there was hardly a vacant place in all the 8,300 seats provided.

There was absolutely perfect order. The bench and bar of Jean Franzen as well as other professional life was well represented. Large delegations from interior California cities, including Los Angeles, Jeffries' home, Bakersville, Stockton and Fresno occupied large blocks of seats. The Los Angeles party was especially large, among them being many well known men from the southern part of the state.

A conservative estimate of the amount realized from ticket sales places the sum at $35,000. After the preliminary there occurred a long wait, during which the crowd called to each other across the ring and shouted for the big man to come on. It was reported that Eddie Graney, who had been selected as referee, wished to be paid $500 for his services, while the managers thought $200 sufficient remuneration.

Kid McPadden, the little fighter who just returned from England, took advantage of the wait to get himself introduced as the champion featherweight. The Kid's reception, however, was very chilly and he made his exit quickly. The crowd wanted nothing at all this time but the big man.

Fitzsimmons first took the northwestern corner, but a moment later moved to the northeast, and finally to the southeast corner. The champion took the northwest.

Corbett Sends Challenge. Jim Corbett sent a challenge to fight the winner. This was received with applause. A moment later the announcer stated that Sharkey sent a challenge and there was considerable betting and joking.

The men finally engaged corners, Fitzsimmons taking the northeast and Jeffries the southwest. Fitzsimmons wore bandages on both hands. Jeffries wore no bandages. Fitzsimmons took his stool and sat quietly chewing gum and looking at Jeffries.

Round 1—They came quickly to the center. Jeffries, with the crowd called to each other across the ring and shouted for the big man to come on. It was reported that Eddie Graney, who had been selected as referee, wished to be paid $500 for his services, while the managers thought $200 sufficient remuneration.

Round 2—Jeffries came up forcing matter. His bloody nose annoyed him a little. He checked his nose with his left hand, stood up straight. Two left leads were blocked by Fitz and Jeffries tried another left. Fitz put a stiff one on the nose and Jeffries tried to duck away from him.

Worshipping Stockmen Ask Suspension of Any Action Relative to Exclusion of Stock from Reserve During Present Season.

OTHER DAY, N. Y., July 25.—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw arrived at Sagamore Hill this evening in the revenue cutter Gresham from New York. As Secretary Shaw left Gresham the yacht Mayflower fired a salute of seventeen guns in his honor.

It is announced tonight that Secretary of the Navy Moody will arrive at Sagamore Hill tomorrow. Rev. Father James P. O'Reilly of Lawrence, Mass., and Rev. Father William A. Jones, president of the St. Augustin college, Havana, Cuba, had an interview with President Roosevelt this afternoon.

W. B. Sleeper of Wyoming arrived here tonight to present to the president resolutions of the stockmen of Big Horn county, Wyoming, concerning the exclusion of cattle and sheep from the additional Yellowstone park timber reserve.

Wu Ting-Fang to See President. Wu Ting-Fang, the retiring Chinese minister, will visit the president on August 4. He will come from New York to Oyster Bay on the Mayflower.

President Roosevelt and the party which accompanied him to Sengirt yesterday arrived at Sagamore Hill in Mayflower at 8:55 this morning. Mayflower remained at anchor off Tompkinsville from 4 o'clock last night until about 6 o'clock this morning.

Commander Albert Gleaves, in command of the vessel, concluded last evening that he would not take the chance of going to Hell Gate in the fog, which then prevailed. Lieutenant Commander Gleaves' action in anchoring was due to stringent regulations regarding war vessels passing through Hell Gate.
