CONDITION OF OMAHA'S TRADE

Business Unusually Brisk for Mid-Summer and Better Than a Year Age.

FEW CHANGES IN RULING QUOTATIONS

Prospects for the Future Were Never So Good and Jobbers and Retailers Are Making Preparations for Their Fall Trade.

Omaha jobbers and manufacturers enjoyed a very nice trade last week in all lines of seasonable goods. The exceptionally presperous conditions which exist in the entire territory tributary to this market is thought to be the cause for the unusually heavy consuming demand for this time of the year. Not only the necessition of life, but luxuries as well are in greater demand than ever before and the prospects for the future are still better. Wholesalers now think that it will take something out of the ordinary to prevent them from making an enormous gain over their last fail's trade. Travelling men who have lately come in from their territories say they never saw anything like the confidence in future business that exists out through the country. They say it is because of the prospect of a bumper crop of corn which will put western farmers in a more independent and prosperous condition than has ever been known. Not only is there to be a big corn crop, but small grains have turned out well and besides that all kinds of live stock is bringing more money than for a great many years and in fact some kinds are selling higher than ever before. As a result money will soon be pouring into the country and retailers naturally believe that they will come in for their share. In comparing their future business with that of a year ago local jobbers see a big change. Nearly every customer who has paced an order so far has increased his last year's order by several hundred dollars. If that continues throughout the season it cannot help but make an enormous difference in the total amount of goods sold out of Omaha. Besides that Omaha houses have the increase to figure on from their new customers and also from the hundreds of opening stocks that have been sold and will be sold in the next two months. Taking on a big fail trade.

The markets have been unusually quiet the past week so far as fluctuations of prices are concerned. With very few exceptions staple goods are selling in the same notches they were a week ago and prosent ind of the ordinary to prevent them from makers are soling and the prospect of a burney corner of the prospect of a burney condition than has been any country. They say it is because of the prospect of a burney crop of corn which pendent and prospectous condition than has ever been known. Not only is there to be a big corn crop, but small grains have a big corn crop, but small grains have of live stock is bringing more money than for a great many years and in fact some kinds are selling higher than ever before. In comparing their truth were before. In comparing their truth were before. In comparing their truth were before, in the total amount of goods sold out of the selling more means that the same. Nearly every customer who has pacced an order so far has increased his last trains. Nearly every customer who has pacced an order so far has increased his last trains a corler by several hundred dollars. Cannot help but make an enormous difference in the total amount of goods sold out of the several hundred dollars. A several hundred dollars are selling and the demands of opening stocks that have been sold and sing sweything into consideration local job beer think they have good cause for figuring on a big fail trade.

Dried fruits are still quief, with prices unchanged. There is also no change in the syrup market. The same may be said of both coffee and tea. In fact, the grocery market as a whole may be summed up by quoting it source but steady.

House Trade Increasing.

For this early in the season dry goods jobbers enjoyed a very nice house trade last week. They have been predicting for some time past that fall buyers would arrive unusually early and the past ten days have borne out their predictions. Merchants are arriving not only from nearby points, but from the far west, from the Dakotas and even from points well up into Minnesota. Everything now points to an enormous house trade for the next six or eight weeks, but jobbers are prepared. They have their fall stocks in shape and have sent out their invitations to their customers to come in and make their selections. Owing to the big trade expected wholesalers have increased their forces in every department, so as to be well equipped for looking after the wants of their patrons.

Mail orders are also coming in very freely, owing probably to the warm weather of the last few days. It is reported that retailers are now cleaning up their stocks of wash goods and other thin goods which moved so slowly earlier in the year. In most cases, however, they do not get as good prices as they did a short time ago.

Advance orders are now being shipped out at a rapid rate and most houses are working their men overtime. Retailers want their fall goods unusually carly, so as to get them displayed and attract the want their fall goods unusually early, so as to get them displayed and attract the attention of their customers. Both the cotton and woolen goods markets are in the same position they were a week ago. Prices are firm all along the line and it is still being predicted that some advances in cotton goods will take place before the season comes to a close.

Hardware Active and Unchanged.

There is a good demand for all lines of seasonable hardware and wholesalers report their sales as being much heavier than they were a year ago at this time. There is no special feature to the trade, but simply an active demand for all staple goods. goods.

The market is also very uninteresting owing to the lack of fluctuations either up or down. In fact the market has held so steady of late that jobbers have not issued half as many change sheets as usual and the few changes that they did make were of minor importance. A steady market, however, is what both wholesalers and retailers like, for they can anticpate their wants without fear of being caught on a downward market. When goods are as hard to obtain as they are now it is necessary for jobbers in particular to look far into the future, so that they are well satisfied to have the market hold steady.

No Change in Leather Goods.

No Change in Leather Goods.

Leather goods men are still busy shipping out their advance orders. They are getting a good start on them, but their sales are so much heavier than usual that it will be some time yet before they will have the orders all filled up to date. Traveling men are still meeting with good success on the road and very few complaints regarding the general situation are heard. There was quite a mail order business last week, for, while the orders were small, they were numerous. The rubber goods trade was not as good last week as it was up to that time. The frequent rains kept footwear as well as clothing moving out unasually well for midsummer, but the dryer and warmer weather has cut the demand down materially. Fall business, though, is in very satisfactory condition.

Fruits and Produce.

There was a col demand last week for fruits and vegetables. There was are all the most popular and a truit they are selling very freely. Stock is now arriving from Arkansas and is prenounced as bring even better than that from Texas. Four-backet crates are selling at $1.00 and six-basket crates are selling at $1.00 and six-basket crates at $1.50. Berries are now practically out of the market. Watermelons are in big demand and the stock now on the market is unusually good for this time of the year.

In vegetables there has been very little change. Polatoes are still arriving very freely and good stock is quoted at $50 per bushel.

In vegetables there has been very little change. Potatoes are atili arriving very freely and good stock is quoted at Me per bushel.

The receipts of poultry have not been very heavy and the market has held firm all the week. The quotations will be found in another column.

The butter market on the contrary has eased off a little owing to heavy receipts. Dealers say they never aw so much butter at this time of the year and think it is caused by the good condition of pastures.

The eag market held up in pretty good shape all the week. Receipts were not heavy and the loss off was greater than it has been up to this time. Commission men say, though, that it will be still worse if the weather continues as warm as it was last week.

As a result the closing was easy and represented net losses in the majority of cases. Rock Island was affected anew by the plan for the conversion of its securities and the notable strength of the St. Louis & San Francisco stocks. Kansas City. Fort Scott & Memphis and Chicago & Eastern Illinois was due to hopes that those properties would be included in the new project.

The definite formation of this plan gave if fresh credence to rumors of many other financial projects which have fallen out of public attention for some time after active discussion, but the lack of active interest in the market incident to the short seasion and the absence in the country of many active operators left these factors ineffective to hold up prices.

The bank statement showed a gain in cash reserves of $2,644,200, which is nearly $1,000,000 in excess of each relations, but with the losn expansion of $2,957,200, resulting in an increase in deposits of $11,404,300, which increases the requirement of legal reserve by $2,881,215. The increase of cash falls short of this by $206,875, the surplus is encroached upon to that extent.

The disclosure that the needs of the active speculation are absorbing the increase in available resources and the prospect that further gold will go out next week, while the government revenues have begun to take, up a daily surplus, caused some uneasiness over the course of the money market with a continuance of the speculation.

and are not killing out any too well. Cows also met with ready sale at good, strong prices.

HOGS-There was a light run of hogs here today and the market opened at prices a shade stronger, with comparatively brisk trade, so that a good many hogs had changed hands at an early hour. Later in the day rather unfavorable reports were received from other points, the packers became bearish and little trading was done for some time, with most of the bids at a downward tendency. In a short time, however, the market picked up a little and a good clearance was made comparatively early at generally steady prices. Good hogs sold at steady prices, ranging from $7.55 to $7.60 and as high as $7.70 was paid for a rather choice load. The bulk of packing grades sold from $7.50 down.

The receipts for the week have been night, probably on account of the discouraging slump in the market for the first three days. Wednesday, which proved to be the low day, showed a decline of 50c from Monday and 40c from the same day of the previous week. The advance of the last few days brings the market about back 10c were than it was a week ago today. Representative sales:

SHEEP—The run of sheep was light today, the receipts consisting of three leads, most of which were idaho swes and wethers that sold readily at good, strong prices. The supply of sheep for this week has been considerably heavier than it was last week, but there is not much change as compared with the same week of last year. The market, however, has been in very good shape and prices have improved all around. Each day's offerings were bought up as soon as offered, and as compared with the close of last week the general market could be quoted 19740c higher on destrable grades. The common kinds are, of course, neglected to some extent, and have not advanced quite as much as the choice grades. Ewes have sold exceptionally well and have probably advanced more than either sheep or have sold exceptionally well and have probably advanced more than either sheep or yearlings.

The lamb market has also been in good shape and supplies have been very light, and in fact on some days no test of the finarket was made. On Friday some lambs sold as high as $8.15, which is the highest price of the year to date.

The supply of feeders has not been equal to the demand, and as a result prices have advanced considerably. There were more buyers than sellers all the week, and sellers had very little difficulty in disposing of what they had at very satisfactory prices.
