COVERNOR TO NAME BOARD

Mayor Moores Has Little to Say About Supreme Court's Ruling.

CITY IS BEING WELL GOVERNED NOW

No Occasion for Disturbing Existing Conditions, but the Order Has Gone Out and Will Be Obeyed.

Mayor Moores returned Friday evening from his western tour and was at his office yesterday, looking through nearly a bushel of mail that has accumulated in his absence. Asked as to what, in his opinion, would be the effect of the supreme court's latest ruling, he said:

"The governor will appoint the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners-and that's about all I can say on the subject. Personally, of course, I am disappointed. I didn't want to have any change made, I thought the city was being run all right, and I believe it is, and I believe the present members of the board are gentlemen. and that everything they do is for the best interests of the city. But the supreme court has seen fit to order a change, and we'll have to submit to it.

"It was Tuesday evening and we were at Salt Lake when the news reached us. It is impossible for me to say how the governor received it, or whether he was pleased or displeased, as he made no comments whatever upon it, and, of course, it would not have been in good taste for me to have questioned him. I believe that the governor feels kindly toward me. Our relations on the trip were very pleasant, but we have not discussed this matter or even referred to it.

"As to the part I may take in the matter, I will say that I shall be mayor of Omaha until my term expires."

Governor Savage, with Mayor Moores and other members of his staff, making a party of thirty, left Lincoln for Seattle July 1, to be present at the dedication of the battleship Nebraska, which took place July 4. The mayor reports a very pleasant trip. Entertained on Coast.

BRANDS ON PROCESS BUTTER

Manufacturers and Renovators Discuss the Internal Revenue Ruling.

white silk cord, a white silk shirtwaist, LAW MAY BE TESTED IN THE COURTS

that it May Be Held Invalid Likely to Lead to Suit Which Will Settle the Mooted

W. E. Riddell has returned from Chicago, where he attended a meeting of the leading manufacturers of process butter, called for the purpose of perfecting an association which will have for its object the and co-operation among the members to advance mutual interests. The meeting was primarily the result of the regulations recently promulgated by the ssioner of internal revenue governing the manufacture and sale of process and renovated butter. Twenty-one out of fortysix factories of the United States were represented and the recommendations the meeting will probably be endorsed by the entire number. The principal discussion was over the rules regarding the piacing of stamps and brands upon the packages of process butter. Under the present regulations the manufacturers of leomargarine are not required to stamp the product, the stamp being applied to the package. Renovated or process butter must stamped not only upon the package, but under stamp or brand. In this case alse, the words "renovated butter" must appear on the packages in letters twice the size joy the acrobatic performances, the colored of the letters used to designate the brand. quartet and the balloon ascensions quite Under these conditions the stamps or brands on renovated butter are twice the size and attract twice the attention of those on oleomargarine. This was one of the principal grievances of the manufacturers. combined effort will be made to have the commissioner amend his regulations in this respect.

Many Attack the Law.

While it was not on the program of the meeting, the question of the constitutionality of the law, was discussed to a great extent by the manufacturers present. Opinion as to the constitutionality of the aw was about evenly divided. One member said that it was the opinion of two of the best constitutional lawyers in the state of Illinois that the law would not stand the test of the courts, while others had legal opinions sustaining the measure. Outside of the district of Nebraska each manufacturer of process butter has filed with the collector of customs a protest against the payment of the tax, claiming that it is unconstitutional. While no arfrequent beach patrons, especially on the rangements were made for a test case to determine the question it is believed that one will be made by some of the maunfacturers, who will be supported by their fellows.

Omaha dealers in process butter and managers of creamerles are discussing the probable result of the decision of the case brought before the supreme court on an appeal, wherein it was sought to collect the special tax upon creameries and dealers in butter and oleomargarine from one John Merrill, a creamery manager In this case the law provided for a tax of $10 upon each creamery, $1 upon each skimming station, $10 upon each wholesale dealer in butter and an additional the butter to a renovating process, and $25 upon each dealer in oleomargarine. When phone 316. the suit was started the collectors of the state tax suspended operations and none of the dealers, it is alleged, has paid the vision of the New York Central; West tax. The law was recently sustained by the supreme court and it is expected by the manufacturers and dealers that the tax will now be collected, at least for the future, if not for the past. Forty Minutes Faster Time Omaha to St. Louis Via the Wabash.

Buffalo Bill's Wild West, with all its army of Indians, cowboys, scouts, vaqueros, gauchos, pioneers, cavalrymen, Cossacks, Arabs light dragoons, cuirassiers, laucers, lifesavers, artillery and what not else, in all numbering several hundred men and at least enough bright western girls for a quadrille on horseback, will appear in Omaha on July

It is is a stupendous organization, splen didly disciplined, with marvellous capacity for such realistic presentations of thrilling episodes illustrative of frontier life as have never been even attempted by any other troupe. There is no meretricious glitter and theatric artificiality in the performances in discussion of affairs relating to the business cite even the most blase amusement-scekers. Indeed, the preceedings this season involve a degree of realism that is far from agreeable to some of the troupe. Two nundred new horses, lively young bronchos, have been added to the arena stock this season to make good the loss by the great railway accident last fall and replace those worn out. These bronches, deeply prejudiced against work and intensely rude in their objections and also a brief trip around Denver and to it, are a delight to the cowboys, but a horror to the European cavalrymen, who have never before had to deal with such and before we are through a great deal "Indiarubber devils," and there is much more will be done. There are eight miles more "broncho busting" than the program officially recognizes.

Colonel Cody's "Congress of Rough Riders of the World," massing together so large a number of representatives of widely diversialso upon the roll when the butter is sold fled styles of military equitation in one splendid cavalcade, affords a most impressive and never-te-be-forgotten spectacle. Another feature that will command great interest here is the illustrative work of the Atlantic coast guard life-savers. Each performance concludes with a mighty battle scene, the battle of San Juan Hill.
