Omaha Wins Up Home Series with Six Fierce Games.

OLD RIVALS TRY TO SETTLE SCORES

Kansas City and St. Joseph Come Looking for Revenge, but Get Defeat Instead of Victory.

Look-Like a Clinch.

Omaha's hold on the pennant seems to be fixed for the season. Much depends on the present trip to the mountains. If Omaha can get an even break on the eight games scheduled for the present trip to Denver and Colorado Springs...

These games are important, because should Omaha lose the entire series, and Denver continue the winning streak, it will land Denver mighty close on Omaha's heels for the lead.

Omaha's last six games at home were the hardest struggles of the season here so far. Kansas City and St. Joe each had a score to settle with Omaha for indignities suffered at home, and Omaha had to get even with the visitors for the way they behaved when they were here in June.

That no-hit game of Gibson's, with the work of Nichols and McFarland, cut a deep gash in the batting record of the Omahans.

ment and what he hopes to do later. He says:

"I was unlucky in my drawings and had to play a very hard round. I was very nervous. I finally beat him, 6-4, 6-4. It was a bitter fight, for neither side was to advantage. The strain was great, and with a very little time for rest I had to play my second match that same afternoon."

"He is a Chicagoan and ranks about third or fourth among the players here, so you can see he is good. He is an old timer. At first I had Ascherath going. I took the first set, 6-3, being still well into my game and strength. In the second set I had him 5-2 and a score of 10-5 against him on my sixth and winning game. Right there I broke and weakened, exhausted, and finally, after endless chasing, he beat me, 9-7, throwing the set to deuce twice. I was then worn out and a dead one, and he took the last set, 6-1."

"I feel confident that I can beat Ascherath on clay courts, but it is like learning the game over again to play on the grass courts they have here. The balls bounce very low."

"Next week I play in a tournament at Lake Minnetonka, the championship of the northwest. The affair will be on dirt courts and I should stand a better show."

"There are many fast players here at Chicago, and if I could have beaten my second man I could have had a good show in the last rounds."

"I am advertising the Omaha Field club tournament as much as possible, and expect to get the fast bunch out there. The stories you gave me in The Omaha Bee have followed me everywhere, and I have received notices of them from all parts of the country."

It is most apparent that there was much honor in defeat for Earl Farnsworth in the Western championship tournament. This can be seen even in the players' own very modest remarks.

After shutting out Omaha in a well played game last Sunday, in which he used a straight ball almost exclusively, Nichols said: "Give me a pitcher who has control and can put 'em over, and I don't care whether he has curves or not, we'll win the games. It's control that counts. I have won many a game in the National league, using the same ball I did against Omaha. Put 'em over and make the batters hit 'em. Give the fielders a chance. Don't be always working for strikeouts. That's where young pitchers make a mistake. They put themselves into holes, and base on balls or hits are the result."

President Sexton is still looking for umpire material. He made a hit when he secured Marty McQuade, for the game he umpired on the Omaha grounds were among the most enjoyable ever witnessed here.

Some Gossip News About His Defeat in the Kenwood Club Tourney.

Omaha Field Club athletes and tennis devotees of the city and state generally have been extremely anxious for details of the defeat of young Earl Farnsworth of Grand Island in the second round of the Western Athletic championship tournament held at the Kenwood Country club, near Omaha, during the week just ended.

Farnsworth entered the tournament as a representative of the Omaha Field club. This, of course, made Farnsworth a center of interest in the western championship play for Nebraskans, and despite his youth great things have been predicted for him.

No one hazarded he would win, but the third round was a general guess. Meager press reports tell of his defeat in the second round after he had the battle won, all but a single stroke.

Omaha tennis men have been wondering what caused the sudden reverse, and now it develops that it was nothing less than a grass court that beat Farnsworth so conclusively in that round. He is a dirt, or clay court player exclusively, and the Kenwood courts were, of course, very hard on his style of play and general game.

He intended to go in early from Nebraska so as to play a week or so on the courts and become accustomed to them, but was unable to make the early start and entered the tournament practically a grass novice.

RAIN STOPS TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Preliminary Events Postponed Till Monday Owing to Wet Grounds.

SPLENDID LIST OF ENTRIES ANNOUNCED

More Players Than Ever Started in Omaha Tournament Are Listed for the Present Competition.

The preliminary events of the city championship lawn tennis tournament were pulled off yesterday in the customary manner.

J. P. had put forth his best efforts on the courts of the Omaha Field club through the preceding night and yesterday afternoon he reigned in undisputed possession. Other than Nebraska's crop was being burned to a crisp, the club members agreed that the next time a city championship tournament is arranged it will be a part of the committee's duties to plan as an alternative an indoor tournament of ping-pong and that Jupiter Pluvius be barred from entering.

With an entry of forty-one players, every one a resident of Omaha, for the city championship in singles, there was no disposition to waste the committee for the unavoidable postponement of the competitions from Saturday to Monday. There are nine ties to be decided in the preliminary round, and the eighteen men who take part in these are invited by the committee to appear promptly at 9:30 tomorrow evening.

Forty-one entries in by far the largest number ever obtained for any tournament in Omaha, and if anyone imagines that the game is on the wane let him remember this: When tennis flourished on the Harney street courts five or six years ago a tournament was the number of players was counted every night of this week, beginning at 6:30, the courts will be busy, weather permitting.

One source of consolation to the committee yesterday was the plan which they have devised to schedule the tennis from here on in future tournaments. Before the date of the interstate meeting next month the club will be in possession of a sailmaker to dry the courts and a steam roller to pack them. It will then be possible to start a game within a few minutes after the rain stops and to play on the courts until the balls will always bounce true.

Interstate Entries. F. M. Bligh, chairman of the committee of the interstate tennis tournament, to be held at the courts of the Field club August 11, has received many letters from parties from the various states who desire to enter. The chairman is endeavoring to correct an impression that is abroad among some of the players of the state that the contest is merely for Omaha players and those of the other states. All players from out in the state are expected and their presence is desired. The committee is busily at work making arrangements for the meeting, and it is expected that a grand contest is merely for Omaha players and those of the other states.

ON THE LIGHT!

Danger lurks in darkness. Not a step can be taken nor a move made with safety, until the darkness is dispelled. Physical darkness has been mastered, but mental darkness seems to be "born in the bone" for it takes years of endeavor to penetrate and overcome it.

DILIGENCE IS THE PRICE OF HAIR PRESERVATION

Inasmuch as a germ or parasite may flourish in the scalp for years, and its presence be unsuspected, it requires constant diligence to protect the hair from destruction. DANDRUFF is undoubtedly the first symptom that may be relied upon as indicating the presence of scalp germs or microbes. After dandruff comes in regular order—it may take years—itching scalp, falling hair, and baldness. Baldness is just as much of a disease as is rheumatism or consumption, and the reason so many people are bald is because they ignore the symptom of approaching baldness.

INTELLIGENT ADVICE

We have given you intelligent advice; we have pointed out that baldness can be prevented, and sometimes cured. We have spread before you the latest scientific research upon the subject. We have mentioned a remedy that will do absolutely and compel people to save their decaying teeth. We furnish the means of cure, but you must apply it. Read what is said by people who have heeded our advice:

Half bottle Herpicide has nearly eradicated my dandruff, and stopped my hair from falling out. An I was adding hair for a conspicuous amount in bald headed row. I greatly appreciate Herpicide. (Signed) J. T. FUGATE, M. D. Urbana, Ill.

I had been bald six years, and had tried all kinds of "cures," but, without any benefit whatever, until I tried Herpicide. Now, in 1898, I began using Herpicide, and in three months a fine growth of hair covered my head completely. (Signed) NELS PETERSON, Lime Spur, Mont.

Two bottles of Newbro's Herpicide stopped a bad case of dandruff that I had for years, and has started a new crop of hair. I am adding hair for a conspicuous amount in bald headed row. I greatly appreciate Herpicide. (Signed) CHARLES E. STURGIS, Butte, Mont.

A DELIGHTFUL HAIR DRESSING A single application of Newbro's Herpicide will convince the most incredulous that it is a delightful hair dressing. It is cooling to the scalp, and stops itching as if by magic. It is so delightfully perfumed that the most fastidious will not fail to be pleased with it.

A WARNING The extraordinary success of Newbro's Herpicide has caused the market to be flooded with so-called dandruff germ destroyers. Don't be deceived, for there is but one genuine, and that is Newbro's Herpicide. Some dandruff cure makers have abandoned their own advertising and boldly appropriated ours in its entirety, but the fraud is so glaring and so grossly small consideration. Newbro's Herpicide is sold at drug stores, and applications may be had at leading barber shops.
