

NEW POSITION IN THE SHOPS

Union Pacific Employs Charles Hemple as General Boiler Inspector.

HAS NO CONNECTION WITH STRIKE

New Man Will Have Charge of All Inspections and Be Amenable Directly to Superintendent.

The Union Pacific has created a new office in connection with its motive power department, that of general boiler inspector and has employed Charles Hemple of Havelock, who comes from the Burlington shops at Havelock, will have supervision of the inspection of boilers over the entire system and will be responsible directly to Superintendent of Motive Power McKean.

Superintendent McKean announces that the creation of this position or the employment of Mr. Hemple has no relation whatever to the present strike, that the movement was under way before the strike came about and would have been carried out had there been no trouble with the shopmen.

As has already been published Mr. Hemple has been in consultation with Superintendent McKean during the pending strike and an effort was made by the strikers to connect the matter with the disgraced affairs at the shops. Their theory was that Hemple was to be hired as foreman at the Omaha boiler shops to supersede the present incumbent, Cline, but this theory has been exploded by the action of the company and its emphatic denial that the strike had anything at all to do with the innovation.

The arrest of Fred Angell, chief guard at the Union Pacific shops, has created considerable interest among the strikers. Mr. Angell was locked up on the charge of being a suspicious character by Officer Edgill, who charges that he was displaying a policeman's star. The arrest occurred at Eleventh and Farnam streets and several strikers appeared as complaining witnesses.

More New Men.

The Union Pacific brought into the city yesterday thirty-four more nonunion men for its shops from Chicago and middle west. Ten of the recruits failed to land on the inside of the yards, however, leaving just two dozen to take the places of strikers.

Fifteen of the men were employed in Detroit, five in Philadelphia and the remainder in Chicago and Chicago. They were mobilized in Chicago and brought to Omaha on the Northwestern line. The original contingent numbered thirty-eight, but four of the men were discharged at Clinton, Ia., by the company's agent there in charge, who discovered that the quartet intended to jump the contracts as soon as they reached Omaha.

Napes count for little with many of the men who are drifting into the city and shops through these channels of importation. It is doubtful if more than a third of the men give their real names. The reason for this is explained incidentally, in this statement, made by one of the insurgents who "blew" in with yesterday morning's batch:

"I don't think dey'll be able to keep any of dis bunch what dis here in a trip. Cause dese guys ain't looking for no labor, so dey ain't. I know dat all right, all right. I'm one of 'em, me. Am I out on a hunt for something fur dese phuriansenge to do? Well, I guess not.

"I'll stink you to dis fac, me friend! We're out for time and a trip rent, we 'ot dis was de best way to git. Some of our gang'll rubber around dem dere shops for a few days and den dey'll give dat outfit de matty-ha-ha and move on furder west. Dat's de game dis push in workin'."

Says All Will Desert.

One of the new arrivals whose vernacular was on a somewhat higher level than the gentleman quoted, said he hired as a machinist, but as a matter of fact was a brass knocker. He was among the deserters and admitted that he, too, was out to work the Union Pacific for a trip west. He corroborated the prediction of the former man that the "whole bunch" would desert. He gave his name as James Carroll, but with Shakespeare he tersely inquired, "What's in a name?"

THREE STRIKERS DISCHARGED

Judge Berka Dismisses Possett, Soles and Nobles Five Dollars.

The arguments of the attorneys in the case of M. J. O'Kane, the nonunion Union Pacific employe, against Richard Soles, Nobles and Possett, the Union Pacific strikers, charging them with assault, occupied the attention of Police Judge Berka most of the morning. As a result of the trial Judge Berka discharged Possett, Soles and Nobles.

Health is the first requisite to womanly happiness. General ill-health in women has its origin in local womanly diseases. Cure the diseases of the delicate womanly organism and the general health is perfectly restored. The remarkable benefits experienced from the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription are due to this medicine's perfect cure of womanly diseases. It establishes regularity, cures weakness, restores vitality, cures constipation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

It affords me great pleasure to be able to say a few words in regard to the merits of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I have been suffering from the same ailment for several years, and have tried many different remedies, but have not been able to get any relief. I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and I began to take it. I can say that it has done for me what no other medicine has done. I feel like a new woman, and my health is perfectly restored. I can now do all the work I wish to do, and I feel like a new woman. I can say that it has done for me what no other medicine has done. I feel like a new woman, and my health is perfectly restored. I can now do all the work I wish to do, and I feel like a new woman.

SIXTH WARD REPUBLICANS

Lively Election of Officers Held by the Club Last Night.

W. G. SHRIVER IS CHOSEN PRESIDENT

Henry Ostrom Announces Withdrawal from Race for County Commis.

sloner and is Defeated for Head of Club.

It was certainly the largest meeting of the Sixth Ward Republican club ever held that met last night. The occasion for the gathering was the election of officers, and a lively contest was brought off.

Preliminary to the regular work of the meeting Henry Ostrom made formal declaration of his withdrawal from the race for county commissioner. He said that he was fully satisfied with the two terms accorded him and that in the face of what he considered good chances of re-nomination he withdrew because of personal reasons. He then said that as his name had been mentioned as a candidate for president of the club he pledged himself if elected to know no party and to support no party.

Without nominations a ballot was taken for president. The chairman lost control of the meeting. A dozen motions aimed at the chair fell against the wall and were never heard of. A motion to adjourn was carried, but never enforced and the meeting dissolved itself into a voting mob, men from the Fifth, Eighth and Ninth wards being good residents of the Sixth ward for the occasion. John Butler from the Ninth and Duncan Finlayson from the Fifth were active workers at the polls. The tellers were John Westberg, R. B. Carter, Burt Bush and Ed Taylor. Nearly half an hour was required to cast the ballot for president.

There were 223 votes cast, the result being 127 votes for W. G. Shriver and 96 votes for Henry Ostrom, and this with less than 100 names on the rolls of the club.

Mr. Shriver assumed the chair and a motion was made to elect Robert Houghton vice president by acclamation. This was defeated and on a formal ballot, the contest being between Theodore Johnson and Robert Houghton, the total votes cast being 198, 117 for Houghton and 79 for Johnson.

W. B. Ten Eyck was elected secretary, George Parker assistant secretary and Carr Axford treasurer by acclamation, after which the club adjourned.

FIRST WARD REPUBLICANS

Club Elects Officers and Listens to a

Number of Short Addresses.

Members of the First Ward Republican club held a very interesting and successful meeting in Lincoln hall, Sixth and Pierce streets, Friday night, where they were addressed by Judge J. H. Blair, L. D. Holmes, E. J. Cornish, Dr. M. J. Ford and I. S. Haswell. The first order of business after the club was called to order was the election of officers for the ensuing year. F. W. Bandhuken was re-elected to the presidency by a unanimous vote. The other officers elected were: Vice President, Sam W. Scott; secretary, F. W. Coleman; treasurer, George Cathro. The following committees were appointed: Constitution and By-laws—C. C. Sushlad, R. C. Jordan and H. Cathro. Executive—R. Burnell, B. C. Misor and F. W. Kottler. Finance—F. M. Back, John Flala and J. M. Rolfe. Judge Blair touched on the Philippines policy and quoted several extracts from the democratic platform of 1900. Coming to the subject of trusts, he read a copy of a letter he had written in May, 1892, to W. J. Bryan, who was then a representative in congress. The substance of the letter was that all trust manufactured goods should be placed upon the free list in order that the competition might kill the trusts.

"Bryan was pleased with the idea," said the speaker, "and a week or so later I received a reply from him, saying that the committee of ways and means, of which he was a member, had taken kindly to the suggestion, and that a movement was on foot to crystallize it into a bill. Later E. J. Cornish told of some of the great problems that the republican party had in the past, and said that it always settled them right. 'It is the party of prosperity,' said he, 'and has done more for the laboring man than any other political organization.'

Charles W. Elliot, president of Harvard university, will deliver an address on "Popular Dilution of Public Reservations," Arthur P. Whiting of Whitesville, Mass., on "Designs for Artistic Billboards," Bryan Lathrop of Chicago on "Parks and Landscapes" and W. A. Baldwin of Hyannis, Mass., on "The School Garden as a Phase of Industrial Work." Other papers will be "Some Neglected Millions," "Boston and Gardens," "How We Reach 15,000 School Children in New York," "Nature Study for Children," "Public Beauty and Good City Government," "Relation of Parks to City Plan," "What is Municipal Art?" "Forest Reservations," "School Garden Movement," "Water an Effective Factor of Municipal Art."

SUES HIS FORMER PARTNERS

Frank C. Sampson Asks an Accounting from Berlin and Halsey of South Omaha.

Frank C. Sampson has filed in district court a petition for judgment against Richard Berlin and Thomas Halsey of South Omaha. The petition asks for an accounting of the money he paid them on the operation of the good ship Hesteria and its barge Luella, which rode the tumultuous waves of the deep blue Missouri here for several seasons to accommodate pleasure seekers who had danced everywhere but over the water and wished to try it there. Plaintiff relates that the firm paid $5,000 in addition to the $1,000 in the purchase of the boat and barge from E. W. Durand and the Rapid Transit company of Stillwater, Minn., July 5, 1900, and that they were to have a two-thirds interest for their investment, but that when he was in Rock Island they had the bill of sale made out to them and recently sold the boat to Myron Sherman for $2,000 without giving him a third and without dividing the $7,000 profits that the boat made while in the excursion business, and which he had turned over to defendants for safekeeping.

Incidentally it may be added that Ignatius Jehovah Dunn, deputy county attorney in and for Douglas county, is Sampson's attorney.

IDEAS ON PARK MANAGEMENT

Commissioner Gordon Hopes to Gain a Few at a Convention in Boston.

L. N. Gordon, park commissioner, accompanied by his wife and daughter and W. R. Adams, superintendent of parks, have gone to Boston, where they will attend the sixth annual meeting of the American Park and Outdoor Art association, to be in session from August 5 to 7 inclusive. They will be gone ten days or two weeks. Mr. Gordon expects to brush up thoroughly on landscape architecture and kindred arts and to give Omaha parks the benefit of some of his new ideas. He will try also to find some good authority in support of his opinion that the border shrubbery around Hancock park should be removed.

Circulars sent out by promoters of the meeting announce that no pains will be spared in furnish entertainment for visitors. There will be any number of cheap excursions to historic points near the Hub, and tea will be served by a number of prominent Boston women.

Charles W. Elliot, president of Harvard university, will deliver an address on "Popular Dilution of Public Reservations," Arthur P. Whiting of Whitesville, Mass., on "Designs for Artistic Billboards," Bryan Lathrop of Chicago on "Parks and Landscapes" and W. A. Baldwin of Hyannis, Mass., on "The School Garden as a Phase of Industrial Work." Other papers will be "Some Neglected Millions," "Boston and Gardens," "How We Reach 15,000 School Children in New York," "Nature Study for Children," "Public Beauty and Good City Government," "Relation of Parks to City Plan," "What is Municipal Art?" "Forest Reservations," "School Garden Movement," "Water an Effective Factor of Municipal Art."

MINERS NO GOOD FOR NAVY

Recruiting Officers Disappointed in Pennsylvania and Will Come West Again.

The Navy department has discovered that the striking miners of Pennsylvania do not desire to enter that service and has ordered the recruiting station at Bethlehem, Pa., closed and the officers in charge to report to Baltimore. Lieutenant Ryan of the Navy department has opened recruiting stations in many of the towns in the mining country of Pennsylvania with the idea of recruiting members of the striking miners. In each case the recruiting station was a failure. The miners preferred to remain at home and all did so, in the belief that they would soon be returned to work.

It was developed by the surgeons who examined those few of the striking miners who did apply for enlistment that the miners were not the physically perfect men they were supposed to be. Most of those who applied were underweight, weak-chested, round-shouldered and physically unable to pass the examination. It is thought this is the result of going to work at too early an age, and hard labor in unsanitary surroundings.

The recruiting party will open an office in Baltimore August 4. From there it will go to Newark, N. J., New Haven, Hart-

RETAIL TRADE ANIMATED

Business at Most Points Active and Big Fall Sales Anticipated.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say:

Aside from heavy rains in Texas the week's crop news is encouraging. Manufacturing plants are well occupied as a rule, iron and steel leading, followed by textiles and footwear. Fuel scarcity is still causing delay, although coke ovens are surpassing previous figures of output and bituminous mines are vigorously operated.

Most points retail trade is active and preparations continue for heavy fall sales, while heavy spring goods are opened with good prospects. Reports available for July show a gain of 2.3 per cent over 1901.

With business in sight for at least a year the leading departments of the iron and steel industry may properly be considered prosperous. Notwithstanding the rapid increase in producing capacity cumulative demand has grown still faster and the recent official report of a new record of pig iron production at 8,882,574 tons for the first half of 1902 is accompanied by the statement that melted stocks at the end of the period were only 2,563 tons, compared with 32,560 tons a year previous. The first half of the second half of 1902 has brought no diminution in inquiries, but some decrease in output owing to scarcity of fuel.

Imports are very large in order to keep the steel mills provided with material and grain prices declined sharply as the upward tendency of prices, in engines, tools, and other heavy machinery, is being offset by a tendency to lower quotations, but light receding and higher quality do not promise any extensive relief in the immediate future.

In textile manufacturing the feature was the opening of pig iron production at 8,882,574 tons for the first half of 1902 is accompanied by the statement that melted stocks at the end of the period were only 2,563 tons, compared with 32,560 tons a year previous. The first half of the second half of 1902 has brought no diminution in inquiries, but some decrease in output owing to scarcity of fuel.

Shoe shops are active on spring samples and buyers are numerous in the Boston market. A striking advance in leather this week has followed the upward movement of hides, stimulated by heavy purchases, a single sale of 100,000 sides of hemlock sole being reported. Hides have made further sensational advances, reaching a high record price.

Grain prices declined sharply as the month of speculative manipulation drew to a close and legitimate trading resumed a more normal basis.

Cotton held fairly steady, more because of the large short interest than the floods of rain have done more good than harm. Demands for consumption continue liberal. Meats have also shown a tendency to seek slightly lower quotations, but light receding and higher quality do not promise any extensive relief in the immediate future.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW OF TRADE.

Affairs in Business World Are Quiet—Pending Developments.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: while attention is concentrated on crop and industrial developments. Generally lower prices for farm products point to a year being less favorable. Though weather conditions of the earlier backward weather have not been reflected or repaired. As for the fall and winter outlook, the best is predicted.

In industrial affairs the outlook is certainly satisfactory. The iron and steel situation is still largely a strong one, but isolated examples of weakness are in the range in a disturbing one, marked only by the prospect of curtailment of industrial operations.

MANUFACTURING PLANTS WELL OCCUPIED

Iron and Steel Industry Prosperous and Consumptive Demand Increases Faster Than Producing Capacity.

Foot Under Wheel.

William Brown's right foot was crushed and supported the horse probably broken yesterday evening on Pierce street between Twelfth and Thirteenth by the wheel of one of the Oliver Macard Van company's wagons. The team became stalled with its heavy load and Brown, who was on the wagon, jumped out to assist at the wheel. The van moved forward suddenly and caught his foot. The injured man lies on South Thirteenth street, but was taken to the home of his employer at 1713 Webster street, after his foot had been dressed at the police station.

Gasoline Exploded.

When Mrs. Augusta Klein struck a match in her kitchen last evening about 7:45 o'clock the lamp she was very suddenly extinguished. Enough gasoline had evaporated from the open tank of the gasoline stove to explode. Mrs. Klein escaped without a blister, but the pantry floor and ceiling and curtains hanging on that side of the kitchen suffered to the extent of about $100. The house is located at 315 North Thirty-second street.
