

DELAY AT COUNTY'S EXPENSE

New County Attorney and Deputies Help to Spend Public Money.

MANY CRIMINAL CASES GO OVER TERM

Only Four of Seventy Complaints Filed During May Term Disposed of by Trial Proceedings—Others Wait.

The May term of the district court is to close this week, probably Wednesday. It has continued through three full months and the criminal docket is practically a closed book.

These four were not cases of such importance that the nation felt particularly relieved when they were disposed of. Lillian Stevens and Lulu Patterson, both colored, were convicted of larceny.

Cost of Defending Prisoners.

Another leak in the county treasury is at the house where fees money for defending prisoners. During the May term there has seemed a growing paucity on those days when the judge asked the prisoners if they had counsel or means to secure such.

Expensive Barren to County.

"In view of the fact that under the present method of handling county legal affairs a prisoner is an expensive burden to the county from the hour of his arrest until that of his release, it seems strange to me that Sheriff Deane should try to make things as little," remarked a court house attaché.
