"We have just been all through this state, Idaho, Washington and Oregon, and I speak advisedly when I say that there is no land anywhere susceptible to as high state of cultivation as the land of Nebranks and these states to the west. With the ald of the government, which has been promised us in all legitimate means of irrigation, we ought and will bring this land up to the maximum degree of cultivation. Where now you are barren plains, barren simply for the want of irrigation and cultivation, you will in a short time acc onsea of the most remarkable fertility.

"This is one means of colonization which the government must and will take the lead, because so much of the land is government land, yet to be occupied. I look for a tremendous number of the best armers of the east, men of means, to settle right here in Nebraska."

Completion of Prospect Hill Extension Relieves Congestion on Walnut Hill Line During Busy Hours of the Day.

"The plans for the new power house of the company are not prepared yet," said General Manager Smith of the Omaha Street Railway company. "There is much to be maidered before we proceed to that work and not the least is the probability of the completion of the Platte River power canal. If, within six months, we see that the canal will be built, the plans will be much difforent for the building than if we cannot ount upon using that power.

"It is really difficult to know when plans are completed, anyway. Up to a few years ago plans were antiquated before they could be carried out on account of the rapid improvement made in electrical The best machinery that could be had would be superseded by something better and a company investing its money in this machinery would find before the machinery was in operation that some invention of later date would save money and labor. It is not so had now as it was, but we are undoubtedly paying more for power today than we would if we had the latest improvements in devices for the generation of electrical power. At the same time our machinery is in condition to run for several months or a year without change and it may pay us well to wait and pay the extra cost in order to be certain that we have made the greatest possible reduction in cost when we install the new plant."
