ATTACKS MURDER SUSPECT

Sister of Mrs. Finkelstein Assails Harry Levich on Des Moines Street.

CHARGES CONTEMPLATED BRIBERY

Levich Declares Well Known Des Moines Citizen Proposed to Pay Murdered Man to Desist Prosecution of Gamblers.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, Aug. 9.—(Special.)—The city police and detective force in Des Moines are about out of clues on the Finkelstein murder case. They are still working on the theory that Harry Levich and Walker had something to do with the case, but admit that their chance of securing a conviction is very small. It is claimed that the stories told by Walker and his associates conflict and that he will not be able to establish an alibi, as he has said he could. The fact has been established beyond question that Walker and Levich were seen riding together the evening of the murder. Beyond this nothing new has been accomplished.

Ann Davidson, a sister of Mrs. Finkelstein, met Levich on the street and commenced a furious assault upon the latter with an umbrella. No harm was done, but it indicates the feeling existing over the matter.

The police have become interested in the case that two good men were in the place of the murder just a few minutes before it occurred. They are investigating this matter and hope that something may come of it, but the indications are that it will yield little.

Harry Levich made the startling declaration this morning that he had been asked by well-known gamblers of this city within the last two weeks to act as a mediator between the gamblers and Finkelstein, and receive and receipt for money to be paid the murdered man in case the latter would cease his prosecution. The terms of the proposition embodied an offer of $400 cash and $20 a month to be delivered to Levich and turned over to Finkelstein so long as the agreement was adhered to.

Mr. Levich refused this morning to state the name of the person making the proposition, intimating it would develop in justice court during the preliminary hearing Friday. He said, however, he was well known in Des Moines and would be readily recognized upon the publication of his name.

"This person came to me less than a week before the murder of Finkelstein," said Levich this morning. "He wanted to know if there wasn't some way whereby Finkelstein could be made to cease his persecutions of the gamblers. I told him I didn't know, as I had not talked with Finkelstein on that subject recently. He then wanted to know if I would see Finkelstein and talk the matter over with him. I agreed to this and the person then authorized me to pay Finkelstein $200 cash and $20 a month as long as the agreement was not broken."

To Uphold Better Industry.

Hon. Michael McDonald of Guthrie, superintendent of the dairy department of the State fair, is sending out a circular to the butter makers of Iowa, urging them to make as good an exhibit as they can at the fair as possible. Last year as the result of efforts made by the dairy commissioner the entries in the dairy department increased 30 per cent over the previous year. It is not expected this percentage can be kept up.

The state dairy commissioner, H. R. Wright, will have charge of the butter exhibit and will take charge of the butter sale. The premiums offered amount to $667, of which $600 is offered for creamery butter and $67 for household butter. The dairy industry of Iowa has increased wonderfully in recent years and the dairy department of the fair now annually attracts many thousands.

TOWA FALLS, Ia., Aug. 9.—(Special.)—This is the second big day on the program of the Chautauqua assembly this year and Educational day attracted a big crowd, including the entire enrollment of the State Normal, now in session at Eldora. The visiting teachers were headed by the band from the Iowa Industrial school and came in on a special train over the Northwestern. The exercises were in charge of County Superintendent Ella B. Chaswell.

The following well known educators in this part of the state were on the program and addressed the assembly on educational topics: President A. J. Cavanaugh of Ellsworth college, Iowa Falls; Superintendent Milo Hunt of the Eldora school; Prof. W. O. Reed, Hubbard; Miss Julia Scully and Miss Kate M. Boylan of Eldora.

This evening an address was given by Superintendent B. J. Miles of the Iowa Industrial school on "That Incurable Boy." The program concluded with a concert and literary selections.

BURIAL OF WRECK VICTIMS

Laborers Killed in Collision on the Milwaukee Laid to Rest by Strangers.

PERRY, Ia., Aug. 9.—(Special.)—Nine coffins, containing the bodies of the nine laborers who were killed in the railroad accident at Rhodes, were carried to the cemetery by the hands of strangers here this forenoon. Interment was in the city cemetery. The funeral was conducted by a minister of the city and a brief funeral sermon was preached.

The laborers' names were: Mike Flynn, Ed Fitzgibbon, L. Bingham, John Richardson, Pat Sullivan, John Allen, Thomas Sullivan and two whose names were not ascertained.

The total of dead from the wreck is thirteen, which includes the two engineers and fireman Thorp and the one who died at Des Moines yesterday.

There is no disposition here to censure any of the trainmen and the responsibility has not been fixed for the terrible accident. Conductor Craig, who was in charge of the work train, claims that he gave orders to Conductor Hollingsworth of the other work train, which went to Collins for dinner, to notify the engineer of the freight to wait at Collins. The feeling is that Craig did just what many conductors are doing all the time and was not to blame.
