

popularity was approved, but some of the princes were not having graciously to no salutations whatever.

King Edward has signified his coronation in a somewhat manner by the magnificent gift to the nation of the Queen Victoria. The gift is made in the following message to his people, addressed to Prime Minister Balfour. For reasons apparent in the document itself his majesty makes his intention public:

Progress Convalescent Home.

BUCKINGHAM PALACE, Coronation Day, Aug. 10.—Under the most much beloved mother, the Queen, the coronation of King Edward is a day of which the nation will be proud to remember. It is a day which will be remembered as the day when the King and Queen were crowned in the presence of the nation.

While the British press is re-echoing with elaborate descriptions of the coronation ceremony, telegrams are pouring in from every city of the empire, recording sympathetic congratulations and rejoicings.

Buckingham Palace, Saturday.—Today is the coronation of the King and Queen. Their majesties left for the coronation at 10 o'clock and proceeded in state to Westminster Abbey for coronation.

Except for attending the Chapel Royal his majesty spent a quiet Sunday in Buckingham Palace. The King and Queen gave a very large party last evening, their guests including the prince and princess of Wales and the entire royal family, as well as all the princely guests who were here for the coronation.

About a year ago dispatches to American newspapers from London correspondents alleged that King Edward was desirous of disposing of private land at Osborne for two reasons—the impracticability as a royal residence and the comparatively great cost of its maintenance. It was further alleged that negotiations had been seriously entered into between the King's private secretary and the American millionaire, Mr. J. P. Morgan, for the sale of Osborne house to the latter, and that these negotiations were broken off by the action of the law officers of the crown, who called the King's attention to a clause in Queen Victoria's will by virtue of which Osborne house and the immediate estate became the property of the sovereignty of England.

Under this clause it was declared King Edward was estopped from disposing of the royal residence. It was alleged at the time that among the millionaires negotiating for the purchase of Osborne house was William Vanderbilt, who had spent a fortune at Osborne as a wedding present for his daughter, Miss Pauline Astor.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The London newspapers this morning present a very unusual appearance to their English readers. They almost all contain large illustrations of coronation scenes and prominent characters in the ceremonies. In many cases the papers publish full page illustrations in addition to their usual news columns.

The editorial articles express the deep gratitude of the nation for the fulfillment of the King's health, the success of the event of Saturday, and the magnificent gift of Osborne house to the nation, which is regarded as a most and graceful incident to close the memorable day.

Foreign cities, wherever there is a British colony, have all witnessed untold jubilation of the occasion and the foreign press view with that of Great Britain in extending good wishes to the country.

The coronation day at St. Paul's cathedral in London was a day of great interest. The ceremony was held in the presence of a large number of guests, and the king and queen were crowned in the presence of the nation.

King Edward will have a busy day today. He will hold a private council at noon to swear in the newly appointed ministers; at 2 o'clock he will exchange oaths and afterwards he will hold an investiture of the Victoria orders.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 10.—Coronation services were held in all the churches here today.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 10.—Yesterday was a public holiday here. In the morning there was a state service in honor of the coronation of King Edward in the cathedral and special services were held in other churches.

The afternoon witnessed a regatta in Hamilton harbor and tonight was attended by an imposing display of fireworks, accompanied by military music. The buildings of Hamilton were brilliantly illuminated.

Friday night there was a grand reception with illuminations and fireworks at government house.

MANILA, Aug. 10.—Forty-one American cruisers and gunboats were assembled and dressed ship and fired a salute of twenty-one guns at Cavite yesterday in honor of the coronation of King Edward. This was the largest number of American warships ever gathered in Manila waters.

HAVANA, Aug. 10.—Lord R. G. Gardner, British minister to Cuba, gave a large reception here tonight to celebrate the coronation of King Edward. The English club was well represented. President Palma and a number of other officials attended. Much was furnished by an American artillery band.

SEARCHING FOR BARTHOLOM

Story of Murder of His Mother and Sweetheart Gradually Developing

SOUTH OMAHA MAN ONE OF SUSPECTS

Disappears From His Lodgings After Writing Suspicious Letter and Cannot Be Found

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—The search for William Bartholm, who is suspected of having murdered his mother and Minnie Mitchell, his sweetheart, was continued today, but no trace of the missing man was found.

Cecil Thompson, who was for eighteen months the chief of police of Chicago, mother, and who was arrested yesterday, stoutly maintained his innocence of any knowledge of the murders and pleaded with the authorities to be released.

Late today a special delivery letter arrived from Omaha for H. H. Mitchell, brother of the murdered Minnie Mitchell, from Edwards, who wrote the day after Mrs. Mitchell's body was identified, stating that he was morally certain that Bartholm had murdered his mother.

Evidence of this was found today by the police, who discovered Mrs. Bartholm's false teeth, a night robe covered with blood and a large diamond ring on the floor of the closet in Mrs. Bartholm's room. The bloody garment was tucked away in the corner under a shelf, though the floor revealed the body of the murdered woman was first hidden in the closet and the floor of her room kept locked for several days.

Another suspicious circumstance to add to the mystery developed tonight when it was discovered that Horace Clark, a companion of young Bartholm, has been missing since the murder of Mrs. Bartholm. It is now stated that he is absolutely identical with the man who is believed to have murdered his mother in the basement during the day because there is no entrance to the cellar except by way of an outside door.

It is now stated that he is absolutely identical with the man who is believed to have murdered his mother in the basement during the day because there is no entrance to the cellar except by way of an outside door.

Inspector Hunt found a close friend of Bartholm who saw him Tuesday night, a week after he disappeared with Minnie Mitchell, his sweetheart, who was killed on the night of July 20. Bartholm called at the house of his friend last Tuesday night. He was in a terrible state of mind and his actions indicated the worst of what was to come.

From him the police obtained a description of the clothing Bartholm wore when last seen. These clothes, the shoes, imitation Panama hat, the coat with the lodge button in the lapel, were found today in Bartholm's room, thus proving beyond a doubt that he returned to his room after the death of Minnie Mitchell and that he could have returned at 20 other times after at night when Thompson was at home.

Disappears from South Omaha. Milton L. Edwards is being searched for by the police of South Omaha, but they have been unable to locate him. He left the Rowley hotel, South Omaha, at 2 o'clock Sunday morning and the authorities and the hotel clerk stated that he left after they did not know his whereabouts.

Edwards informed the hotel proprietor that he had worked for a number of years in a railroad office in Chicago. He is about 4 feet 8 inches in height and weighs 150 pounds. He is smooth shaven, has light complexion and brown eyes. One of his front teeth is either gold or is gold filled. He is a man of good appearance and dress.

Edwards was reported from Chicago to the Omaha police who were searching for him. Chief Connelley stated that he had received no message in regard to Edwards and did not know that he was wanted. The South Omaha police believe that Edwards came to Omaha Sunday morning and that he is now in this city.

Opera House Black Butted. ALTONA, Pa., Aug. 10.—The Opera House black, one of the largest buildings here, which was occupied by the Imperial Dry Goods company, the One Price Clothing company and the Revue Opera House, was raised by fire early today.

"Painting Bartholm" Under Arrest. "Painting Bartholm" is again in the city, this time under arrest. He was arrested by the police of South Omaha, but they have been unable to locate him.

Much Sadness Little Peace. The New York department was called at 2:10 o'clock last night by the South Omaha police, who reported that a man named Bartholm had been arrested in South Omaha.

TELL STORY OF PRIVATIONS

Two Featish from Exhaustion and Two Walk Blindly Into Crevasse.

CHAMOUNX, France, Aug. 10.—The residents of Paris who recently perished from exposure on Mont Blanc, and whose guides were reported to have been killed while descending the mountain in search of assistance, were named Staehling and Mauduit. The bodies of these men, together with that of the guide, Culet, have been brought here. The guide Bianco, who was supposed to have been killed, was found alive at the bottom of a crevasse.

In an interview with the representative of the Associated Press, Bianco said: "Both the Frenchmen and the guide Bianco, who was supposed to have been killed, were found alive at the bottom of a crevasse. The fall of the guides into the crevasse was witnessed by telescopes from here and led to the supposition that both men had been killed. Bianco had a severe fall of about 100 feet, but was almost unharmed, although he suffered from the effects of six hours' exposure on the ice. Culet was killed instantly."

The storm increased in violence and compelled us to burrow in the snow for protection. We stayed thus, all four huddled together for ten hours and shared equally the last drops of our scanty supplies. Our hands and feet were frost bitten. We were not partial ascending who gave us cognac and coffee. Culet was too ill to speak."

When asked why they had rushed blindly into the crevasse when they could have passed it, Bianco replied: "We were so exhausted and overcome with the hardships of our terrible expedition that we had no other way out but to try the shortest way set out on our map. It was the shortest way from what had happened."

It is said that several guides warned the party not to start as a storm was brewing.

DEPENDENT ON AMERICAN SUPPLIES

While Other Countries Are Chief Contributors of Luxuries, the United States is Source of Staple Food.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—A report of the agricultural imports for Great Britain, 1901-1902 inclusive, with a significant review of the trade conditions and possibilities between the United States and the United Kingdom has been compiled by Frank H. Hitchcock, chief of the division of foreign trade, department of agriculture, United States.

The report says that the products of agriculture sent to that market from all sources in 1901 reached the value of $1,470,000,000, of which $1,200,000,000, or 81 per cent, were agricultural and $270,000,000, or 19 per cent, non-agricultural.

To this extraordinary import trade in agricultural products the United States was the principal contributor, furnishing about 50 per cent, or nearly one-third of the supply of raw materials to the United Kingdom other than the United States.

The several possessions and dependencies of the United Kingdom throughout the world together contributed about 34 per cent.

Possibilities of Trade Expansion. Continuing the report says: "The value of the agricultural products received from the United States in 1901-1902, inclusive, was $1,200,000,000, or 81 per cent of the total value of agricultural products received from all sources."

CHOOSES DEATH TO INSANITY Michigan Farmer Feeding Mental Derangement Kills Wife and Hangs Himself.

TITUSVILLE, Mich., Aug. 10.—E. S. Sower, a well-to-do farmer, who has been living in this village for several months, last night killed his wife with an axe as she lay in bed and then hung himself in a barn. Despondency over the fear that he was becoming insane and grief over the death of his only daughter ten years ago impelled him to commit the crime.

Dear Wife: This could not be any other way. I knew weeks ago that it must be insanity or suicide for me and I decided that I would be worse for all of us than suicide. But I could not possibly bring myself to find that it would be otherwise myself to leave mamma to the awful sufferings and death that either insanity or suicide would bring her. So I decided it would be best for all and especially for her to take her with me. What I have said to you in this letter is my death wish and if I should write you again I would not be understood. I have no fear whatever for the future, as I have done the very best I could with the life I have been permitted to live. I am not just God would punish me for what I could not help. Good bye all. E. S. SOWER.
