The sensational suit begun a year ago by Mrs. Catherine McEntee of Plattsmouth to fecover possession of the remains of her son, Edward P. Cagney, has reached the supreme court and will be tried before that fbunal seme time during the forthcoming session. Edward P. Cagney was private secretary and nephew of the millionaire, John Fitzgerald. He died ten years ago and his body was interred in the Fitzgerald family burying ground at Calvary cemetery. A year ago Mrs. McEntee, with David McEntee and Marista Cagney, began suit in the district court of Lancaster county, the prayer of which was for an order restraining Mrs. Mary Fitzgerald and the officers of Calvary cemetery from interfering with the removal of the remains. Mrs. Mc Entee is advanced in years, being over 70 years old, and ever since before the suit was begun has been confined to her bed with a fatal termination. The petition sets forth men was not the cause of the recent raid the wish of the aged mether, that the body in the New Fork country and the slaughter of the son be removed to her family lot in St. John's cametery in Plattsmouth, where man-she intends to have her own remains buried. It The petition is resisted by Mrs. Fitzger-ald and Bishop Bonacum of the Roman Catholic diocese of Lincoln. They allege that Edward P. Cagney expressed the wish long time prior to his death that his remains be interred in the Fitzgerald lot.

Mrs. McEntee, mother of Edward Cagney, who was her, son by her first husband, set forth in a deposition given while lying on the sick bed that she discussed the burist party, which caused the murder. with her brother, John Fitzgerald, and that both agreed that the body should be temporarily interred in the Fitzgerald lot and afterward removed to Ht. John's cemetery in Plattemouth. Mrs. Fitzgerald and Blahop Bonacum deny this allegation.

In the first set of the Doherty-Whitman match the Englishman was in much better stroke than his opponent, whose noor judgment as to speed appeared to be his great fault. In the sixth game, however, Whitman played his ground strokes to perfection, in the second set Whitman started poorly, but strengthened his attack in the third game and by hitting the ball very hard took the second set at 5-3.
