WOES COME WITH MARRIAGE

Attorney Brown Recites the Difficulties He Has with Mother-in-Law.

GETS HIM INTO ALL KINDS OF TROUBLE

According to Story Told in Petition In suit is Added to Injury by Calling Him a "One-Horse Lawyer."

Too much mother-in-law is the keynote of J. W. Brown's petition for divorce from Mattie C. Brown, filed in the district court yesterday.

The plaintiff is an attorney of Charles City, Ia., but stated in his petition that owing to his domestic troubles he has forever left that town and is now seeking a new location.

He fears that his wife will not only follow him to his new location, but will bring her mother also, and this is one of the many grounds on which Attorney Brown asks the court to sever the matrimonial bonds.

Attorney Brown was married in Ohio in September, 1893, where he lived until the spring of 1902, when he moved to Charles City. His wife's parents, who had their home with him since his marriage, also moved to Charles City.

DEBATE HIGH SCHOOL COURSE

Proposal to Adopt a Two-Year Business Course is Under Consideration.

At the meeting of the Board of Education last night the advisability of re-establishing a two-year business course in the high school was discussed.

The two-year business course, it was explained, is not intended as a way to interfere with the present four-year course, but to afford pupils who cannot afford to spend four years in the high school to obtain the advantages of a specific business course in two years.

Under the present system the course is arranged for the full term of four years and a pupil leaving before the expiration of the four years has consequently not obtained the benefits of the entire course and on leaving is given a certificate showing what studies he has taken.

A pupil completing the two-year course will be given a certificate, but not a diploma, as he would receive on graduating after a four-year course.

Some of the directors favored the adoption of the two-year course on the ground that it would enable a pupil to start out in commercial life at an earlier age than if compelled to remain in school until the four-year course.

The two-year business course was in vogue during the superintendency of Prof. Sawyer.

President Sargent, while stating that he did not ask for any action in the matter at this time, suggested that the board consider the question of compulsory drill for the boys pupils of the high school and that they all be required to wear a high school uniform, as was the regulation in other high schools.

Director Gorman made several suggestions for improving the discipline at the high school, but no action was taken. It was understood that Mr. Gorman intended introducing a resolution to wear all girls attending the high school to wear mortar boards, but the matter was not brought up.

The committee on buildings and grounds was instructed to confer with Chief Templeton of the fire department relative to fire escapes on the school buildings as required by the new law.

Chairman Cooper of this committee reported that from a talk he had had with the chief of the board would be required to place escapes on the new school building, as Chief Templeton considered that it came within the provision of the act.

Some discussion was had over the new compulsory education act, but it was decided not to take any action until after the opening of the new school year and the taking of the census, which must be taken before September 1st.

Ident Sargent stated that he had learned from the state superintendent that the appointing of a trustee officer was optional with the board and not obligatory, but that the board was compelled to take all necessary steps to enforce the law.

The contract for supplying the several schools with coal for the ensuing year was awarded to the Carbon Coal company on its bid of $5,041.50 for Centerville lump.

The company was granted the privilege to weigh the coal on any scales. Chairman Gorman of the committee on fuel, lighting insisted that the company be required to weigh all coal on the city scales at Bryant street.

The matter of the plumbing of the Pierce street school addition was laid over, as Chairman Cooper reported that in his opinion the addition would not be built before January 1, as Contractor Wickham was unable to secure brick. It was decided to heat the addition with stoves this winter if ready for occupancy in time.

The contract for supplying 150 desks to the R. O. Evans company of Chicago. The bids by request were not made public but Director Hess stated that that of the Evans company was the lowest.

Miss Porterfield's salary as instructor of music was increased from $75 to $85, it being understood that she had received an offer of $95 to go to Dubuque.

Miss Agnes Robinson of the Washington avenue school was granted an indefinite leave of absence and the resignation of Miss Rose Drake was accepted.

Miss Alice Spelman and Miss May Jepson were appointed teachers at $35 a month. It was decided that when Miss Churchill school on the abandoned of the Hill school, of which she is principal, her salary should be placed back from $75 to $60.

George W. Jacobs resigned as janitor of the Thirty-second street school and William Mack was appointed in his place.

The president was authorized to engage counsel to defend the school district in the suit brought by E. A. Wickham for grading the old Oakland avenue high school site, also in the personal damage suit of Mrs. Rice against the city of Council Bluffs in which the city has moved to make the district a party defendant.

The superintendent was instructed to furnish all books and supplies for the kindergartens, the same as was done for the graded schools under the free text book system.
