He had hardly made the motion when one of the warden's party fired, the bullet striking Bishop in the breast, inflicting a fatal wound. When Bishop fell Mulligan and Brooks sank to their knees, begging the warden to save their lives, and by 10:30 o'clock the two desperadoes, heavily shackled and accompanied by ten men with drawn pistols, were placed in their cells and quiet had been restored.

After the men had been securely locked up it was discovered that Mulligan had been wounded in the shoulder, though he was not seriously hurt.

Brooks, Blahop and Mulligan were among the most desperate of the 1,500 convicts confined here. All are young men. Since their confinement all three of the mep had given the prison officials much trouble. About a year ago Bishop and Mulligan came up to the prison entrance and, throwdown their coats, declared that they would not work and defied the warden. It took several months' punishment and confinement to subdue them and since then each has been carrying looked to one of his legs a heavy ball and chain.

Later developments show that Ransome, the negro who was shot, was not pressed into service by the desperadoes, but had joined them after they entered the rocker department.

As to money spent on the improvement of the upper waters of that same river, he thought it the arid regions of the great west. > Future of Boer Colonies Depend Upon Action of Natives-No Law to Govern Them.

LONDON, Aug. 20 .- Mail advices received here from Johannesburg indicate that the negro problem is growing more acute and is causing the authorities infinite worry. To quote the words of one of the foremost South African authorities: On the action of the natives depends the whole future of the new colonies—whether the Boers will loyally accept British rule or continue in a state of cullen resentant the attacks on Boers returning to their farms and attempts of actives to assault white women, are threatening to lead to serious conflicts between Boers and blacks.

serious conflicts between Boers and blacks.

Under the old regime the crude but simple retribution for assaults on women was shooting on sight. Now, however, there is no legislation on the subject and the English authorities are hesitating to enact laws until all the parties concerned can voice their opinions.

The hesitancy to deal summarily with the natives is causing both Boers and Afrikanders intense irritation and encourages the blacks to truculent effrontery. Another phase of the problem is the unwillingness of the blacks to forego their lazy existence in the concentration camps, where thousands were gathered during the war, and far more serious is the fact that a great number of blacks in the country have managed to secure arms.

There is, therefore, the anomalous situation of unarmed whites and armed blacks living in proximity on outlying farms. Experienced British colonials strongly favor universal disarmament of the native and prompt legislation making assaults on women a capital offense.

The regular contingent of the division will go into camp at Fort Riley September 20 and will be followed by the state organizations September 29. It is intended to continue joint maneuvers for a period of ten days after the division is organized. In order not to interfere with the current work of the various department headquarters a special division staff has been detailed to report to Major General John C. Bates, who has been assigned to the command of the division during the maneuvers. The benefits to be derived from bringing together regiments, brigades and divisions is so apparent that the War department has fully determined upon this policy for the future. Many of the states have permanent maneuvers for their national guards during the summer months, and the result has been extremely beneficial to all those organizations. The regular army has had an abundance of field service during the past four years, but nearly all the recent work in the Philippine islands has been done by small detachments, frequently mere squads. It is probable that the maneuvers for this year will include instruction in advance and rear guard patrolling, passage of defiles; defense of convoys, marches of concentration, attack and defense of positions, use of pontoon bridges and com-
