BREAK EVEN ON THE SERIES

Omaha Takes Half of the Second Double-Header with the Springs.

NEITHER TEAM DOES MUCH WITH THE BAT

Genins Wins the First by a Bit of Foxey Ball Playing and Stewart Loses the Second by an Error.

Sunday's performance was duplicated at Vinton Street park yesterday, when Omaha won and lost in a double-header with Colorado Springs. The score of each game was the same, 1 to 0. This closes the series with the Millionaires, and "Big Bill" Everitt and his bunch will not be seen in Omaha again this season.

The afternoon's exhibition was beautiful base ball in just one way; both scores were as close as possible to make them and as low as they can be chalked up in any numerals. But the utter inability of the Rangers to hit anything, together with some rank errors, did much to spoil those other features. Three thousand people pulled for a double victory, but in vain.

Two hits were all the Omahas scored in the game which they won, and neither figured in the victory. The tally was due solely to a keen piece of foxing in which three of the craftiest old hands on the team, Genins, Stewart and Dolan, participated. In the fifth inning Genins made first on Hollingsworth's error, stole second and was advanced to third on Dolan's sacrifice. Then Stewart came up and knocked a high foul out behind first base. Bill Everitt is usually very nifty on such tricks, but this time he held the foul instead of dropping it, and Genins skipped in from third before Bill could field it.

Alloway pitched great ball the entire game. In the seventh things looked very dangerous, for the first two men up took bases on a safe hit and a gift. With no outs "Podge" proceeded to strike out the next two and the last went out on a play from Hickey to second, while Everitt was behind third madly coaching for that run he wanted. The ninth was almost as bad. Congalton, as first up, hit safe. Everitt followed the ball to Thomas, who threw to cut Congalton off at second. The ball was in plenty of time, but Strauss said safe, and there were two on bases. Again Alloway was "there." There was nothing more doing with his delivery, and the inning ended with a double play, after Gonding had caught Congalton by a quick throw to third. Stone's catch of Fleming's fly in the eighth was a marvel of ground covering. The score:

Error Loses Second.

In the second game Newmeyer was practically as effective as McNeely had been, and Omaha had no chance to score. Meanwhile in the seventh Everitt hit safe, took second on Hollingsworth's going out at first and went to third on a passed ball. Then Owen struck out Hemphill, making two gone, and Granville knocked an easy one to Stewart, who should have closed the inning. Instead Captain Ace foozled the ball, and hunted for it all around his feet till Everitt had scored and Granville reached first. The game was lost there. Omaha tried to rally, but made not a hit in the last three innings, none, in fact, after the second. Creighton played third base four innings, Hickey having hurt his arm throwing.

Omaha now goes to Des Moines for three games, returning then here for three more with the Undertakers. Then comes the western trip, so anxiously awaited. The score:

Des Moines and Denver Divide.

DES MOINES, Aug. 26.—Des Moines broke even with Denver in a double-header here today. In the first game Morrison, for the locals, was a complete puzzle. The two runs secured by Denver were due to errors by Burg and Davis. In the second game Barry was put in the box for Des Moines, but after Denver had batted out three runs in the third Feeney was substituted, but was equally ineffective, the visitors landing on him for four runs in the seventh and three in the eighth.
