TRAINMEN WANT MORE PAY

Concerted Movement by Operating Employees of All the Trunk Lines.

CONFERENCE WITH MANAGERS PROPOSED

Plan to Demand Twenty Per Cent Increase in Wages for Engineers, Firemen, Conductors, Brakemen and Switchmen.

Some weeks ago The Bee published a story outlining the plans of a concerted movement by the operating employees of all the trunk lines throughout the country for new schedules of wages, stating on the authority of active railroad men who were in touch and co-operation with this movement that it would not be made until united action was assured, but that as soon as the trainmen on all the roads to be involved fell into line a general and unanimous demand would be made upon the management of the roads. At that time it was thought that this action would be taken about August 15, but some unfavorable obstacles prevented this and so a later date had to be decided upon.

A puerile attempt was made to discredit the story for several days succeeding, statements of subordinate union officials being used as a basis of denial. One official of a trainmen's organization from out in the state this story was published and informed other local newspaper men that, as he had not authorized or been apprised of such a movement, there was nothing in it, whereupon a sweeping denial of the whole proposition was made.

First Story Confirmed.

But later and more reliable authority seems to confirm The Bee's story. It is now given out in Chicago, St. Louis and Milwaukee and other large cities that such a concerted movement as that described in The Bee is on foot and that a culmination of the plans is to be reached about September 15 in the form of a general demand upon all the roads for an increase in wages. There is now said to be no question whatever as to the authenticity or correctness of this report. Assistant Grand Master Lee of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen of Cleveland confirms the report by saying that such a movement has been launched and that it is the determination to secure a uniform set of rules and compensation for all the operating trainmen on all the lines west of the

BUILDERS AT SHOPS STRIKE

Seventy Men Quit Because Three Nonunion Carpenters Are Employed.

NEW TROUBLE FOR UNION PACIFIC

Company Asked to Discharge the Nonunion Men and Then Strike. Men Will Return to Their Work.

New life was infused into the Union Pacific labor disorders yesterday morning when ninety-nine builders quit work on the new shops and went on a strike in obedience to an order issued Thursday night by the local Building Trades council.

This action was due, according to the statement of the men, to the employment of three nonunion carpenters. The strike involves these men: Thirty-six carpenters, eleven laborers, one bricklayer and one laborer from the Glendale crowd; two bricklayers, four laborers from the Smith contractors; fourteen bricklayers and fifteen laborers, thirteen electricians and five carpenters from the company's gang, making a total of ninety-nine. C. A. Stevenson is the author of these figures. He says the company's statement that seventy-one went out was correct when made, but that this number was increased subsequent to the issuance of the company's statement.

Representatives of the strikers met officials of the Union Pacific yesterday and discussed the differences, but no terms were arrived at. Building Trades council held a meeting last night, at which the situation was reviewed. The company seems indisposed to yield to the strikers in this matter and a stubborn fight is probable.

Statement from the Company.

In regard to the strike of the carpenters and bricklayers yesterday the Union Pacific officials issue following statement:

"The strike in the yards this morning was ordered by the Allied Building Trades council, and results in enforced idleness for thirteen bricklayers, thirty-six carpenters and twenty-two laborers, representing a total of over $200 in daily wages. The ultimatum seems to be that the Union Pacific company shall employ none but union labor in its yards and about its buildings."

"Mr. Stevens, the business delegate of the council, called upon Chief Engineer Berry in his official capacity this forenoon, and from his statements it is gathered the grievance narrows down to the fact that a union man who was five months in arrears for dues had been permitted to work an hour and a half setting up window frames in the walls of the company's new oil house, where the bricklayers have been at work since Monday. Thus the council seems to have two objects in view—collection of the $2.50 dues from the man who is in arrears and dictation to the company as to whom shall be employed on the company's work."

In his talk with the chief engineer Mr. Stevens declared that in his personal judgment the strike was a mistake, but that he must be regulated by the orders of the council.

"The men affected by the strike have been visited by a representative of the company and they all declare that they have no grievance. The bricklayers were drawing $4.40 per day and the carpenters $2.20 and they all want to continue work."

No Need for Carpenters.

"Foreman Mulvaney, who has charge of the brick work on the new oil house, said this morning that there was no good cause for the strike. He said he was employing ten bricklayers at $4.40 per day and wanted to put on more. The oilhouse was to be practically fireproof. The only carpenter work done there this week was in putting in place of the window frames in order that the masons could proceed with the walls. The frames were factory made and the work of placing them had taken two men an hour and a half. There would be no more carpenter work to do until after the completion of the brick work. Mr. Mulvaney said that these two carpenters, along with others, had been working in the yards alongside of the union carpenters all summer and had done the preliminary work on the building upon which the union carpenters had been working up to this morning. He thought it was a late day for the carpenters of the union to object and prevent the bricklayers from proceeding with their work. Mr. Mulvaney is a union man in good standing and he expressed the hope that his men might come back to work right away.

"The superintendent of construction on the new shop building talked in a similar strain. He said his men had no complaint, but that the council was 'fighting the Union Pacific over their heads.' He thought the objection had come from the bricklayers. 'It is learned that the strike was ordered last Wednesday and that the carpenters quit. The foreman of the brick work, however, refused to call out his men, and this delayed the strike until today. The window frames set up by the men who was in arrears are all in place and nothing further is to be done to them.'

Where the Men Worked. "Of the men who are out, twenty were employed on the oil house which is being erected under direction of the company, and fifty-one are in the employ of the contractors who are erecting the new shop building and the round house. These latter have not been in the employ of the Union Pacific and when they quit work they simply violated their personal contracts with the C. W. Glendale company and Freeman & Sons, the contractors."

The Union Pacific has never, at any point on its line, inquired into the religion, politics or affiliations of any of its employees. It has simply asked for good service and has paid good wages, whether the men were union or nonunion. The unions have always known this and their men have worked side by side with nonunion men at all points for years without objection up to this time. The company will not change its policy and will decline to submit to dictation, whether it comes from its own employees or from the officials of outside unions and 'councils.'

ESTELLE SUSTAINS POTTER

District Judge Denies Application to Reopen Moler Barber College Cases.

Judge Estelle of the district court yesterday denied an application for a writ of mandamus to compel Justice of the Peace C. A. Potter to reopen the Moler Barber college cases, set aside the judgments therein and call for a new trial.

Heretofore the custom has been in justice of the peace courts to call for a trial in a trial when requested and to require a writ of mandamus to call for a trial when the decision was in the case or in whose favor the decision was made. Justice Potter refused to do this in the Moler case that there was no law to authorize such practice and he tried these cases without jury. The effect of Judge Estelle's decision is to sustain Justice Potter.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Twenty-Seventh Street People Not Satisfied with New Grade.

BOARD OF HEALTH SENDS OUT ORDERS

Calls on Twenty-Fourth Street Property Owners to Make Sewer Connections—Price of Coal Goes to $11 Per Ton.

There is trouble about the grading of Twenty-seventh street from B to F streets. A few days ago Tom Hector commenced grading this portion of Twenty-seventh street and yesterday his complaints began to come in. Some of the property owners do not like the grade established, although all those materially interested signed the petition.

Now, it is asserted by some that they did not understand how the grade had been established, although twenty days before a city engineer was attached to the petition. After the petition had been properly considered by the council and other city authorities a board of appraisers was appointed to report on the matter. This board was made up of C. E. Scarr, S. J. Akerly and G. W. Green. The report filed shows that no damage would accrue to the adjacent property by the grading of this section of Twenty-seventh street.

Property owners now want the work stopped and the grade changed. Various numbers of the city council, as well as the mayor, have been appealed to, but it does not appear that anything can be done for the reason that the petition and the profile went through the regular channels and those who desired to protest had ample time to do so, as each grading ordinance must be published twenty days before a contract can be let. It may be that some steps may be taken to stop the work or induce the council to make a change of grade at its next meeting.

Board Issues Orders.

The Board of Health, through Chief Inspector Jones, yesterday notified property owners and tenants on Twenty-fourth between Q and U streets to make connections with the sewer now being laid. By doing this the health officers assert that the sanitary condition in that portion of the city will be greatly improved and that it will stop complaints. When the sewer connections are made it is expected that the street department will fix up the holes in the street caused by the running of sewage down the gutter.

Price of Coal Goes Up.

Local coal dealers yesterday advanced the price of anthracite coal to $11 a ton. This advance has been predicted for some time. Now the dealers say that there is no telling when the top will be reached. There is very little hard coal on hand here just now, but some of the dealers who bought early are secured by contracts. Some of those in the business figure that hard coal will go to $14 before the winter is over.

Delinquent Tax List.

City Treasurer Howe has just about completed the compiling of the delinquent tax list. This list includes all delinquent taxes on real and special taxes up to the present time. This list will be ready to turn into the county treasurer on Monday, September 1. While the list is a long one, it is not as large as a year ago, as taxes have been paid much more promptly within the last year or two than formerly.

May Fight Payment.

A few days ago Max Rosenthal secured a solicitor's license for his clothing store on N street. This fee of $100, he says, he paid under protest. He now proposes to commence suit against the city to recover the amount paid, acting upon the suggestion of his attorney that the ordinance under which he paid the fee is not legal.

Mercer Gets Frost.

David H. Mercer, candidate for re-nomination to congress for the sixth time, and his orderly, Tom Blackburn, were in the city yesterday and made an attempt to renew former friendships. Mercer was given the cold shoulder, as the people of South Omaha are disgusted with him and his manner of making a campaign. Many of the former supporters of Mercer told the aspirant for a sixth term that they would not vote for him under any consideration. At the Live Stock exchange Mercer received the same chilly reception that he got in the business part of the city.

Hospital Benefit.

The amateur performances for the benefit of the hospital continue at the old Sloane building on Twenty-fifth street. On the first night the attendance was not so good as it should have been, but last night was a little better. Tonight the season closes. It is hoped by the management that quite a sum of money will be realized for the hospital by these entertainments.

Enser Buys Gold Brick.

Yesterday Dr. Enser was exhibiting to his friends a small gold brick which came from his mine in Arizona. The doctor paid $240 for the souvenir, which was the first run, and represented the smelting of twenty-five cars of ore. The brick weighs fourteen ounces and is pronounced to be pure gold.

FRATERNAL UNION PICNIC

Judge Vinsonhaller and Dr. Hanchett Deliver Addresses to Immense Crowd.

Over 1,000 people attended the picnic of the Fraternal Union of America at Arlington Thursday. Addresses were made by Judge D. M. Vinsonhaller and Dr. W. H. Hanchett, who spoke upon the growth of fraternal insurance in America and its development from the friendly societies of England. The program at the grounds included numerous games and contests. It was late before the party returned to the city.
