

MONEY SAVING

How the Banking Department of Brandeis & Sons Can Help You.

THE HOME SAFE.

A Unique Device that Takes Care of Pennies, Dimes and All Coins Up to a Dollar—How Your Money Can Draw Four Per Cent.

A penny. The smallest coin this country has—and yet it is the real unit of value.

There is another truism which says: "A penny not spent is two pennies gained." Then there's another saying which reads: "Take care of the pennies and the dollars will take care of themselves."

It's real astonishing what a penny will do when joined with other pennies.

A snowflake is nothing by itself. Comes down slowly—melts—it has disappeared. Died about the same time it was born.

But let all these little snowflakes get together and come down continuously, what do we get then? A blizzard that can take up the railroads of the country—play havoc with the mails and cause general suspension of business for several days.

Now take a penny, that modest little circle of copper. Most people look upon it as a convenient coin for newspapers and car fare, but just let the pennies get together once and they could make a combination of capital that could run this or any other country.

Penny collections have built churches and hospitals. A penny tax levied by a country at war has paid the expenses of a long and costly campaign.

There's many a man in this big town of ours now living in a house now owned by himself that was bought and paid for with the savings began with the putting away of a penny, or a dime, or a quarter into a little safe. There are scores of holidays in American homes that are made happier, brighter and more gladsome, from the savings laid up for these glad days in little savings banks of all descriptions.

Now the Brandeis and Sons bank has a little Home Safe, that helps you save your odd coins. It goes over for the pennies and enables your savings to draw large interest. Let us explain this.

There has just been instituted in the Boston Store, a bank under the name of J. L. Brandeis & Sons, Bankers. You will find it on the top floor, overlooking the main floor. You can start a bank account at this bank as low as $1.00. Then you are furnished with a private home as safe. This is nothing more than a conveniently constructed strong gun metal box.

It has a locked door at the bottom and at the top is a slot for money, with patent device inside to keep any of the coins from slipping out. This safe has but one purpose—to help you save the small sums that are often so needlessly spent. Just because they don't at the time seem to amount to so very much. But the minute you begin to save you will see how quickly pennies run into dimes and dimes into dollars.

Through this little slot in the top, you can deposit coins, from a penny to a dollar. And bear in mind that small coins accumulate rapidly. Ten cents a day makes $3.60 a month. This little safe is given to each depositor (after the first deposit of $1 has been made), so locked that it cannot be taken out. The bank holds the key.

And only the cashier of the banking department or a teller can open it. You are expected to take the safe home and begin systematically to save. Put any of the small coins that you have no immediate use for in the safe and you will be surprised how many little things you will do without in order to hear the musical jingle of the coins that you accumulate in this gun metal bank. As its holdings get larger, its music grows louder and more pleasing.

At stated intervals, say thirty or sixty days, you bring this little safe to the banking department. It will be unlocked and its contents carefully counted. They will then be entered up to your account in a pass book, which will have been previously given to you, and also on the ledger.

Your money now begins to earn interest and at the rate of 4 per cent. Then, too, you can withdraw your savings at any time—no notice is necessary. In fact, you can draw out your money at any time, either in whole or part, or to make the matter more plain, you can simply use this bank as one in which you are keeping a running account, and yet any amount that you have placed to your credit there is drawing interest at the rate of 4 per cent.

The little safe in which you are supposed to keep your savings at home is loaned to you absolutely free of charge. One dollar of your account is simply held to insure its safe return. But that dollar always belongs to you, bear this in mind, and you can have it at any time on the return of the safe. The presence of this safe in a home is equivalent to having a branch of the Brandeis bank always near you and always open. You can deposit your money at any time and to any amount. But after once having been placed in the safe, it must be brought to the bank.

The good feature of this plan of saving is that you will drop in the little home safe many small amounts that you would not under ordinary circumstances take to the bank, and this prevents you from spending them. The most prudent folks know that loose money kept within immediate touch affords a continuous temptation to spend it in luxuries, pleasures or articles not absolutely needed. This little home bank also affords a splendid means of teaching children the methods of frugality and also the real value of one dollar at a time.

It will also inculcate in them the taste for saving, and that taste for saving has won thousands of men success and fortune. Waiting for something to turn up to bring you riches is like waiting for money in a shipwreck—or expecting to take two jumps to an outgoing boat.

A house is built by placing one brick upon another. A solid, substantial fortune has been acquired by placing one penny upon another—each dollar a brick.

But make a visit to the Brandeis bank and get full particulars. It will interest you to see how thorough in every way its methods are and upon what careful, substantial, practical lines it has been planned. The banking hours are from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Anyone can save in small amounts. A very few can save in large amounts. Every person, especially the young, should have a bank, large or small. An account with Brandeis & Sons, Bankers, encourages thrift and leads to the formation of good business habits.

UNIQUE EQUINE BALLET.

A Very Interesting Act Provided by Ringling Brothers.

Ringling Brothers, whose popular big circus exhibits in Omaha again Monday, September 15, promise several surprises in the way of horse displays this season. The latest addition in this line—and one which seems to have created a furore in other sections of the country—is O'Brien's new equine ballet in the equine ballet there are three divisions, the first composed of Barbary horses, black and glossy as shining ebony; the second, of purest white Arabians; and the third, comprising a troupe of creamy yellow American horses, with silvery mane and white, shining tail.

Each of these horses has a skilled rider, whose costume is in harmony with the gorgeous trappings of the superb animal kept so perfectly under control. Fifty trumpeters take their positions on the elevated stages, and as they sound a crashing fanfare the curtains part and the platoons of black, white and yellow horses appear, directed by their skilled and gorgeously costumed riders—plumes nodding, ribbons flying—all keeping time to the exhilarating music of the trumpeters. The music changes, the color divisions separate into the several rings and the only equine ballet company on earth faces the fascinated audience.

Again the music changes, and in accurate time and step the horses move in harmonious measure through all the intricate figures and poses of an elaborately arranged ballet. To the right, to the left, pirouetting, waiting, marching, now forming noble statures and again circling in swiftest dance step like whirling streams of rainbow color, they constitute a spectacle so thrilling, so classically harmonious, that the senses seem intoxicated with a new sense of beauty. A striking climax is reached when the entire company of horses advances to the center of the arena, and kneeling, allow their riders to dismount. The horses then simultaneously lie down. A moment later they rise to sitting position, the riders remount, pages and squires enter and supply each rider with a garland of flowers, and, as the music changes once more, they enter upon a series of graceful figures, in which the garlands, used as floral arches, are cleverly utilized to form the most effective and beautiful pictures. The serene performance is equally notable, and those who enjoy a modern, up-to-date circus will evidently have no cause to complain of a lack of diversity.

SALE MAY BE MADE MONDAY

Saunders and Brown Estates Get Permission to Sell Street Railway Stock.

PRICE IS NINETY DOLLARS PER SHARE

If All but Ten Per Cent of the Stock is Ready for Transfer Monday, Sellsman Offer Will Be Accepted.

In the county court yesterday the administrator of the estate of Alvin Saunders was authorized to sell to J. & W. Seigman & Co. 200 shares of the Omaha Street Railway company stock, and the administrator of the J. J. Brown estate was authorized to sell 250 shares of the same stock to the same firm. The price at which the stock is to be sold is $90 a share, the par value of which is $100.

The authorization was secured at this time because Monday, the day upon which it is expected that the stockholders will make known their desire to sell the stock to the New York company. Under the terms of the offer made by the Seigmans 90 per cent of the stock in the company is to be ready to deliver to them by September 3. Officials of the company are authorized as to the progress they are making in securing the amount of stock necessary to satisfy the eastern company, but it is generally reported that with the stock authorized to be sold by the county court nearly the full amount required has been secured.

Some of the officials were provoked to anger by the statement published in a local paper that the "men on the inside" were to receive $2 per cent for their stock, while the smaller holders were to receive only 90 per cent, and professed to believe that the report had been published for the purpose of creating suspicion in the minds of some of the people who hold comparatively small blocks of the stock.

Two Dollars Per Share Surplus. The price to be paid for 90 per cent of the stock in the company is $90 per share, said an officer of the corporation. "Every stockholder, large or small, will get this amount if the price is always $90 and there will be no discrimination. The 2 per cent talk may come from the fact that the company has a reserve fund which amounts to about $2 on each share of stock. If the sale is made this surplus will be divided among the stockholders, so that each holder will receive $92 for each share, $90 from the purchasers and $2 from the reserve."

The whole question of the sale depends upon the amount of stock offered for sale between now and Monday. The prospect is encouraging for the consummation of the bargain, but there is always a chance that such a deal will not go through until the money is paid over and the stock transferred.

Big Attraction Today—Tomorrow Labor Day Picnic—Others Coming.

The free attractions and performances to be given today at Courtland beach will be greater, than any Sunday gala this season. The regular beach attractions of the past week, and in addition the new trapeze novelty of Sig. Frisco, the singing of the quartet, Tony Faust in his marvellous performance, the laughable and amusing entertainment by Frisco and Faust on their revolving ladder, will be among the attractions. The usual balloon ascension and parachute jump will also take place.

Members of the forty-three labor organizations and their families will celebrate Labor day tomorrow by giving a picnic at Courtland beach. Prominent labor speakers will make addresses. The speaking will take place at 2 o'clock. Because of the present unsettled labor conditions it is expected the picnic will be the largest ever held in Omaha.

Two or three big picnics are to be held at Courtland during September.

Preparations have been made to receive a larger number of picnickers on Monday at the Musical festival, both at the afternoon concert and the evening. No more enjoyable and restful recreation can be found than in listening to the delightful music of the Royal Italian band.
