Details that have been received during the last two days prove that the cruption of Mount Pelee of August 30 was far more violent than any of the earlier explosions. As the eruptions continue the mouth of Mount Pelee grows in size. It is now of enormous proportions. Morne Lacroix, one of the peaks that reared skyward from the side of Pelee, has fallen bodily into the crater and has been completely swallowed. There seems to be a side pressure in the crater and the burning chasm widens perceptibly every day.

Clouds no more hang about the crest of Mount Pelee. The terrific heat seems to drive everything away. The column of flame and smoke rears directly into the heavens, so that its top is lost to sight. In the darkness of the night it has the appearance of a stream of molten iron, standing fixed between heaven and earth. From Morne ANXIOUS TO LEAVE ST. "Should Mount Pelee 'blow its head off' the loss of life consequent upon the production of a great tidal wave would be appalling. With Pelee as a center, a chain of Islands extends northwestward embracing a population of some 770,000 persons. Almost without exception 'the cities and villages are situated along the coasts and but slightly elevated above the sea. A tidal wave forty feet high would probably destroy a half million lives before it dashed against the shores of Porto Rico, with its 1,000,000 inhabitants. "The people of these islands are in a hard situation. Their communication with the outer world depends largely on a sixgle line of steamers which call at intervals of from ten days to three weeks at some of the islands when freight offers. The whole fleet of this line could not carry 3,000 persons.
