

CATHOLIC MISSION BEGINS

Fortnight's Campaign Opens at New Church of the Sacred Heart.

FATHER DONOHUE GIVES FIRST SERMON

Speaker Says Ties of Life Fall, but Love of God Continues—Announces Subjects of Sermons for This Week.

The first mission to be held in the new church of the Sacred Heart, Twenty-second and Blinn streets, was opened Sunday morning with solemn high mass, at which Father P. J. Judge, pastor of the parish, was celebrated, assisted by Father Schraefle, S. J., deacon; Mr. Brockman, S. J., subdeacon, and Mr. Francis Gentilman, master of ceremonies. Rosary's mass was sung by the choir, the soloists being Miss Addie Scanlon, Miss Margaret Flynn, Miss Purrell, Miss Parnellia Gougeon, Mrs. Mulvihill, M. J. Cannon and James Swift.

The sermon was preached by Father Donohue, S. J., one of the missionaries who are to conduct the mission for the next two weeks. He took as his text the words, "Come unto me all you who labor and are heavy laden and I will refresh you." He said in part:

"From God's holy temple, from the inner sanctuary of the holy of holies, a message of love has gone forth to all members of this congregation. It has echoed in every heart and been talked of at every festive. This large congregation shows that the message has been heeded. The message was 'Come to the mission,' and every heart will respond, for each feels that it was a personal message. I think some such a gathering as this met the gaze of the good and tender-hearted Shepherd as he went about Judea 2,000 years ago, who sat at the feet of the wonder worker of Israel, their Lord and their God that they did not yet know. Brethren, it was love attuned to their hearts when in the glory and strength of His manhood Jesus Christ offered them His love, His life, His sorrow and the pain of every mood of every heart. He said: 'Come to me and I will refresh you.' Today the same God looks on of the tabernacle. He sees your affliction, knows your heaviness, your burden and your pain and offers you His love, because you labor and are burdened, and He will refresh you.

Willing to Blot Out Sins.

"The ties of life, the most sacred of them, will fall, but the love of God continues and from His glory He takes thought of you. He is willing to blot out all the sins and make you His companion, which He invites you now to be. Love is the keynote of the service which begins here today. True love does not consist in words only, but proves itself in deeds. Jesus Christ proved His love for you by dying on the cross. If God had done no more for you than to have Him you would be in hell today. If you treated your fellow men in the ordinary affairs of life as you treat your God you would be banished from the places of men."

The priest then announced the program of the mission as follows: Mass and sermon at 8:30 and 9:30 a. m., stations of the cross at 3 p. m., instructions at 7 p. m., and evening service at 7:45 p. m. At 7 o'clock instruction non-Catholics who desire to study the tenets of the church are invited to be present, as well as those adults who have not made their first communion. During the first week the evening services will be for women only and during the last week for men only. The sermons of the first week will be repeated the second week and the times is divided between men and women, to permit each to have seats, as were both to be present all of the time there were no seats in the room in the church for the people. He requested the people not to bring the children, as they would occupy the places designed for their elders and would receive but little benefit from the sermons.

The subjects for the evening lectures during the first week are: Monday, "The Battle Ground of Life"; Tuesday, "Can Man Forgive Sins?" answered from the St. James Bible; Wednesday, "The Supreme Sanction of the Law"; Thursday, "The Gateway of Eternal Life"; Friday, "Give an Account of Thy Stewardship." There will be no evening service Saturday and the final sermon of the week will be preached Sunday at 3 p. m., the subject being "The Crown and the Work."

IOWA PREACHER AT CASTELLAR.

Rev. W. G. Reynolds of Marion Occupies Omaha Pulpit.

Rev. W. G. Reynolds of Marion, Ia., preached at the Castellar Presbyterian church Sunday morning and at the conclusion of the sermon ordained Dr. Robert E. Eskildson, Herman Walker and George E. Crosby as ruling trustees of the church. Rev. Reynolds told of the causes of the sorrow of Jesus before the Transfiguration. He said that Jesus was dejected; He wanted human sympathy; He knew of the great trouble and suffering that were in store for Him at Jerusalem; but His disciples knew it not. "They could not give Him sympathy, for they did not understand; they knew not the cause of His dejection and Peter rebuked Him for it."

Young Man from Sioux City Finds it Rather Expensive to Be Economical.

H. N. Hood, a youthful traveler from over in Iowa, is the guest of the police, awaiting the arrest of two men who robbed him of a five and a silver watch Saturday night. Hood was enroute to Omaha from his home in Sioux City, Ia., to seek employment. In order to keep next to his small capital he elected to make the trip in a box car. Two other parties had pre-empted claims in the car, but gladly allowed Hood to stake off a berth in one corner. By the time the train had reached Council Bluffs the companions were aware of the fact that Hood was the possessor of money. When the train stopped near the Northwestern depot the news was gently broken to Hood that he was going to be robbed. Before he could fully digest the information he and the other took his valises. Then they left Hood in possession of the car. Hood came to Omaha Sunday morning and reported the robbery to the police.

CHRONIC DIARRHOEA

Cured by One Bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

"My father had for years been troubled with chronic diarrhoea and tried every means possible to effect a cure, but all to no avail," says John H. Zirkle of Phillipi, Va. "He saw Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy advertised in the Republican and decided to try it. The result was one bottle of it cured him and he has not suffered with this disease for over eighteen months. Before taking this remedy he was a constant sufferer. He is now sound and well, and although 60 years of age, can do as much work as a young man. These are facts and you can use the above if you desire." GOOD FOR HOSPITAL SERVICE

Graduates of Agricultural Colleges Succeeded in Medical Department of Army.

The agricultural colleges of the country are being drawn upon extensively by the army of the United States for men for the hospital corps. An experienced army officer, connected with the medical department, said:

"There is something about the average graduate of the agricultural colleges of the country which makes him attractive to the army. He is a man of high character, in the first place these colleges give instruction in chemistry and physics which are invaluable to the hospital steward and without which the recruit in the hospital corps can never expect to be advanced to a stewardship."

"I remember that once when stationed at a post in Kansas I depleted the graduating class of the state agricultural college at Manhattan. The hospital corps was small then and we needed good men. I sent down to Manhattan and showed the graduates what they might expect if they entered in the hospital corps of the regular army. So many of them came that it attracted the attention of some of the state officials. These men, by the way, were populists and do not seem to have a very high idea of army life. They complained and said: 'The state of Kansas has gone to considerable expense to educate these men, expecting them to become citizens of the state and add to its wealth by the production of crops and stock raising. Now they are going to take them into the army and the state loses the men and the money spent upon their education.'

"I told those fellows that as long as the men were not appreciated in civil life, as long as the farmers paid no more for the work of graduates of their agricultural colleges than for free work of a man who could probably not read nor write the men could not be blamed for improving their condition by enlisting in the army. They came in, anyway, and I am proud to say that of the entire lot not one proved to be a failure. They are all I believe, hospital stewards today, drawing about $100 per month, while if they had continued in civil life they would be little better off than when they started."

TRouble on Street Railway

Collisions and Engine Breakage Cause Several Slight Interruptions to Traffic.

At 6:40 o'clock yesterday evening a collision occurred at Twelfth and Farnam streets between a northbound Council Bluffs car and motor 148 of the Farnam line, which was coming up from Eleventh street. The Iowa cars have the right-of-way at this crossing. The Farnam car was quite close to the intersection of the tracks before the motor could see the other coming. He quickly shut off the power and applied the brake, but could not stop in time. The Bluffs car threw the other off the rails and strewed it around broadside to the track so that it blocked both the up and down roads on Farnam street. No one was hurt by the accident, but the fender and brake of the lighter car were smashed off and a little damage done to the running board of the other. It was nearly twenty minutes before the car could be gotten on the rails again.

At almost the same time a small rear-end collision occurred at Walnut Hill car was bent out of shape. This was standing still and the other coming up could not be stopped, even when the motorman reversed the power. None of the passengers were injured.

The big engine at the Nineteenth street power house got out of order shortly before 7 o'clock and the smaller one had to be used. This engine has not power enough for the line, so the current was shut off between Sixteenth and Webster and Nineteenth and Cuming streets for about fifteen minutes while the damage to the larger engine was repaired.

OMAHA JOBBERS DOING WELL

Trade Excursion Breaks All Records and Carnival Prospects Are Fine.

With the week just closed the Omaha jobbers find themselves far ahead in volume of business and number of customers of the same time last year, with better prospects for the coming month than that which faced them twelve months ago. The second trade excursion of the season closed Saturday morning, and the reports are reported at the Commercial club rooms for certificates under the plan which permitted them to visit the city at reduced rates. In addition to these there were many who came in Wednesday and Saturday on the low rates offered on account of the musical festival and did not report to the joint agent of the railroads.

The prospect is even better than the realization for the wholesalers. Many of their customers whom they expected last to postpone their trip until the opening of the Ak-Sar-Ben carnival. Last year the shooting of President McKinley and the uncertainty which preceded his death caused many of the people to remain away from the annual festival and while the visitors who are trying to get a moment of the musical festival and did not report to the joint agent of the railroads.

STOLE ALTAR CANDLES!

Sacriligious Thief Makes Away with Costly Ornaments from St. Mary Magdalene's.

Detective Savage met a man on Douglas street about 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon who was trying to sell a pair of eighteen inch ornamental candlesticks of solid brass, gilded. The detective having never seen such properties elsewhere than on an altar arrested the man on suspicion. A short time after his incarceration Father Ghauber of St. Mary Magdalene's Catholic church, who was situated between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets on Douglas, came to the police station to report the loss of two candlesticks, which had disappeared from behind the altar of his church during the day. The stolen property was returned to the priest. He then identified the man who had been arrested with them in his possession as a stranger who had been to the church during the afternoon to arrange for the baptism of his child on the next day. After making these arrangements the priest paid no further attention to the man's movements. The prisoner gave his name as F. W. Miller and said that he brought the candlesticks over from Council Bluffs yesterday because he needed money. He said that he had them for six weeks, but never since they were used on his mother's coffin. The stolen ornaments are worth about $10 each.

An increase in railroad valuations would be of no assistance to those school districts that at present are not assisted by that form of taxation, and certainly it appears that the railroad pay their full portion of taxes in the school districts through which they run. Railroads are the greatest subscribers to country school funds. The teachers' fund appears to be supplied, should the fund for "incidentals" be increased?

EXAMPLE OF SCHOOL REPORTS IN THIS COUNTY FROM DISTRICTS CROSS-

Table with columns: District, Number of Pupils, Total Amount Paid, Incidental Expenses, Total Amount Received, Balance Forward, Total Amount Paid, Total Amount Received, Balance Forward.

The foregoing statements show that the school districts located along the lines of railroads are the districts which are the best supported. In regard to the expenditure of the funds from the districts where the railroads pass, the greater proportion of money, we call attention to the extraordinary amount of incidental expenses incurred. In District No. 37 there was one item of $302.34 expended for fence, which is a rather extravagant expenditure for a country school house, but as "the railroads pay the tax" in this district the school directors appear to be quite liberal with the money, so much so that the incidental expenses amount to about half what is paid the school teacher.

These are remarkable examples of incidental expenditures in Nebraska school districts. In District No. 36, in Keith county, some time ago, the statement of the school officers, who consisted of Matt Beckius, director; Mrs. Sus Beckius, treasurer, and O. Richards, moderator, made the following showing in a district which only reported an average of two scholars in attendance. The certified record of their expenditures was as follows:

TRAVEL FREE FROM BOSTON

Eastern Men Come West at Expense of Union Pacific Company.

THEN REFUSE TO WORK IN THE SHOPS

Bostonian Says Members of His Party All Knew Strike Was On in Omaha and Signed Contracts Accordingly.

From the story told by Thomas Johnson, one of forty-nine men who arrived in Omaha Saturday from Boston at the expense of the Union Pacific Railroad company, ostensibly to work in the company's shops, the Union Pacific is being adroitly and systematically "worked" by men looking for a chance to get west without work of any kind.

"I hired to the company's agents in Boston because I wanted to get away from the east and land out here in the west," said Johnson. "I never had the least idea of going to work in the shops here, and there were many others in this gang that I know of who were working the same scheme. I am a consumptive. The doctors told me long ago I would have to leave the east or die, so I determined to come west. While I am a machinist by trade and a union man at that I did not intend when I hired to the Union Pacific to go to work on reaching Omaha, and I didn't, either, for I left the shops this morning."

Johnson justifies his desertion on the grounds that he did not bind himself to work and live on premises which had been made by armed men, nor did he expect to eat and sleep on the company's grounds. He thought he would enjoy the freedom and safety of choosing his own place of abode and says he objected to the necessity of being the object of police protection. Johnson was accompanied by one of his Bostonian friends when he left the shops. The strikers believe many others of this number will come out.

Johnson says it cost him just $2 to make the trip from the Hub to Omaha. He indirectly bestows a substantial compliment upon the Union Pacific and says that the men while enroute by train that they came all the way in Pullman sleepers. Johnson's object is to seek to regain his health and to this end he expects to go to Denver or some other mountain town.

Known a Strike Existence.

This man from the east turned a damper upon some of the reports which have been made by imported strikers. He declares that so far as the Union Pacific's agents in Boston are concerned they are not practicing deception with the men they employ regarding the existence of a strike. He expresses himself in these forcible terms upon this subject:

"Any man from Boston who says he did not know a strike was in progress on the Union Pacific is a liar. The first thing we are shown after we agree to go to work for the company is a contract, clearly stipulating that there is a strike on and that the man employed comes out to be met by the understanding that he is to take the place of a striker. So none of this gang with which I came can truthfully say that he was ignorant of the existence of a strike had been hired away from his home on false pretenses."

Men from Chicago who have been imported to Omaha by the Union Pacific during this strike, have made similar statements and an official of the Union Pacific once disclosed a copy of the contract of two new arrivals. Notwithstanding the fact that these contracts are entered into in Chicago and Boston, the officials themselves admit that in Philadelphia, Cincinnati and some other cities where men are being hired, no such contracts and no such conditions are disclosed.

Strikers have been advised from Chicago that another carload of men will arrive in Omaha today to go into the shops.

As the Fire and Police board prohibited the police from carrying out their duty to play a game of ball with the bartenders, the machinists on a strike have taken the places of the policemen and the game will be played tomorrow afternoon at Vinton street park, the proceeds to go to the strike benefit fund.

Move Your Office.

While there are only about ten vacant rooms in the whole Bee Building, there are among them, some of the very choicest offices in the building and also some, which, while not so desirable, can be rented at a very low price.

The rental price you must remember, includes light, water, heat and janitor service as well as immunity from fire insurance because the building is absolutely fire-proof.

List of vacant rooms in

The Bee Building

First Floor.

SUITE 101: There is no finer office suite in Omaha than this one. It is located just on the right hand of the great marble staircase, and is situated just on the right hand of the front entrance way of the building. It fronts on Farnam street. One room is 17x19 and the other 12x15. It has a burglar-proof vault, marble mantel piece, hardwood floors, and will be frescoed to suit tenant. Price $75.00.

ROOM 107: Here is a room that will be particularly adapted for an architect or some one else in hard work, including the floors, and is a bargain at. Price $20.00.

Third Floor.

ROOM 338: This is the only room on the second or third floor vacant, and is one of the choicest rooms in the building. It is 12x22, and can be divided to suit the tenant. A private office is desired. It is a decidedly handsome office, having entrance facing the court, and windows looking out on Seventeenth street. It has a very large burglar-proof vault, hardwood floors and is just the kind of an office that is hard to obtain ordinarily. Price $50.00.

Fourth Floor.

ROOM 421: This room is 12x14 feet and faces the court, is a light, pleasant room, and has a burglar-proof vault. Price $20.00.

Fifth Floor.

SUITE 514: This is a very large room, 15x24 feet. It faces west, but is very light and well ventilated. It is very seldom that space of this size is offered in the Bee Building. It could be used to advantage by some firm employing a lawyer, or some one who has a large floor space—a wholesale business, or it will be divided to suit the tenant. Price $50.00.

ROOM 520: This is a light, attractive room, 12x14 feet. It is light, and for while it faces the west, being on the fifth floor it is light, and for some one not in need of large floor space, would be a fine office. Price $14.00.

ROOM 621: This room faces the court and is 12x14 feet. It has a burglar-proof vault, and as it is near the telegraph office and on the same floor with a number of grain firms, it would be a particular good room for a grain firm dealing first-class accommodation. Price $20.00.

Sixth Floor.

SUITE 610: This consists of two rooms, both 12x14 feet. Each of them has a large burglar-proof vault, have been newly decorated and are rooms where any business or professional man may be comfortable. Price for the two $25.00.
