

DAY IS TO SUCCEED KEYSOR

Governor Savage Names Supreme Court Commissioner for District Bench.

TERM IS ONLY UNTIL AFTER ELECTION

Judge Day Uncertain Whether He Will Resign to Relinquish His Present Position to Accept the Proffered Place.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Sept. 8.—(Special.)—George A. Day of Omaha, member of the supreme court commission, has been appointed by Governor Savage to succeed W. W. Keysor as judge in the Fourth judicial district. The announcement was made this afternoon, immediately after the receipt of Judge Keysor's resignation. Judge Keysor leaves to join the faculty of Washington university law school in St. Louis. The appointment will be effective September 25. If Judge Day accepts the appointment he must necessarily resign his position as commissioner, in which event his successor will be chosen by the supreme court. It is understood here that Mr. Day will accept, for the term of the present commission will expire on April 1, next year. Had Judge Keysor held over for a few days in October his appointed successor could have retained the office until the next general election after the one which is to be held this year. As it is, however, an election of a judge will be necessary and Mr. Day, if he accepts the appointment, will unquestionably be a candidate for the nomination.

Day is in Doubt. It is not certain that Judge Day will accept the appointment. On the contrary, it is more probable that he will not. The first intimation Judge Day had of the governor's action was at 3:30 o'clock last night, when a reporter for The Bee called at his residence at 2833 Marcy street.

"I had no idea that Judge Keysor intended to resign at this time," said Judge Day. "It was my belief and the belief of the other candidates for his position that he would not resign before the 23d. At this time I cannot say whether or not I will accept the office. If I did, of course I would have to resign as a member of the supreme court commissioner and I have considerable work yet unfinished on that account. I believe that it would not be fair for me to resign and leave the other members of the commission to do that work. "I am certainly surprised at the appointment, for Judge Keysor said that he would not resign before the 23d. I shall consult with my friends before making a statement as to whether or not I shall accept the appointment."

IS IT AN EPIDEMIC?

Vital Statistics Show an Alarming Increase in an Already Prevailing Disease—Are Any Exempt?

At no time in the history of disease has there been such an alarming increase in the number of cases of any particular malady as in that of kidney and bladder troubles now prevailing upon the people of this country. Today we see a relative, a friend or an acquaintance apparently well, and in a few days we may be grieved to learn of their serious illness or sudden death, caused by that fatal type of kidney trouble—Bright's disease.

Kidney trouble often becomes advanced into acute stages before the afflicted is aware of its presence; that is why we read of so many sudden deaths of prominent business and professional men, physicians and others. They have neglected to stop the leak in time. While scientists are puzzling their brains to find out the cause, each individual can, by a little precaution, avoid the chances of contracting dreaded and dangerous kidney trouble, or eradicate it completely from their system if already afflicted. Many precious lives might have been, and many more can yet be saved, by paying attention to the kidneys.

It is the mission of The Omaha Bee to benefit its readers at every opportunity and therefore we advise all who have any symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble to write today to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a free sample bottle of Swamp-Root, the celebrated specific which is having such a great demand and remarkable success in the cure of the most distressing kidney and bladder troubles. With the simple bottle of Swamp-Root will also be sent free a pamphlet and treatise of valuable information.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Pittsboro Has Much Trouble with Escaped Inmate of Clarinda Asylum.

PLATTSBURGH, Neb., Sept. 8.—(Special.)—Sheriff J. D. McBride is having much trouble with the insane man who was picked up on the streets here last Friday, who gave his name as William Jones. Saturday afternoon Deputy Sheriff Schlatter caught the man with a piece of glass which he had broken from a window, with which it was supposed he intended to attempt to commit suicide. The glass was taken from him and another prisoner was instructed to keep a close watch during the day, while another man was employed to watch him during the night. Yesterday afternoon he took a blanket from his couch, and getting upon a chair fastened one end around his neck, but was discovered while trying to escape four or five days ago. That no one knew where he came from and that he was not wanted there. The insanity board will probably pass on his case tomorrow.

It is now known that the man's name is Lon Smith, and that he escaped from the Asylum for Insane at Clarinda, Ia. The above name was found on all his clothing except his coat and vest.

A telephone message from Clarinda this afternoon stated that Smith had been a patient there for several months and had escaped four or five days ago. That no one knew where he came from and that he was not wanted there. The insanity board will probably pass on his case tomorrow.

Like in the Old Times. OSCEOLA, Neb., Sept. 8.—(Special.)—The young people of the First Methodist Episcopal church, in the services yesterday morning, were taught how their fathers and grandfathers did in their services in old times. G. A. Hobson, who was a former Methodist preacher in the county. After the public services a class meeting was held with J. F. Campbell, as leader.

WORD TO SCHOOL OFFICERS

Remarks of State Superintendent Pertinent to Opening of Schools.

STATE FAIR DOES WELL FINANCIALLY

Practically All of the Nebraska National Guardsmen Vote to Go Into Camp at Fort Riley.

LINCOLN, Sept. 8.—(Special.)—Superintendent Fowler this afternoon addressed the following salutatory communication to superintendents and principals of schools throughout the state. "The many matters of importance in connection with the new school year: At this time, the beginning of another school year, I desire to extend to you the warmest greetings and to express my best wishes for the success of the schools under your supervision. It is my earnest hope that the new year will be a month of joy to you and to your pupils. I hope the following suggestions may prove of some benefit to you. We hope to meet many of you in Lincoln during the superintendents' and principals' section meetings, which are being held at the Lincoln Hotel, and we are glad to see the program is being prepared. See the August issue of the Nebraska Teacher for a list of the speakers for all who attend. This meeting means more to city superintendents and principals than it does to the teachers' association. You cannot afford to miss it.

Many cases of sickness may be attributed to impure drinking water. Remember that the majority of cases of cholera, typhoid fever, diphtheria, etc., have not been used during vacation, and that the water very likely is impure. See to it before school begins that a supply of pure, fresh water is available. And all school yards should be cleared of weeds and rubbish. A new school law places United States history among the requirements for a third grade certificate, reduces the number of third grade certificates to which a teacher is entitled from three to two, makes attendance at teachers' county institutes compulsory, and after July 1, requires a knowledge of the elements of agriculture for first and second grade county certificates.

Permit me to call the attention of county superintendents to their duties as set forth in section 14 of subdivision 7, and superintendents in metropolitan cities and in cities of the first and second classes should confer with the county superintendents in these respects. It is better to have a school in Nebraska than to have a school in Nebraska. The biennial report of this department will be issued January 1, next. Much of the copy for it is in manuscript and will be sent to them immediately after they are forwarded as prepared.

School Buildings. The school buildings in Nebraska will be revised and will form a part of this report. We hope you will regain the cuts of school buildings used in the former publication for use in this report, and that many of the photographs will be sent in for the same purpose. Photographs should be forwarded to us before October 15, to insure their being included in the report. Villages employing from three to six teachers should not attempt to do more than two years' district work, unless in exceptional cases. Particularly where the principal is required to teach a part of the eighth grade subjects he should not be required nor should he attempt to go beyond the tenth grade to the bars at the top of the eighth grade. The principal who received at this office relative to a two-year course for the principal should suggest the following: Ninth grade, advanced English grammar, with English literature and composition; geometry, trigonometry and bookkeeping, algebra, physical geography, tenth grade, rhetoric, algebra and plane geometry, botany and zoology, general history. Teach these well and do not worry.

The work of the Nebraska Teachers' Reading circle is, as you know, voluntary, but there should be full encouragement from the superintendent or principal. If a professional study and enthusiasm in the subject, this is a valuable auxiliary in securing better school work. You and your teachers cannot afford to miss this opportunity of study and discussion of Hodge's Nature Study and Life and one or more of the other books recommended by the reading circle board. For circulars of the reading circle work and outlines of the various books apply to your county superintendent.

Promotion from eighth grade to the High school should be a clearly defined step. Pupils are often permitted to slide along from year to year in the eighth grade, but in the eighth grade, where in a well-graded school all common school subjects are completed, the promotion is called a "halt." I believe that no other would do so much to benefit the state of Nebraska as to have it well understood that the eighth grade should not necessarily be completed in a term of nine months, nor that it is necessary to complete the High school. (Let us drop this idea of preparation for something else. But let us have it better understood that the eighth grade is a place for the satisfactory, intelligent completion of all common school subjects, and that it is disgraceful for a pupil to remain there two years. I believe that the thing would raise the standard of our high school work so rapidly and so thoroughly as to keep about 90 per cent of our pupils in the eighth grade two years.

High School Age Limit. Establish a minimum age for admission to the High school, say 13 years. Many of the rural districts are so backwardly compared favorably with those of the city or village because they have gone over their higher arithmetic, grammar, geometry, history and physiology two or three winters in succession, and are more mature than their city counterparts. I wish to include reading, writing, spelling, penmanship, arithmetic, geography, United States history, English grammar and composition, and to speak the English language correctly, and to spell. Superintendents and principals should be firm in requiring pupils to go over a year's work, and second time when it has been put off indefinitely.

In cities and villages there should be held an examination to determine the eighth grade to the High school, as required by that required by the county superintendent for graduation from the High school, and with special emphasis on the pupil's knowledge and use of the English language. It is desirable that the superintendent interest to have graduating or closing exercises for the pupils who complete the eighth grade. Let the school board hold in the High school room rather than in a public hall a meeting for the purpose of the completion of the work should be granted, giving final grades, either for examination or based partly on classwork, entitling the holder to admission to the High school without further examination.

Let us urge upon pupils the necessity of denying themselves the pleasure of social diversions during the school year, and to make Friday evening the time for fun and recreation. But the home must cooperate with the school in this plan if good results are to ensue. We often hear parents complaining against their much "party-going and party-giving" among our young people. Yet if parents fail to aid in proper control of these amusements, the "bad health and wasted energy and poor work due to party-going must remain without remedy. The proper co-operation of the home is a necessary factor in school matters. Let the home join hands with the school on this motto: "The school is the place where the home stands by the school in a reasonable amount of home study by pupils in the evening. If the school is the high school, Hon. H. H. Shedd, president of the Ashland Board of Education, has this to say for home study: "If the high school had no other purpose except to furnish a means for the employment in the evening, it would be no small advantage insofar as it requires their close attention to their studies, and a moral calamity if there were no study at night. It is a measure to many young people. Welcome the hardest work that the high school requires if it shows the incentive that keeps the young person faithfully at home and at work during the evening. There are no bad companionships mixed up with Latin or algebra. There is no four or danger connected with the study of literature or science. The benefit to pupils of a thorough review of the common school subjects of the higher course cannot be too strongly emphasized. Especially is this true of reading, spelling, let's arithmetic, geography of the United States and history, grammar and composition. The subject of letter writing is the most generally practiced and practically con-

ACREAGE OF NEBRASKA IN GRAIN

Latest Figures Compiled by State Bureau of Labor and Industrial Statistics, Covering an Important Feature of the Crop Situation in the State.

LINCOLN, Sept. 8.—(Special.)—Figures have been compiled in the Bureau of Labor and Industrial Statistics showing the acreage of the different grains in nearly all of the counties in the state. The total of winter wheat is shown to be 2,359,171, the acreage of winter wheat alone being 1,828,498. The acreage of corn is placed at 5,435,423. In the appended statement the figures on wheat in Phelps and Saline counties and on corn in Hooker, Knox, Phelps and Saline are merely estimates, based upon the reports made in former years. All other figures are taken from the returns of the tax assessors and are considered as nearly accurate as any so far obtained or published. Comparison with former years is impossible for the reason that the bureau never secured figures from more than a third of the counties. Following is the tabulation of the returns:

Dawn—Anticipation. The physical fits and needs of an expectant mother have been the theme of thought and study for ages, and all physicians know that her peculiar condition requires an additional aid to nature; an elasticifier for the expanding muscles and a strengthener for the sinews upon which is brought the strain of child weight; so that the little shall have perfect health and symmetry of form; a lubricating balm that will enable her to go about with grace and ease; quiet and steady nerves, and her whole being acting harmoniously for the good of herself and child.
