

OFFICIAL HAS HIS TROUBLES

Building Inspector Encounters Opposition in Performance of Duty.

DILAPIDATED STRUCTURE COMES DOWN

Harding's Old Junk Shop is Razed Despite Efforts of Lawyers to Stop Building Department from Acting.

Building Inspector Carter and the members of his department have in the course of the last few weeks experienced considerable trouble and unpleasantness arising out of the condemnation of the building at the corner of Twentieth and Izard streets, now occupied by L. Harding, a junk dealer. The building in question is a large structure, occupying nearly the entire lot upon which it stands, and was formerly occupied as a livery stable. For some time past it has been so badly out of repair as to be regarded as dangerous, and the building inspector determined that it must be torn down. This decision was accepted by the Byron Reed company, the agents for the property, but the tenant, Mr. Harding, positively refused to move. The building was condemned and Mr. Harding was notified, but still he refused to vacate, and yesterday Building Inspector Carter went to the premises with a crew of men and proceeded to tear down the structure. Mr. Harding and his wife protested vigorously and even threatened, but Mr. Carter would not be moved from his purpose, and after remaining for a time to see that the work of destruction was well under way he departed, leaving orders with the workmen not to desist in their efforts, no matter who should ask them to do so.

Mr. Harding, upon finding that the building inspector was in earnest, employed an attorney, but the attorney was unable to find Mr. Carter until Thursday night and during the afternoon the workmen had performed their duty so well that the building is no longer habitable. Through the efforts of the attorney, however, a compromise has been arranged whereby Mr. Harding is allowed until Monday to get his property out of the building, and no further work will be done until that time.

JURORS DRAWN FOR OCTOBER

Preparations for Resumption of Legal Grind at County Building.

Employees about the court house were reminded of the approaching resumption of the legal grind when Judge Read, Clerk of the District Court, Broadway and County Clerk Miller gathered in the latter's office yesterday and opened the jury book with a song service and a seal hammer.

The names of 240 men were drawn, half of whom will be summoned for jury service during the first three weeks after district court opens, Monday, October 6, and the other 120 for service in the succeeding three weeks. The first batch had to be drawn now, as twenty days notice is required before the juror begins serving, and the second batch was drawn yesterday morning merely for the sake of convenience.

Among those drawn for the first three weeks are: J. N. Frenzer, N. A. Kuhn, W. R. Homan, Adolph Swoboda, W. V. Morse, A. L. Read, A. V. Miller, president of the South Omaha school board; John E. Utt, John P. Finley, Thomas Swift, O. D. Kiplinger, Jesse Merritt and M. Hunsaker. Among those drawn for the succeeding three weeks are: Low Haarmann, J. O. Redmon, J. M. Metcalfe, W. Farnam Smith, W. H. Quennan, president of the South Omaha council; Oscar Karbach, Peter Jensen, J. P. Brown, W. F. Stocker, E. C. Blum and J. H. Treney.

It will be remembered that the tax list was drawn on with "business men's names" particularly in view and there has been a liberal sprinkling of their names in each drawing made.

As yet the coming terms give promise of little that will be at all sensational in the criminal docket. Anton Christensen, who recently shot and killed his wife, will get, probably, an early trial. For some time grand jury indictments to delay the budget of regular complaints. Gurley & Ransom, who first interested themselves in his case, have dropped it, he says, because he had not sufficient property, and W. C. Lambert will represent him in the county attorney's office. It is quoted as saying that he considers the evidence fully sufficient to convict the man of murder in the first degree.

Judge Baxter is expected to return to Omaha after his extended visit in the east between September 20 and 25. Judges Read, Estelle, Stabaugh and Dickinson are in the city. County Judge Vinsonhaler has been sitting through the summer whenever there was occasion, as the law provides for no term adjournment of his court.

WORK ON FEDERAL BUILDING

Structural Iron for Important Features of Addition to Arrive Soon.

Superintendent of Construction Murdock of the postoffice building said yesterday that important portions of the iron work would arrive the coming week. In the first place the grillage, or footing for the columns of the interior wall of the west side, is expected, and this has been long awaited. There will be about ten columns, each requiring this basing of steel grillage. Then the remaining iron work for the new elevator has been shipped and should be here by Wednesday at farthest. That for the first two stories is already on hand and, with this part coming, all the iron will be ready for carrying the elevator up the entire four stories. This lift will be in the new south wing.

HEAVY DEAL IN REAL ESTATE

C. E. Ford Residence is Sold to Harvard, Nebraska, Parties.

One of the heaviest deals in Omaha residence property which has taken place in a number of months was closed yesterday, by which Edward Updike, president of the Updike Grain company and president of the Harvard State bank at Harvard, Neb., secured the home of C. E. Ford at the corner of Thirty-sixth and Farnam streets.

The lot is eighty-five feet on Farnam street by about 132 on Thirty-sixth. It contains a modern residence complete in every detail, which has been accounted one of the most comfortable homes in a district known for its fine residences. The house was built for a permanent residence by Mr. Ford and was one of the few houses which was built slow enough to be absolutely sound. The former owner has made business arrangements which require his residence in Chicago or the house would not have been placed on the market.

The consideration for the sale was not made public, but it was stated that it was close to $25,000. The sale of the Evans residence in that neighborhood to Guy C. Barton for $50,000 was the heaviest deal made in West Farnam street property for many months, and the present one is second in amount of consideration.

LOTS FOR MONMOUTH SCHOOL

Committee of Board of Education Succeeds in Making Satisfactory Terms.

After some months of fruitless negotiations which at one time even led to practical abandonment of the project, the Board of Education is now completing arrangements for the purchase of five lots to be added to the site of the Monmouth Park school. The matter was placed some time ago in the hands of a special committee, which at a recent meeting reported that it had been offered for the lots, but the agent would not accept less than $2,000 and recommended that the negotiations be dropped. The board received the report and discharged the committee and then referred the matter to the committee on grounds and property, which it is understood has closed the deal for $1,850.

METHODIST MINISTERS MEET

Biennial Conference of North Nebraska District to Be Held Next Month.

The ministers of the Methodist church in Omaha are preparing for the annual conference of the North Nebraska district, which will take place at Grand Island the last day of this month. The conferences will be presided over by Bishop Fowler and will be composed entirely of ministers. No changes are contemplated in the present corps of ministers in Omaha, but provisions will be made for a pastor for the First Methodist church, which pulpit is now vacant.

Rev. William Gorse, presiding elder of the Elkhorn district, residing at Norfolk, has removed from the district, so one presiding elder will have to be selected. It is thought that there will not be any other changes among the presiding elders.

PULLED THE WRONG STRING

Union Pacific Shopman Caught in Machine and Badly Injured.

Inexperience in the art of wire pulling seems to have been the cause of a bad accident to a workman in the Union Pacific shops Thursday afternoon. A man named Brookes was caught in a lathe on which he was working and severely bruised about the back and stomach. His injury was at first thought to be dangerous, if not fatal, but after a visit upon the patient yesterday Dr. Updegraff of the company's medical department, pronounced the injury not dangerous. Brookes slept well during the night and rested well yesterday. The accident occurred, according to the statement given out at headquarters, by Brookes "pulling the wrong string" on the machine. His life was only saved, it was given out, by another workman, evidently familiar with the machine, "pulling the right string."
