TENDENCY TO CENTRALIZE

Industrial Concentration Discussed by Rev. Herring at First Congregational.

Says Community of Interests Will Not Be Stayed, but Will Continue to Progress to More Satisfactory Conditions.

"Our anti-trust legislation is abourd, from the fact that it is based upon the idea of turning things backward," said Rev. H. C. Herring in the course of his sermon at the First Congregational church yesterday morning; and those words, although by no means constituting a complete index to his discourse, may fairly be said to be indicative of its tenor. Dr. Herring took for his text Micab, vi:8 and said that the words of the prophet might be construed as indicating how easy it is and yet how difficult to be a good man. This suggestion the preacher applied particularly to industrial work. The industrial world he steadily coming to transcend in importance those three great forces of society, fore it was of the greatest importance that men should deal justly with one an-

D. K. Tindall.

In his sermon of last evening Rev. D. K. Tindall of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church preached from Acts 1, 8, the text "Ye shall receive power; after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you." He said: "The greatest need of the church is not numbers. Half the world's inhabitants are nominally Christians, and more than one-fourth are members of the Christian church. It can no longer be said, 'Fear not, little flock.' It is quality more than quantity that is required to capture the world for Christ. Gideon, with 300 men and the aword of the Lord, was more than a match for the hosts of Midianites. Abraham, with 318 picked men, was too much for all the kings of the valley of Sodom. It is not the power of social intian nations are at the front; not heathen China or infidel Turkey, but Christian England and America lead the world today. Most of the great rulers and statesme of the world are church members or believers in the Christian religion. There are few Pilates, Herods or Caesars today with which Christ has to contend. It is not the power of wealth. The wealth of the world is chiefly in the hands of, or is controlled by Christians. The boilers in the which are worthy of adoption by cities of engine room from which the headquarters building is heated required repairing; new flues had to be put in and it was necessary to get real boiler makers to do the work. Omaha has had maker, he found himself, in the terms of no active representative of the league to street parlance, "up against it."

Contract Shops Refuse.

Every contract shop and every quarter where boiler makers were to be found was visited, but it is said that up to Saturday night no boiler maker had been engaged for the work. They all refuse to do the job so long as the strike lasted, on the grounds that to do it would be indirectly opposing the strikers, their brothers in the unions, and aiding the company in its fight against the strikers.

Forty-Five New Men.

The forty-five men said to have been shipped into the local shops yesterday came from Boston, New York and some from Duluth. They came in over the Illinois Central road. Strikers were informed that but few skilled mechanics were among them. The company is said to have had a plan to send a good many of the older strike breakers from the Omaha shops to Armstrong, Kan., upon the arrival of the new recruits yesterday. Strikers were figuring on meeting some of this number as they came out last evening and trying to persuade them to desert the company. The pickets were on the watch for the exodus all day. A company official made the statement Saturday that not a picket could be seen anywhere near the shops; that "you could piece is a cross between a melodrama and not find one with a fine comb." But investigations yesterday certainly proved the contrary. If any difference, there are more strikers on the lines now than at any time since the strike began. They are scattered over a larger area than before. President Burt made a visit to the picket lines one day last week-after the issuance of the Baldwin injunction-and ound a number of strikers "present." He pointed out a squad to one of the police ago I got a trial bottle of DeWitt's Little officers who was patrolling his beat, say-"There are some pickets." diately the men were requested to "move on," which they did, but soon returned. It is the purpose of the strikers, as has been stated, to maintain their picket line with more diligence than ever unless prevented by the injunction, which contingency they do not think will come about.
