DISCUSSES TRUSTS AND PROTECTION

Favors Revision of Tariff Schedule When it May Scem Necessary, but Not for Sake of Killing Legitima e Enterprises.

AKRON, O., Sept. 27.-The republicans of Ohio opened their state campaign here today in the most auspictous manner. At moon it was estimated that there were about 25,000 strangers in the city.

Secretary Root. Senators Foraker and Hanna, Governor Nash and General Dick, chairman of the state executive committee, arrived shortly before 1 o'clock, accompanied by a large delegation from Cleveland. They were escorted to the Hotel Buchtel. where they had lunch.

The parade this afternoon was particlrated in by clubs and delegations from almost every city in northern and central Ohio. The parade moved over the principal streets of the city and ended at Grace park, where the apeaking exercises were held. Here was gathered a crowd estimated at Judge W. H. Upson called the assemblage to order and prayer was offered by Rev. R. A. Jones, a colored minister of this city. Covernor Nash was introduced as the chairman, but he made no speech. The famous Columbus Glee club of 125 members sang, after which the speaking commenced.

Senator Foraker said in part: Issues of the Campaign.

Broadly stated, the issue this year is the republican party against the democratic party. The one is in, the other is out. Shall the one that is in be kept in, or shall the situation be reversed? Shall we continue existing policies or shall we repudiate them? That is the question, and it should turn upon what these parties are respectively doing and proposing to do. It is not hard to answer for the republican party, but who can speak for democracy. It is not necessary to repeat the promises of our platform of 1898.

Everybody knows what they were and that we have redeemed them. We promised to maintain the gold standard, and we have done so. We promised to restore the protective tariff policy, and we did so. We promised by these methods to restore prosperity, and we have done so. Where all was paralysis, we have the keenest business activity. Where there was only idleness and want, there is employment and plenty for all who are willing to labor. Adverse balances of trade have been shifted to the other side of the ledger, and exhausting drains have been turned into floods of gold that pour in upon us with unneasing constancy from every direction. It is true that along with all this prosperity we do have some strikes, but it is also true that we have never yet had a strike in this country on account of the enforcement of any policy of the republican party. All our strikes have been due to the fact that the employes have felt that they were not getting a fair division of a common prosperity or that their condition in some other respects should be improved. But no matter what may be the cause of a strike, all just men will deplore it, and no make out of it any kind of political capital.

THE ROOT OF THE MATTER.

He Cured Himself of Serious Stomach Trouble by Getting Down to First Principles.

A man of large affairs in one of our promtax, levied in the form of chronic stomach at European capitals by ambassadors of trouble; the failure of his digestion brought the first-class powers. about a nervous irritability, making it impossible to apply himself to his daily business and finally deranging the kidneys and

In his own words he says: "I consulted one physician after another and each one seemed to understand my case, but all the same they each failed to bring about the return of my former digestion, appetite and vigor. For two years I went from pillar to post, from one sanitarium to another. I gave up smoking, I quit coffee and even renounced my daily glass or two of beer, but without any marked improvement.

"Friends had often advised me to try a well known proprietary medicine, Stuart's torial party. All the members of the com Dyspepsia Tablets, and I had often perused the newspaper advertisements of the remedy but never took any stock in advertised medicines nor could believe that a fifty-cent patent medicine would touch my case.

"To make a long story short I finally bought a couple of packages at the nearest drug store and took two or three tablets after each meal and occasionally a tablet between meals, when I felt any feeling of nausea or discomfort. "I was surprised at the end of the first week to note a marked improvement in my appetite and general health and before the two packages were gone I was certain that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets were going to cure completely, and they did not disappoint me. I can eat and sleep and enjoy my coffee and cigar and no one would suppose

I had ever known the horrors of dyspepsia. "Out of friendly curiosity I wrote to the proprietors of the remedy asking for information as to what the tablets contained and they replied that the principal ingredients were asceptic pepsin (government test) malt diastase and other natural digestives, which digest food regrdless of the conlition of the stomach." The root of the matter is this: The digestive elements contained in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest the food, give the overworked stomach a chance to resuperate and the nerves and whole system receive the nourishment which can only come from food; stimulants and nerve tonics never give real strength, they give a fictitious strength, invariably followed by reaction. Every drop of blood, every nerve and tissue is manufactured from our daily food and if you can insure its prompt action and complete digestion by the regular use of so good and wholesome a remedy as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tabtets, you will have no need of nerve tonica and sanitariums. Although Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been in the market only a few years, | which yet probably every druggist in the United

But as no one would think of prehibiting or destroying railroads, or attent cars, or automobiles, or electric light and power "lan" or gun powder or dynamite by legislation, so, too, no one who has any sense would think of so legislating as to prohibit or destroy large compunations of capital necessary for the conduct of legitimate enterprises.

Another Name for Free Trade.

Another Name for Free Trade.

To admit duty free all products and articles the like of which are manufactured or produced in this country by trusts, is only another name for free trade. It would propostly stop the trusts, but only because it would at the same time stop everything else. It would not only be free trade, but it would be free trade in a most aggravated form. Who would determine, and how, which companies were trusts and which were not? "Confusion worse confounded" would reign.

This does not mean that we are opposed to any kind of change at any time in the fariff schedules and rates. On the contrary, we believe in tariff revision from time to time as occasion may require, but it must always be on protection times.

At the very foundation of the protective policy has always been the idea and claim that it would multiply industries, improve facilities, develop competition and ultimately reduce the cost or manufacture below their cost abroad.

It has also always been a part of this policy to reduce high rates of duty deemed necessary to secure the establishment of an industry as rapidly as its development and the cheapening of its product might allow. Repeatedly since we linaugurated this poicy we have revised the schedules; in many cases reducing rates; in some increasing them; in others abolishing them entirely.

Hates that are necessary today may be higher than will be needed for either reveentirely.

Hates that are necessary today may be higher than will be needed for either revenue or protection ten years from now. That depends on what may happen in the meantime.

The republican party will not for light reasons disturb a law that has brought us such prosperity, but it will not hesitate when there is just occasion for doing so, to make such amendments as changed conditions may demand.

Reciprocity with Cuba.

In the same spirit we shall make whatever reciprocity arrangements may be entered into. If existing rates on certain articles are higher than necessary to meet the purpose of revenue and protection, and we can, by reducing them, secure compensating reductions for our goods going into foreign countries, there is no reason why we should not do so, but so long as the republican party controls it may be accepted as settled that no reductions will be made on any account that will sacrifice any American industry, put in jeopardy the employment of American labor, affect perjudicially American wages or disparage the credit of our government.

judicially American wages or disparage the credit of our government.

This is true as to Cuba as well as to other countries. While that case is exceptilinal, yet no one has proposed a reduction of duty on imports from that island that would leave unprotected any industry of this country, and for the reductions we propose to make we are to receive an equivalent in the corresponding reductions that are to be made on our goods imported into Cuba. But there is still another consideration. We now have the friendship of the Cubans. We should strive to keep it. It will be of special value. tion. We now have the Cubans. It has been a difficult matter, requiring the most careful consideration. The negotiations have been proceeding since August 19.
