

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

New People Know How Useful It is in Preserving Health and Beauty. Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature...

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking and drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables. Charcoal effectively cleans and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges, they are composed of the finest powdered willow charcoal and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form, or rather, in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but, on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in the stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges than in any of the other charcoal tablets."

BLACKSMITHS HOLDING OUT

Union Pacific Strikers Prepared for an All Winter's Siege.

MAJORITY OF MEN WILL STAY IN OMAHA

Few Will Act on Suggestion of Leader to Go Elsewhere and Seek Employment—Tickets Doing Good Work.

The majority of the blacksmiths who go to make up the army of Union Pacific strikers have decided not to leave Omaha and accept work elsewhere during the pendency of the present struggle, as suggested by R. H. Kerr, secretary-treasurer of their international organization.

"A few of our men will act upon this suggestion," said a leading blacksmith, "but you will find that the great majority will stay right here in Omaha until this fight with Mr. Burt is over. They ought to insist that a settlement will not come until spring. An effort has been made to obtain as near as possible an exact statement of the strikers' condition and that of their respective unions, and the result is that the most conservative leaders are satisfied with the power of endurance and of their determination to hold out until the fight is won.

Estherine on Duty. The report that W. H. Esterline, chief of the Union Pacific's guards at the shops, had resigned as a result of friction with some of the men under him and officials over him, is said to have been somewhat premature. Mr. Esterline was met by a striker, who said the former said he had been discharged, but it is reported that he is still at the shops, though having had a mixup with one of the men inside, which may cause his discharge.

The Union Pacific continues the importation of nonunion men. Its guard force evidently having been diminished by defections, it is hiring men to reinforce this department of its service. Five of the arrivals yesterday are said to be guards or material for such.

William Richliem, who is captain of the strikers' picket forces, says he never saw the force in better shape and doing better service than at present. He says every man who comes and goes at the shops is approached in a friendly way by the pickets and asked to quit supplanting the strikers and that much success is attending such efforts.

President James O'Connell of the International Association of Machinists did not arrive in Omaha, as was anticipated, but is supposed to have gone directly to Washington after attending the Eight Hour League's meeting in Minneapolis.

SUE FOR THOUSANDS OF ACRES

Half and Quarter-Blood Indians Seek Title to Land in Reservation.

Judge Shiras of Iowa will be in Omaha Thursday to try the case of a large number of Omaha Indians of the half and quarter blood against the United States to secure possession and title to about 5,000 acres of land in the Omaha Indian reservation. This case has been on the docket for several months and has been the cause of more investigation on the part of the plaintiffs than probably any case which has ever been tried in the United States court in this district. John L. Webster has been retained as special counsel for the government in this case. The plaintiffs are represented by T. L. Sloan of Pender and C. E. Clapp of Omaha. Mr. Sloan being one of the plaintiffs. The question hangs principally upon the blood of the plaintiffs and the alleged fact that some of their ancestors waived their tribal rights many years ago and accepted land in severalty from the government. Tom Sloan, one of the principal plaintiffs, has been for two years trying to prove his descent from an Omaha Indian and has succeeded in getting his descent recognized, but not for the purpose of this suit.

Judge Shiras has given much attention to the Indian cases and because of his great familiarity with the subject he will preside at the trial. It is expected that the case will occupy three days.

DIAMOND THIEF IS CAUGHT

"Kid" Dooley, Police Character of Reputation, Gets Thirty Days' Sentence.

"Kid" Dooley, who has a reputation as a diamond thief, was sentenced to thirty days in the city jail yesterday morning after pleading guilty to petit larceny. Dooley went into the Brodegard jewelry store on West Tenth street and asked to look at some diamonds. The clerk placed the tray on the showcase, and as his attention was attracted elsewhere, Dooley grabbed one and made his escape from the store. He was arrested by Detectives Savage, Donahue and Davis and the diamond was recovered. It was valued at $25.75.

OBJECT TO HAVING SALOON

Walnut Hill Residents Again Enter Protest with License Board.

In the form of a petition filed yesterday at the office of the clerk of the Fire and Police board the residents of the Walnut Hill district have renewed activity in their long-continued and thus far successful fight against the location of a saloon at the corner of Fortieth and Hamilton streets.

Annually for the last eight years there has been an attempt on the part of one of the brewing companies or some enterprising individual to secure a license to establish a saloon at or very near the point mentioned, which is regarded as a particularly desirable location from the fact that it is centrally situated in a well settled district in which there are no saloons. This purpose has not been confined to any one company or any one person and in the course of years nearly all of the brewing companies have been at one time or another involved in the controversy. Each time that an application is filed for a license in that territory, however, there has been a protest from the citizens in the form of petition and thus far they have been able to influence the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners to refuse the license.

Heretofore the application has always been for a new license, but this year there has been a slight variation, the Krug Brewing company having, on September 15, asked the board for a permit to remove a saloon from 2060 Poppleton avenue to 4064 Hamilton street. There has been no change in the mode of procedure on the part of the citizens, and having found the petitions effective in the past they have simply presented another.

This petition sets forth at some length the views of the residents of the district affected as to the location of a saloon at the point in contemplation, and states that the signers of the application for change of the location of the saloon are not freeholders of the Ninth ward, as stated, but live in other portions of the city, as is set forth in the list purporting to show the true residences. The petitioners urge arguments in favor of the refusal of the application that for eight years the former boards have refused to issue a license for a saloon in that part of the city, that the location of a saloon at that point within four blocks of the Walnut Hill school and in a place where the children of the neighborhood spend a great deal of their time in play. The petition is signed by 299 persons who, it is said, are all voters and all residents of the neighborhood immediately surrounding the place where it is proposed to locate the saloon. The petitioners are represented by I. R. Andrews, an attorney who is himself a resident of the district affected.

WILL NOMINATE MIDSHIPMAN

Senator Millard Will Choose Some Boy for Annapolis Naval Academy.

Under the terms of an act of congress approved July 1, 1902, every United States senator may nominate a candidate for admission to the United States Naval academy as midshipman, formerly designated cadet. Senator Millard has been notified by the Bureau of Navigation that he may nominate a candidate next April.

The Bureau of Navigation issues a pamphlet of regulations under which candidates may be admitted, citing the qualifications required. The candidate undergoes two rigid examinations. The mental examination is conducted by the civil service commission, while the physical examination is conducted at the academy in Annapolis. The pamphlet referred to sets out specifically the strict requirements of the two examinations, so that applicants and their sponsors may know in advance whether they are equal to the severe test in store for them.

Each applicant is asked to have a local physician examine him and to certify that the subject would be likely to pass the prescribed examination at the academy. Six pages of the pamphlet are devoted to an outline of the subjects of the mental examination: Reading, writing, spelling, arithmetic, geography, English grammar, United States history, world history, algebra, through quadratic equations, and plane geometry. Deficiency in any one of these may be sufficient to insure the rejection of the candidate.

All candidates must be at the time of their examination and admission be between the ages of 15 and 20 years and physically sound, well formed and of robust constitution. The outlay incident to admission, after a successful examination, is about $250. About a dozen applicants have filed their papers with Senator Millard, each of whom will be expected to satisfy the senator that the applicant's training and education has been such as to make reasonably probable the passing of the examination. This showing will be made on paper and transmitted to the senator with a local physician's certificate, and upon the showing so made the senator will choose a principal and five alternate candidates, graded as to relative standing according to the showing made by each.

HEARING INJUNCTION CASE

Testimony of Strike Breakers and Guards for Union Pacific.

OTHER SIDE GETS INNING NEXT WEEK

Guards at the Shop Tell Stories of Assaults on Them, but Admit They Did Not Complain to Police.

The second day of the strike injunction hearing brought out a large attendance of strikers who are watching the case. The completed testimony was taken from 9:30 until 12:30 o'clock and will probably occupy the entire day Monday, to which time the hearing was adjourned.

The first witness of the morning was Elijah Dunn, an old resident of Omaha and a foreman in the shops. He told of the loud and vile language used by the strikers and had seen them in large number on picket duty. He had never been assaulted by them, but had been asked to leave work.

John D. Vance, a guard, who off the stand said he had been in the employ of the secret service of the Louisville & Nashville railroad for some time and was familiar with labor troubles, was the second witness. He said that he had come to Omaha in July from St. Louis to become a guard at the shops. He had been the object of vile language on the part of strikers and pickets and on one occasion had been assaulted, having been hit on the side and in the face with clubs. He did not report the matter to the police.

J. M. Smith, residing at 1028 South Eighteenth street, who has been a guard of the Union Pacific about two months, testified that he was twice assaulted and the mode of procedure on the part of the strikers, and having found the petitions effective in the past they have simply presented another.

This petition sets forth at some length the views of the residents of the district affected as to the location of a saloon at the point in contemplation, and states that the signers of the application for change of the location of the saloon are not freeholders of the Ninth ward, as stated, but live in other portions of the city, as is set forth in the list purporting to show the true residences. The petitioners urge arguments in favor of the refusal of the application that for eight years the former boards have refused to issue a license for a saloon in that part of the city, that the location of a saloon at that point within four blocks of the Walnut Hill school and in a place where the children of the neighborhood spend a great deal of their time in play. The petition is signed by 299 persons who, it is said, are all voters and all residents of the neighborhood immediately surrounding the place where it is proposed to locate the saloon. The petitioners are represented by I. R. Andrews, an attorney who is himself a resident of the district affected.

Did Not Tell Policeman.

Charles Brown of 4707 Burdette street, an employe of the company for more than a year, swore that he was searched by pickets, but although a policeman was in sight had not called for protection; met Strikers Voland and Perkins at a gate in the evening and they searched for a gun in his pockets of witness with a stick; saw the Buckley incident.

H. B. Ward of Oxford, Pa., who engaged to work for the company while at Cleveland, O., had been intercepted by strikers in returning to his home in the latter town and was compelled to remain for work for twenty-four hours; was at work on a car when strikers asked him to quit work and upon his refusal a large number of stones were thrown into the yards, not by the men but by the stones broke glass in locomotives; but injure no one; sought shelter from the stones in a box car and remained there over half an hour.

Mrs. Janie Albertson of Red Oak, Ia., wife of E. T. Albertson, a machinist in the employ of the company at Columbus, testified to receiving a letter purporting to be from the officers of the Machinists' union at Omaha, in which she was advised to request her husband to quit work for the company pending the settlement of the strike; the letter said that a photograph of her husband had been secured and that he would be unable to work after the strike had been settled; she asked her husband to quit work, but he had not done so.

T. F. Long had been in the employ of the company for twenty-two years; was never threatened with personal injury by strikers, and, while vile language had been used toward him and he had never been asked to come out of the shops, had never been threatened but once, and that indirectly, when he was told by a striker: "We got Mike Cronin out and we will get you."

GEORGE A. DAY FOR JUDGE

Republican Judicial Convention Makes Nomination on the First Ballot.

B. G. Burbank called the judicial convention to order and Francis A. Brogan was made temporary chairman and E. B. Carrigan of Washington county temporary secretary. A. H. Burnett, I. E. Congdon and B. G. Burbank were named as a committee on credentials. There being no contents, the list of delegates as presented was accepted.

The temporary organization was made permanent and on roll call Burt county nominated George A. Day, casting eight votes for him. The result of the call was fifty-five votes for Day and seven for J. H. Blye. The second ward withdrew the name of A. C. Troup and voted for Judge Day. Judge Day, in response to a call, made a brief talk after his nomination had been made unanimous, thanking the delegates. The judicial committee was authorized to fill any vacancies which might exist, and the convention adjourned.

BRINGS HEAVY DAMAGE SUIT

John T. Connolly Wants Fifty Thousand Dollars from Union Pacific Company.

John T. Connolly has brought suit in the district court against the Union Pacific Railroad company for $50,000 for the two legs he lost in an accident at South Omaha August 11 last. While crossing the Union Pacific tracks Connolly was run over by a train and injured so that both legs had to be amputated below the knees.

Rheumatism

The liniment bottle and flannel strip are familiar objects in nearly every household. They are the weapons that have been used for generations to fight old Rheumatism, and are about as effective in the battle with this giant disease as the blunderbuss of our forefathers would be in modern warfare.

Rheumatism is caused by an acid, sour condition of the blood. It is filled with acrid, irritating matter that settles in the joints, muscles and nerves, and liniments and oils nor anything else applied externally can dislodge these gritty, corroding particles. They were deposited there by the blood and can be reached only through the blood. Rubbing with liniments sometimes relieves temporarily the aches and pains, but these are only symptoms; the real disease lies deeper. The blood and system are infected. Rheumatism cannot be radically and permanently cured until the blood has been purified, and no remedy does this so thoroughly and promptly as S. S. S. It neutralizes the acids and sends a stream of rich, strong blood to the affected parts, which dissolves and washes out all foreign materials, and the sufferer obtains happy relief from the torturing pains.

S. S. S. contains no potash or other mineral, is a perfect vegetable blood purifier and most exhilarating tonic. It relieves pain and builds up the exhausted vital forces at the same time. Our physicians will advise, without charge, all who write about their case, and we will send free our special book on Rheumatism and its treatment.
