FALL PRESSAGES A LIBERAL VICTORY

Belief that a Rosebery Ministry Would Be Shortlived and Then Would Come Chamberlain's Chance.

(Copyright, 1902, by Press Publishing Co.) LONDON, Oct. 4.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—Parliament will recess for the autumn session October 18, when Prime Minister Balfour will have a critical situation in connection with the education bill. The nonconformists throughout the country are pledging themselves to refuse to accept the bill if it passes in its present shape as a protest against the grants proposed to be made under it to schools in which sectarian religion is taught. This movement has alarmed the ministry and cabinet conferences are now being held to discover some compromise with which to mollify the nonconformists without antagonizing the churchmen. The problem is a hard one and may upset the ministry, which would mean a dissolution of Parliament.

If Parliament should be dissolved a liberal victory in the elections is considered certain. Then King Edward would send for Lord Rosebery to organize a government. If the earl should even succeed in forming a ministry with a working majority behind it, politicians are doubtful whether it would last long. With Rosebery's downfall Chamberlain's opportunity would come again. Between this education bill difficulty and the Irish question, British politics is becoming exciting.

USE FOR OLD FORTIFICATIONS

American Has a Plan to Beautify Paris and Make a Big Speculation.

(Copyright, 1902, by Press Publishing Co.) PARIS, Oct. 4.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—Sidney Watkins, the Yankee engineer, has been expounding a gigantic project to the Paris municipal council. It is said he is backed by a powerful American syndicate and offers to take the old fortifications, now not used, and demolish the walls at his own expense. In the 600-foot belt of ground thus provided all around the city, he would excavate a grand canal communicating with the Seine river, build an automobile speedway, a horse and riding track and a bicycle path unrivaled anywhere. These would occupy only one side of the strip and all the Watkins syndicate wants in return for the tremendous cost is the privilege to build, sell and rent luxurious residences along the water's edge, making the other side like the Venice grand canal. They also want a perpetual franchise for the gondola service. This plan is considered here as far from impossible, though it is surely the boldest plan yet submitted to beautify Paris.

COMPLAIN ABOUT YANKEES

Said to Be Gobbling Up All the Fat Contracts in South Africa.

(Copyright, 1902, by Press Publishing Co.) LONDON, Oct. 4.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—The Capetown correspondents of some of the London newspapers have been complaining recently that Americans are getting the lion's share of the South African contracts and have been suggesting that measures be taken to restrict Yankee activity. The World correspondent asked at the Colonial office today if any discrimination has been exercised at Capetown in the matter of Americans permitted to go to the Transvaal and was informed that the department knew nothing of any such discrimination, the regulation of that matter being in the hands of the authorities at Capetown, who might act without consulting the imperial government. No complaint or representation on the subject has been addressed to the Colonial office, either by the United States government or by private American citizens. If such a representation should be made it would be investigated forthwith.

MONKEY SUDDENLY GOES MAD

Family Pet Attacks Its Mistress and Almost Kills Her Before Help Comes.

(Copyright, 1902, by Press Publishing Co.) PARIS, Oct. 4.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—Suzanne Laurel, the wife of an American dentist, settled in Paris, was given an orang outang two years ago by a friend. The animal has been perfectly trained. Dressed in livery it receives callers, removing and hanging up coats, hats and umbrellas. A few days ago Mrs. Laurel sat upon a sofa fondling the monkey, which was squatting upon the floor near the couch. Suddenly the beast became uncontrollably frenzied and tried to kill its mistress, scratching, biting and strangling her. Finally the woman's screams attracted her husband, but the monkey could only be removed after it was wounded senseless with a champagne bottle. The woman refused to have the monkey killed, but hereafter it will be kept caged.

KING AN EXPERT BILLIARDIST

Young Ruler of Spain Comes Honestly by His Love for the Game.

(Copyright, 1902, by Press Publishing Co.) PARIS, Oct. 4.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—Queen Maria Christina of Spain was an enthusiastic and expert billiard player in her youth, excelling all her cousins of the court of Bavaria and Austria. She transplanted this pastime in the court of Spain and inaugurated a love for it in her son, King Alfonso, who is a great expert and enthusiast. He plays often with Senor Bomba, the cleverest billiard player of the high society of Spain.

CLOSE CALL FOR HIS LIFE

Mountain Climber Has a Terrible Experience in the Rex Alps.

(Copyright, 1902, by Press Publishing Co.) VIENNA, Oct. 4.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—Three young men of Vienna left at daybreak for the Rex Alps, intending to climb over the "Cata Path" to the "Devil's Own Bathroom," the worst of all paths to the peak. They lost their way and the two best climbers left the third man, Grubler, in a spot where he could neither get forward nor turn back. He had just room enough for his feet and a scraggy pine to hold on by. While he was waiting for a signal from his friends, who had the rope and were lashed together, he suddenly heard a noise above him, and, looking up, saw his two friends flying over a precipice headforfoot. He grasped the tree tightly, and the next moment his hat was kicked off by one of the falling men, who disappeared in an abyss 600 feet deep.

His cries for help were answered after many hours of agony. Those who leaned over the precipice could not see him, but they lowered a rope and shouted to him to tie it around his waist. Though the rope was 250 feet long it did not reach him. Darkened as it was and the expedition had to return home if it would reach the valley in safety. The lonely man was told to keep heart until daybreak, when his rescuers would return. The next day at 5 a. m. they were on the spot again, and a master glazier from Vienna, one Grubler, lowered himself 200 feet to where Grubler had lashed himself to his tree, but so cold and stiff and numb that he seemed more dead than alive. The two firmly tied together were raised to safety. Grubler refused to believe that his agony lasted only three hours. He says it seemed nine centuries. His companions were afterward found at the bottom of the abyss, every bone in their bodies broken, their clothes, even to their boots, torn off by the rocks.

BOY AT MANCHESTER'S HOME

Grandpa Zimmerman Shells Out and Pays Dual Finances on Easy Street.

(Copyright, 1902, by Press Publishing Co.) LONDON, Oct. 4.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—The duchess of Manchester, daughter of Eugene Zimmerman, and married November 14, 1894, became mother of a son last Thursday morning. It is her second child, the first born on October 27, 1901, being a daughter. The boy will be christened George, a name half the dukes of Manchester have borne for 165 years, the other half being called alternately William, the thirteenth namesake of the present duke, is the ninth in the succession. Little George will have the courtesy title of Viscount Mandeville, one of his father's subsidiary titles, until he succeeds, if he lives, to the dukedom.

BELFAST, Ireland, Oct. 4.—The rejoicing at the birth of the present duke of the east and heir to the duke of Manchester is said to have been heightened by a cable dispatch from "Grandpa" Eugene Zimmerman, saying that he had settled $50,000 on the baby, the income to go to the duchess until her son comes of age. The duke has been mainly indebted to his mother for support up to the present time and it has been evident from the extreme frugality displayed at the Tandarage that the young couple have been in very straitened circumstances.

SCULPTOR REACHES HIS IDEAL

Strives to Make an Original Statue of Beethoven and Makes a Success of It.

(Copyright, 1902, by Press Publishing Co.) LEIPZIG, Oct. 4.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—Half the people of Leipzig are "up in arms" over a statue of Beethoven which the municipality bought lately to place in one of the squares. The sculptor strove to make it original and not too classic. He succeeded. It represents the great musician naked to the waist, with a sort of drapery across his knees that does not conceal the lower part of his legs. He is represented as "Jupiter Ruling the World." On the chair on which he is seated are carved the heads of women, with a blue background. On the back of the chair is the scene of the Garden of Eden, with Adam and Eve in the midst. On a great shaft rising above the chair an eagle is perched. The objectors to the statue say it looks like a man just coming out of a bath and that the drapery about him strangely resembles a bath towel.

IMPROVES QUICK FIRING GUN

English Inventor Finds Means to Utilize Force of the Recoil.

(Copyright, 1902, by Press Publishing Co.) LONDON, Oct. 4.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—The British War office is experimenting with a new quick firing gun. It was invented by W. S. Simpson, who asserts that he has found a way to get rid of 85 per cent of the recoil by chemical means and increase the velocity when the charge is fired. The invention takes the pressure off the breech, where it now is exerted, and utilizes it as a propellant. It is said to effect a great saving in money, weight and space.

There are four batteries arranged in a circle, divided into four sections. Tests will be made soon in Paris.

BEAUTY TO BE BRIDE

Miss Muriel Wilson is Soon to Wed the Earl of Hardwicke.

PEER THOUGHT TO HAVE BRIGHT FUTURE

Several Other British Statesmen Reputed to Be Matrimonially Inclined.

LORD ROSEBERY IS INCLUDED IN LIST

Countess of Durham Discharged from Madhouse After Twenty Years.

MIND RESTORED AND BEAUTY REMAINS

Goings and Comings of the Smart Ones in World's Metropolis in Which Some American Figure.

(Copyright, 1902, by Press Publishing Co.) LONDON, Oct. 4.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—Muriel Thea Wilson, the youngest and only unmarried daughter of Arthur Wilson of Tranteroff, is reported to be engaged to marry the earl of Hardwicke.

No unmarried woman has cut so large a figure in the stock exchange as Muriel Wilson. In the past ten years she has married twice. Her beauty is of the Spanish type. She is a cultivated musician, a versatile linguist, an intrepid horsewoman and the most brilliant of English amateur actresses. Eight years ago she was engaged to Lord Willoughby de Eresby, but the match was broken off because she refused to give up amateur theatricals. Since then she has been the constant companion of the duchess of Devonshire.

Lord Hardwicke is a clever, hard-working young peer, with a future in politics. He is a partner in a stock broking firm, is under secretary of the Board of Trade, is present government and is the principal owner of the Saturday Review.

The countess of Orkney, better known to the world as "Connie" Gilchrist, a former Gaiety soubrette, after ten years of married life, is expecting a visit from the stark London. The $50,000 settled on her at the time of her marriage by the late duke of Beaufort was lost recently through a lawyer who is now undergoing imprisonment. The countess is devoted to hunting and has lived in the country quietly with her husband ever since her marriage.

GREY SPENDS HIS FORCE

War Secretary is Not Yet Confirmed, is Betrothed to Madeline Stanley, Daughter of Lady June by her first husband. This is the young woman to whom it was reported three years ago that Sir Thomas Lipton was paying his addresses. She is very pretty and moves in London's "smartest" set. Mr. Broderick's wife died just a year ago. His affliction was so acute then that it was predicted that he would retire from public life. The wife he lost was the daughter of the earl of Wemyss. A woman of great talent and distinction, she helped materially to bring her husband through her influence with Arthur Balfour. Miss Stanley is only three years older than Mr. Broderick's daughter.

The countess of Durham, a daughter of Henry B. Milner of West Radford House, is just out of a sanitarium and is living with her sister, Lady Evelyn, on the "Sea." The countess married the present earl twenty years ago. Some five years later the earl sought to divorce her on the ground that she was not sane at the time of their marriage, but he lost his case. The countess was put under restraint less than two months after the divorce suit was commenced. She is now quite restored mentally and more beautiful than ever, but she intends to live in retirement, and has not been reconciled to the earl.

The rumor that the earl of Rosebery and Lady Nancy Leyland are betrothed is still current. Lady Nancy, who is a very attractive and accomplished young woman, is the daughter of the late Lord Rosebery and his first wife. She is now in London, where she is being courted by the earl. The rumor is said to have been first made by the London Standard. The earl of Rosebery is a man of high standing and is a member of the cabinet. Lady Nancy is a woman of high social position and is a member of the royal household.

HEIRLESS CAUSES A STIR

An Anglo-American heiress whose beauty is causing a stir in Miss Beckett, whose mother, formerly Miss Tracy Lee of New York, married Ernest Beckett, M. P., a wealthy Yorkshire banker and heir to Lord Grimthorpe. Miss Beckett is being courted by Lady Henry Nevill, her aunt. Mr. Beckett has rented Downager Lady Londonderry's house, Hamilton place, Park lane, for his daughter's first season.

Foxhall Keene has rented Blisking hall, Norfolk from the marquis of Lothian. The gardens of that estate are among the most celebrated in England. All the birds and animals on the grounds of the home farm are pure white. The place is close to Cromer, a fashionable seaside place on the east coast.

William C. Whitney, who has been the guest of the duke and duchess of Devonshire at Newmarket, has returned to London to remain until he has been for four weeks longer. He has been greatly benefited by his rest, although his horse did not answer expectations this week at Newmarket.

United States Consul General Evans has returned to town and is looking for a house at the West End. Mrs. Evans and her younger daughter, Anita, have been on a coaching tour in Scotland and Ireland for the benefit of the latter's health, which is now much improved. The Misses Evans are much admired in London and the consul general and Mrs. Evans are becoming very popular. Mrs. Evans is much interested in philanthropy. Her elder daughter, while in London during the summer, spent some time in investigating the slums.

Mrs. Paget is III.

Mrs. Arthur Paget has been suffering again from an internal ailment and has been consulting a famous specialist in Vienna. She is somewhat better, but has gone, under advice, to take the mineral waters at Salsomaggiore, Italy, making a stay at Venice on the way.

DUKE SETS TOO SWIFT A PACE

Hunted Up for Second Time on Charge of Driving His Automobile too Fast.

(Copyright, 1902, by Press Publishing Co.) WOODSTOCK, England, Oct. 4.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—The duke of Marlborough went to Oxford in his automobile Wednesday to meet Prince Arthur of Connaught, King Edward's nephew. On his way back the motor car was stopped by a vigilant policeman of Woodstock, who fined the duke an hour limit on a Woodstock road. When the policeman found that a royal prince was a passenger he discreetly let the duke go with a caution. It would have gone hard with the duke if he had been taken to court, for recently he ran into an upset a market cart on the outskirts of Oxford, injuring his two occupants.

The duke and duchess of Marlborough entertained on Sunday sixty tenants at luncheon in Blenheim palace. Afterward they attended the harvest thanksgiving service in the palace chapel.

On Tuesday the duke and duchess of Connaught, with Princess Margaret and a party including the duke of Roxburg, Mr. and Mrs. (Jeanne Langtry) Langford, Countess Mendel, the king's court and others, arrived at Blenheim by a special train for two days' shooting. It was an excellent sport.

QUEER PRISONER OF CONVICT

Penitentiary Encountered by Exile of Siberia.

(Copyright, 1902, by Press Publishing Co.) ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 4.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—A party of prisoners, including Colonel Pavlovski, traveling through an unknown tract of Siberian forest country, came upon a large natural clearing, where they found about a hundred wild looking individuals clad in skins and speaking bad Russian. They were the children and grandchildren of an escaped convict who had managed to run away from the mines in 1830. The convict, whose name was Matveyeff, came upon a camp of wandering Kirghis (natives), and after living with them some time, married one of their tribe. The tribe left to wander and Matveyeff, finding a suitable spot in the midst of a dense forest, settled there with his wife. After ten years of incredible hardship and toil they built a house and managed to till a little soil. As the years went on the children managed to secure Kirghis wives, but as they feared to be arrested by the Russian settlements they were obliged to lead a Robinson Crusoe sort of existence. The patriarch, Matveyeff, died five years ago.

TIRE OF FLAUNTING VICE

London Will Make Another Effort to Drive It Into the Background.

(Copyright, 1902, by Press Publishing Co.) LONDON, Oct. 4.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—Another concerted effort is about to be made by the London municipalities to lessen the scandal of flaunting immorality in London streets. The effort is to drive the vice into the background.

CHAPPELLE IS NOT SUMMONED

Vatican Officials Authorize Denial of Rumor to That Effect and Explain Circumstances.

ROME, Oct. 4.—Vatican officials authorize the Associated Press to say that Archbishop Chappelle of New Orleans and apostolic delegate to Cuba and Porto Rico has not been summoned to Rome by Cardinal Rampoldi as stated by the principal supporters of the holy see being that a prelate recalled from a position shall have nothing to do with the business of the appointment he vacated. These officials consider that Mr. Chappelle's request to Rev. Sancho Pava, provincial of the order of Dominicans in the Philippine islands to confer with him was made because Rev. Sancho Pava is also provincial of the order of Dominicans in Cuba.

FUND FOR ZOLA MONUMENT

Over Three Thousand Dollars Raised, Dreyfus Making a Personal Contribution.

PARIS, Oct. 4.—The subscriptions to the fund for a monument to Zola have reached the sum of $3,400, including $60 from former Captain Dreyfus and $60 each from his two brothers and his father-in-law. It is estimated that 60,000 members of various societies will take part in tomorrow's funeral procession. Zola's body, on the arrival of the cortege at the cemetery, will be placed on a catafalque, around which the members of the family and intimate friends of the dead novelist will group themselves. The eminent French physician empowered to arrest any woman delivered the delegations attending will be allowed to file past, followed by the general public. The body will then be replaced in the hearse and conveyed to a temporary vault.

The enterprise was started under somewhat unfavorable conditions, but Mr. Croker has shown his usual gift in dealing with the situation, by avoiding inevitable loss during the winter and reorganizing the arrangements before starting anew in the spring.

W. Eddy, the vicar of the parish from 1585 to 1615. The archbishop of Canterbury unveiled the memorial and attended the luncheon in honor of the occasion given in the vestry hall.

CALL FOR CONFERENCE WITH LEAGUERS

See Ruin Starting Them in the Face Unless Some Solution of the Difficulties Can Be Reached.

(Copyright, 1902, by Press Publishing Co.) DUBLIN, Oct. 4.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—Eight Irish members of Parliament are already in jail under the coercion act. Six others have been summoned to appear before the court, and their conviction is a foregone conclusion. Every prominent nationalist who makes a speech at his home nowadays is pounced upon by the Dublin Castle administration and gets from two to six months' imprisonment.

This week William Redmond was tried before the king's bench court without a jury, under an obsolete act passed in the time of Edward I, in 1239, and on affidavit by a policeman. He was sentenced to two months' imprisonment and to afterward give bail for good behavior for two years or remain in jail three months longer at hard labor. His offense was making a speech advising Irishmen to have nothing to do with a man who takes a farm from which a tenant has been evicted. He will not give bail, and that means five months' imprisonment.

These and other similar arbitrary proceedings have stirred up such a hostile spirit in Ireland that military posts are being established for the winter in different parts of the country with military power as well as for their tenants, in a great number of the principal supporters of E. Haviland Burke, M. P., who was sentenced to two months in prison for a speech like Redmond's, is a great grand nephew of Edmund Burke. At the present rate Chief Secretary Wyndham will have the bulk of the Irish members of Parliament and hundreds of their principal supporters in jail by Christmas. The only results will be to add fuel to the flames of agitation, which increases every day in volume and resolution. Meantime an influential part of the landlords, foreseeing ruin for themselves as well as for their tenants, is arranging for a conference with the Irish nationalist leaguers with a view to agreeing on a solution of the land question by purchase.

This eminent French physician thinks he has discovered that jealousy can be controlled, and even eradicated, by a course of judicious medical treatment. His method is to take a man who is unreasonably jealous and irritable, give him a good meal, and then ask him the reason for his behavior.

IRELAND'S TRIBUTE TO ART

Cultivation of Love for the Beautiful Tends to Uplifting of the Race.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—At a luncheon given in the Auditorium hotel banquet hall to-night by the trustees of the Industrial Art league, Archbishop Ireland, who was the guest of honor, paid a glowing tribute to art. The prelate declared he loved the beautiful because it is a priest's duty to spread among the people this love for the beautiful. Such a sentiment sweetens life. In the homes of the poorest should be developed this appreciation for the good, the true and the noble. Religion, this cannot do anything to bring about the uplifting of the poor people from sordid planes. Religion requires a fertile, prepared soil.
