

BARS BIBLE FROM SCHOOL

Supreme Court Sustains the Contentions of Daniel Freeman.

CITY TO INTERVENE IN POLICE CASE

Court Holds that District Tribunal Erred in Liberating John H. Loechner of South Omaha on a Technicality.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—Daniel Freeman, who made in Gage county the first filing ever made under the homestead law, has achieved a new distinction. He has secured from the supreme court a decree for a writ prohibiting the utterance of the Lord's prayer, the reading of the bible and the singing of such hymns as "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," "When Life Cometh" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee," in the public schools. It was some two years ago that Freeman brought suit in Gage county to secure an injunction against the Board of Education of one of the school districts of that county restraining it from permitting the teacher, Edith Beecher, from conducting the customary religious exercises in the schools. In his application he alleged that she was in the habit of reading from the St. James translation of the bible, which is an incorrect translation made in the interest of a certain English church and unfit in many places to be read to children; that he was not a believer in the bible nor its teachings; that he paid taxes for the support of the public school, which was attended by two of his children; that the morning exercises also included singing from "Gospel Hymns," edited and compiled by Ira D. Sankey, known as "The Singing Pilgrim," and that the teacher also engaged in prayer in the presence of the pupils. He maintained that the prayers were often not addressed to anyone but the children and were intended to guide them in the faith of their teacher. He held that these religious exercises took up time that should be devoted to education of the children and that he did not desire to pay taxes for the support of a house of worship. There was practically no denial of any of his allegations in regard to the holding of the exercises to which he objected, but it was shown that he had caused several teachers before Miss Beecher's time to discontinue them and had caused the school board a great deal of trouble by his determined opposition to any such services in the schools.

On the hearing in the district court of Gage county in December, 1919, Judge Letton denied the application for the writ and held that it was within the discretion of the authorities of the school to have such exercises conducted. Today the supreme court handed down an opinion in reversal of this holding and ordering a writ to issue from the supreme court. The opinion is by Commissioner Ames, Justices Sedgewick and Holcomb concurring. The former attached his special concurrence "solely on the ground that the exercises complained of were sectarian instruction within the meaning of the constitution," and the latter concurring in a separate opinion. One interesting feature of the case is the fact that the briefs filed was from John H. Lindale as a friend of the court, in which he protested in the name of the Roman Catholic church and its membership against the reading of the St. James bible in the schools.

Reverse Ruling in Loechner Case.

In an opinion submitted today the supreme court has said that the release of John Henry Loechner of South Omaha from prosecution for the fraud charged against him as a member of the Midge City Board of Education was wrong. Loechner escaped prosecution just prior to the last election in South Omaha in time to become a democratic candidate for mayor. His release was effected upon a technicality which was urged in his behalf that the statute upon which it was proposed to prosecute him applied only to public officials holding administrative offices, and the membership in the Board of Education was not of that nature. After his release county attorney George A. Day on the commission. The resignation of Commissioner Day was accepted by the court.

Among the opinions submitted was one affirming the decision of the district court of Boyd county in the case of Melvin Hubbard, sentenced from that county to seven years for the crime of criminal assault. In this case the victim of Hubbard's alleged passion wrote a letter from Iowa after his conviction, in which she said that she had sworn falsely at the trial and that it was Hubbard's hired man, whom she afterwards married, with whom she had been intimate, but the court was evidently inclined to believe her first story rather than her last.

There was some disappointment among expectant ones when it was discovered that the supreme court had adjourned without having appointed a successor to George A. Day on the commission. The resignation of Commissioner Day was accepted by the court.

Rolling on Kennedy-Bronch Case. Among the orders in the supreme court was one granting time to the mayor and city council of the city of Omaha to intervene and file a cross in intervention in the case of State ex rel Kennedy against Bronch et al.

The Electric Irrigation Canal company of Bridgeport, Cheyenne county, has filed articles of incorporation. It proposes to appropriate water from the North Platte river for the operation of irrigation works. Its incorporators are: George W. and John Beerling, Edgar D. and Matori B. Smith, and its authorized capital stock is $10,000.

General Barry and the other members of the National Guard returned today from attendance at the military maneuvers at Fort Riley and will in a few days submit a formal report. General Barry reports that bad weather made the camp an ideal training school for the young officers. The quarters provided for visiting officers were full of discomforts.

Not Organized Against Miskey.

Charles Benson, one of the leaders in the molding of sentiment among the saloon keepers of Lincoln, said today: "So far as we are concerned, there has been absolutely no organized movement or action threatening the republican candidate for governor. There are some men in Lincoln who belong to the retail liquor dealers who belong to the retail liquor dealers of the state, but there is no local organization of those who belong to the state association do so simply for the protection it affords them on their bonds. The state association was formed to fight suits brought under the liquor law, and for that purpose only. I used to belong to it, but have not been a member lately. Its membership is chiefly in the small towns. Over in Omaha, out of over 300 saloon keepers, less than twenty-five belong to the Retail Liquor Dealers' association. Most all of the saloon men of Lincoln are republicans and will support the republican candidate for governor this year."

"If the saloons undertake to regulate the politics of the state," said ex-Speaker Paul F. Clark, "it would be a mighty easy thing for the state to regulate the saloons out of existence by means of the state dispensary system, or some other of that character."

Dispute Over Proceeds.

Saline county financiers are well represented in Judge Frost's court today. Henry Gund, president of the Blue Valley bank of Wilber, which went into voluntary liquidation a year ago, is suing Byron G. Lane and A. S. Sande to compel them to give up the proceeds of the proceeds of the liquidated institution, nearly $7,000.

They refuse to do this, claiming that Gund really owes the bank $6,575, and ask for the appointment of a receiver to make all remaining collections and to compel Gund to make good, or else, they intend to sue him for a third share of the money awaiting division.

Gund was financial backer for W. L. Hayes & Bro. in the grain business for years. As such he became indebted to the bank in various sums, which notes were removed from time to time and increased steadily until they aggregated $6,575. Gund says that the real amount due on these notes was but $1,500, and this sum was adjudicated by the Thayer county district court, which he paid it. To this Lane and Sande object, which he made a great deal of trouble by his determined opposition to any such services in the schools.

On the hearing in the district court of Gage county in December, 1919, Judge Letton denied the application for the writ and held that it was within the discretion of the authorities of the school to have such exercises conducted. Today the supreme court handed down an opinion in reversal of this holding and ordering a writ to issue from the supreme court.

The opinion is by Commissioner Ames, Justices Sedgewick and Holcomb concurring. The former attached his special concurrence "solely on the ground that the exercises complained of were sectarian instruction within the meaning of the constitution," and the latter concurring in a separate opinion. One interesting feature of the case is the fact that the briefs filed was from John H. FIGHT WITH A RAILROAD

Accused of Discriminating Against a Private Elevator Company at Virginia.

BEATRICE, Neb., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—There promises to be an interesting time at Virginia, this county, in the near future because the railroads at that place have refused to give the Virginia Grain and Elevator company the right to erect its elevator beside their track.

When the company was organized it purchased the grain house of J. V. Allen, situated upon the Missouri Pacific tracks. After the sale had been made Mr. Allen was notified to remove his building from the right of way before October 23. Later the traffic manager visited Virginia and recanted that order, but refused the elevator company permission to enlarge the building, which is too small to accommodate the business the company expects to do. The railroad further refuses to construct a sidetrack to the elevator. No company may build upon private ground adjoining the right-of-way.

The arbitrary action of the railroad managers has so incensed the farmers comprising the elevator company that they declare they will build, and the railroad refuses to build to them, they will haul their grain to the cars, or to other points.

The men who comprise the elevator company are among the wealthiest farmers in eastern Gage county. They are the men who grow the grain and are in the fight to a finish. The outcome will be watched with interest by residents of this section.

STREET FAIR ATTRACTS CROWD

Traveling Men and Flower Parade Are on the Program for Today.

HASTINGS, Neb., Oct. 9.—(Special Telegram.)—The Hastings street fair and carnival is now the height of its glory, the weather continues to be fine and the crowds keep on increasing. Large delegations came in today, especially to see the traveling men's parade, and when they were informed that Friday had been set aside for the traveling salesmen they decided to stay over and take it in. Many amusing scenes take place on the streets. Tonight a colored woman was hit with an inflated bladder; she immediately gave chase, caught the man she supposed had hit her and knocked him down. Not being satisfied with her pugilistic work, she continued to beat him and slam his head against the pavement until the police intervened. It was at this stage of the play that she discovered she had beaten the wrong man.

Tomorrow the flower parade will be repeated and at 10 o'clock in the morning the traveling men will start their part of the great show.

Giltner took a game of base ball away from Bladden today by a score of 12 to 5. Some exceptionally fine playing was done by both teams. Jack Gettman, recently from the Buffalo team, made a home run when two men were on bases.

Girl Is Held for Murder.

YORK, Neb., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—Miss Tona Dunlap, the Aledo, Ill., young woman charged with the murder of Alice Dool at her preliminary trial was not admitted to bail. It is supposed that Miss Dunlap bought strychnine at York. Last summer Miss Dunlap visited the family of James Nichols, stopping here several weeks, making many acquaintances, and being visited by many of the people who came here from Aledo, Ill. Shortly after her visit Sheriff Tomlinson of Aledo came here and made inquiry of the druggists of York if she had purchased strychnine. Miss Dunlap just before coming here had lost her strychnine in a candy factory and Miss Dool was employed in her place. On her return she applied for the position and, not getting it, she is accused of wanting to get Miss Dool out of the way, to whom it is supposed that she gave poisoned candy from which Miss Dool was taken violently sick and died. Before death she said that the "candy Miss Dunlap gave her was so bitter." Whether or not Miss Dunlap purchased strychnine here is not known. Her sister testified that she used the strychnine to cure a corn.

Nuckolls Fair a Great Success.

NELSON, Neb., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—Yesterday was opening day of the Nuckolls county fair. There was a big attendance and the splendid weather made it possible for all to enjoy the program.

The 2:35 pace was won by Beutel in three straight heats. Gold Bug, second, Norway Chief, third. Time: 2:26, 2:25, 2:25.

The running half mile was won by Honest John, Druggist second, Fred Reed third. Time: 0:51.

The showing of horses and stock was never better and the program of horticultural building it a surprise to all. Many entries had to be refused for want of space.

Fusion Rally a Failure.

BELLWOOD, Neb., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—The great fusion rally at Bellwood yesterday was a total failure. Congressman W. L. Stark and a few local candidates arrived at the appointed time, but there was less stir on the streets than on ordinary days and the speakers retired to some secluded place and remained there until the freight train came along, which they quickly boarded and departed without having made a single speech.

Consul Williams Opens Campaign.

BLAIR, Neb., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—The republican campaign will be opened in this county on next Monday evening, October 12, at the opera house by Consul General Williams, who was at Singapore in his official capacity at the time of the breaking out of the Spanish-American war. This date is made for General Williams by the state committee and he will be greeted here with a large audience.

Baptist Pastor Makes Charge.

BLAIR, Neb., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—Rev. George A. Smith, who has had charge of the Baptist church of Herman for about two years, has resigned at that place and accepted a call from the Baptist church at David City, Neb. Rev. Smith is a Blair product, having been born and raised in manhood in this city. He was educated in the Blair city school and spent several years in study in eastern theological schools.

Silver Creek Republicans.

SILVER CREEK, Neb., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—The republicans of Silver Creek placed the following ticket for the field at a caucus held last night: Supervisor, J. E. Howland; assessor, Henry Landy; clerk, Floyd Buchanan; road overseers, Herman Vandercelt and R. D. Barber. M. L. Rossiter was chairman and F. C. Coulton secretary of the caucus.

To Draw Upon Carnegie.

BEATRICE, Neb., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the library board Tuesday night the secretary was instructed to make requisition upon Andrew Carnegie for the first $5,000 installment of an appropriation for the new library building to be erected here.

WOMEN FINISH THEIR WORK

Eighth Annual Convention of Nebraska Federation Adjourns Its Session.

MRS. PAGE OF SYRACUSE IS PRESIDENT

Election of Officers Accomplished with Ease at the End of Long Debate on Amendment to Constitution.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

COLUMBUS, Neb., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—The eighth annual meeting of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs closed at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The entire day having been given over to business. Action upon the proposed changes in the constitution, chief among which was one providing for a biennial instead of an annual meeting, was taken up first, and as this change practically occasioned all of the other changes, it came first. Without recommendation from the board of presidents it was presented, the discussion being long and spirited, but it was finally rejected almost unanimously and meetings will continue to be held annually.

Article 10, which occasioned the most heated discussion of the entire meeting, was the article as amended, in addition to the seven offices already existing, provides for six additional vice presidents, one from each of the six congressional districts of the state, whose duties shall be a general supervision over the work of the respective districts to encourage the extension of club work and organize local district federations wherever possible. That this addition to the executive board would be of value in bringing them in touch with the needs of the state all seemed to realize, but as the question of adequate income to properly support the work is at present one of the serious problems of the federation, the question arose whether the federation could afford to add to its already heavy expense, the expense of six additional officers, incurred in attending board meetings.

Anticipate an Income. It was maintained by many that with this addition to the board a sufficient number of new clubs would be brought into the organization to more than make up the additional expense. This did not satisfy the others, but the measure was finally carried and had been so declared when the question of the amendment was questioned as not giving the district vice presidents the privilege of voting in the executive meeting.

The parliamentarian was called upon and decided that this was the case, owing to the unfortunate wording of the article, and the women found that they had intended including this privilege, through a technicality the new officers could not enjoy it until the expiration of the year, when the constitution, after due notice, could be again amended.

An amendment to the bylaws, providing that all moneys and dues shall be paid to the recording secretary, who shall pay the same over to the treasurer, was the only other change of importance, after which the election of officers was taken up, resulting as follows:

President, Mrs. Emma J. Page of Syracuse; vice president, Mrs. E. J. Hainer of Aurora; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Miller of Douglas; recording secretary, Miss Minnie Becker of Columbus; treasurer, Mrs. Bell of St. Paul; auditor, Mrs. H. M. Bushnell of Lincoln, and Mrs. Belle M. Stoutenborough of Plattsmouth, general federation secretary.

The district vice presidents are: First district, Miss Rebecca Wilson, Falls City; second district, Mrs. D. H. Neely, Omaha; third district, Mrs. W. R. Clemmons, Fremont; fourth district, Mrs. C. B. Letton, Fairbury; fifth district, Mrs. Bonykemper, Sutton; sixth district, Mrs. Mabel Barlett, St. Paul. These last-named officers were elected by the convention also.

Recommendations by Executive Board. The following recommendations were made by the executive board: That the office of federation librarian be abolished and all subsequent business of that nature be handled by the recording secretary; that a committee of three be appointed to investigate the proposed plan for the establishment of a monthly publication in the interest of the federation, which should be sent to all of its members.

The credentials committee reported an attendance larger than that of any previous meeting, there being 115 delegates present, representing forty-seven towns and fifty-eight clubs. In addition to these there were over 100 visitors.

It was decided that a standing committee of household economics be made a special committee to devise plans for securing an amendment to the present pure food laws of the state, together with an appropriation sufficient for its proper maintenance.

Invitations were extended by Fremont, Omaha and Fairbury to hold the next meeting in one of those cities. The decision will be left to the executive board.

The introduction of the incoming officers closed the convention.

RAILROADS A FAMILY HOODOO.

FALLS CITY, Neb., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—Joe Forney, a boy about 18 years of age, was stealing a ride on the northbound Missouri Pacific passenger the other evening and fell from the train. FAIL TO WARM UP TO BRYAN

Still in the Same Old Business of Pre-dicting Calamities to Come.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

TECUMSEH, Neb., Oct. 9.—(Special Telegram.)—An audience of not over 500 people, including the men, women and children, gathered to hear Hon. W. J. Bryan speak in Tecumseh this afternoon. The principal ingredients of his speech were wind and funny stories. He presumed to discuss the leading questions of the day, but his disposition of them was by no means satisfactory and his audience was a cold one and it was by the greatest effort that he secured applause. The republican party and the administration were scored up one side and down the other. The president deserved some little praise, he admitted, for his effort to settle the strike. Things seem prosperous enough, he said, but the country lies on the verge of a great calamity, as there is by no means the money in the country that there seems to be. Mr. Bryan was disappointed when the hour came to speak and such a small crowd was on hand. In previous meetings here he had secured a larger hearing, but the town people are too busy now to come out to an afternoon meeting and the farmers were not sufficiently interested to leave the fields.

AUBURN, Neb., Oct. 9.—(Special Telegram.)—After being thoroughly advertised for two weeks, about 1,000 people, more than half of whom were women and children, gathered at the court house yard to listen to W. J. Bryan give a remedy for all the ills that humanity is heir to. Bryan arrived at 4 p. m. from Tecumseh. He was met at the depot by a crew of the faithful democrats and escorted to the court house, where a platform had been erected for the speaking. H. H. Hanks, the fusion nominee for congress, was first introduced and spoke for a few minutes. Bryan was then introduced and spoke for more than an hour. He confined his remarks principally to the Fowler bill and the trust question. He dwelt at length upon the coal trust and offered as a remedy the Kansas City platform, which provided for a board of arbitrators to settle such disputes. There was a marked lack of enthusiasm and the applause was very tame and infrequent. The lack of interest in the Bryan meeting was shown by the fact that many fusion farmers who were in town did not attend the meeting at all, saying that they were busy at the depot. Some of the republicans took occasion to put up posters containing some of Bryan's prophecies. This was resented by the democrats, who quickly tore them down. The demopops gained nothing by bringing Bryan to Auburn, as this meeting, compared with his former meetings here, was almost a failure.

SENSATION IN THE HORN CASE

Father of Murdered Boy Cited for Contempt for Assaulting a Jurymen.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 9.—(Special Telegram.)—The first panel of Jurymen drawn for the Horn case reported today and the work of selecting the twelve men that will try Horn for the murder of Willie Nickell will be commenced tomorrow. A sensation was sprung by County Attorney Stoll when he made a motion, accompanied by an affidavit, asking that the court cite Kels P. Nickell, father of the murdered boy, for contempt. The attorney charged that Nickell last night assaulted William Taylor of Grant, a member of the panel that reported today, used abusive language and threatened to kill the jurymen; also that he accused Taylor of having accepted a bribe from one of Horn's friends.

Ranch Property Burned.

STURGIS, S. D., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—Word has been brought to this city of a big fire at Bixby, about 125 miles north of here. All of the sheds, barns and wagons, together with about two tons of hay, belonging to John McClain, a former resident of Sturgis, were destroyed. The cause of the fire is not learned. Mr. McClain has several hundred head of cattle ranging out in that country and the loss of the hay, which he had put up for winter use, is quite a severe blow to him. His residence, which he threatened to burn, is still standing. It is reported, barely escaped destruction.

GET 'ROUND MERGER LAWS

Baltimore Acquires Reading in Spite of Strict Prohibitory Legislation.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 9.—The Evening News will publish the following story: "The News is informed by an inside authority that the acquisition of the Reading by the Baltimore & Ohio is settled upon."

"It is said the relation of the Baltimore & Ohio to the Reading will be somewhat similar to the connection between the Pennsylvania railroad and the Baltimore & Ohio. This combine will become the most powerful of the single stockholding interests in the property. It will thus become the dominating force in the management and the same policy instituted by the Pennsylvania railroad influence in the Baltimore & Ohio will be brought into place by the latter in the Reading. This means the reorganization of the Reading traffic department."

"The object in turning the control of the Reading over to the Baltimore & Ohio is generally accepted to be in order to perfect the community of ownership scheme with out conflicting with the Pennsylvania laws, which are very strict in prohibiting competing railroads in that state from owning stock in one another. Otherwise, the Penn-
