Think Baer Sees Morgan.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 .- Mr. J. P. Morgan spent the day on board his yacht, Coreair, and the visit of two men during the afternoon gave rise to the report that another important conference was being held. It was reported that George F. Bant was one of the two men who left the yacht in a launch about 10 tonight. This could not be verified, however. Mr. Morgan himself did not leave the yacht.

In a number of the churches the sermons dealt with different phases of the coal bearing on the situation. Governor Odell spent the day at his home in Newburgh. He is expected to return to New York tomorrow morning and will speak in Brooklyn though covered with a light snow. Green-

A substantial sum was raised by charging a small admission to the grounds. Mr. Nicholls said he was willing to admit there had been some disorder, but the disorders had been greatly exaggerated. He out on strike, were not responsible. Every mention of Mr. Mitchell's name was received with cheers.

TRY TO CHECK IMPORTATIONS Union Pacific Strikers Attempt to Keep Out Nonunion Men.

Union Pacific strikers are bending every energy to check the tide of nonunion immigration. Partially to this end Vice Presidents Wilson and Mulbery of the International Association of Machinists have gone to Chicago, where most of the imported men have been mobilized.

Thirty-five desertions from the local shope, twenty-two from Cheyenne, three from Rawlins and two from Kansas City are reported. Twenty-seven new men went into the Omaha sheps Saturday, as was stated in The Bee. Reports from Evanston was thinly populated or greater damage to the strike headquarters say that the would have been done. guards have quit there because the company reduced them to a monthly wage of 60, whereas before they received this with the lanterns of the homeless boute-mount and their board and lodging. LAREDO, Tex., Oct. 12.-The eighth day of the strike on the Texas-Mexican and National railroads of Mexico shows no change in the situation.

As the principal interruption to the free movement of trains occurs on the American side of the Rio Grande, the National company has decided to operate all trains from Neuvo Laredo, Mexico, until a settlement is reached.

The regular passenger train on the Texas-Mexican and the Saltillo train over the National got out today and the northbound Astre limited arrived several hours late, but did not come to the American side. A committee of business men waited upon Assistant General Manager Galbraith today on behalf of the striking firemen and enleavored to bring about a settlement.

Increase of Three and Three-Quarter Millions Over Those of Last Year.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Showing a surplus of more than $1,250,000 in excess of all interest expenses, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railway company issued its annual report yesterday. The report is presented in the name of the old Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad company, which leased all its properties to the new organization in October a year ago. This was done so that a more comprehensive comparison could be made. The report set out the prospects of the system as gratifying from the fact that the earnings are good, the certainty of a large business from the territory tributary to the lines and the further fact that the expenditures made recently in betterments will reduce the cost of operation. Added to this is the fact that a large amount of bonds are to be retired by a constant process relieving the company of the charge for interests and freeing for purposes other than debt-paying so much more the gross earnings.

J. J. Hill a few weeks ago gave an estimate of the probable earning power of the Burlington next year as one of the parts of the system built up by the merger and that estimate was $50,000,000. The figures given by the report place the gross earning at $53,797,245.

As compared with the preceding year the gross earnings show an increase of $3,743,-256, the operating expenses an increase of $1,613,967, while the earnings from operation increased $2,129,288. The decrease of operating expenses, including taxes, in proportion to the gross earnings was 1.74 per

The mileage operated for the year cov ered by the report was 8,124, compared this city early this evening, sweeping in with 7,912 for the preseding year. The gross earnings a mile were $6,634, as against $6,404 for the preceding year. The operating expenses a mile were $4,400, against $4,136. Expenditures for equipment One man at Camp Point was killed and and construction amounted to nearly $5,-000,000 on the lines in Illinois and Iowa, and for additional equipment over $1,000,electric light power house were blown 000. In addition to this $253,000 was expended on standard lines controlled by the Burlington.

Among the Items in the new equipment list are included 1,143 coal and flat cars, the members of the family who were not twenty-seven box and stock cars and twenty engines.

The balance sheet statement of the cost of the road and equipment places this at $294,277,364. This also shows that there are investments in securities of other controlled lines amounting to $7,000,000; cash chards were leveled to the ground during on hand, $8,000,006; capital stock, $110,000, the few minutes the storm raged. It was 000, and a funded debt of $152,000,000 The total payments to and accretions of the sinking fund amount to $20,000,000.

The report states that for the period ending with September 30 a dividend was declared at the rate of 6 per cent and for the remainder of the year the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railway company paid as rentals, dividends, at the rate of 7 per cent upon the stock of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad company.

POSSE GATHERING FOR ANOTHER RAID

Pears that When They Meet the Indians, Who Are Slaughtering Game, There Will Be Some Serious Trouble.

BELLE FOURCHE, S. D., Oct. 12 .- (Special.)-Game Warden Lathrope has just returned from a trip out on the Moreau river, where he went last week to investigate the report that the Indians from Standing Rock and the Cheyenne agencies had been slaughtering the antelope. He had taken with him four deputies to assist in making arrests, but he came back without any Indiana. When he arrived on the Moreau he learned that there was a band of seventy-five Indians in the neighborhood, the members of which had been slaughtering autelope and other game which is now protected by law, so he started to hunt the Indians up, and when he ran across them he had a party of thirteen whites with him.

He caught the Indians red-handed and made a couple of arrests, and was about to make more when his little party was surrounded by the rest of the Indiana, who demanded that he release those who he had under arrest. The Indians did not waste any time in parleying with the warden, but made their demand in a manner which left no doubt of their sincerity, for they came dressed in nothing but a coat of paint, a "G" string and a couple of belts of cartridges around their waists, with rifles in their hands. The warden did not attempt to make a bluff, but gave up his prisoners, as the only men in his party who were armed were his four deputies and himself.

He returned at once to Belle Fourch and is now organizing a posse to go out and assist him in making arrests, and declares his intention to either make prisoners or subjects for funerals. The Indians have been troublesome along the Moreau, the Sand and in the vicinity of Slim Buttes this fall, and have set the grass on fire at different times in order to drive the antelope, and had the settlers not discovered the fires in time the entire range would have been burned over, so if the warden calls on them for assistance the entire country will raise and help him. If the Indians are not called back to the agencies there is sure to be trouble,

TALE OF A TRAVELER'S VALISE James Hardy's Bag Comes Back to Him After a Round of Adventure.

James Hardy and two companions who yesterday arrived in the city from Montana, left their valises for an hour or so last night behind a railing in the Owl When they returned for them saloon. Hardy's value was missing. It was later located at the police station, where it had been brought by Paul Wence and A. Gorden of the Cambridge hotel. Wence said that he had been approached at Thirteenth street and Capitol avenue by a man who asked him if he could open the value. This Wence did without difficulty, as it was not locked. When he saw that it contained collars, papers and other things not likely to belong to the man who had it, he accused him of stealing it. This the man acknowledged and offered Wence half of its value if he would pawn it. Wence told the fellow to come with him to the hotel, but the man turned and ran away. Wence told the hotel man, who said that the stranger had previously been to him to get the value opened. Wence described the man as being about 35 years old, five feet six inches tall, weighing 150 to 155 pounds, having a dark complexion, stubby mustache and his left eye blacked. He word a dark brown striped coat.

Between Boller Makers

James McDonald and Charles E. Prior, boilermakers, were last night confined in the city prison. The latter accused the former of taking about $74 from him in a room of the Nebraska lodging house, a charge which the accused denied. It seems that the pair were out for a time Saturday night, Prior, so he says, starting in with $135. Somehow or other they took a room together in the lodging house. When Prior awoke his companion was gone, the door awoke his companion was gone, the door locked and all but $3.45 of the money had disappeared. McDonald later returned and indignantly denied taking any money. When searched at the police station the two only had $7.50.

Mrs. Cunningham's Awakening. At 2:30 o'clock Saturday night the frame cottage occupied by Peter Cunningham, a Union Pacific engineer, at Twelfth and Vailey streets, was discovered to be on fire. A pedestrian noticed the blaze and ran to the fire station on South Twentieth street to warn the firemen. A damage of $150 to house and contents was caused by fire and water. Mrs. Cunningham says that she was awakened during the night and noticed a light, which she at first thought to be lightning. As it continued steadily she got up and opened the door leading to the rear of the house. The house was in flames and the firemen at work.
