The report that the Union Pacific Board of Directors has taken up the matter has given rise to two views. One is that the trainmen have quietly presented their demands to the general manager or president and that the case somehow has been carried to the directorate. The other theory is that the report has the shompen's strike on the Union Pacific confused with the plans of the trainmen and that it is the shompen's strike which the directors have under consideration.

President Burt's office was consulted regarding the New York report yesterday and this statement was made: "We do not know what the report means. The trainmen have made no demands here. We certainly are inclined to think that there is nothing in the story."

This question was asked: "Do you think the directors are considering the strike of the shompen and that the report is a confusion of the shompen's strike with the plans of the trainmen and that it is the shompen's strike which the directors have under consideration?"
