Dreat Western Line Through City Would Apparently Indicate as Much.

TRACKS TAKE BEE LINE FOR TRANSFER

Statement Made, However, that Connection Will Also Be Made with the Illinois Central at Ninth Avenue.

That the Great Western railroad will enter Omaha over the Union Pacific bridge seems now to be an assured fact, if the construction of its line through this city indicates anything. Work on the grade within the city limits is being carried forward at a rapid rate and the ground on a direct line to the Union Pacific transfer | atives. is being prepared for the laying of track. The tracks will run from Main street on the south side of Ninth avenue direct to the transfer depot on a straight line, without a single curve.

It is said, however, that the Great Western will also make connections with the Illinois Central at Fourteenth street and Ninth avenue, so that it can, if desired, use the Terminal bridge also. With favorable weather, the grading on the entire line between this city and Fort Dodge will be completed by December 1 and the laying of steel commence by the first of the new year.

Mayor and Other Officials Hold a Session to Devise Ways of Raising Money.

Mayor Morgan and other municipal officials, it is said, are beginning to realize the need of further funds than those in sight to carry on the administration of the city until the new fiscal year. The lack of funds and the question of from what source additional revenue can be obtained are said to be worrying the mayor and aldermen. The situation, it is said, called for a secret conference of the heads of the several city departments one night last The conference is said to have been held at the suggestion of the mayor on his return from his trip to Oregon and at it several suggestions were made for providing additional revenue to keep the wheels of the administration moving. One plan suggested, it is said, is that the city levy a tax or license of $5 a month on every slot machine, it being claimed that the owners of these machines were willing to pay this sum in return for the privilege of being permitted to operate them. As there are a large number of slot machines in the city, this scheme would produce quite a revenue. According to one of the aldermen who was present at the conference; it is more than likely that this license will be imposed in the near future.

The district court jury in the Christopher Omeg will contest brought in a sealed ver-dict shortly before 2 o'clock yesterday morning, after having been out since 5:30 o'clock Saturday evening. It is said that the verdict sets sside the will, thus sustaining the case of the plaintiffs. On what grounds the will is set aside could not be learned and will not be until the sealed verdict is opened by Judge Macy on his return this afternoon.

Christopher Omeg was a well-to-do farmer of Boomer township and in the will which was offered for probate left the bulk of his property to a son, Joseph, who was also nade sole executor under the instrument. One of the sons, Edward Omeg, who was not leven mentioned in the will, and a daughter, Mrs. Carrie Frost, who was bequeathed $1, brought suit to have the will set aside, alleging that the document offered for probate was not the last will and testament of their father, and that the signature to it was not his. They also alleged that the will was not properly executed. The case was bitterly contested on both sides and an army of witnesses were introduced during the five days which the hearing occupied the attention of the court. The estate consists of valuable farm lands and considerable personal property.

Dedicate a New Church.

Sunday was a notable day for the congregation of the Scandinavian Lutheran church. It marked the dedication of the church building at the corner of Avenue A and Ninth street, which has been entirely remodeled and enlarged, and also the installation of the new pastor, Rev. Ellas Provensen.

Special services were held yesterday afternoon, at which time the practically new building was formally dedicated and the new pastor installed. Rev. G. B. Christiansen of Omaha preached the dedicatory and installation sermon.

The Scandinavian Lutheran church has recently taken on a new lease of life and articles of incorporation were filed last week in the office of the county recorder. Not only has the church been almost entirely rebuilt, but it has been enlarged to meet the growing needs of the congregation and a handsome parsonage has been built on the property.

Railroad Was Engaged in Charging Illegal Fares-Trouble with Swine in Iows-Insurance Rates Are Raised.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Oct. 28 .- (Special.)-The fraternal orders of lows and grand lodges generally have given hearty endorsement to the plan for a building for the fraternities at the Louisiana Purchase exposition The Masons, the Workmen, the Eastern Star and others have formally endorsed the plan and have appointed committees to solicit contributions for the erection of the buildings. In the grand lodge meeting of the Odd Fellows the past week a resolution was passed approving of the plan and pledging the support of the Odd Fellows, and expressing pleasure that Ida Von Hon, president of the Rebekahs, had been selected as the Iowa member of the committee to look after this matter. It is believed that practically all the orders in Iowa will take a hand in helping build the fraternal building at St. Louis. At the grand lodge meeting just closed at Clinton a report was read showing that the Odd Fel-William Johnson, an insane patient from Green county, Iowa, died yesterday morning at St. Bernard's hospital. Mrs. Allen Morrow of Malvern, Ia. is completed. Committees are in charge to the guest of her cousin, Mrs. James Hilbert of Mill street. It is their first meeting for twenty years. The current topics department of the Council Bluffs Woman's club will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2:39 o'clock with Mrs. Snyder as leader.

The membership of the Odd Church of Jefferson succeeds M. Newman as grand master, and Dr. M. W. White of Sloux City becomes desired.

Interested the Scandinavians. C. F. Wennestrum, formerly labor commissioner for Iowa under Governor Shaw, has returned to Des Moines from an official visit in Sweden, Denmark and Norway, in the interest of the Louisiana Purchase exposition. He was sent to those countries by the exposition management on the suggestion of Secretary Shaw of the Treasury department, and carried credentials from the State department. He appeared before the commercial and official bodies in the larger cities and before the legislative bodies and presented the exposition advantages to them. His mission was entirely successful and he has succeeded in interesting the people of the Scandinavian countries in the exposition in a way that assures large exhibits from that part of the world at St. Louis.

Reduced the Fares. A peculiar incident is reported from Boone county in the matter of rates of fare on the main line of the Northwestern railroad. When the Boone viaduct was built and the road straightened so that the Moingons curve could be avoided three miles was cut off the line. The tariff sheets had to be revised to account for this shortening of the track, but the local passenger fare between Boone and Ogden and some other local fares was not changed. Last week the attention of the grand jury was called to the fact that the company was charging 9 cents more for tickets between Soone and Ogden than the law allows and Judge Whittaker notified the railroad managers. They immediately changed the rates. The matter had been entirely overlooked by them and they had been uninten-and write.

This surprising difference in favor of the children of the foreign-born population is due largely to the fact that their children slive mainly in the northern and western states, where the public school system has reached a higher degree of efficiency, while great numbers of native whites live in the southern states where about 10 per cent are liliterate.

When the comparison is carried out by geographic divisions the percentage of illiterates in the two classes in each part of the country, except the south Atlantic states, is found to be much nearer the same. Yet even then in every region, except the north Atlantic states, the literate children of immigrants are comparatively more numerous than those of native whites.

This is partly explained by the immigrants love of cities and towns, while the native whites live more generally in the rural districts. Thus in the north Atlantic division there are 28,551 native white children 10 to 14 years of age, of whom 32 per cent live in cities having at least 25,000 inhabitants. On the other hand, among the 713,170 white children 10 to 14 years of age born of foreign parents 62 per cent live in similar cities. There is no reason, therefore, to infer from the census figures that the children of illiterate immigrants are constituting a permanent illiterate class in the population.

It will be noticed, however, that the

the population.

It will be noticed, however, that the foregoing figures relate exclusively to immigrants who have been in the country long enough for their children born here to have reached the age of 18 years. Whether the children of immigrants who have arrived since 1890 display the same eagerness to acquire an elementary education is still a matter of doubt.
