ENDEAVORERS OFF FOR HOMES

Citizens of York and Guests Both Pleasured with the Results.

YORK, Neb., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—A few of the delegates to the Nebraska Christian Endeavor union convention left here on Sunday evening trains, and this morning every outgoing train is carrying delegates to their homes. The work of the convention will leave its impress on the societies here and the citizens are certainly made better. The work of the convention was closed last night. Every hour and every minute of the three days' convention was taken up with its work. The weather during the convention was delightful. The programs were religious treats to York citizens who attended the meetings and were enthusiastic in the praises of the good work that is being done and the work that has been done by the Christian Endeavorers. President Arthur Chase of Omaha said: 'This is one of the best of the many state conventions and its attendance, considering that it had not been properly advertised, exceeded expectations. Its work, the attendance, enthusiasm, progress, perfect order and the way it was taken care of by the committee and the citizens is all that could be asked for, and more, too, than was expected. I have attended many gatherings of the Christian Endeavorers and do not remember where one was more thoroughly provided for and more royally entertained and a heartier reception given us than that of the local committee and the hospitable citizens of York.'

'We appreciate the donation of the use of York's fine churches and the assistance given us by York's ministers.'

Resolutions regarding the recent decision of the supreme court as to the use of the Bible in Nebraska's public schools were as follows:

Resolved, as Christian Endeavorers of Nebraska do not question the motives and ability of the Nebraska supreme court in its interpretation of our state constitution as bearing upon the use of the Bible in public schools, but it is our earnest conviction that the discreet use of the Bible and such devotional exercises as are common in our schools are not sectarian and are not in conflict with that fundamental principle which is the basis of our government, the separation of church and state. Resolutions were also adopted thanking the people of York for their hospitality.

PUNCTURE ECONOMY CLAIMS

Fusionists Increased Instead of Decreasing State Debt.

INDIAN MONUMENT FOR WOUNDED KNEE

Governor Savage Addresses University Students on Subject of Trusts, but Does Not Strike Popular Chord.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—The following statement punctures some of the fusion claims of economy in state government.

Table showing financial data for the state government, including Cash on hand November 20, 1898, General fund, Live stock indemn. fund, Capitol building fund, and Net outstanding indebtedness.

At the end of ten years the financial condition of the state was as follows: General fund warrants outstanding November 30, 1898, $1,936,273.47. While it appears from the reports that the outstanding floating indebtedness on November 30, 1898, was $1,936,273.47, it also appears from the records that the sum of $29,370.39 of general fund moneys were turned over in cash to J. B. Meserve, the fusion treasurer. From this amount should be deducted the sum of $114,437.83, being the amount of the suspended account, leaving a net cash balance in the hands of Meserve available for the reduction of the floating debt of $474,872.70, thereby reducing the floating debt to the close of the republican administration to $1,461,400.77. A further reduction of the floating debt of the state must be made when it is shown that on October 24, 1900, the sum of $30,454.27 was recovered from the suspended account for which the popular administration was given credit above, which will leave the entire floating indebtedness at the close of the republican administration in 1898 at $1,425,946.50.

The records which cover the fiscal period ending November 30, 1900, to which period the fusion candidate for auditor refers, show that at this time there were outstanding general fund warrants amounting to $1,727,417.72, to which should be added a legacy left by the populist administration in the shape of deficiency and miscellaneous claims amounting to $182,735.37, making a total floating debt, at this period, of $1,910,153.09.

At the close of Mr. Meserve's term he turned over to his successor general fund moneys in the sum of $49,594.46, leaving a net floating debt at the end of the populist administration of $1,860,558.25 or a net increase of $49,642.73 over the floating indebtedness of the republican administration in 1898, thereby showing that the imaginary reduction of $209,000 during the populist administration is an idle boast that will not stand the search-light of investigation.

Follow up the affairs of the present republican administration. At the close of business October 1, 1902, the records show that the outstanding warrant indebtedness on that date was $1,857,661.05; while the populist administration increased the floating debt of the state in four years by $424,454.73, the present republican administration shows a decrease in the floating debt of the state on October 1, 1902, of $2,928.18, making a total saving of $220,249.54 during the first and second years of the present republican administration.

Wolves Among Farmers.

TECUMSEH, Neb., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—A number of Johnson county farmers are complaining of being bothered with wolves. W. P. McCoy, who lives just northeast of Tecumseh, says the animals have been taking calves with his sheep and hogs. One night recently he heard a howl from a hog and some wolves at his pens and before he could drive off a couple of big wolves that had attacked a full grown porker, they had wounded the hog so badly that he died. The wolves are very bold and come right up to the house and with a view of the young men in town are arranging for a wolf hunt over Mr. McCoy's premises.

As Old Age Creeps On

Men and Women Can Keep Themselves Hale, Vigorous and Happy by Using Paine's Celery Compound

The human system in old age must have a sufficient store of nervous energy, and rich, nourishing blood, so that the liver and kidneys may be kept in perfect action and the body free from pain. Paine's Celery Compound is the true invigorator when old age creeps on and the vital powers commence to fail. Paine's Celery Compound gives the needed stimulus to digestion and assimilation, that the system requires; it maintains a regular supply of pure blood and removes such troubles as rheumatism, neuralgia, nervous weakness, heart palpitation, liver complaint and digestive disturbances that make the lives of old people miserable. Rev. John Rice, Scotch Grove, Iowa, says: 'My wife and I have used two bottles of Paine's Celery Compound with great advantage to our general health. It cured her rheumatism and proved a good regulator of the system in general and a tonic for the nerves. In my own case I have had a cure for kidney trouble arising from old age, as I am now in my 75th year. In this trouble it has given me almost instant relief.'

Savage Talks to Students.

Governor Savage spoke to the students of the state university at Yopocotion this morning, on the subject of trusts, and his remarks were so out of tune with the modern criticism of this modern commercial engine that they attracted considerable attention. At his address, the governor expressed to the students his conviction that before they are as old as he is now, the much-heralded trusts, or combinations of capital known by that name, will be as popular as are many of the modern utilities, such as the street car, the harvester and the countless other inventions that are recognized as public necessities. He said that this is because every trust that has ever been formed has operated to cheapen the product in which it deals. He mentioned, among other things, that he had seen a barrel of flour at the steel trust, the Standard Oil trust, and the whisky trust, and gave specific figures to show that the inevitable result of the formation of trusts has been the cheapening of the goods in which it deals by enabling it to deal in large quantities with improved methods and machinery.

RESTRICTS CAMPAIGN FUNDS

May Says No Collections or Payments May Be Made in Government Buildings.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Secretary Hay has warned officers and employees of the Department of State from soliciting campaign subscriptions. He says: 'Officers of this department are prohibited by law from soliciting or receiving from employees money for political campaign purposes. Both officers and employees may contribute money for such purposes if they desire, but not government buildings, nor directly or indirectly to persons designated in section 14 of the civil service act. They are prohibited from such active participation in campaign work as it is incompatible with their official duties. They should not serve on committees charged with the collection and disbursement of money, and if they are free to vote and in a proper way to express their political sentiments and preferences.'

NEBRASKANS' DAY IN COURT

One Day is Enough, as Supreme Tribunal Will Not Take Up Cases.

PERKINS COUNTY MUST PAY THE BONDS

Indian School at Chamberlain Will Be Abandoned Unless Some Arrangement Can Be Made for Sewer.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(Special Telegram.)—The supreme court today handed down rulings in three cases originating in Nebraska. But a week ago Judge McHugh appeared before the supreme court and filed his petition for a writ of certiorari requiring the circuit court of appeals of the eighth circuit to certify to the highest tribunal for its review of the case of the Chicago House Wrecking company, plaintiff in error, against Otto C. Birney, defendant in error. The supreme court, however, could not agree with Judge McHugh in his contention that certain legal questions remained unsettled in the case below and today denied the writ prayed for, which fixed the judgment of the lower court.

Following closely upon the denial of the writ asked in the above case Justice Fuller answered that the court would not grant a transfer of the case of the United States Fidelity & Guaranty company vs. Omaha Building & Construction company, a case growing out of the construction of an addition to the insane hospital at Norfolk.

In the third decision handed down by the supreme court affecting Nebraska, General C. F. Manderson appeared for the petitioner in the case of Perkins county against E. D. Graff and asked for a writ to bring the cause up from the circuit court of appeals to the supreme court for review. The action of the court is interesting, as it fixes the liabilities of counties in issuance of bonds and coupons for purposes of public improvement, action in this particular case growing out of the construction of an irrigation ditch in Perkins county, starting at the Platte river west of Julesburg in Colorado. A number of bonds had been issued and work had progressed to a certain extent, the whole scheme of building the ditch through Perkins county was abandoned and was never completed to be of benefit to citizens of the county. Consequently the suit was brought to recover on the bonds, the court below holding the county responsible. General Manderson sought to have the case reviewed by the supreme court on a writ of certiorari, but the court today denied the petition and Perkins county must pay.

May Abandon School.

There is a probability that the Indian school at Chamberlain, S. D., may be abandoned. Superintendent Flynn was today advised that unless the sewerage of the school can be discharged above the intake on the Missouri, or arrangements made for the construction of a sewer, that the school must be abandoned. Congress appropriated money for a sewer, but a temporary injunction has been granted restraining it from running through private property. Unless the city permits the sewerage to be discharged above the intake the school must be abandoned.
