Damages as Result of Quarantine.

Nebraska 'Varsity Eleven Looks for a Hard Game with the Haskell Indians on Satur

m a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 30 .- (Special.) --Whether or not the authorities of a city or village are responsible for property de-atroyed and losses inflicted by the estabnt of a quarantine for smallpox is a question that underlies a case that has ust been filed in the supreme court. In a smallpox scare overtook the town of Verdon, in Richardson county. Paris P. was proprietor of a grocery store and rooming house located on adjoining lots. One Thomas Treadway was roomer at her house, but in February of he year named he went into the country to work. Some days after he went away he was taken with smallpox and was taken back to the Bowman home, upon which a quarantine was established: This was maintained for four weeks, at the end of which time some $50 worth of carpets and were burned. Mrs. Bowman buit in Richardson county to recover $200 damages, and at the trial it was proved that the districtant used and the general fear of the malady had made much of fthe stock of groceries unsalable. By agreement of the parties the jury which had been empaneled was discharged and the trial was had to the court, Judge Stull by a confidence man, whose only descrippresiding. It resulted in a verdict for Mrs. Bowman in the sum of $150.

From this judgment the village has appealed, and its counsel, Clarence Gillespie and Edward Falloon, have filed their brief with the supreme court, in which they contend that the law does not warrant the

Declared Insane

Lee Chamberlain of Tecumseh, a brother of Charles M. Chamberlain, the abaconding head of the Chamberlain Banking house. was today adjudged insane. He had al ready been sent to the asylum. The exciting cause of Chamberlain's insanity was the crash at Tecumseh two months ago, which left him not only financially stranded, but hard drinker for twenty years, according to the testimony, and to this fact primarily his present condition is due. He was brought here for treatment at a local sanitarium a few weeks ago, but his propensity for wandering off into any room he could gain admittance led to a great fright among the women patients. Witnesses Also Introduced for the Purpose of Proving that the Defendant Was of Un. sound Mind.

PIERCE, Neb., Oct. 30 .- (Special Telegram.)-Sheriff Jones was on the stand for the state last night and testified as to the conversation he had with Gotlieb Niegenfind as he and his deputy were taking him to Blair after he had been captured by the men from Winside. He said that Niegenfind told him that he shot Mrs. Anna Peters four times. He shot her once after she fell down.

The two children of Mrs. Peters, August and Esther, were also on the stand dura heavy debtor. Chamberlain had been a ing the evening. Esther testified that she was in the house when the shooting commenced and she looked out of the window and saw Niegenfind shooting at her grandfather. The testimony of the boy was also well given.

> The state introduced witnesses to prove that the crime was premeditated, that Niegenfind had said long before the tragedy occurred he would kill the Breyers. F. J. ket, testified that while he was out at Breyers' house doing some butchering Nie Miller he had a mind to kill the Breyers, but Miller told him that would do him no good, for he would be put behind the bars for it. Then Niegenfind said that he would wait until Breyer had stacked his grain and then he would come back and burn his stacks.

> The prosecution rested at 9:35 this forenoon and the defense commenced to introduce testimony. They attempted to get in testimony from the friends of Niegenfind in which they advised him to go to boy. This testimony the judge ruled out. Niegefind was placed on the stand and examined by Attorney Kelley, after which he was cross-examined by Judge Jackson.

Tells of the Shooting.

He told where he had been since the divorce proceedings were commenced. In referring to the night of the murder he said he went into the barnyard and spoke to Breyer, but Breyer told him, with an oath, to leave the place. Breyer made for him with a pitchfork and backed him-into a corner, where he had to fire at Breyer in self-defense. He said he fired twice Breyer's wife appeared on the scene at this Mockett of Lancaster county, died at the time and he fired twice more at Breyer home of his son today, aged 92 years and and, as Mrs. Breyer was trying to help her husband, one of the bullets might have struck her. He then went to the northeast corner of the barn and took out the empty shells and reloaded.

Judge Jackson asked him why he re loaded his revolver. Niegenfind said that he was afraid that someone might be lying in wait for him and he wanted to be prepared. On the north side of the barn he met his wife with a fork in her hande She made for him and he shot her in selfdefense also. He denied that he did any thing to her person. He only took the pitchfork and stood it against the north side of the barn.

In referring to his capture by the mer from Winside and the farmhands he said that the posse fired first and that he fired morning. He is a prominent member of in self-defense. LINCOLN, Oct. 80 .- (Special Telegram.)-After an acquaintance of four days, Joab Jones committed suicide at 9 o'clock tonight for love of Mattle Gross. Jones was an itinerant vender of stove polish, and Mattie is a chambermaid at the Boyd hotel. They met first last Sunday, and the girl yesterday passed him up for drunkenness. Tonight he took carbolic acid in a rooming house at 122 South Tenth street and was dead before medical aid could reach him. He had told several of his friends what he intended doing and had shown them the bottle of poison, telling them that he was going to die because Mattie had thrown him over. Among his effects was an honorable discharge from Company H, Fourteenth United States infantry, with which he had served three years in Manila. He also carried very commendatory letters from Major William B. McReynolds, under whom he served in the quartermaster's department. He has a wife in Macomb, Ill., who was seeking a divorce, three sisters in Burlington, Ia., and an uncle, J. B. Standard, at Holdrege, Neb. VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 30 .- Archibald Cameron, road superintendent, who has just of boundary monuments alleged to have been discovered and stated to be the demarcation of the Alaskan boundary are the ruins of stone huts built by the Indians of the interior, where they met those of the miles from tidewater and about ten miles beyond the timber line. He describes the origin of the buts as follows:

The Indians of the coast and those of the interior were jealous of each other, in fact were hereditary foes, and it was after generations of bitter feud that an armed truce was established between them. Before the arrangement of this aboriginal modus vivendi the interior or Stick Indians were not allowed to hunt or trap on the Pacific slope. the coast or Chilas Indians holding all the territory which lies between the sea and the mountains as their particular reserve.

When the Russians established trading posts on the coast of Alaska the Chilas sent envoys to the Sticks and proposed peace terms so that their furs could be exchanged. A truce was made by which the Sticks were allowed to come across the divide laden with furs to a certain point, where the Chilas met them with a stock of goods from the storehouses of the Russians, and there at stated times of the year a great Indian fair was held.

The meeting place was outside of the timber line, and as no wood was available, the Indians built stone buts of the most primitive constructions, and these huts were used in common year after year by the traders. These were the so-called monu-

Cole of Omaha has recently been re-elected president, and has recently become a member of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs. The club has a membership of forty-three women, its object being to promote sociability among the families of postal clerks and only women connected with the families of clerks or ex-clerks are eligible to membership. Aside from its officers there are several committees, among them a courtesy committee, whose duty it is to visit all the strangers and sick among the sick families of postal clerks. Meetings are held monthly at the homes of the various members, in alphabetical order. The dues of the club are $1.50 per year, payable semi-annually. In addition to the social side of the organization, the women have made a thorough study of civil service reform, not only in the United States, but in other countries as well, and with the agitation of this subject among club women generally the Nebraska Federation feels that these women will be a valuable acquisition to the organization, especially in romoting this work. Last season civil service reform was the only study of the club, but it has been decided to take up the study of domestic science this year also. The officers for this year are: President, Mrs. J. W.
