

GOSSIP FROM THE GRIDIRON

Artful Diplomacy of Coaches and an Ethical View of the Matter.

EASTERN TEAMS SHOW MUCH PROGRESS

Comparative Scores Look Queer, but the Yale, Princeton and Harvard Eleven are All in Splendid Form.

Two gentlemen, connected respectively with the Nebraska university and Haskell Indian teams, namely Coaches Booth and Outland, are clearly not receiving such appreciation from the public as they deserve on account of their craft and gridiron diplomacy. Now, at the Saturday game down in St. Joseph, where Nebraska took 12 points from Missouri, Coach Outland of the Haskell eleven officiated as umpire, undoubtedly with careful impartiality and justice; and also, where the Indians laid low the Washburn team, there Coach Booth of Nebraska umpired. Naturally, then, Nebraska devoted itself to plain and simple football without artifice, which, perhaps, accounts for the small score against Missouri, and Haskell did not go far afield from the old-time line back and run around the end. This practice among the western schools is much to be deplored. Undoubtedly these two acted officially in a manner above reproach, but they should not be asked at all; there were plenty of others who could have umpired these games fully as well and as impartially, and who would have been free from the drawback attendant upon these too much interested gentlemen.

A comparison of the scores made in some of the more important games played Saturday, October 26, with the results of games between the same teams last year, may be of interest to those who follow the sport in the eastern and western countries. While Chicago university defeated Illinois in Chicago Saturday by the score of 5 to 0, last year the result was a decisive victory for Illinois, the score being 24 to 0 in their favor. Last year Michigan defeated Ohio State by only 21, as against 86 to 0 this year. This time Wisconsin got 25 from Kansas, while Kansas was not getting anything, but last year made it 50 to the 0 of the Kansas. This season, Minnesota 34, Iowa 0; last year the same teams stood 16 to 2. This time it was Harvard 5, Brown 0; last year 45 to 0. Pennsylvania 26, William 0; 1901, 15-0; Pennsylvania 6, Bucknell 5; 1901, 6-0; Cornell 57, Oberlin 0; 1901, 25-0. This year Purdue only drew 5 to 0 from Case, as against 22 last time. Notre Dame beat Indiana this year 11 to 5; last year 20 to 5; Iowa 12 to 6 from Missouri; last year, 21 to 0.

Previous to yesterday's games the eastern teams had scored on their opponents and been scored on as follows: Harvard 134, opponents 14; Yale 107, opponents 19; Princeton 140, opponents 5; Pennsylvania 128, opponents 41; Columbia 178, opponents 21; Lafayette 163, opponents 15; Indiana 146, opponents 22; Brown 20, opponents 22; Syracuse 93, opponents 24; Amherst 74, opponents 55; Wisconsin 107, opponents 30; Wesleyan 50, opponents 22; Bucknell 54, opponents 20; Georgetown 32, opponents 34; West Point 50, opponents 14; Annapolis 33, opponents 34; Michigan 419, opponents 33.

This is what Captain Barry of the Brown university team has to say in the Boston Herald regarding Yale and Harvard: "In forming an estimate of the relative strength of the Harvard and Yale teams, as shown in the games against Brown, I think that Harvard is much stronger in the back field. Graydon huddled in fine style and the whole crimson back field moved well together, except on one or two occasions when the interference got balled up. Harvard's backs are heavier than Yale's and this weight behind the line, with a fast set of backs, is a very important point.

"The Harvard ends did not appear to be in very good shape today, but they are undoubtedly much stronger than the Yale ends.

"From tackle to tackle, I think that Yale is much stronger than Harvard and as a team Harvard does not begin to work together with anything like the spirit that Yale has shown this season. The Harvard men just give one push and let it go at that, instead of pulling and hauling along for every inch, thereby securing greater distance on rushes.

"The Harvard line did not have the jump to them that Yale has and it will require a whole lot of hard coaching to bring the Harvard men up to Yale's standard of quickness. The chief trouble seems to be that the Harvard line men do not move together."

In its game with Syracuse, a team well ranked for speed, Yale showed that it has been making much progress in offense and almost as well in defense. The team has now developed so far that simple formations have been dropped and complicated plays introduced. The Princeton-Columbia game, which showed that a team can do by pronounced superiority at the ends of its line, has increased the feeling of dissatisfaction and uneasiness felt at Yale in regard to the weakness still evidenced by its end men, despite improvement made. The present conditions are such as to be breaking up interference possessed by heavy men, and Wilhelm, who has been moved from behind the line, is said to be a very swift man, in addition to his weight. If allowed to play, it is not unlikely that Hafferty will replace Coffey at right end. Hard coaching will accomplish wonders and Yale has always been lucky with drill masters.

Although earlier in the season Yale was thought to be more sure of its final makeup than either Harvard or Princeton, now, since the recent shakeup, it seems to have little more of a line on its final team than the others. Of course, Holt, Glass and Goss, the best center trio in the country, are certain, and Hogan and Shevlin, who are said to be excellent at running with the ball, are fairly sure of their places at tackle. Metcalf makes steady progress at quarter and Chadwick and Ward are slated for the halfback positions. The selection of a fullback seems to lie between Farmer Ward and McClintock.

Although the Harvard people are much encouraged by the form shown in the Brown game, despite its closeness, yet Harvard's defense is not at all what the coaches hope for and expect to bring out. Former Captain Burden has been at work and much of the listlessness formerly shown has been replaced by snap and dash, although the team has not yet reached the development promised early in the season. The makeup of the team last year was more nearly settled at the same period of work than is that of the present eleven, and many comparisons are being made, usually favorable, however, to the present players. Graydon, Marshall and Kernan are regarded as final choice for three of the backfield positions and Hurley and Leatherbee are candidates for the other places. In the line Bowditch, Knutson, Barnard and King are probably fixtures, but the other positions are in doubt.

Princeton defeated the Columbia eleven, which had been expected to do so much, with comparatively little trouble. The score, 17 to 0, does not show what an advantage it really was in some ways, for during the first half Princeton had three chances to score. Foulke missed an easy goal from the fifteen-yard line, as did also DeWitt from ten yards further back. At another time the ball was within a few feet of Columbia's line, but the touch was forfeited through a fumble. The defeat of the New Yorkers was, however, at a dear cost to Princeton, who will for the rest of the season be without the services of Kafer, Halback, and Burke, quarter, each of whom suffered a broken collar bone. There are plenty of good substitutes but none as good for the places as these two. The Columbia men started in fiercely enough, but were soon up in the air, displaying poor generalship and ending in a rout. They, however, at times played good football. Weeks, the best halfback in the country, made many good gains by line herding and in other ways, but could never get by Burke, even after he was free from other matters. Princeton's line was a very effective exchange of punts, DeWitt showing star ability at kicking. He is undoubtedly one of the best in the field this season.

The Chicago Chronicle has the following to say in regard to the contest for the western championship:

But three elevens are left now to strive for the title, and they are the Illinois, Chicago, Wisconsin and Michigan. One of these will win this honor unless a game or two is declared in favor of the line from being drawn sharply. Neither is it likely to occur, although, of course, there is still possibility, though, is most vague and still remains to be seen.

Two more teams took the count Saturday—Illinois and Iowa. Iowa was never given serious consideration, but Illinois men, after looking upon the championship as theirs, looked upon the field as theirs as a possibility. Had the field been fast it might have been a very close race, but it was not. The game was a very decided one, and the Illinois supporters were given renewed determination to wage heavily on the matter and blue when it meets the cardinal Saturday.

Wisconsin, likewise, did well, although reports from Madison state that "Badger stock has tumbled a point." A score of 25 to 0 against Kansas, a team coached by a Wisconsin alumnus well acquainted with all of the Wisconsin plays, is pretty good, although the Wisconsin fans did not show a great deal of fight and they will have all the more on the afternoon of November 15, when they meet the Illinois team in Madison at the best, and after King has had a talk with them, one by one, on the field, and become a personal friend when anything pertaining to the football game and then they bet on the cards.

The Northwestern might as well be at the bottom of the lake. It is a poor footer at the best, and about the least likely to be questioned by the Evanston High school, which is the champion of the West. The final count whether Michigan or Wisconsin wins next Saturday, one or the other will be the champion of the West. The Illinois and Michigan and then in turn win from Wisconsin. The Illinois and Michigan have both won and should win. Michigan and Chicago, the honors will go to Madison. Should Michigan beat Wisconsin and Chicago, Chicago, and should Wisconsin defeat Chicago, well, that is the only way to figure out the champion of a western championship. The opinion last year as to which university had the better team was about evenly divided and there is no "dope" this year to show which should win the game Saturday. The two elevens have gone in different directions, both having failed to play the same team. However, neither should be declared the favorite. As was the case with Illinois and Chicago, it is the Illinois team that will pick, and six days before the contest, overzealous Wolverines will doubtless be so eager to defeat their better than the Illinois team to win that they will offer odds. This should be the cue immediate for cardinal men to unload.

In the discussion of what the future may mean for the football game, it is not forgotten, although the Gophers deserve but little attention. While there is a possibility that they will trouble the West, it is not likely as both Wisconsin and Michigan will be able to hold them safe, since Nebraska, who is a team strong, but not extraordinary, so, turned the trick.

The Creighton football people have been busy in preparation for the game Sunday with the Haskell Indians, which is the most important game, by all odds, which they will play this season, and which in a manner, decides what class the team belongs in. Considering the record the Indians have been making this season, it seems rather ambitious for the local school to stand for a fall from them at all, but in case Creighton wins, or even makes a good, though losing fight, the game will demonstrate that the Omaha eleven has risen from the class in which it has formerly been placed. The Indians have a fast and strong team and know the game. The Missouri game showed that they can run a heavy score against even a heavy team, if that team is not fast. The Creighton's record has been good so far, and they have been better than the teams they have played. Although the team left the field and refused to continue the game at Amity college, because of reported rank injuries in decisions and play, they had already demonstrated their superiority to the law men.

TO HUNT FOR WILD TURKEYS

President Roosevelt to Spend a Day Shooting in Virginia.

ALSO VISITS HISTORIC BATTLEFIELDS

Hunting Party is to Be the Guest of Relatives of Surgeon General Rixey Last Monday Morning.

MANASSAS, Va., Nov. 1.—In the final stage of locomotive hunters President Roosevelt at 4:30 this morning stepped briskly from his private car in the railroad yard here and greeted cordially the little group of newspaper men, special officers and railroad men who had gathered to see him start on his hunt for wild turkeys.

He was attired in a khaki suit with leggings and over this was a long, heavy overcoat, and a black slouch hat was on his head as he alighted from the car.

A servant handed him a fine double-barreled shotgun, which he threw familiarly into the crook of his left arm. Secretary Root, who had preceded the president from the train, wore a canvas shooting suit, an overcoat and a golf cap. The president, after a quick survey of the startly sky, remarked to Mr. Root that they were in luck as to the weather.

The president and Secretary Root were joined at once by Surgeon General Rixey, Secretary Cortelyou and J. T. Leachman, sheriff of Prince William county. Sheriff Leachman was to act as the guide of the party on the turkey hunt.

Proceeded by railroad men bearing lanterns, the president and his party trudged for a quarter of a mile along the maze of railroad tracks to the carriage in waiting to convey them to the shooting grounds. They were followed by servants carrying a big hamper of mineral water and luncheon.

As he walked briskly along the president remarked to Secretary Root:

"I have tramped ties before in my time."

"Yes," responded the secretary, with a suggestion of irony in the tone of his voice, "I have often found the purpose of an active exercise so restful to the wearied mind as the tramping of railroad ties."

Start for Hunting Grounds.

The party entered carriages in the village and, preceded by Sheriff Leachman and a secret service officer in a buggy, started for the hunting grounds, about four miles distant. President Roosevelt, Secretary Rixey, Secretary Cortelyou and the Rixey occupied one carriage, which was followed by another containing servants and messengers with the luncheon.

This morning the party is hunting over a fine preserve of 1,500 acres known locally as the Den Lomax place and owned by Representative John P. Rixey, a brother of Surgeon General Rixey.

While the president hopes to add a wild turkey or two to his hunting trophies, he said this morning he was here particularly for the needed recreation the outing would afford him and to see the purpose of the hunt over the historic Bull Run battlefields, which he never had visited.

After the morning's hunt the party will assemble at noon at the Henry house, which is in the very center of the operations of the first battle of Bull Run. There the luncheon will be served. During the afternoon the president will drive over the battlefield. At 5:30 this afternoon the president and party, on their special train, will go to Brandy, Va., twenty-nine miles south of Manassas, where they will be the guests until Monday morning of relatives of Surgeon General Rixey.

Cortelyou Gets a Bird.

The president and party reached the turkey blinds before daybreak and after each had been stationed callers endeavored to entice the wild birds into gunshot.

A drove of six turkeys finally was discovered and later one of them fell to the gun of Secretary Cortelyou. President Roosevelt was unfortunate in being the only member of the party who did not get a shot during the morning. The turkeys are scarce and Mr. Cortelyou's bird was the only one bagged.

Someone down east started a newspaper discussion as to the oldest twins in the country. Gloucester, Me., claims the record in New England and has been held by Haskell and Mrs. Judith Haskell Bradbury, who were born in that place eighty-eight years ago, and are now both hale and hearty.

Simon Raphael, believed to be the oldest man in New York, is dead at the age of 103 years. He was born in Poland and is survived by a son, six daughters, forty-five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. At the beginning of his long year Mr. Raphael retired from the dry goods business.

Beans are the soldiers' mainstay. says Thomas P. Dillon, a retired United States cavalry officer. "Beans are a staple of a pinch, can equal the performance of an Arab on a handful of dried dates—he can ride and fight all day on a mere handful of beans, properly prepared. There is nothing to make the beans unpalatable."

Since May 1, 1886, the gross receipts under the liquor tax law of New York state have been $5,185,804, an average of $14,000 a year. Of the total sum the state share has been about $2,500,000 and the cities and towns share about $2,685,804. The total of $5,185,804 more than the liquor traffic would have paid in the same time under the old excise system.

They are having chopping bees down in Maine. The choppers go into the woods and chop down trees and use them as fuel for the poor. Labor and transportation are given free, where the beneficiaries have not the means to buy normal prices for the wood, that is free also. The chopping-bee movement is being organized in the settlement of the coal strike was announced.

A story has been going about the country to the effect that a tree had been discovered in the Sierras which measured 14 feet and eight inches in circumference. An Arboriculturist, the new magazine devoted to tree planting, has investigated and says: "The tree exists, but it is 100 feet high instead of 14, a fairly good sapling of eighty centuries' growth."

LABOR AND INDUSTRY.

In the past twenty years in only one-tenth of the coal fields have the men secured their demands.

Since its organization, fifty years ago, the Amalgamated Carpenters and Joiners have paid out for benefits about $3,000,000.

The world now consumes 6,000,000,000 pounds of tobacco yearly, or 2,412,800 tons. This is worth $200,000,000. In other words, the world's smoke bill is just $5,000,000 a week.

Justice O'Gorman of the New York supreme court has given a decision upholding the right of a trade union to withdraw its members from the use of materials, who refuses to pay the wages or accept the rules adopted by the labor organization.

In connection with the Cleveland Furnace company's immense establishment along the Cuyahoga river, above Jefferson, which will cost about $2,500,000, sixty-four ovens are to be built for the Retort Coke Oven company at an outlay of about $1,000,000.

The only white labor wanted in South Africa is for the building, agriculture and pastoral industries. Building trade bands can find employment at from 10 to 12 shillings and 6d per day, exclusive of overtime. The average normal week is from forty-eight to fifty-one hours' work.

From present indications there is going to be a big struggle in the convention of the American Federation of Labor when it meets in New Orleans this month. One of the greatest of the fights will be that of the Brotherhood of Carpenters against both the Amalgamated Carpenters and the Amalgamated Woodworkers. Another strenuous fight will be that of the United Garment Workers of America. This fight comes over the granting of a charter by the American Federation of Labor to the Custom Clothing Makers' union in face of the protest made by the Brotherhood of Carpenters. Trouble was predicted, and it has come good and hard. There is also a fight on between the International Association of Machinists and the Amalgamated Machinists, an English organization. The fight is similar to that between the Brotherhood and Amalgamated Carpenters.

LOOK OUT FOR CATARRH

It is bound to come now that winter is here with its cold waves, keen cutting winds, rain and sleet, and snow and slush. It takes just such weather to produce and develop Catarrh and bring out all its humiliating and disgusting symptoms.

LOOK OUT FOR CATARRH

The slight cold becomes a stubborn and protracted one, while the discharges from the nose are most offensive and sickening. As the inflammation extends further up into the head and the delicate mechanism of the ear is attacked, there is a continual buzzing and ringing in the ears, and frequently the hearing is partially or totally lost. Headaches are almost constant, with sometimes acute pains in the eyes, and the nose becomes so plugged up that the patient must breathe through the mouth while the filthy secretions are forced back into the throat, requiring almost continual hawking and spitting to dislodge them. At certain stages

Manchester, Va., March 6, 1901.

Gentlemen:—I wrote you some time ago, an account of my sufferings with an awful case of Catarrh. I had the symptoms that accompany this disease, such as mucus dropping in the throat, a constant desire to hawk and spit, feeling of dryness in the throat, cough and spitting upon rising in the morning, scabs forming in the nose, which required much effort to blow out, sometimes causing the nose to bleed and leaving me with a sick headache. I had thus suffered for five years.

As soon as I heard from you, I commenced to take the S. S. S. as you advised, and after I had taken three large bottles, I noticed a change for the better. Thus encouraged, I continued to take it and in a short while was entirely cured.

Very truly,
JUDSON A. BELLAM.

Main and Vine Sts., Richmond, Va.

S. S. S. not only purges the blood of the effete matter and catarrhal secretions, but at the same time invigorates and builds up the entire system, and as rich pure blood begins to circulate through the body, the inflamed membranes and other parts of the system affected by the Catarrh, begin to heal, the mucous discharges gradually grow less and finally cease, and all the disagreeable and disgusting symptoms of Catarrh disappear. S. S. S. tones up the Stomach and stimulates all the vital organs and keeps the blood in such a state of healthfulness that one is not so susceptible to cold or so liable to contract Catarrh even when exposed to bad weather. Cold wave flags cause no anxiety to those whose systems are nourished and strengthened by rich pure blood. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy and can be taken with perfect safety by old and young or persons of delicate constitution. Write us about your case and our physicians will advise without charge.
